MISSING TREASURER OF CONNECTICUT BANK SHORT $150,000 IN ACCOUNTS

Went to New York Last Friday and Has Disappeared.

His Absence Occurred When Bank Examiner Appeared.

Offers of Big Loans Made by Outside Bankers.

New Britain, Conn., Feb. 12.—A high officer of the Savings Bank of New Britain states that there is a big shortage in the accounts of William F. Walker, the missing treasurer of the bank, and that the bank's own officers up to noon had discovered a shortage of $150,000. The examination of the bank's affairs was continued, and the officers say doubtless the shortage will be found to be much larger.

The same officer of the bank says that offers of loans of $1,000,000 have been received from bank presidents all over the country, but so far the New Britain bank has plenty of money.

The disappearance of Treasurer Walker occurred soon after Bank Examiner Kendall of Windsor Locks made a visit to the bank last Thursday.

At that time Mr. Walker said that he wanted to be excused from working, as he felt ill and that he would be at the bank later. He did not appear again, and early the next morning went to New York. Since then he has not been seen.

MUCH SICKNESS AMONG LATROBE COAL MINERS.

Latrobe, Pa., Feb. 12.—Following closely upon a typhoid fever epidemic at Bradville and Sydneytown, near here, many miners are ill and the closing of the coal mines in the vicinity is threatened. In addition to this there are hundreds of cases of grippe existing in this city and much alarm is felt by physicians at the continued spread of both diseases and their frequent fatalities.

STAIRWAYS IN FLAMES

Employees Are Forced to Use Ice-Covered Fire Escapes.

One Man Falls to Ground and is Instantly Killed.

Philadelphia, Feb. 12.—A fire in which one man lost his life and several other persons had narrow escapes from death today, seriously damaged the five-story building at 106-107 South Third street, in the heart of the financial district. The building was occupied by the Phoenix Pants, Overall and Shirt company, and Dunne Sons & Co., cotton commission brokers. The flames started in the upper portion of the building, occupied by the Phoenix company, and out of the escape by means of the stairway of the employees working on the top floor, forcing them to use the ice and snow. With one exception all of the two score employees safely reached an adjoining building. The one who failed was Louis Deskevsky, aged 26 years, who in the excitement either jumped or fell from the fire escape. He was instantly killed. The damage is estimated at $75,000.

KNOWLEDGE IS LIMITED

The State Commission Knows Little Regarding the Railroads.

Judge Mills on the Grill—Hill May be Called.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Feb. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is a question whether the operations of the railroad senate committee, appointed to investigate the cost of the railroads of the state, will not cut both ways.

So far about the most interesting matter that has been developed is the lack of knowledge of the railroad and warehouse commission regarding the cost of transporting freight. Thomas Yapp, statistician for the commission, has practically admitted that he knows nothing about the cost and value of the railroads or about the cost of operation, and that his ideas of rates have been largely gained from schedules in use in other states and from what the railroads themselves told him about it.

Yesterday afternoon the committee

SHOULD SPEAK OUT IN PROTEST

Beveridge Believes All Men Should Oppose France's Action.

Washington, Feb. 12.—In discussing the controversy between the French government and the Vatican, Senator Beveridge of Indiana, in a speech at Carroll institute last night, in part said:

"With the purely governmental controversy between any nation and its citizens or subjects, we Americans, as a nation, have nothing to do. On such questions we Americans, as individuals, may have our personal opinion, but not an official opinion. But when any government on earth grounds its policy in an attack on religion itself, then it is time for all men who believe in the gospel to speak out in protest. For such an attack is the beginning of a movement against all religion of the world as the sovereign of the spiritual and moral empire of mankind. It affects all churches equally. 'I wonder if men who talk so boldly of exterminating our faith understand what would happen if that faith were destroyed. How do you suppose the republic would last if all the churches were turned into factories and all the preachers and priests—ministers of the same gospel—ceased forever their holy vocation? How long would society itself endure? Men have rebelled against the intolerance of dogma; men should no less rebel against the intolerance of politics. Men should no less resist the intolerance of the state whether republican and monarchial.'

DEFENSE WILL ATTEMPT TO SHOW THAT THAW IS SLOWLY RECOVERING

From His Insanity at the Time of Shooting White.

Testimony of Alienist Evans Bears Out This Contention.

Thaw's Manner One of Exaggerated Ego, Says Expert.

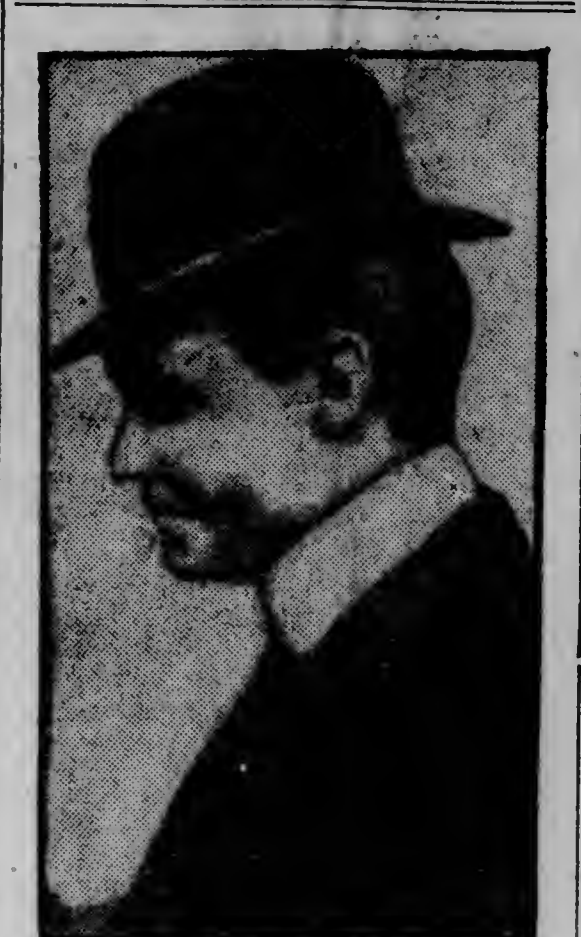

New York, Feb. 12.—The defense in the Thaw case continued today with the introduction of expert testimony as to the condition of the defendant's mind during the several months following the tragedy of the Madison Square Roof garden.

"We do this," explained Mr. Delmas, Thaw's leading counsel, "in order that the jury by means of the wreckage on the beach may infer that there has been a storm upon the waters." The witness who occupied the entire morning session and whose testimony had not been concluded when recess was ordered was Dr. Britton D. Evans, superintendent of the state hospital for the insane at Morris Plains, N. Y. Dr. Evans declared that when he first visited Thaw in the Toms on Aug. 14 there were many indications of "brain storm or explosive or fulminating condition of mental unsoundness through which he had recently passed."

It was now made evident for the first time in court that the defense is endeavoring to show to the jury that while Thaw was insane prior to the killing of Stanford White and at the time and immediately subsequent to the homicide, the alienist who visited him in the Toms found that as their visits progressed his manner changed from "storm and stress" to "calm and quiet." Dr. Evans' testimony today bore out this contention.

The expert at great length described that the various forms of insanity whose symptoms he discovered at the time of his first visit, to Thaw, but District Attorney Jerome could not in time to Dr. Evans as to his opinion as to the condition of Thaw's mind.

VOLIVA'S DREAM HAS VANISHED

Will Not Establish a Zion City in the Northwest.

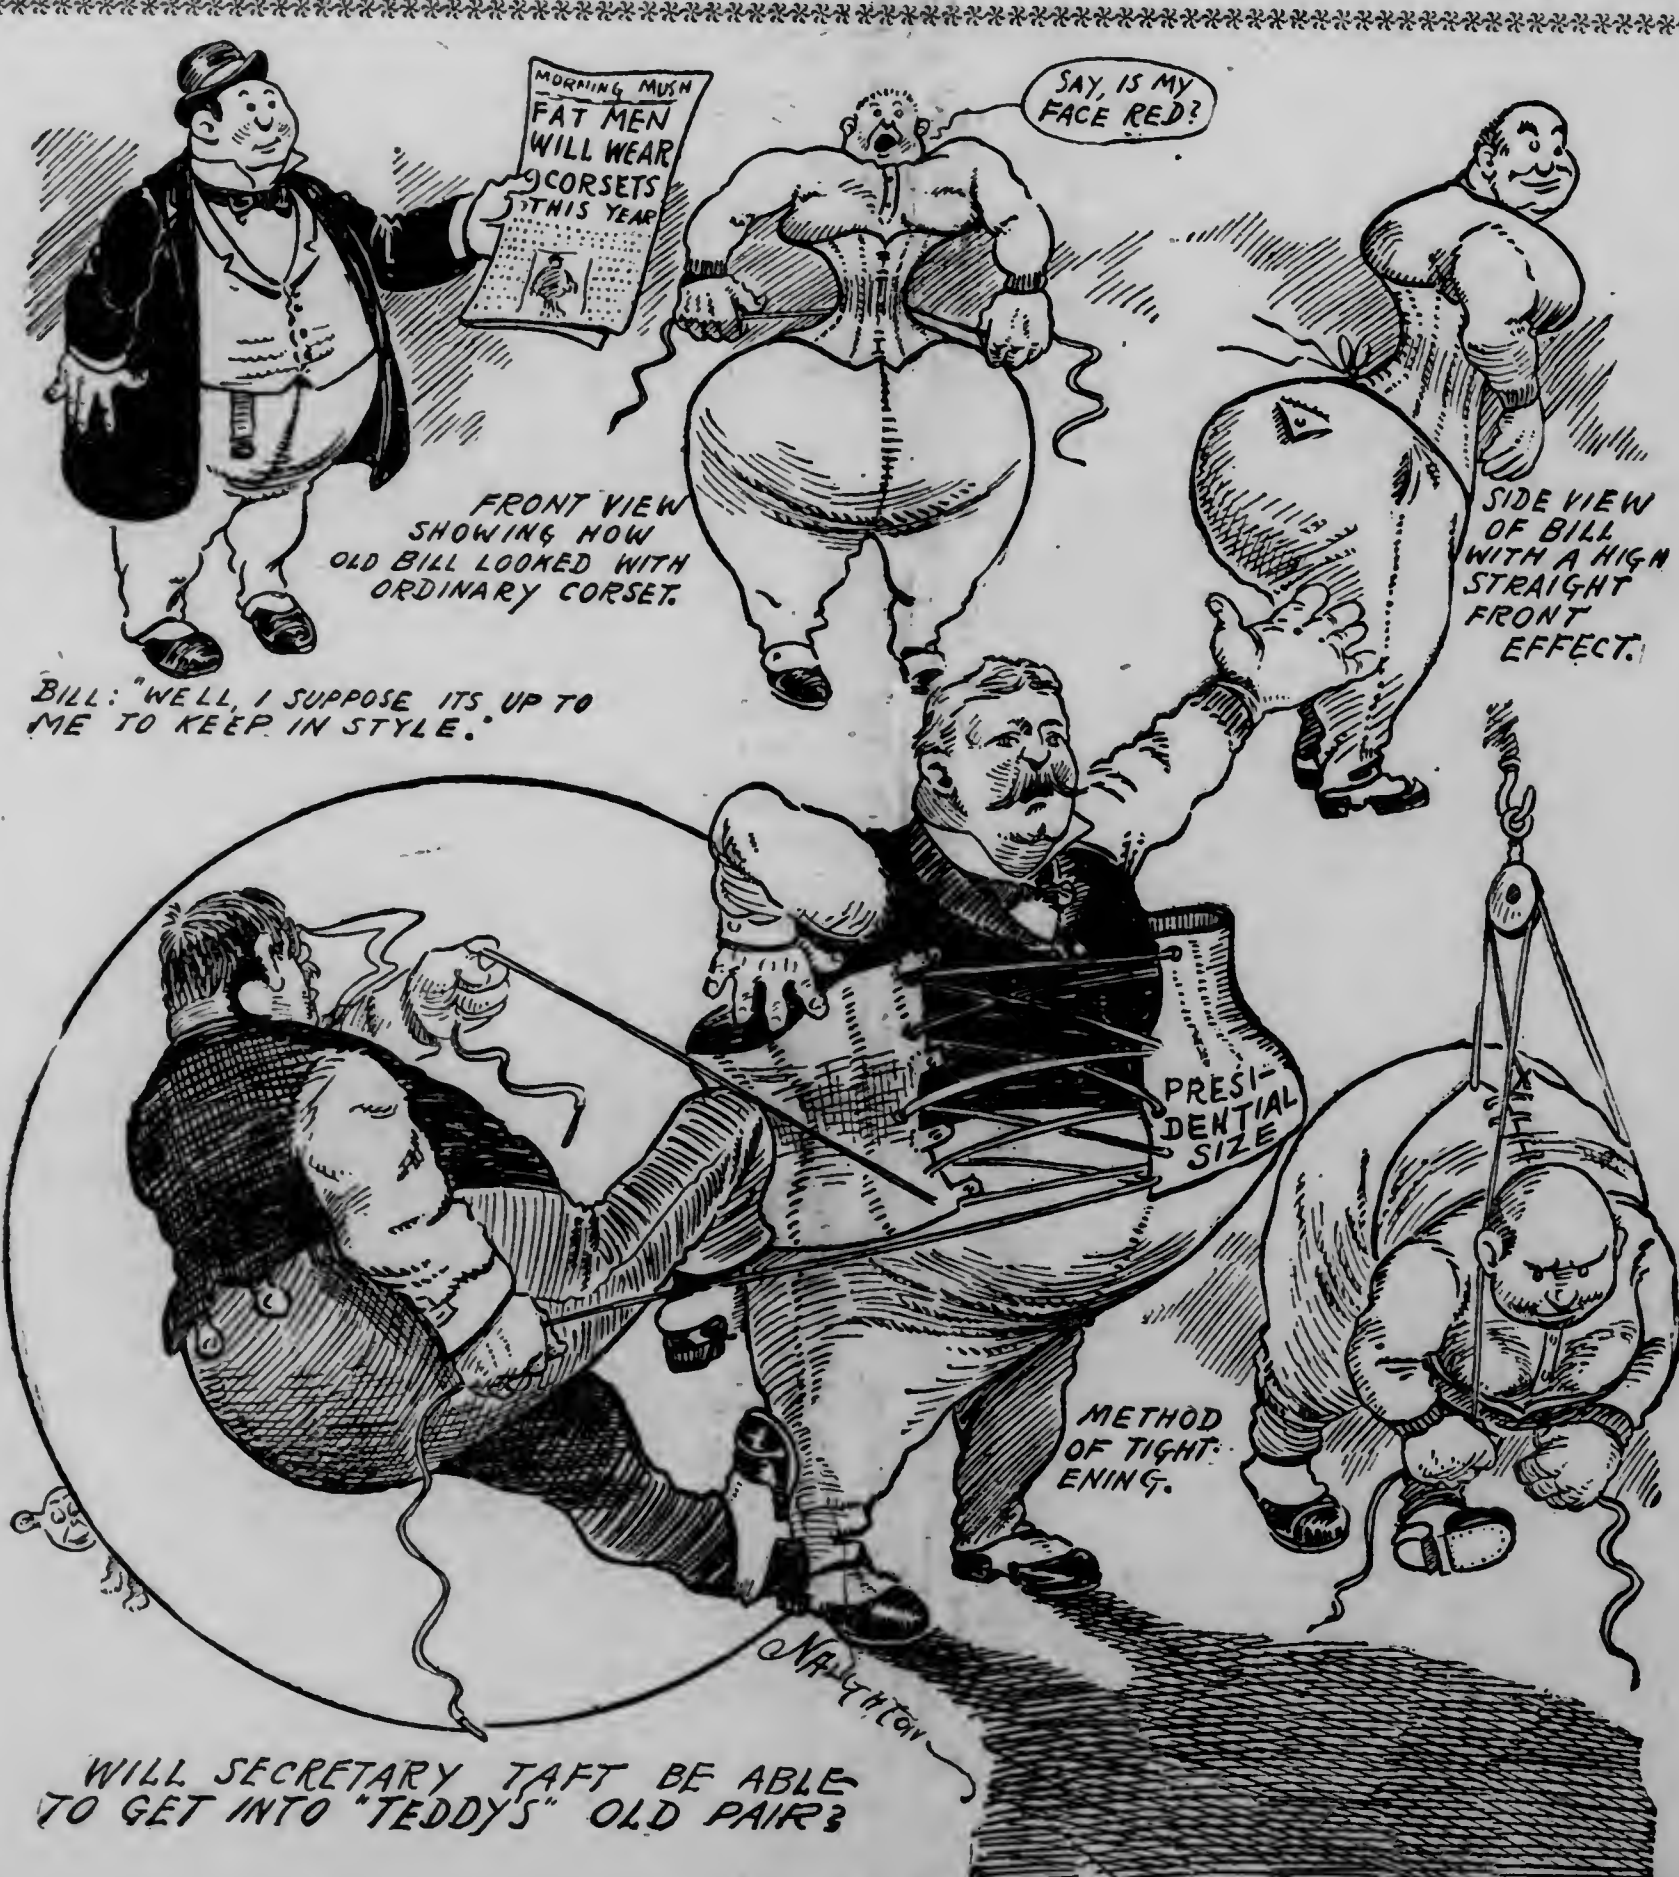

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 12.—Overseer Voliva's dream of establishing a new Zion City in the Northwest has been abandoned with the announcement yesterday that he has given up a trip here and along the Pacific coast planned for next month. Rev. August Ernest, elder of the local Zionite organization, says the plans have been abandoned because of the revolt in Portland, Seattle, Tacoma and Vancouver against the rule of Voliva.

"We believed in the teachings of Dr. Dowie, but we do not believe in the one-man rule which he instituted and which Voliva is following," said Dr. Ernest.

BODIES OF THREE MEN ARE FOUND IN A TIE CAMP NOT FAR FROM VIRGINIA

Startling Discovery Made by Scaler Who Visits Camp.

The Victims Evidently Drank Wood Alcohol and Died.

Condition of Bodies Show Men Died in Awful Agony.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 12.—Special to The Herald.—Three men, William Fitzgerald, Bob Starr and Burns were found dead yesterday in a tie camp, twelve miles out on the Sand Lake branch of the Rainy Lake road, having passed away in awful agony, according to the indications around the camp.

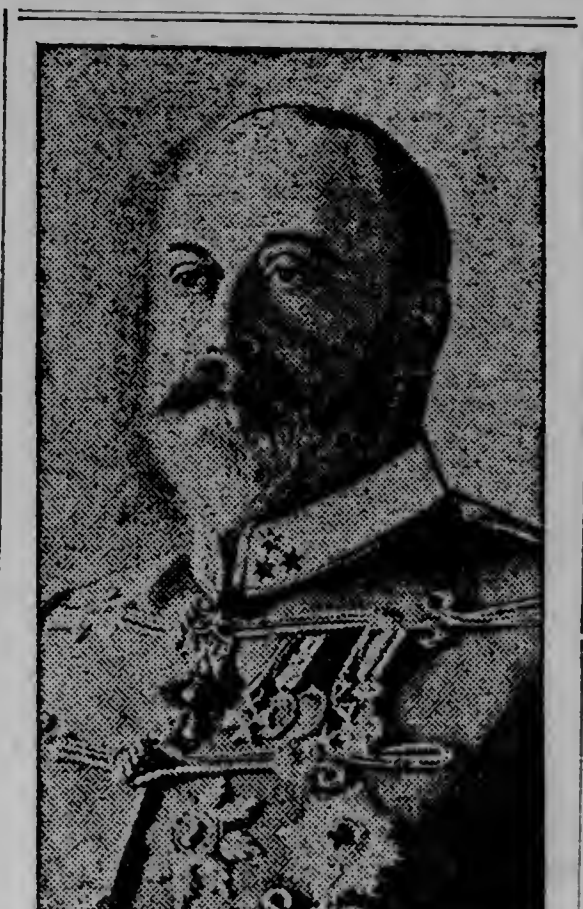

The men had been dead for several days and their bodies were brought to this city and taken to Messberg's morgue. They were found by a scaler who chanced to pass the camp and not seeing any signs of life about, investigated, with the result of finding the bodies.

A jug of wood alcohol was found in the camp, also a pint bottle half empty. The bodies of the men were badly contorted and their fists were clenched as though they had died in frightful agony. It is supposed that the men drank the wood alcohol and died a horrible death. Deputy Coroner Crowe is making an investigation of the case today.

Session Promises to be Full of Interest and Importance.

London, Feb. 12.—The second session of the second parliament of the present reign, which promises to be full of interest and importance as a consequence of the projected Liberal attack on the house of lords and the introduction of an installment of home rule for Ireland, was opened by King Edward this afternoon with all the imposing ceremonies which have attended these functions since his accession.

The speech from the throne, foreshadowed a full and busy session devoted to Ireland, army reform and temperance, apart from the overshadowing question of the house of lords.

"Serious questions," said the king.

NO SHINGLES IN MINNEAPOLIS

Supply of Roofing Material Exhausted in the Flour City.

Minneapolis, Feb. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Operations on several large buildings close to completion are held up by a total exhaustion of the supply of shingles and patent roofing materials. Although Minneapolis is the principal depot from which cedar shingles from the Pacific coast are distributed, the large stocks usually held on hand here are wholly depleted, owing to the blockade of the transcontinental roads of the last six weeks. Even before this, the car shortage had operated to reduce stocks here. The situation with regard to patent felts is complicated, not only by car service conditions, but also by the abnormal demand from San Francisco.

FOUR RARE PAINTINGS

Are Now Abandoned as Lost in the Wanamaker Fire.

Philadelphia, Feb. 12.—Four rare paintings are now abandoned as lost by those who are sorting the art collection which was kept in Lyndhurst, the country home of John Wanamaker, which was destroyed by fire last Friday. The pictures are "Our Lady of Madrid" and "Nymph" by Murillo; "Two Angels Holding a Garland of Fruit" by Rubens, and "The Saviour" by Benjamin West.

It is probable that in adjusting the loss with the fire insurance companies an arbitration board of the best known painters will be created. Many of Mr. Wanamaker's paintings are so woven with the traditions of the old world, which make them doubly valuable.

BODIES OF EIGHTEEN

Have Already Drifted on the Beach of Block Island.

The Steamer Larchmont, Providence to New York, Goes Down.

Temperature Below Zero and Many Victims Are Frozen.

Block Island, R. I., Feb. 12.—Only fifteen out of an estimated total of 150 to 200 persons survived the sinking of the Joy line steamer Larchmont in Block Island sound last night, according to an estimate made at 2 p. m. today. Of the saved, eight were passengers, six men and two women, and the rest were members of the crew, including Capt. McVey. The Larchmont, which was bound from Providence, R. I., to New York, went down after colliding with the schooner Harry Knowlton. The survivors reached this island in small boats.

In the boats which carried the survivors were the bodies of several passengers, who had frozen to death during the trip from the wreck to the land. It was impossible this afternoon to fix the number of those lost. Capt. McVey estimated the number of passengers as 150 and the crew as fifty. On the basis of these figures the number of those who perished was placed at 200.

The cause of the collision is not known. The night was clear, but there was a strong northwest wind, and the sea was rough. It was intensely cold throughout the night.

The Knowlton, which falls from Eastport, Me., was bound from South Amboy for Boston, with 475 tons of

OPTIONS SAID TO BE GIVEN

On Controlling Interest in Portage Lake & Bisbee Properties.

Houghton, Mich., Feb. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is understood here that Messrs. Cole and Ryan, with other Duluth parties, have been given an option on a controlling interest in the Portage Lake & Bisbee company's properties. There are twelve claims located in Arizona, the controlling interest of which Hancock parties now own. The details of the matter are kept secret here as much as possible, but this much has leaked out. The decision was reached at a meeting late yesterday and Duluth people are to visit the property and then decide. The matter will be settled definitely at the annual meeting of the board of directors in April. All debts on the property have been cleared away.

SENSATIONAL ART BURGLARY

Valuable Pictures and Snuff Boxes Stolen From London Residence.

London, Feb. 12.—The most sensational art burglary since 1878 when Gainsborough's "The Duchess of Devonshire," now the property of J. Pierpont Morgan, was stolen by an American, Harry Raymond, occurred at Charles Wertheimer's residence on Park Lane during last night. Several costly canvases, including pictures by Gainsborough and Reynolds, were cut out of their frames and carried off. The two Gainsboroughs and a Reynolds were worth together $80,000. So unskillfully were the pictures cut from their frames that they have been irretrievably ruined, even if they should be recovered. The thieves also secured a big haul of eighteenth century French snuff boxes, miniatures, etc. They made their exit from the front door with their booty, which caused the alarm bells to ring and aroused the household. The burglars, however, got away before the police could be summoned. The property stolen is valued at $175,000 in all.

SHIP THEM TO DULUTH

Smallpox Patients From Lumber Camps Filling the Pesthouse.

Conditions Demonstrate the Need of County Health Officer.

That a county board of health and a county health officer are much needed in St. Louis county is amply demonstrated by the smallpox situation right here in Duluth at the present time. At present there are in the pesthouse here fifteen cases, practically all of which have come in from unorganized towns and camps throughout the county. Lumber camps, and other places where there is no health supervision, and no medical attendance in many cases, has furnished practically all of the smallpox cases and are constantly menacing the health of the larger towns in the county with epidemics of the disease.

A woodsman feels symptoms of illness at a lumber camp, and is simply allowed to go, usually coming to Duluth. It is not until after he has been in the city a day or two, staying in most cases, at one of the lodging houses, that he breaks out with the disease, and then it is often a day or two before it is spotted as smallpox and the man is isolated.

Complaints have been received from Scanlon and other towns in St. Louis and Carlton counties that smallpox patients are being dumped in on them by the unorganized townships, but Duluth is even more interested in the matter of a county health officer than the smaller towns.

Dr. C. W. More of Eveleveth has been appointed to the position of health officer for the county, and he will make his first report to the county board at its next meeting.

Charleston, W. Va., Feb. 12.—By a vote of 75 to 5 the house today passed the senate 2-cent fare bill, after amending it by striking out the provision exempting lines of fifty miles in length or less. The amendment makes it the straight 2-cent fare bill previously passed by the house.

ANOTHER WARM WAVE IS HERE

High Temperatures Extend Over Nearly the Whole Country.

After a couple of days of only medium cold weather the warm wave, which was on the way to Duluth and vicinity yesterday, arrived this morning and will remain for probably several days more. Forecaster Richardson says that there is a slight chance of some snowfall, but it will not be at all heavy. The temperature this morning was 12 above zero at 7 o'clock and has been steadily rising all day. At noon it had reached 25 degs. There will be a slight drop this evening, but tomorrow will be another warm day, probably about like last Saturday. The temperature will probably go as high as 35 or 40 degs. above. Mr. Richardson expects the warm wave to extend into Thursday at least. The weather all over the United States is unusually warm for mid-winter, and the only cold spot is Northern Michigan and the southern portion of Central Canada. The high barometric pressure which was over Duluth Sunday is now over the district, and has caused a drop in the temperature there. The coldest temperature this morning was at Port Arthur, Can., where the thermometer registered 18 below. Los Angeles, with a temperature of 84 degs. above is the warmest place in the United States.

MILK WAS TOO WEAK

And Several of the Duluth Dairymen Will be Prosecuted.

Seven Warrants Issued Covering Large Number of Cases.

Because they are claimed to have disregarded the dairy and food laws of the state of Minnesota by selling adulterated milk, or that which in quality fell below the standard established by the state, a number of the Duluth dairymen are to be prosecuted by the state dairy and food department. Seven warrants were issued at the instance of the state dairy and food officers this afternoon, and it was expected that they would be served before night. Inspectors H. T. Sondergaard and H. A. Bennett have been actively engaged for the past several weeks in securing samples of the milk and cream that is being sold the people of Duluth, and the warrants are the results of the tests that have been made of the lactated fluid. In some instances one warrant covers several cases, where the prosecution is aimed at one person or firm owning the milk taken from the rigs of different drivers.

Following is the report of the inspectors on the samples collected and tested for the week ending Feb. 4, 1907: Sample No. 1—Milk taken from George Russell, driver for Bridgeman & Russell, butter fat 2.2, illegal. NEWS OF BOYS' DEPARTMENT

Final Basketball Game in High School League, Friday. An exciting game of basketball was played at the boys' department yesterday afternoon between the Endion and Emerson schools and resulted in a victory of 8 to 4 for the Endions. The line-up: Endion—Mars, Hartman, St. Clair, Campbell and Hayden. Emerson—Berg, Conning, Wright, Huttie and Malvick. The next game in the interscholastic series will be played Wednesday between the Washington and the Adams teams. The last game in the high school series will be played Friday evening when the Seniors will meet the Juniors. The Juniors haven't lost a game yet, and the Seniors have only lost one. If the Juniors win Friday they will head the list, but if the Seniors win it will be a tie and they will play again for the championship. The Seniors were short one of their best men when they lost their game, but are now confident that they will carry off the pennant. The Utopian Bible class met for a social hour last evening, taking dinner together. The following members were present: Palmer Bevis, Robert Murs, Donald Hayden, Morrison Harris, Griffith McConaughy, Oscar Solheim, John Naslund, Kenneth Harris, Burdett Pillsbury, Lester Bevis and Rex St. Clair. The membership campaign is now in full swing. The Blues had a meeting this afternoon and their crowd will be on the hustle at once. PERISHED ON THE PRAIRIE Homesteader Walks Three Hundred Miles to Tell Story.

Norfolk, Neb., Feb. 12.—F. W. Stevens arrived here after a walk of 300 miles from his South Dakota homestead, en route to Seward, Neb., to tell his aged parents of the death of his wife and three children, who perished on the plains sixty-five miles northwest of Rapid City, Jan. 24. He buried his wife and 10-year-old daughter beside the shack and will return to get their bodies in the spring. Two sons, 18 and 20, went hunting, lost their way, and perished. Their bodies were not found. He kept the story silent, hoping to be able to break the tragic news to his parents-in-law. He had $1,000 in his pocket and was planning to return to his homestead to Seward. He had walked across the snowdrifts from the homestead to Yankton.

SURVEYS COMPLETED

Of All Government Lands in Northern Itasca County. Bemidji, Minn., Feb. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—E. J. Van Winkle, United States inspector of surveys, whose engineers have been at work in the Big and Little Fork valleys, near Big Falls for several months, has completed his contract and been transferred to other fields. His task embraced the inspection of eleven townships which had been surveyed from onto three years previously. These towns are 45, range 27; 66, ranges 24 and 25; 67, ranges 25 and 27; 68, ranges 26 and 27; 153, ranges 25 and 26; 154, range 27; and 155, range 27. When these towns are opened to settlement, which will probably be during the coming summer (unless some of the towns need a re-survey to correct errors), the federal government will have no further work of this character in northern Itasca county. These townships include much excellent farming lands, although a major portion of them will probably be classed as swamp. The high lands have largely been squatted upon by settlers, some of whom will be able to make a five-year proof on their claims as soon as the government throws the land open to settlement.

FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE INVESTING PUBLIC

We are establishing a bureau of information through which we expect to be able to give special reports on mining properties in the principal copper and silver districts, and we shall endeavor to be of every service possible to those who are interested in safe, conservative, dividend-paying investments. There are a great number of unsafe—and some even fraudulent—propositions being offered to the public at the present time, and it is our purpose to give information which will keep people from losing their money in such ventures and to direct them to investments which are legitimate, safe and profitable. At present we have full reports on the silver-mining district of Cobalt, Northern Ontario and for our friends and clients we can secure stock in mines which are shipping ore and regularly paying dividends, and whose shares are bought and sold every day on the principal Eastern exchanges. To guarantee the facilities for securing such investments we have established connection on the Montreal, Toronto, New York, Boston and London, England, exchanges, and we will not allow any business to be handled for our clients except investment stocks which may be had at reasonable prices, which pay regular stated dividends and also may pay bonus dividends as shipments of ore may warrant, such stocks as may be disposed of at the option of the purchaser without depreciation. If you are interested, call us up, come and see us, or write us, and we will faithfully serve your interests. Ye expect shortly to be able to give accurate information regarding the Montana and Arizona Copper districts also.

MRS. GUSSIE SPORLEDER

President of the United Daughters Industrial Club, says: "I tried Peruna as a last resort for catarrh of the head, and consider myself cured."

MRS. GUSSIE SPORLEDER
801 WEST FOLK ST., CHICAGO, ILL.

"I am very glad to say a good word for Peruna. I was greatly bothered with catarrh of the head. I had dull headaches that nothing seemed to reach, and I would have periodic pains over the eyes. I tried many prescriptions and many doctors, and while some relieved me slightly, none could cure me. I tried Peruna as a last resort, and my happiness was great when I found that before the first bottle I had taken I felt better than I had felt for years. However, I took six bottles before I considered myself cured. I feel that I have permanent relief from my trouble."

In this connection, Mrs. Mary Zimmerman, 213 S. Edie St., San Antonio, Texas, says: "I suffered over nine years with catarrh of the head. Peruna restored my health."

There is nothing we could say that would add force to such testimonials as the above. That people who have had catarrh of the head and have tried every other remedy available, promptly find relief in Peruna, constitutes the best argument that could be made.

Theories are not so convincing as facts. Without cures no medicine has a claim to any one's confidence. But when a medicine cures it is sure to survive all opposition.

KING OPENS PARLIAMENT

"affecting the working of our parliamentary system have arisen from the unfortunate differences between the two houses. My ministers have this important subject under consideration with the view of a solution of the difficulty."

The rest of the speech was devoted to the proposed licensing bill, the object of which is to diminish the drink evil, proposals for the improvement of the army organization and Irish local government and education questions and a number of minor measures, including the establishment of a court for criminals.

On the Irish question the king said: "Your attention will be called to measures for further associating the people of Ireland with the management of their domestic affairs and otherwise improving their system of government in its administrative and financial aspects. Proposals will also be submitted to you for effecting a reform of university education in Ireland, by which I trust that the difficulties which have so long retarded higher education in that country may be removed."

Among the domestic legislation fore-shadowed in the speech from the throne was a bill "to amend the law relating to local bodies," evidently intended as a sop to the woman suffragists.

The house of commons assembled formally for a brief period after the reading of the speech from the throne and then adjourned until 4 p. m., when the debate on the address in reply to the speech will commence.

That the members of the house of commons represent a political situation as being especially interesting was evidenced by the keenness shown today. On the stroke of midnight the competition began and thereafter a steady stream of members visited the house of commons and placed their cards in the places they had selected. Later in the morning the customary search of the vaults of the house of commons was carried out by the men of the guard, from the tower of London, without the aid of any gun powder plot. Large crowds gathered within the precincts of parliament to witness the arrival of the distinguished personages.

of the blackmailers. I fell into their grasp. "I am through with the 'yankee doodle' army," he said, "and wouldn't wear the uniform of an officer again if I could."

Burbank denied the truth of the rumor that he is to marry the Leavenworth woman, to whom he became engaged while stationed at Fort Leavenworth. "I do not want to be dragged into my case again," he said.

Burbank while in the penitentiary here proved a model prisoner. He comes of a military family, his father and grandfather both having served in the United States army. His engagement in 1903 to a prominent young society woman of Leavenworth precipitated a suit by his Filipino wife, Mrs. Concepcion Vasquez of Valde, Me., in 1903.

Capt. George McVey of the steamer Larchmont said to the Associated Press today that he had on board between 150 and 200 passengers when the collision occurred, and only eight of these escaped with their lives. At the time he made his statement four making only twenty-two out of the total passenger list accounted for.

The passengers met their deaths in various ways. Some were frozen to death on the decks of the foundering steamer. Others were drowned in an attempt to escape before they were sent down and still others who were sent down in launching a life boat were frozen to death before the small craft reached shore. Capt. McVey said he could not estimate the exact loss of life at this time. His statement left Providence late in the evening and at Yesterday's estimate of the number of those on board agrees, however, with the estimate made by the Joy line officials at Providence, who said that the Larchmont carried about 150 passengers and a crew of thirty.

The inhabitants in all parts of the island turned out to assist in the rescue work, although many of them live several miles from the point, which the steamer sank. The north-west gale continued with zero temperature and heavy snow. At 11:30 four more bodies were washed ashore making a total of eighteen.

LEMONS ARE SQUEEZED

Pick Up Pale Youth and Inveigle Him Into Game.

"Victim" Wins and Announces Name as Frank Hoppe.

New York, Feb. 12.—The laugh is on the "lemon man" today.

In fact, there are two laughs on those expert players of pool, an cachinoman emanates from the private office of Chief Inspector McLaughlin at 300 Mulberry street.

Laugh No. 1 concerns the arrest of four men called by the chief inspector "a quartet of experts lemon handlers." The prisoners, who were picked up in the White Light district, between Thirty-first and Thirty-seventh streets, of West 150th street, and Thomas Moran, 50, of 1707 Amsterdam avenue.

The arrest of the quartet forms another chapter in the campaign of the chief inspector against the men who are in the habit of extracting cash from susceptible pool players through the mesmeric influences of "No. 1 ball."

Thus far fifty "lemon men" have been arrested, and several of the fifty have been "settled," which, being interpreted in ordinary English, means sent to jail.

Laugh No. 2 consists of a story, told in Inspector McLaughlin's office, of how a duet of "lemon men" were "trimmed" at their own game. The story is as follows, and is true, every word of it:

A few evenings ago two lemon men who congratulated themselves on their shrewdness watched the crowd surging into the Brooklyn bridge from the City Hall plaza. A slight pale-faced young man also watched the human jam. The lemon men noticed the pale-faced lad, who looked aggressively prosperous, and engaged him in conversation. He seemed willing to converse, and until talked of the snow storm, bridge crashes, and other unpleasant topics, until one of the shrewd lemon men suggested something more cheering in the way of a cheering drink and a jolly game of pool in a neighboring cozy billiard parlor in Park row. The pale-faced lad acquiesced, and the lemon men exchanged winks.

The pale-faced lad won the first two games of pool. The lemon men won the second two, and then suggested that they play "No. 1 ball" for $1. The pale-faced lad acquiesced, and the lemon men exchanged winks.

to the courtroom was strictly adhered to again today.

New York, Feb. 12.—The fact that today was Lincoln's birthday and consequently a legal holiday in this state had no effect on the Thaw trial, which went ahead at the usual hour this morning. Justice Fitzgerald ordered last week that, owing to the hardship on the jury, which is to remain locked up until the end of the trial, there would be no recess over the holiday.

When Thaw was walking to his place at the counsel table, as he was removing his ulster coat and for some moments after taking his seat, he kept his eyes on District Attorney Jerome, and ignored his own counsel for the time being. Mr. Jerome was busy with his papers and did not notice Thaw's somewhat unusual action.

The first witness called by Mr. Delmas was Dr. Britton D. Evans, superintendent of the state insane hospital at Morris Plains, N. J. Dr. Evans is short, thick-set, and has a face with a florid complexion. He spoke slowly and distinctly. He said he was born in 1855 and graduated from the Baltimore College of Physicians and Surgeons in 1885 and afterwards did post graduate work at Johns Hopkins.

Dr. Evans said he had written and spoken a great deal on the subject of insanity and that he had appeared in a majority of the important cases in New Jersey where mental derangement or incapacity had to do with the trial under investigation. In several cases, he testified yesterday, he represented both the prosecution and the defense by consent of counsel and was appointed by the court.

The witness knew Harry K. Thaw, first saw him Aug. 4, 1906, in the Tombs and in all visited him eight times. Dr. Evans said he was alone on the visits of Aug. 4 and Oct. 1. At other times he was accompanied by Dr. Charles Wagner, who testified yesterday.

"What during these visits did you observe in the mental condition of Thaw?" "On the first visit on Aug. 4, he exhibited a peculiar facial expression, glaring of the eye, restlessness of the eye, suspicion of his surroundings, of me, nervous agitation and restlessness, such as comes from a severe brain strain common in those who have recently gone through an explosive or humiliating condition of mental unrest into consideration by an expert in a personal character, an exaggerated ego, and along with them delusions of a persecutory character. He thought himself of exaggerated importance and believed himself persecuted by a number of persons."

abnormal excitement—a diseased condition of the brain."

"In the disease you describe how do the conditions differ from the conditions in a normal man who speaks rapidly?"

"An ordinary normal man speaks more or less deliberately on all matters of grave importance, he talks slowly and his ideas come logically and connectedly. In a man of unusual mind the ideas come rapidly, jumping from one subject to another, that at once leads a trained observer to suspect unsoundness of mind. To me it means that the mind has either recently come through or is just going into a severe mental storm; in other words, it is either the twilight or dawn of a state of mental unsoundness or explosion."

"By delusions I mean false ideas of what a man cannot be argued by logical and ordinary arguments. Mr. Thaw exhibited what I believe were false ideas which my arguments could not shake."

"When was your next visit to the Tombs?"

"I believe it was Sept. 21." District Attorney Jerome objected to this question on the ground that the date was not needed.

WEST DULUTH

DANGER AT THE SUBWAY

Citizens Think That the Embankment is Too High.

West Duluth Dinky Cars Are Turned in at Barn.

West Duluth citizens are complaining against the manner in which the street car company operates its cars through the Jewell street tunnel, which is claimed to be a dangerous place. In the words of one of the frequent users of the West Duluth and

East end cars, "there will be a smash-up there before long."

According to the West Duluth people there have been several times when cars entering the subway have narrowly missed crashing into vehicles. The embankment is so high that it is impossible for the motorman to see around the curve and the patrons of the line there should be a rule compelling the cars to come to a stop before going around the curve. The road going around the subway is so narrow that it is necessary for the teams to be on track or the other continually.

One of the complainants says the danger might be eliminated if the embankment at each end of the subway should be lowered. It is the general belief, however, that if the cars would come to a full stop at both ends of the subway, the danger would be eliminated.

Although the street railway officials claim to have greatly improved the service during the last few weeks, some complaint is still being made in regard to it by West Duluth people. One of the citizens who signs himself as follows in regard to the little cars:

"Mr. Warren has urged the public to patronize the single truck cars during the hours of the day when the regular cars are crowded and when the small cars are run out as extras. Last Sunday evening I boarded one of these little cars at West Duluth. This car was running ahead of the regular car as an extra and there were several passengers.

"When the car reached the car barn at Twenty-sixth avenue west it was shunted inside and we were compelled to wait five or six minutes in the open air for another car to be run out of the barn. This car had no heat, as the fire had not been started.

"While we were waiting the regular car, which the small one had preceded, came along but the conductor would not give us transfers to that and we had to wait for the other car. There were a dozen passengers, nearly half of whom were ladies, and we all had to wait patiently until another car was gotten ready. Few of us will patronize the small cars again."

BOTH SIDES OF QUESTION Concerning the Japanese Situation in California Have Been Presented.

Washington, Feb. 12.—As a result of an hour's conference at the White House, at which President Roosevelt, Secretary Root, Mayor Schmitz of San Francisco and the members of the school board of that city participated, Mayor Schmitz, late last night, made a statement summarizing the situation.

When asked the direct question whether the proposition submitted by the San Francisco delegation called for the exclusion of Japanese coolie labor from this country, Mayor Schmitz replied: "We are not making a treaty, and have not discussed with the president the question of excluding the Japanese from this country by treaty. On Saturday we heard the president's views, and today we presented our side of the question at issue. It now remains for us to modify our views in order to reach an agreement with the president, or for Mr. Roosevelt to modify his views to reach an agreement with us. Today's conference adjourned subject to the call of the president, and I do not think that we will be called to the White House again until Thursday or Friday."

HAPPY WOMEN

Plenty of Them in Duluth, and Good Reason for It.

Wouldn't any woman be happy, after years of backache suffering, days of misery, nights of unrest, the distress of urinary troubles, she finds relief and cure? No reason why any Duluth reader should suffer in the face of evidence like this:

Mrs. M. McGilvray of 1223 Superior street, Duluth, Minn., says: "As I told in my former statement I was troubled with my kidneys a good deal for a year or two, and had heavy, dull pains through my loins. My back tired easily, especially if I reclined or sat long in one position. In the morning I felt tired and worn out. The kidney secretions were unnatural and I was troubled with persistent headaches. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the Duluth Drug Co.'s store, and began to use the preparation. I received wonderful benefit from this remedy. It imparted strength to the different organs and banished the backaches and headaches. I am glad to re-embrace such a valuable remedy for backache and kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents. Foster-McBride Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

POWER OF THE TRUSTS

Lecturer Says They Absolutely Control Necessities of Life.

"With an absolute power greater than that of any absolute monarch of whom history can tell us, the great American trusts are slowly but unmercifully crushing the life out of the people of the United States in an effort to grasp every dollar and every penny in sight to swell their already monster volumes of wealth."

This is the substance of a forceful address upon the subject, "The Power of the Trusts," delivered last evening by Leo Francis Lybarger, an attorney of Pennsylvania, before an audience at Steinhilber hall under the auspices of the Emerson Lyceum club.

Although the audience was not a large one, there being probably not more than 250 people in the hall, it was an appreciative and intelligent one, and applauded the speaker at every timely utterance.

In handling the great trust question, which Mr. Lybarger stated was the biggest problem which the American people have ever had to face, the speaker divided the subject into four parts and discussed first, the nature of the trust movement, second, the motive then the power, and finally the source of the power.

Under the head of the nature of the trust movement, Mr. Lybarger explained how the great trusts of today had been built up first as mere corporations, which gobbled up the individual dealers, and then the greater combines which in their turn gobbled the corporations until today all the great industries of the country are under the control of a few multi-millionaires of the Rockefeller and Morgan type.

"If this great movement has taken place during the last eight or ten years, and the trust movement was hardly begun ten years ago, what is there in the future for the American people if this combining business is not stopped?"

The motive and purpose of the trusts as well known to the majority of the people, is to secure an absolute monopoly," said Mr. Lybarger in discussing the second division of his address. "This desire for monopoly is not a new one, as it was practiced in the very ancient days of the world's history, but only on a small scale. The scheme of monopoly is a monstrous one and does not belong in a republic. Just so far as the trusts have succeeded in combining and monopolizing the industries of the country, we have become a monarchy."

"The power of the trusts is an unseen one working behind the people and grasping and squeezing continually. All the people in the country are within its scope. The trusts control the necessities of life and those under its control can either refuse to obey the trusts' command or not. But if they refuse to obey they must die of starvation. People must have clothing and shelter and therefore the commands of the trusts are obeyed. The atmosphere of the earth is the only thing which the trusts do not control, and the American people cannot live merely upon the atmosphere."

"In the olden days of the absolute monarchy, the king's subjects had two alternatives. They might obey the commands of their sovereign or they might refuse, but in the latter case they would be doomed to die. It is just the same in this country today, the American people may refuse to be controlled by the trusts, but if they do they must die of starvation, and lack of fuel, shelter and clothing."

"I believe we have the finest government in the world," said Mr. Lybarger. "All the armies and navies of the world could not conquer us. But we cannot starve, we cannot forget the great privilege of living in the world. There is where the power of the trusts comes in. They control the necessities and therefore they control the commands means that we must starve."

"In owning and controlling every rail line in the country the trusts have another great power. What would become of the people of this country without the railroads? They are the very arteries and to cut them off would mean certain death to human life. The people are absolutely dependent upon the railroads as is shown by the conditions in which the citizens of North Dakota are in this winter because the lines running out there have been blocked. The iron hands of the trusts which grasp the railroads are the hands that hold the destiny of the American people in their grasp."

"To do away with this great power of the railroads I would advocate the entire government ownership of all the lines in the country. Let the government buy up the railroads, divide them into a few systems and then lease these systems to big railroad men who shall operate them under the direct control of the government and then see what a magnificent wealth will yearly flow into the coffers of the national treasury. There would still be competition, because the great systems would be operated by different hands and in my opinion this would be the only logical way of solving the railroad problem."

What is the source of the power of the trusts? Every great trust is the direct product of some special privileges granted to some few favored people. Why are special privileges granted in a republic? They belong to monarchies and have no place in a republic, where all men's rights are equal. The trusts have a great wall all about the country built some ten years ago, and one of the great sources of the power of the trusts. When this wall was built it was expected to shut out competition from other countries, but the originators did not expect it to be the means of shutting out competition in the United States itself.

"Another source of the trusts' great power is railroad discrimination. The means of this discrimination the trusts can ship commodities at such a lower price than the individual dealer. The dealers cannot compete with the big combines. The ownership of natural resources of the country is another source of power. The trusts have an absolute control over the people by their ownership of the iron mines and coal mines and the great industries of the country."

"The only way to get at the trusts and take away some of this great power is through taxation. The power of taxation still remains with the people. If the people of the United States can get at the watered stock of the trusts by taxation and tax every dollar of it they may yet obtain control over the combines. Every industrial trust has watered stock. The railroads are generally even more watered. In this taxation the people still have some power over the trusts. Let us hope they will use this power before it is too late."

SOME MODIFICATION To Be Made in Order Prohibiting the Issue of Land Patents.

Washington, Feb. 12.—The president's order of Jan. 25, forbidding the issue of final certificates, patent or other evidence of title to public land until an actual examination has been made on the ground by a government officer, except in certain specified cases, was the subject of an important conference at the White House yesterday, participated in by Commissioner of Corporations Garfield, who is soon to become secretary of the Interior, Clifford Pinchot, chief forester, Representatives Steenerson and Gronna and several representatives of the geological survey.

Mr. Steenerson said the president and his advisers had agreed to add another list of exceptions to his general order so as to provide that title may issue in the case of all homestead entries upon which final proof of five years' residence has been made in accordance with law. This modification, however, he said, was not entirely satisfactory to Mr. Gronna and himself, and another conference will be held.

The city, on six months' notice, may buy the lines for $500,000, plus the cost of rebuilding. While the companies operate the lines are to pay the city 55 per cent of the net income.

HOLD EIGHTH ANNUAL BALL

The eighth annual ball of the mail carriers at the Armory last evening was attended by about 800 people and was the most successful affair of the kind that the carriers have yet attempted. The dancing lasted from 9 o'clock until after midnight.

Mail Carriers Entertain Large Crowd at the Armory.

The hall was nicely decorated for the occasion, clustered lights and evergreen trimmings with the national colors all tending to produce a pleasing effect. The musicians' stand was faced with palms and a large flag made an effective background. The music, furnished by the orchestra of the United Order of Foresters was excellent.

THE ARMY BILL

Carrying an Appropriation of $81,000,000 Is Passed by the Senate.

Washington, Feb. 12.—The senate yesterday passed the army appropriation bill, carrying $81,000,000. The amendment which permitted the government to accept reduced rates on army supplies and permitted officers and enlisted men to accept reduced transportation was defeated by a point of order interpreted by Senator McCumber after the day had been spent in its discussion. The amendment offered by Senator Dick, increasing by 20 per cent the pay of officers and enlisted men, was defeated by a point of order made by Senator Hale.

Amendments were accepted to build monuments to revolutionary officers as follows: To Gen. John Stark, an equestrian statue at Manchester, N. H., $40,000; a statue to Gen. Nathaniel Green at Guilford Court House, N. C., $15,000; a statue to Gen. James Schirner at Midway, Ga., $5,000.

BEGINS SECOND CASE.

Besides a $500 damage case against Thomas Doyle, a West Duluth saloon keeper, in the municipal court, Joseph Lanthier has instituted another suit for $5,000 damages against Doyle in the district court. In the municipal court Lanthier asks damages for the loss of his boy's services. He claims the boy has been laid up from injuries he received in being struck in the face with a whip in the hands of Doyle. In the district court case the father demands damages for the physical injuries inflicted on his son. Lanthier claims that his boy was playing in the road and that Doyle struck him in the face with his whip as he drove by in a cutter.

Doyle claims that his boy, with others, caught on the rear of the cutter and would not get off when told to do so. Doyle claims that he struck over his shoulder with the whip and that the boy let go and ran to the sidewalk, holding his hand to his face.

Hotel Kellner and the Boston Buildings are burned.

Kellner, Minn., Feb. 12.—Fire at 5:15 Saturday morning destroyed the Hotel Kellner and contents and the Boston building, occupied by Noble & Johnson's grocery store and Titus & Johnson's meat market.

So rapidly did the fire spread that the occupants had barely time to escape with what clothing they could carry, some being forced to jump from the upper story.

Peter Larkins of Bomblji was among those who jumped from the second story of the burning hotel building and in falling to the ground he sustained serious injuries about the head and shoulders.

The flames spread quickly to the Boston building, adjoining the hotel, the contents of which were being rapidly carried to places of safety. Both buildings were completely destroyed, but the damage to the contents of the Boston building is but slight.

The losses are as follows: Fred Scott, hotel building and contents, $3,500; insurance, $2,500; Boston Bros' building $1,000; no insurance; Noble & Johnson, grocery, $80; insurance, $300; Titus & Johnson, meat market, $500; no insurance.

Beer—FITGER'S Beer—

A Temperance Beverage

What was the attitude of "The Fathers" toward beer? James Madison and Thomas Jefferson enthusiastically fathered the cause of malt against distilled liquor, the former trusting "that the brewing industry would strike deep root in every State in the Union," and the latter stating that "no nation is sober when the dearness of fermented drinks substitutes ardent spirits as the common beverage."

The value and nourishment of

lies not in its percentage of alcohol (only 3 1/4 per cent) but in the wholesome product of malted barley and well cured hops.

WEST END DELEGATION LIKES SITE

West End Residents Approve Courthouse Grounds.

Party of Business Men Come Up Town to Investigate.

At the invitation of County Commissioner Samuel West, one of the business men of that section of the city took a journey up town for the purpose of inspecting the courthouse site Saturday afternoon.

The party which took the junket was a representative one, almost every business house along Superior street from Eighteenth to Twenty-first avenue west sending a delegate.

When the delegation got off the car up town, those pedestrians who were not familiar with the personnel of the party supposed the West enders to be distinguished visitors from New York or members of the state legislature, pleasure bound.

Bolder spirits were for securing some banners and transparencies, heralding the party and booming the West end, but the more dignified and conservative spirits decided that that sort of thing was overdone and the residents of the West end were nothing if not original.

The West enders looked over the courthouse site with interest. One man asked if the postoffice was going to be moved to make room for the jail. It is said that the latter building on the site has somewhat turned his head and that the idea of a jail and police station at the time it was not Alderman Mark, either.

But the members of the party enjoyed the excursion and Mr. Sanderson was thanked for his courtesy in undertaking to chaperone the party. They also expressed themselves as approving the plans and site for the proposed building.

TWO BURGLARIES

n West End—Mork Favors Michigan Street Site.

Although some members of the city council said last evening that they hardly thought a police station necessary in the West end, and although some members of that section of the city hold similar views, the fact remains that this theory is not on the wane.

Within a week, the police building on Superior street, near Twenty-first avenue has been entered and some goods, stored there by the former occupants, R. F. Forward & Co., taken, and T. F. Halford & Co.'s hide storehouse has been burglarized.

Speaking of the proposed West end police station, Alderman Mork says he will build out for the police station site to the last ditch, despite what a few selfish property owners and a minority party think. He is satisfied that a majority of the people of the West end, along that thoroughfare, are much opposed to a police station on First street.

Rev. C. A. Alden Here.

Rev. C. A. Alden, formerly pastor of the Swedish Baptist church in West Duluth, and now financial secretary of that church, was in Duluth, Minn., Feb. 12.—Edwin Rednauer, a baker, and his four children, Perry, aged 8; Fannie, aged 6; Pauline, aged 4, and Arthur, aged 2 years old, were burned, yesterday, in the fire which destroyed their home. Rednauer was frying doughnuts, when the fat boiled over on the floor, setting the house on fire. The children and their mother were asleep in an upper room. Rednauer rushed upstairs and endeavored to rescue his family, but was overcome by smoke, and before the firemen reached the scene all of the inmates, with the exception of Mrs. Rednauer, had been burned to death. The latter rushed from the dwelling to summon the firemen, and endeavored to save the life of the family.

Nine-Tenths of the Deaths from Consumption Could Have Been Avoided.

Dr. W. A. Evans, an eminent practitioner of Chicago, in a recent address emphasized the importance of physicians recognizing the symptoms of tuberculosis in its early stages. Dr. Evans says that nine-tenths of the deaths attributed to consumption could have been prevented if the patients' symptoms had been accurately interpreted when first made manifest.

The only safe method is to assume from the very first that consumption really is present in all cases where there is the slightest reason for suspecting its presence, and to prescribe in accordance with that theory.

Coughs and colds, soreness in the chest, difficulty in breathing should have prompt treatment, as the lungs are then in a peculiarly receptive condition for the tubercular germ.

A noted specialist, whose camp for consumptives in the Pine Woods of Maine has attracted great attention because of his remarkable cures there, advises the use of the following simple formula, which is said to break up a cold in twenty-four hours, and cure any cough that is curable: Take one-half ounce Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), two ounces of Glycerine, and eight ounces of good Whisky. Shake well and take in teaspoonful doses every four hours.

The ingredients can be secured from any good prescription druggist at small cost, and are easily prepared. The patient should be careful to secure the Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) in the original package, which is sealed in a round wooden case, with an engraved wrapper, with the name "Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure)" plainly printed thereon.

the state legislature, providing for half fares for school children, and a rate of six fares for a quarter on all street railway lines in the state. Mr. Lytle stated that as the street car magnates totally ignored any requests in this line this was the only course which could be taken.

Paying estimates were called for the following streets and avenues: Fourth avenue west, from the railroad right-of-way to Second street; Fourth street, from Sixth to Fourteenth avenues east, and Lake avenue, from the viaduct to Fourth street, based on sandstone, macadam and crossties block. The board of public works was directed to circulate a petition for the improvement among the property owners.

Alderman Haven moved that the water and light commissioners report to the council the latest date on which a contract for materials for the construction of the Lakeside gas and the Hillside water and gas systems could be let and still insure the completion of both systems in 1907.

Alderman Haven introduced an ordinance providing that all repairs to streets, after being torn up, should be made by the board of public works, the cost of such repairs to be paid by the contractor or city department engaged to do the work.

Alderman Haven said that the slippage had been done in the past, and the way that those responsible shifted the responsibility from one to another, had, in almost every case, necessitated the city's doing the work sooner or later.

Alderman Moore introduced a motion requesting the city clerk to submit a list to the council of all the projects which the conference committee had to turn down for want of funds.

Attorney Fesler brought to the attention of the legislative committee a bill about to be introduced in the legislature providing for an additional tax of one-tenth of a mill for the benefit of fire department relief funds throughout the state.

FIRST BANQUET OF BANK CLERKS

Very Successful Affair Held at the Commercial Club.

The first annual banquet of the Head of the Lakes chapter of the American Institute of Bank Clerks, held at the Commercial club, last evening, afforded an evening rich in pleasure for those attending.

Among the speakers were: Judge Page Morris, Rev. J. M. Mooney, J. W. Lytle, cashier of the Duluth Savings bank; J. L. Lewis, teller of the American Exchange bank of Superior; and G. H. McCarthy, cashier of the Duluth First National bank.

Judge Morris told of the supreme importance of the bank clerks' work, and advised his hearers to be worthy of the trust placed in them by the officials of the bank and the people. He said they should not be led from the higher objects of life by passing pleasures, and asserted no man ever succeeded without hard work.

Rev. Mooney said the bankers of America controlled the very "nerve of the nation." He advised the young men to lead such lives as would give people confidence in their integrity and honor. L. H. Barnes said Duluth is the logical center of the Northwest, and that its opportunities are unbounded to young men with the right ability and initiative to seize them.

J. W. Lytle said there was a constant demand for trained men in the banking business, and urged all bank clerks to study their business and improve their time. Success would follow, he said.

J. L. Lewis told what the American Institute of Bank Clerks has accomplished by bringing its members together for mutual instruction and the interchange of ideas.

G. H. McCarthy said the institute was of benefit to both clerks and employers, and thanked the bank officials for the interest they had taken in the work.

W. I. Prince, cashier of the City National bank, presided as toastmaster. Every bank in the city was represented. Covers were laid for fifty-five. The musical orchestra played several beautiful selections, and G. H. McCarthy sang two numbers.

ENGINEERING TOMORROW

Tomorrow is the beginning of Lent. For the next forty days instead of seeing young women in very glad garments hieing themselves off to bridge parties of large size and much eat, one will see maidens with a dinky little bag swinging from their arms hieing off on side streets on the way to spend the afternoon with their very dearest friends, and the while they will busily embroider white things that will later be run with nice ribbons. They will talk quite a little and sew some, and consume unlimited cups of syrupy tea, and can after can of preserved ginger.

And while one is on the subject it would not be bad to inquire why it is that when anybody wants to be especially nice to you, as in the case of the Lenten observance, they serve ginger? The hot, biting, brown, uninviting stuff! It reminds one of one's early childhood when liquid drink was as hot as fire and as insipid as mud. It was given you after you had complained slightly of the effects of a too enthusiastic indulgence in pop corn or apple pie or anything like that. Then they gave you Jamaica ginger. It was a remedy, and a good one, too. Now when you are helpless, the guest of a polite house, and people wish to be especially nice to you they hand you preserved ginger. Would that there were some escape from it!

To return to Lent. The idea that is agitating many minds whether or not a pall of gloom and quietness is to settle over Duluth society. The sewing parties will flourish without a doubt and maybe a quiet table or two of bridge. And then, when all else fails, there is conversation, which is always nice.

Bridge Reception.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hartman entertained last evening at the last of a series of bridge receptions at their home, 1124 East Superior street. The game was played at eleven tables and the favors were won by Mrs. Victor Stearns, Mrs. Whitney Wall, and Mrs. Homer Collins, and the men's favors went to F. W. Pearsons, O. C. Hartman, and A. W. Trause.

Dancing Party.

A delightful dancing party was given last evening in the sun parlor of the Spalding at which the members of the D. Y. W. Y. K. club were present. The affair was the first in a series, the remaining dances to be given after Lent. Robinson's orchestra played and the chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Jeronimus, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Harrison and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Stevens. Those present were: Misses—Margaret Duggan, Mae McAlpine, Margaret Scouten, Mina Clark, Ethel Smith, Della Kreidler, Irene Reun, Clara Polz, Nellie Reun, Agnes Skelton, Ida McDonald, Messrs—O. H. Dockery, A. E. Esterly, R. H. Hall, Jack Fugart, E. A. McConville, Fred Warren, O. Meara, E. B. Ryan, Jr., R. J. Mathers, G. C. Cowling, George H. Skelton, G. C. Cowling, W. Hall, Lake Neagamon, J. O'Donnell.

To Go Abroad.

Carl Thiel and son, Richard, of Hingham, Minn., left this morning for Leipzig, Germany, where they will visit Mr. Thiel's daughter, Miss Thiel, who has been studying the violin there for four years. Miss Thiel will spend her next year in Prague, and then return to her home in Hingham. Mr. Thiel will return to Duluth, Mr. Thiel will visit in Chicago and New York a few days before sailing for Germany.

Valentine Party.

The valentine party last evening at the rooms of the Young Women's Christian association was given yesterday at the regular meeting of the Matinee Musicals, which was held at Steinway hall. The works of the modern German composers were chosen for the program, which was arranged by Miss Florence Williams. Three musicians were heard for the first time yesterday before this society. They were: Mrs. Harry Strong, whose piano numbers were delightfully played and much enjoyed; Miss Florence Hyland, soprano, who was heard with pleasure; and Walter L. Smith, tenor, who sang two sweet numbers and a Hilda "Spring Song," with fine effect. The opening number was the Italian music "Benedictus," by Moszkowski, played by Mrs. Percy A. Gough and Miss May Wyle, and the closing number was "Gondoliers," by Henschel, sung by Mrs. Homer Collins and Mr. Smith. The accompanists were Miss Eleanor Pines and Mrs. J. N. McKinley.

Club Reunion.

A reunion of the Duluth Art club will be held this evening, at 7:30 o'clock, at the club room of the library. Before the holiday season the weekly meetings of the club were largely attended, and a profitable work was accomplished. It is desired that a large number of members be present this evening, as a number of interesting meetings are being planned for the spring.

Matinee Musicals.

A well arranged and well presented program was given yesterday at the regular meeting of the Matinee Musicals, which was held at Steinway hall. The works of the modern German composers were chosen for the program, which was arranged by Miss Florence Williams. Three musicians were heard for the first time yesterday before this society. They were: Mrs. Harry Strong, whose piano numbers were delightfully played and much enjoyed; Miss Florence Hyland, soprano, who was heard with pleasure; and Walter L. Smith, tenor, who sang two sweet numbers and a Hilda "Spring Song," with fine effect. The opening number was the Italian music "Benedictus," by Moszkowski, played by Mrs. Percy A. Gough and Miss May Wyle, and the closing number was "Gondoliers," by Henschel, sung by Mrs. Homer Collins and Mr. Smith. The accompanists were Miss Eleanor Pines and Mrs. J. N. McKinley.

Browning Class.

The regular meeting of the Evening Browning class of the Twentieth Century club was held last evening at the club room of the library, at the leader of the class, Rev. J. W. Powell, took as the subject for the evening Browning's poems of "Immortality." The speaker read and discussed a number of the poems, and dwelt upon the hopes and beliefs of Browning in immortality. Many poems quoted and read from were:

"Clean," "Rabbi Ben Ezra," "Saul," "Earth's Immortality," "Apparent Failure," "Abt Vogler," "Love in a Life," "Evelyn Hope," Poppa's confession from "The Ring and the Book," and "The Grammarian's Funeral."

lands of too much sunshine and warmth. But here upon some nice grey cold morning, a few dozen thin and tender buckwheat cakes with plenty of butter and about a quart of syrup and just a little of the most delicate sausage that ever was blended together with a golden brown cup of coffee and then perhaps another one can scarcely imagine a person who was wishing to begin the day that way wishing at any time to go away for the cold weather.

Buckwheat cakes are very nice.

Recipes of Palatable Dishes For Home Use

By EMMA PADDOCK TELFORD.

Peanut Butter.

Dear Mrs. Telford:—Will you kindly tell me how to make peanut butter, also Oriental paste? The latter is made with gelatine, I think.

EDNA M. P.

I do not know how the commercial peanut butter is made, as its emulsion is a trade secret. For ordinary home use the peanuts freshly roasted, shelled and skinned, are ground fine in a meat chopper or food mill. The paste is then mixed with a little olive oil to make the consistency desired. Salt lightly and keep in glasses. Keep in a cool place.

Patties.

Dear Mrs. Telford:—Will you kindly furnish me with a recipe for oyster, chicken and sweetbread patties. Also will you kindly furnish me with recipes for Irish relish and the mustard sauce for chow-chow. The same as they have it in the stores.

MRS. L. S.

Make Puff Paste.

Make a good puff paste, roll out an eighth of an inch thick, then stamp out as many circular pieces as you will require paties, using a sharp cutter two or two and a half inches in diameter.

With a smaller cutter stamp nearly through the center of each disk, being careful not to cut through to the bottom. Place in a greased dripping pan like biscuit. Brush over with white of egg and bake a delicate brown. Remove the little cap made by the smaller cutter, fill with the prepared oyster, chicken or chicken filling; replace the cap and serve hot. To make the filling for patties chop raw oysters, boiled sweetbreads, or scraps of the breast of turkey or chicken into coarse bits; add to a cream sauce, and cook together one tablespoonful each butter and flour, then thinning with boiling water and simmer gently until they begin to crack. Pour off the water and into a deep pan or granite-ware or tin put a layer of the mixture. Have ready three-quarters of a pound of mixed salt pork, score and put in the middle of the pan, and add a half teaspoonful of pepper and a salt. Mix together a tablespoonful of salt, a half teaspoonful of pepper and a salt. Mix together a tablespoonful of salt, a half teaspoonful of pepper and a salt.

Waldorf Oyster Patties.

As prepared at the Waldorf the patties are made in this way. Dozen oysters, with their liquor, are put into a saucpan and heated. Meantime in another saucpan a tablespoonful each of butter and flour are warmed and blended into a smooth paste. They are then seasoned with a little mace, cayenne and salt, and three tablespoonfuls of cream gradually poured in. Cook

Chow Chow Paste.

Make a paste of six tablespoonfuls ground mustard, one tablespoonful turmeric, a cupful of flour, one of sugar and two quarts good chow-chow. Stir the dry mixture with a little of the vinegar, then add the remainder. Put in a clean porcelain lined kettle with the pickles, that should have been drained from the brine, and the whole until it scalds and becomes smooth and thick, then turn into jars and seal.

Baked Beans.

Dear Mrs. Telford:—Will you kindly publish some good plain recipes for baked beans? A CONSTANT READER.

Boston Baked Beans.

The first thing to remember in baking beans the Boston way is that you must have one and a half cups of water to every cup of beans. Another good recipe is to use one cup of water to every cup of beans. Another good recipe is to use one cup of water to every cup of beans.

Wash and soak one quart of pea or navy beans in cold water overnight. In the morning pour off the water and put to boil with plenty of cold water. had lost heavily and—You know how it is, George. I have never let Rex see his father in drink and I never let him see me when I am in a bad mood. I brought him out here with his "eyes" and you see the heat of his face. You see I am dressed to withstand it."

"I see that you are not telling me the truth," replied Garviston sternly. "I see that you are living out the old life and that you and the boy will suffer for it. I wish to heaven I'd been in a position to marry you seven years ago. Amy, I wish to heaven your mother had hurried you into this thing and made a wreck of both our lives."

"Don't," she said, with a slight averting of the face. "It's had enough to suffer without reminding me of what might have been. In two days you will be going home, and I—Ah! what the use of sighing? I have lived and I shall continue to live, and when you come back at the end of your leave—"

"George," said Mrs. Sandry, with a little outburst of grateful tears, but he did not hear her. He had set his face towards the open quarters and was already far on his way down the long hot, sandy road where the peepers were clustered and the cheery bird crooned for the "storm" that was not to come.

YOUNG GERMAN IS HEIR TO FORTUNE

News of Money Comes Too Late to Save Life.

Minneapolis, Feb. 12.—If he had only borne his misfortunes a little while longer Santa Valentine, the young German who committed suicide in the Randall hotel, 1727 Second street north, a couple of weeks ago, would now be on his way to Germany to claim a fortune of $50,000 that had been left him by an uncle.

Henry Braun of 1223 Washington avenue south, was the first to learn of the money that had been left to Valentine. He gained his knowledge from a friend in Germany, who told him of the division of a large estate, Santa Valentine, not knowing that Valentine was dead, started out to look him up. After searching lodging houses in vain he went to police headquarters last evening where Capt. Kiviere told him the truth.

Braun was much shocked to hear of the sad occurrence, as he had always supposed Valentine was happy and prosperous. He had seen him in Grand Rapids, Minn., almost a year ago. At that time Valentine was employed by a lumber company. When Valentine came to Minneapolis he failed to look up Braun. The latter consequently had lost track of him.

ANOTHER CONFERENCE

To be Held With President by Frisco Board of Education.

Washington, Feb. 11.—Thomas P. Mr. Boyle declined to say anything about the future course of the delegation.

MANY RED, TEARFUL EYES.

Hundreds of Indianapolis People Suffering From the Grip.

Indianapolis, Feb. 11.—Indianapolis is in the grasp of the grip. There are hundreds of cases of that illness in the city, and men and women of all classes and occupations are unwilling victims of the army of germs floating about in the air looking for throats on which to settle and eyes which they may reddens.

The physicians of Indianapolis are no less susceptible than are the laymen. Many doctors who are telling patients every day what to do to get well or how to keep from getting the grip, are weeping great, grippy tears, as they give their advice to the sufferers.

At the Indiana Medical college also, there has been a thinning out for more than a week. The students are in turns. They stay in their rooms for a few days, and then come back to the college, while some of their classmates take a grip-vacation.

There has been a run on the doctors at the eye, ear, nose and throat clinics at the Fob's Free Dispensary, too. They work overtime nowadays, and it is all because of the wily germs that prey on all the men, women and children in Indianapolis they can reach, much to the annoyance and discomfort of their victims.

MEXICO IS ALL RIGHT

Clancy Brothers Are Enthusiastic Over the Republic's Mineral.

Say Gold Propositions in Cananea District Are Receiving Attention.

R. D. Clancy of Detroit, Mich., and R. K. Clancy of Cananea, Mexico, who are well known by some Duluthians, and who are interested in Sonora mining properties, are in the city on business. They have recently returned from the Southwest and Mexico, where they have been looking after some mines in which they are interested. Like others familiar with and who have visited Mexican mining camps lately, they are enthusiastic over the natural wealth of the Republic. They are prominently identified with the El Dorado Gold Mines company, which has taken over the Precioso gold and silver mine in the Cananea district of Sonora, Mexico. This mine was one of the first discovered in the Cananea district, and was operated for a period of five years by previous owners, who handed only the high grade ore to the El Dorado company. The mine has been developed, including tunnels, shafts, crosscuts, drifts, etc. The mine has shown up strong, going to the bottom of the property. The narrowest part of the veins is not less than six feet, and run from that to forty feet on the level. It is a free milling proposition, and there is ample patented ground, approximately 240 acres, which is sufficient in width to prospect extensive operations.

Over 130,000 tons of ore is in the mine and on the dumps, of the approximate value of $2,000,000, said R. D. Clancy, this morning. "Ore is being developed to a depth of 2,000 feet below the lowest workings, are in process of installation. "There is a large amount of virgin ground in the mine which is well opened up. At a very small cost, a large tonnage could be developed from this virgin ground. All arrangements for the installation of a reduction plant of good capacity have been made. The mine is also a good proposition, and the value of the ore would be more than $15,000 a month.

"The whole product will be treated on the ground, and there would be a high percentage of recovery of value. The cost of treating the ore would be less than $1 a ton, and a great proportion of the ore in the mine, now developed, as well as on the dumps, is of a high grade, and handled at a little over $1 a ton. DEATH LIST

Large Number Were Killed in the County Last Year.

N. D. Fairbanks Heads the List With an Even Dozen Slain.

That the state and county bounty of $15 per head paid for the killing of wolves has had some effect in decimating the numbers of the voracious animals within the boundaries of St. Louis county, is demonstrated by the annual report of County Auditor Halden, which shows a total of 136 wolves killed last year.

Of this number 135 were full grown male or female wolves, on which the bounty paid was $15 each, and one cub wolf, for which the bounty paid was only $2. In 1905 several cub wolves were killed and their pelts presented for the bounty payment.

The total amount paid out last year in wolf bounties was $2,027 of which amount the county paid half and the state the remaining half. In the county of St. Louis, the county paid $1 and the state an equal amount.

The largest number of wolves killed by any one man for the bounty was twelve. These were killed by N. D. Fairbanks, who has this past winter made a business of killing the animals in the country north of Florence, where he lives. He has brought six pelts, netting him $75 in bounty. The hides would sell on an average of $5 each, making his total revenue from wolf killing for the winter about $240.

The one cub wolf, which was killed by Louis Wedel, who chanced on the old she-wolf's lair when he was hunting for a fox, was brought in by him. In this instance, before Mr. Wedel reached his home he was pursued by an angry mother and several others from the pack she probably ran with. As she was being pursued by the hunter had to build a fire and keep the animals off with firebrands until daylight, when they circled the place setting up blood-curdling howls, but as the sun arose they were made to retreat. The young wolf made such an outcry that it seemed to incense the others and Mr. Wedel was compelled to kill it before the night was far advanced.

Erick Takala, another successful hunter, exhibited the pelts of six wolves and received $90 in bounty. The auditor's records show that two women, Mrs. John Burnside and Mrs. John Burnside, who live in the county, have each collected a wolf last year and collected bounty. One of the women is said to have killed a wolf on her own property through the doorway of the home, instead of on which she and her husband were hunting.

A large majority of the wolves on which the bounty was paid in St. Louis county were killed by means of poison. The animals were lured to traps, and hunters were able to get within gunshot range of the animals. When they did this rather more of an accident than that of intent. Most of the animals were caught in traps.

OBJECTS TO CHURCH BELLS.

Society for Prevention of Unnecessary Noise Would Abolish Them.

New York, Feb. 11.—Satisfied that church bells are both useless and harmful, Mrs. Isaac L. Rice, president of the Society for the Suppression of Unnecessary Noise, has announced that the society will object to the ringing of church bells in the city of New York.

The society, which was organized by Mrs. Rice, has as its object the suppression of unnecessary noise in the city of New York. It has already succeeded in getting the ringing of church bells in the city of New York prohibited.

DID NOT THANK RESCUER.

New York Woman Jumped into a Carriage and Disappeared.

New York, Feb. 11.—An ungrateful woman, for whom Thomas P. McGibney asked his life, jumped into a cab and was driven away as he was dragged from under the car from whose wheels he had saved her. McGibney, a flagman for the surface roads at Columbus circle, was on the front platform of an Amsterdam avenue car. McGibney saw that a woman would be run over. Without hesitation, he leaped over the dashboard and, seizing the woman, whose hand he held, lifted and pushed her to the top of the snow-bank that lines the north track there. So narrow was her escape that when McGibney slipped he slid under the car behind its front wheels, but the rear track caught him and rolled him fifty feet before the car could be stopped.

PHOTOGRAPH IS SENT OVER TELEGRAPH WIRE.

Paris, Feb. 11.—For the first time in France, photography was successfully practiced last week in the offices of a Paris illustrated publication, the photograph of President

Fallieres being wired to Lyons and return, a distance of 640 miles in six minutes. The photograph of the president was slightly dim, but not more so than those of an impressionistic picture. The resemblance was perfect.

The inventor, Prof. Korn of Munich, said that he expected in a year's time to so perfect the apparatus that it would be found in every newspaper office. He has already received orders from several of the larger French papers.

Before a noted audience, which included many women, Prof. Korn outlined the apparatus and explained the service which the invention was bound to render, not only to the illustrated press, but to the police.

DENVER WOMEN BALK AT THE WEARING OF TIGHTS.

Denver, Feb. 11.—If Shakespeare hadn't put so many cavaliers and courtiers wearing tights in his "Merchant of Venice" the eager Denver public would enjoy the rare treat of witnessing the great production of the Women's club. But the public hopes have been shattered and the women with ambitions to display their talents in Shakespearean roles have given up the idea. There will be no "Merchant of Venice."

And the wicked old tights are to blame. The enthusiasm at the club was at fever pitch when the crushing blow descended. The matronly members of the club were told that all who took the masculine parts in the play would have to wear the garb of the times when Shylock was doing business. It took their breath away, and a storm of "nays" made the daring manager and trainer seek safety behind a big chair.

English Spavin Liniment removes all Hives, Sores, Cuts, Bruises, and Hemorrhoids from horses, Blood Spavins, Curbs, Splints, Sweeney, Ring Bone, Scurfs, Sprains, all Swollen Throats, Coughs, and a storm of "nays" made the daring manager and trainer seek safety behind a big chair.

A BILL IS INTRODUCED TO REDUCE FREIGHT RATE FOR CARRYING IRON ORE

In Interests of Independent Mine Owners, Says Author.

Tighe Would Impose a Tax on Sales of Grain.

North Dakota Wants Opposition to Superior Market Dropped.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative Thayer of Spring Valley this morning introduced in the house a bill limiting the freight rate for carrying iron ore to six mills per ton per mile. The author, who says this bill is in the interests of the independent mine owners, estimates that this would cut rates about one-third. It would, however, reduce most of them more than that.

Another measure of interest to Duluth was one by Representative Tighe of St. Paul imposing a tax of 1 cent on each $100 involved in sales of grain or other produce on exchanges or boards of trades. This is part of the general scheme to provide the state with independent sources of revenue, in order to abolish the direct state tax.

The senate received a copy of a long resolution from the North Dakota legislature, asking that opposition to the FEMALE CONVICT KILLS ANOTHER Tragedy Enacted in Work-room of Federal Penitentiary.

Moundsville, W. Va., Feb. 13.—Lottie Hawkins was stabbed to death with a pair of shears in the female ward of the penitentiary last night by Ada Cross, a notorious convict. Both women are federal prisoners sent here from the District of Columbia, and about 30 years of age. The murderer has been here three times, and is now serving a 20-year sentence. Her victim was serving a 2-year term for stealing. The women were trimming garments under the supervision of the warden, and Lottie Hawkins complained to the matron of the mistreatment at the hands of Ada Cross. She walked back to her place and while the matron's back was turned the Cross woman leaped at the other and sank her shears into the other's neck, severing the jugular vein. The Hawkins girl walked toward the matron, then swooned and died in a few minutes.

OPERATORS VICTORIOUS Demand on Western Union for Increase of Salaries Granted.

Ten Per Cent Increase Will be Effective March First.

New York, Feb. 13.—An increase of 10 per cent in the salaries of telegraph operators at the company's principal offices throughout the country was announced by the Western Union Telegraph company today.

The announcement of the increase in salaries was made in a letter from Robert C. Cleary, president of the company, to the general superintendents, B. Brooks, New York; T. P. Cook, Chicago; Frank Jaynes, San Francisco; and J. Levin, at Atlanta. The letter reads as follows:

"This company has received petitions within the last sixty days from sixteen offices in the West and Southwest, asking for an increase of 10 per cent in the salaries of operators. The petitions have been given careful consideration, bearing in mind that the company should not discriminate in favor of a few offices, but that any action should be general. In this connection it has been necessary to consider the enormous increased cost of all kinds of telegraphic material, which in many cases has been from 20 to 30 per cent, while the tariff rates on messages and other traffic are very low in view of the demands of the public for service. In fact, many of these rates are rates of former ruinous competition and are unprofitable. Substituting these facts, the company has decided to increase the salaries of operators at its principal offices throughout the country 10 per cent from March 1, 1907."

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Feb. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—For a holiday things were rather lively around the capitol yesterday afternoon. Two railroad presidents, a bill to regulate railroads, and a "mysterious stranger" were the leading actors.

One of the railroad presidents, A. B. Stickney of the Chicago Great Western, appeared before the Sunberg senate committee to tell about the building, reorganization, bonding and cost of his road.

The other railroad president, James J. Hill of the Great Northern, appeared before the house railroad committee in opposition to the Rockne bill, drawn up in the attorney general's office, prohibiting railroads from issuing stocks and bonds without the consent

DEMURRER SUSTAINED

Judge Decides for State in Suit for Railroad Taxes.

Says Answer of Defendants Does Not Constitute a Defense.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Hallam filed a decision today in the cases brought by the state against the Duluth & Northern Minnesota Railroad company and the Minnesota & Northern Wisconsin Railroad company, in which he sustains the demurrer of the plaintiff to the answer of the defendants.

Judge Hallam holds with the plaintiff that the answers do not constitute a defense.

The state in its complaint sues to make the railroads pay the state gross earnings taxes of 4 per cent for the year 1905, as required by the act passed in 1902.

The answer of both the defendant railroads was that the act did not apply to them and that even if it did, the measure was unconstitutional. The defendants contended that they were operating under a law passed in 1873 in which a gross earnings tax of 2 per cent is provided for,

Block Island, R. I., Feb. 13.—A conservative estimate by Capt. McVey and Purser Young of the steamer Larchmont places the loss of life by yesterday's disaster at 150. Both McVey and Young are suffering severely from the physical pain from their frozen limbs, and from the mental anguish caused by their terrible experiences. Neither man is able to leave his bed.

In addition to the three bodies which were picked up during the night, one was recovered shortly after sunrise. There are now thirty-eight bodies at the Sandy Point Northend life saving station, and

THE PRESIDENT SENDS A MESSAGE TO CONGRESS ON PUBLIC LAND SITUATION

Urges a System of Leasing of Government Mineral Lands and Control of Public Land Pastures.

Washington, Feb. 13.—President Roosevelt today sent to congress a message calling attention to what he terms the "urgent need of legislation affecting the different phases of the public land situation in the United States."

He advocates the conservation of coal and other fuel resources on government lands; urges government control of Western public land pastures, with a system of small grazing fees; asks for an appropriation of half a million dollars to aid in detecting and preventing land frauds. He contends for a system of government leasing of its mineral lands and for treating these fuel lands as public utilities.

The president points out that it would have been better if some Eastern coal lands had been left under government control and suggests provision in the West against recurrence of the conditions we deplore in the

It is now practically certain that fully 150 lives were lost by the sinking of the steamer Larchmont off Block Island Monday night. The steamer Kentucky took on board the bodies at the New Shoreham station, and those of the survivors who were able to be moved and then proceeded to the Sandy Point station on the same mission. It was planned that the steamer should go to Providence, where the bodies would be held, awaiting identification and instructions from relatives, and the suffering survivors given medical attendance. Church and State in France Seem Likely to Agree.

The Form of Contract for Leases Has Been Changed.

Paris, Feb. 13.—Church and state in France seem at last to be on the verge of a final agreement relative to the terms of the lease of the churches. Following the government's announcement of its willingness to modify its counter proposition, making the contracts run eighteen years and for the benefit of the parish priest named, or his successor, "fulfilling the same conditions," negotiations took place between Mgr. Amette, coadjutor archbishop of Paris, and the prefect of the Seine, Justin de Selver, acting respectively for Cardinal Richard and Minister of Edu-

NEW CODE IS NOT SO STRICT

Permits of More Elasticity in Reports of Election Expenses.

As the sworn statements of the various candidates in regard to the money they spent in their campaigns for aldermanic honors just passed, begin to come in, the effects of the change in the law regarding this which was incorporated in the new code is very noticeable.

The old law provided that the statement should show when, where, to whom, and for what, all the money expended was spent, and required that the statement should be made as complete as possible by the candidate for office.

The new law simply says that the statement must be made as full as possible, but requires no details as to the expenditure. Statements are made in a general way, and are admitted under the present ruling, whereas under the old law, the time they worked, and other details would have been necessary.

The new method thwarts the purpose of the law to a certain extent, as there is absolutely no way to check up on the candidates' reports, and any amount which they may deem proper to swear to, must go without challenge.

This is the first time that the effect of the change has been noticed here.

CURIOUS FAMILY.

Coffee Ruined Them.

A lady writes how coffee treated her family.

"I was born of a sick-headache family," she says, "my father, James, was born, loved his roast beef and plum pudding, and every rich dish that could be brought on the table and always drank coffee.

Associated with my earliest memories is the picture of my father, at times walking the floor, his head bandaged, his face drawn with pain, and his eyes rolling as in a delirium. He suffered this every few days. He was similarly afflicted, as was also his sister.

"I have had many ailments, which I can now see were properly charged to the coffee I drank. I am 63 years old, and for the last half of my life have been a sufferer from kidney troubles and extreme nervousness often tossing about till 4 or 5 o'clock in the morning. My general health suffered of course, and along with everything else was the constantly recurring agonies of sick headache.

"Loving to live, yet life only a burden."

"A friend urged me to quit coffee and drink Postum Food Coffee. I was loath to give it up, but at last I made the change, and it soon made a wonderful change in me. For two years now I have used Postum Food Coffee. It has brought me sound and refreshing sleep at night, as when a child. I have had the headache only twice in the last year, the kidney trouble is passing away and my flesh has been renewed. I used to eat little or no breakfast—had no appetite. Now I wake up hungry and enjoy the meal with a relish. I do not tremble or stagger from dizziness, as formerly; my depression and despondency have gone away to the enjoyment of life.

"I conclude from my own experience that coffee is a subtle and deadly poison, slow but sure in its harmful results, and that it is the cause of many disorders in the human system."

"I find Postum Food Coffee, properly made, a most delicious, invigorating beverage that heats while it nourishes. It has cured me, and I'm sure it has added years to my life." Mrs. J. H. given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

THEY FAVOR HOME TRADE

Grocers Ask State Institutions to Buy Minnesota Goods.

State Association on Record as Opposing Buyers' Exchanges.

Several interesting papers were read at this morning's session of the Minnesota Retail Grocers and General Merchants' association, now holding its annual convention in Duluth. A resolution was adopted calling upon the state institutions to purchase all necessary supplies from wholesalers and jobbers doing business within the borders of Minnesota. Another resolution adopted placed the association on record as being strongly opposed to the establishment of buyers' exchanges.

George H. Schulenberg of Duluth was the first speaker today. "The Modern Grocer" was his subject. He told, in a general way, what a merchant, who would be successful, must do in order to attract and hold trade. Cleanliness about the store, honesty in dealing with patrons, courtesy to all, and square dealing with competitors were named as some of the necessities. He said the grocer should make his own prices, and stick to them, and not let patrons dictate what they should pay for certain goods.

"It would be a Godsend if the legislature would pass a law compelling the grocer to make a reasonable living profit on goods sold, or else get out of business," he said. The pure food law of Minnesota he characterized as being the best in the country, and gave the grocers much of the credit for this legislation, asserting that all men in the business wanted to see the laws in this respect enforced to the letter. Mr. Schulenberg is a firm believer in package goods, and spoke in favor of doing away with stock in bulk wherever possible.

C. A. Menelly of Minneapolis read a paper on the same subject. He said it was good policy on the part of the merchant to hire expert clerks and pay them good wages, for this means an increase in business. The buyer wants some one of intelligence to sell him or her the goods. The speaker asserted that the retail grocers have not been getting their just share of the country's great prosperity. He talked against substitution of articles "just a grade" for something the buyer asked for, and took a firm stand in favor of advertising, saying that in these advanced days of competition, particularly with the mail order house, the retail grocer could not expect to do a good business without a liberal expenditure of money for advertising purposes. The advertisements, he continued, should contain nothing but facts, with no exaggerations.

A. J. Peterson of Boyd gave a short talk on "Organizing." He said much had been accomplished in this line in Minnesota during the past year, and much will be accomplished during the present year. President Lux complimented Mr. Peterson before the delegates on the good work he had done in organizing.

"Molasses and Vinegar, the Sweets and Sours of a Grocer's Life," was the subject assigned to C. C. Clausen of Crookston, and he handled it in a very interesting manner. He spoke of the grocer as being the pivot of the higher civilization. The grocer is among the very first to locate in the new towns, and much of the growth and success of the place is dependent upon him. Whenever contributions are in order, the grocer, especially in small towns, is the one first visited. He is first to feel the rise in taxes, and there are many other burdens falling upon his shoulders, but in spite of all these things, said Mr. Clausen, there are many sweets in his life.

He is a person of high place in his community, always held in respect and esteem, and often chosen for high political office. Mr. Clausen agreed that it was better to be a big toad in a little puddle than a little toad in a big puddle. The address all the way through was optimistic and philosophical.

A smoker was enjoyed by the delegates at Plaster's auditorium. He was H. W. Hedgesbury, who was master of ceremonies and Hon. W. I. Nolan was official fun maker. There was fun in plenty. Among those who assisted in the entertainment of their fellows in the way of short speeches were H. W. Hedgesbury, Patrick Nolan, Fred Lorenz, J. J. Crowe, Ivan Knight, A. C. Clausen, John Lux, J. J. Ryan, J. E. Dwyer, E. E. Hedgesbury, T. Kelly, W. Menelly and Senator Nolan. Music was furnished by a colored quartet. Tonight there will be a concert and dance in the same hall.

The treasurer's report yesterday afternoon showed that for the first time in the history of the association a balance was on hand after all expenses had been paid. The expenditures of the year were $4867 and the receipts $5299, leaving a balance of $432.

Late yesterday afternoon Dr. Edgar Samson of Minneapolis spoke on the pure food law. He suggested that the grocers do all they can to assist in carrying out the purposes of the law, saying it was in their best interests to do so. The remarks of the speaker were well received. The state association is strongly in favor of a strict observance of the pure food law.

This afternoon the visiting delegates visited the fifth avenue wholesale houses. It is hoped the business will be rushed through in time tomorrow, the closing day of the convention, so that the delegates may leave for home on the afternoon Omaha train.

BIGAMIST SENTENCED

Three Years and Three Months in Penitentiary for Doyle.

James C. Doyle, the bigamist, must serve a term of three years and three months in the Minnesota state prison at Stillwater, at hard labor.

Sentence was imposed on Doyle this morning by Judge Ensign.

Doyle was indicted and convicted during the present term of court. The testimony showed, and he made no attempt to deny, that he married his first wife in Chicago several years ago, and that he was residing with her in Duluth when he was arrested.

Doyle's only defense was that he thought his first wife was dead before he contracted the second marriage. He based this plea on uncorroborated testimony to the effect that two traveling men of his acquaintance told him so during a trip to the Copper country, a month before he was married a second time. He claimed that he wrote a letter to his first wife, but it was returned to him unopened.

Doyle has been a resident of Duluth for the past three years. He is president of the Northwestern Engineering company and the Doyle Dryer Manufacturing company. He is a man of ordinary mental and his arrest caused a sensation.

Mr. Odell, Doyle's attorney, claimed that Doyle is a peculiar man, that he is equipped with a brain for the mechanical work of his profession, but that he is not a man of the heart.

Judge Ensign's remarks preliminary to passing sentence on Doyle were as follows: "The facts of this case are so plain that I need not say much more."

"You are married to a woman from whom you have a child, and you are years of age. You separated, but that marriage contract is still in full force. You were aware of that, also that you had no right to contract another marriage."

"It seems to the court as though you acted on mere suspicion. Two men stated to you that your wife was dead. You accepted those statements. Perhaps you wanted to believe them; I cannot tell."

"Such news as this imparted is not ordinarily received with due caution, that enables one to so soon contract another marriage."

"It is inconceivable that your wife should have died at Grand Rapids, Mich., without somebody notifying you. She had a sister and a telegram to her name saved you all this trouble and crime."

"I feel that you seized on the remarks of those two men and then based a marriage that was in violation of the law."

"The world and the law holds marriage sacred and any violation should be severely punished. Violation of the marriage ceremony breaks up homes."

"So far as your wife was concerned, the testimony at the trial showed that you had been separated for several years, but that she had entered into a solemn contract with you that has never been dissolved."

"I do not regard her condition so much as I do that of the innocent woman you pretended to marry. She is a mother, without legal title to your name, with a child stamped with illegitimacy."

"These matters the court must take into consideration and no court can deal lightly with such a case."

"The jury recommended you to the mercy of the court. I never know just what that means, but I have heeded it to a certain extent."

"Although your counsel asked me to pass the lightest sentence possible under the law, I cannot do so. In the judgment of the court, you are guilty."

"You are sentenced to three years and three months in the state penitentiary at Stillwater, at hard labor."

Doyle was arrested some weeks ago, charged with passing worthless checks on several local banks and individuals. He was indicted for forgery in the first degree on several counts and pleaded guilty to one count on information furnished by the county attorney.

Doyle seemed anxious to get an early sentence, but the court was in no haste to move until something should be learned about the defendant's antecedents.

It was found that he has a young wife in a delicate condition residing in Hancock, Mich., and the further back the authorities went into his record, the shadier it became. In short, it was found that Doyle, who is in the neighborhood of 60 years old, has a pretty wide police and prison record, because of his tendency to sign other people's names to checks.

When asked by Judge Dibel if he had anything to say, Doyle told the court that some things had been said about him in the newspapers that Interests of the community I cannot do

But it is adjudged that you, James C. Doyle, who is indicted and convicted for the crime of bigamy, be punished by imprisonment in the Minnesota state prison at Stillwater, for a period of three years and three months."

Mr. Odell moved for a stay of execution of judgment for thirty days and gave notice of a motion for a new trial. Judge Ensign was to hear the argument, this afternoon. The motion for a new trial must be submitted in writing.

The defendant was shown several letters and pictures some of which he identified by his own signature or as his own likeness, and others he denied, although the similarity was marked.

After sentence was passed Doyle placed a letter and some money on the desk with the request that the court send it to the address given, as the defendant would not need any money where he is going.

Doyle showed plainly by his manner that he thought he was getting too severe a sentence. He declared that he did not care for himself but was afraid of the effect on his wife.

DOWD GETS SIX YEARS

Is Given Stiff Sentence by Judge Dibel for Forgery.

Tomorrow is St. Valentine's day, but Jerry F. Dowd received his today. Jeremiah's valentine calls for a sojourn of six years in the state penitentiary at Stillwater. Judge Dibel handed it to him.

Dowd was arrested some weeks ago, charged with passing worthless checks on several local banks and individuals. He was indicted for forgery in the first degree on several counts and pleaded guilty to one count on information furnished by the county attorney.

BLOOD CLEANER.

For those readers of this paper who have any form of blood disorders, who want new, rich blood and plenty of it, try this: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime. Any good prescription pharmacy can supply the ingredients at small cost.

This is the prescription which when made up is called the "Vegetable Treatment," by others, the "Cyclone Blood Purifier."

It certainly does wonders for some people who are sickly, weak and out of sorts, and is known to relieve serious, long-standing cases of rheumatism and chronic backache quickly.

Make some up and try it.

OPPOSED TO ROCKNE BILL.

of the railroad and warehouse commission.

The "mysterious stranger" also appeared before this committee, gave his name as C. H. Venner, his residence as New York, and his business as dealer in stocks and bonds, and he spoke in behalf of the bill, thereby calling down upon him some caustic remarks by the Great Northern president.

The bill re-enacts the law under which the state is seeking to enjoin the issuance of $50,000,000 of new Great Northern stock, reading that a provision covering bonds as well as stock, and other provisions giving the commission authority to find out, after the bill would be to the state, and whether or not the proceeds have been properly used. The bill makes it larceny to use them for any other purpose than that for which they were issued. It also prohibits their sale at less than par.

After Mr. Rockne had explained his bill, Representative Lennor of the committee wanted to know if it would reach domestic railroads only, and Mr. Rockne replied that of course, they were the only ones the legislature could reach.

Representative Thayer of the committee wanted to know what benefit the bill would be to the state, and Mr. Rockne said it would protect investors by prohibiting watered stocks. The law is that railroads are confined to a reasonable return on their values, and some time innocent purchasers of watered stocks are sold at a loss.

When Mr. Rockne said that the bill would only apply to Minnesota roads, Mr. Wells of the committee suggested that probably roads would organize in other states in preference to Minnesota, and that roads organized in other states would have an advantage over Minnesota roads. He did not think it right, when Minnesota roads wanted to make improvements in other states, that they should ask the Minnesota railroad commission whether they could or not. To this Mr. Rockne replied that they would not go to other states if their purposes were honest, because in that event they would receive the permission they desired.

Assistant Attorney General Royal Stone spoke of the bill and said it was around the constitutional objections that have been made to the old law in the Great Northern suit. The old law was enacted in 1887, and it has always been considered a proper regulation, he said.

C. H. Venner, the mysterious stranger, here interposed, and said that he was speaking as an investor and dealer.

"Dinner's Coming I Smell It"

Does Your Stomach Feel Happy When Meal-Time Comes?

When you sniffle in the air the appetizing aroma of something cooking, do you feel that you could sit down, open your mouth, pin back your ears and eat with a delicious gusto, everything set before you and not feel any bad effects from it?

In other words can your poor stomach take care of everything that is put into it? There are thousands and thousands of people who do not know what it is to have a good, strong, healthy stomach, nor do they realize what it is to have a good appetite.

You can have an all-powerful stomach and a fetching appetite for every meal, and every day, if you give your stomach a rest, and of something else take hold of your food for you and digest it as it comes into the stomach, something that is harmless but that really does the work of digesting, quickly and thoroughly.

This "something" is Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, the most effective little tablets in the world for curing anything that may be wrong with your stomach. One ingredient of these precious little workers digests 3,000 grains of the coarsest or richest food put into the stomach. Think of it, 3,000 grains! They are really an artificial stomach, because they act just like the stomach, they digest your food just as rapidly as if you had a stomach at all. It supplies the stomach with the digestive juices which have become weak and scanty.

Then your indigestion, dyspepsia, sour risings, brash, belchings, acid, fermentation, loss of appetite, aversion to food, bloaty feeling, heartburn and nausea, will be no more. You can then eat anything you want, all you want, whenever you want, and your stomach will feel fine before and after your meals. Your appetite will be a thing of pleasure to have, your meals will be a pleasure to eat and relish, and your digestion will be thorough and soothing to the whole body.

You can't do your work well, or be cheerful, or have energy or vim or ambition, when your stomach is bad. Make yourself feel good after a hearty meal, feel good all over, clear your mind and make you enjoy life, by taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Give your stomach a rest, so it can right itself, then you need fear nothing. Send us your name and address today and get a free sample package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets by return mail. After you have tried the sample you will be so thoroughly convinced of what they can do for you that you will go to your nearest druggist and get a box of them.

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 53 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

in securities. Western states have looked to Eastern states, very often, for models in law making, and he wanted to say that Massachusetts has such a law, and that it works well. It is a protection to investors, who know that Massachusetts stocks are worth what they purport to be worth. As a concrete example of the perniciousness of unregulated issues, he said that the road is issuing $30,000,000 in bonds to take up an issue of $30,000,000 that never paid a cent in interest. Under the present law a railroad making an improvement at a cost of $1,000,000 could issue that much stock, and as much bonds in addition, because the law does not cover bonds. Under such a law, the state could regulate rates better, and not be told that the rates must be high enough to pay interest on inflated bonds. Speaking of the Great Northern's proposed issue of $50,000,000, he said its chief purpose is to acquire the stocks and bonds of other railroads. If the proposed bill were a law, the road would be forced to disclose what it is going to pay for them, who has them, and why they are bought.

"What is your interest in the proposed law?" asked Representative Lennor.

"I am interested in the Great Northern and other railroad corporations, and I am interested as well as interested in securities, and as a public spirited citizen."

"What is your business?"

"I am a dealer in stocks and bonds, and have been for thirty years. I am interested in having securities made sound."

"Would you advocate a law restraining the expansion of railroads?" asked Mr. Wells of the committee.

"Certainly not. But I wouldn't have them permitted to issue stocks or bonds without consideration."

"Are you a party to any litigation against the Great Northern?" asked Mr. Wells.

"The Great Northern is a party defendant in a suit in which I am interested. I have a suit against Mr. Hill personally."

"Yes, I have," said Mr. Venner.

"Do you wish me to state what it is?"

"Not unless the committee desires it," replied Mr. Venner.

Mr. Venner was the next speaker, and he started out by saying that it was a peculiar delight to know that one stockholder was anxious to see that his customers got something for the money they sink with him.

He had better confine himself to the bill," said Chairman Spooner.

Mr. Venner's principal argument, and in fact it is the main argument against the bill, is that it would compel Minnesota railroads to advertise in advance their intent to make extensions, thereby enabling competitors to get in ahead of them. So far as stock and bond issues are concerned, he said that the policy of the committee seems pretty well settled, and that all the railroads can collect in rates is enough to afford them a reasonable return on their value and cost of operating. Beyond that they cannot go, if restrained, no matter how much stocks they sell, and they may have.

The chief figure of the afternoon, however, was James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern. He said in his opening remarks that the bill is an agricultural state first. Our forests are about gone, and we must rest our value on the soil. The Great Northern has endeavored to follow that policy in developing the country. The road has endeavored to follow that policy in developing the country. The road has endeavored to follow that policy in developing the country.

The Great Northern has endeavored to follow that policy in developing the country. The road has endeavored to follow that policy in developing the country. The road has endeavored to follow that policy in developing the country."

"I want to charge right here that the Massachusetts law was passed for the benefit of the consolidated railroads of that state, to cut off competition, and the same thing is true of New Hampshire. Here a similar law was passed for the benefit of the Boston & Maine."

"If anybody says that the Great Northern has a dollar of watered stock, he is a liar. I have seen the stock that did not represent 100 cents on the dollar."

"If railroads are doing wrong, punish them. But if they are trying to do right, don't slip up behind and hamstring them."

"If many people think me the owner of the Great Northern, but I want to say that I own less than 5 per cent of the stock, and that among the 1,500 women who are included in the ownership of the stock, there are several owning more stock than I do."

General Counsel Bright of the Soo road made a talk along similar lines, after which the matter was put over for further hearing and possibly action. In connection with the announcement that T. D. O'Brien, now state insurance commissioner, will be one of the attorneys appointed by Attorney General Young to prosecute the state's legal rights against the railroads, it is reported that after the legislative session, Mr. O'Brien will sever his connection with the insurance department. He has made an exceptionally able commissioner, and he will be sadly missed.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMATONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

METROPOLITAN—Burlesque.

BIJOU—Vaudeville.

"WE ARE KING"

Lawrence Ewart, who is starting this season in Walker Whitehead's great musical, "We Are King," began his stage career fifteen years ago as a member of the "The Virginia," of Boston. Among his intimate associates in that company were Maurice Freeman, the leading man of the "Clansman" company, and Lillian Martin, who has achieved considerable fame in the melodramatic field. Mr. Ewart was member of the company for several seasons. His later work took him to California and he engaged in famous Alcazar Stock company of San Francisco. For the past seven years he has been touring with Walker Whitehead, during which time he has acquired an extensive repertoire of songs and dances. Mr. Ewart will be seen here in "We Are King" at the Lyceum Thursday evening.

LEONORA JACKSON CONCERT.

An article's rank is measured largely by the class of engagements he commands. Ask the questions, "What great symphony orchestra has he played with?" "What eminent artists has he been heard in public?" These are the tests which Leonora Jackson easily bears these tests. She is an artist of rare talent, a lady violinist of any national rank, who, at an early age, has been the soloist of so many great musical societies, played before so many crowned heads, and won such a reputation in so many different countries.

MATINEE FOR LADIES.

Tomorrow, the Grand Burlesque will give a matinee for ladies at the Metropolitan. They have pleased audiences composed largely of men during most of the week. However, the ladies are invited to come along the route and it is expected that the attendance at the "Met" tomorrow will be large.

SHORTAGE MAY REACH $500,000Known Peculation of New Britain Treasurer

Already $350,000.

New Britain, Conn., Feb. 13.—It was learned today that the shortage at the savings bank of New Britain through the alleged peculation of the missing treasurer, William F. Walker, may amount to $500,000. The known shortage already is about $350,000, according to the statement of the bank's auditors, and it is still growing.

The run on the bank, which started Monday, continued today, the corridors of the bank being filled with men and women when the doors were thrown open at 9 o'clock. The majority of those withdrawing their savings are for-gone. There was a great rush of people around the bank today and an extra force of policemen were called to check it. About $170,000 has already been withdrawn.

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 13.—That William F. Walker, missing treasurer of the Savings bank of New Britain also made big inroads into the $75,000 fund of the Connecticut Baptist convention, of which he was treasurer, AWARD BANQUET CONTRACT.

Ladies of Plymouth Congregational Church to Furnish Big Spread.

At the meeting of the banquet committee of the West Duluth Commercial club last evening at J. A. Barnes' office, it was decided to give the contract for furnishing the annual banquet to the Ladies' Aid society of the Plymouth Congregational church. As this church is nearest to the central part of town the committee thought it the wisest course to allow them to furnish the tables. Practically all of the other church societies of West Duluth will assist, however.

David Sang, chairman of the banquet committee, made the sub-committee appointments at the meeting last night. One committee was appointed to arrange for the program, one on music, one on general arrangements, and one on reception and printing. The members who will serve on these committees are as follows: Committee on program, Clark, Barnes and Patterson; on music, Applehagen, Rasmussen and Patterson; on general arrangements, Rasmussen, Henriksen and Sang; and on reception and printing, Barnes, Applehagen and Patterson. The banquet committee intends to make this banquet, which will probably be held some time in March, the biggest affair of its kind in West Duluth.

Many prominent men from different parts of the state will be present and deliver addresses and efforts will be made to induce Governor Johnson to attend.

Defective Truck Derailed It and Blocked the Traffic.

One of the box cars on the first freight from the Twin Cities, which arrived in Duluth shortly after 7 o'clock, was derailed at about Seventy-first avenue west this morning on account of a defective truck. The damage was not great, but the track was blocked for a couple of hours and a string of four trains was held at West Duluth for some time.

The truck of the car had been damaged some distance this side of Carlton and the wheels left the track, and the car was dragged for several miles before the accident was noticed. On this account the track was badly damaged and cut up.

The morning passenger train for the Twin Cities was held at West Duluth for fifteen or twenty minutes by the wreck and orders were finally received to run it out over the other line and around by way of Superior. The other trains which were held were all freights.

May Abandon Club Rooms.

The West Duluth council of the Royal league held a regular meeting at the clubrooms over the Western State bank last evening and transacted routine business. There was some discussion regarding the abandonment of the clubrooms and moving to Wade's hall, but this has not yet been decided. It is said that the members of the lodge are considering the matter.

THE ANNUAL POULTRY SHOW IS IN FULL SWING

The Judges Begin Work on Big List of Entries.

The Society Reporter Gives Her Impressions of Chickens.

The reporter, who is generally sent out to do missionary meetings and church socials, was sent this morning to the poultry show. Not in a cage, of course, but to report proceedings. Every word in the world she knew about poultry was that an onion dressing was rather good with turkey, and that you served apple sauce with duck. However, in obedience with a gentle request, she traveled further south in the city than she had ever gone before, and meandered body who came in with such an air that immediately he reached for his pocketbook. It may not be a nice look to have, but it did the business. This is what the young person was at the table for. The reporter went up to her and timidly yelled, "Is this the poultry show?" The yelling was not from habit or inclination, but because she wanted to be heard, and there was no other way in which that end could be obtained for the noise of the exhibits was such that no ordinary lady could be heard without unusual effort.

The young person at the table howled back, "Doesn't it sound as though it was?" and raising her voice another octave, "or did you think it was the fancy work exhibit of the county fair?"

The reporter giggled. She seemed so annoyed. "They do make a lot of noise, don't they?" and then the representative of The Herald moved away to look at the first cage without having mentioned anything so ordinary as ticket or the price of admission.

There is one thing about the poultry that is on show. It is bigger than any other you ever saw, and haughty as the barnyard chicken is, who has a mixture of breeds, that even the proud owner cannot keep track of. That haughtiness is not to be compared with that of these unfortunate who are for a week placed behind bars, but who nevertheless are too proud to take any note of passers by. Occasionally some one of them will show a strain of originality by making a nice scoop shovel of his claw and casting a lot of grain and sawdust, and one thing and another, out of the cage, across the room. When this has been accomplished, he returns to the solemn attitude and watches, with quietly suppressed glee, while the person who stood in the way brushes it off. It always happens that somebody is Pretty soon the reporter reached a door before which was a great sign, that said poultry show. She opened the door and then remembered that she had left her ticket at the office.

CONCERNING WOMEN

The fourth annual banquet of the Young Women's Christian association was held last evening at the rooms on West Superior street and was as delightful a success as these of the preceding years. The work of the association being presented to a large number of guests, many of whom do not come actively in touch with the institution during the year. The flower of February, the primrose, was chosen for the decorations and the pale pink of the flower was repeated in the shades and the color of the menu cards. A few graceful blossoms with ferns formed the centerpiece of each table and the pink candles in crystal holders added to the decorations. The menu cards were designed by Mrs. J. B. Weston for the association, combining the regular program of the association and a suggestion of the primrose. They were printed in gold on pink cards and tied with a golden cord.

The tables were placed throughout the rooms and covers were laid for 100 guests. Presiding at the tables were: Mesdames W. C. Agnew, J. D. Weston, H. W. Coffin, W. J. McCabe, W. H. Cole, W. D. Underhill, A. G. Strong, Ward Ames, E. T. Buxton, F. H. White, Z. D. Scott and A. L. Warner and Misses Jessie Thompson, Olive Horne, Jennie Moody and Mary Mudrock.

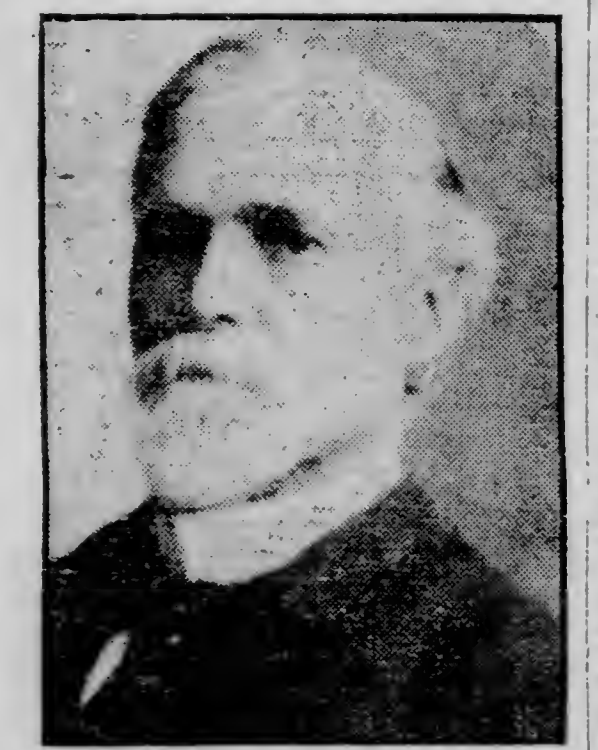

Judge W. A. Cant presided as toastmaster, and the responses were given by W. I. Prince, Dr. A. C. Taylor and Julius H. Barnes. The board of directors of the association was represented by Mrs. Robert Smith. "The Young Woman in the Industrial and Commercial World," was the toast to which Mr. Prince responded.

"There are 6,000,000 women employed in the commercial and industrial world in this nation," said Mr. Prince, "representing 20 per cent of the total wage earners. One third of them are employed by manufacturing interests alone and many of the workers are less than 15 years of age and this in the face of the laws already enacted against child labor. Within the last few years there has been an increase of 40 per cent in the number of women workers, and the average wage is $300 per year. There are many kinds of work done more cheaply by women than by men workers, and there is also much work which is better done by them. The diversity of employment in which you find them is almost limitless, but their work is the main character of industry, carefulness, and accuracy. We could not get along without them. 3,000,000 young women in the United States between the ages of 16 and 25 years among whom such institutions as this association are doing splendid work.

"Our New Building" was the subject of Dr. A. C. Taylor's toast, and his central idea was: "We need the building, and we will get it." His words gave encouragement and hope to the women who are working so faithfully upon the plans for raising the funds for this new building. Dr. Taylor told of the necessities of the new building, among which will be a large gymnasium, a swimming pool, a large dining room, kitchen, parlors, rest rooms, class rooms and bedrooms. The very urgent need of the association for all these departments was made very clear by the speaker in relating a number of experiences from his personal knowledge of young women who needed the physical, mental, or moral assistance which the association could give. "The need of this new home is a real and vital human need, of that there can be no doubt," said Dr. Taylor in closing, "and in my experience where there is such a need it is always supplied. In closing, I want to thank the gentlemen present in advance for their very generous future contributions toward this building."

Mrs. Smith, who was the next speaker, paid a loving tribute to the "Helpers, from Mary to Mrs. Peckham." The diversity of the demands upon the workers, and especially those of the officers, from arranging gospel meetings, greeting strangers, presiding in the kitchen, and the many other demands which arise in the day's work, were related. Mrs. Smith also spoke of the great appreciation felt for the assistance of the sustaining members.

The last speaker of the evening was Mr. Barnes, who spoke on "What the Young Women's Christian Association May Mean to Duluth."

"Such an institution as this, by justifying itself to the business men, may appeal to them and its establishment be a matter of civic pride and an evidence of the public spirit of the community. It should stand as a partial payment of the obligation that success owes to the less fortunate. We are in a time when assault upon wealth is almost epidemic. The fact that this is a country of immense resources, and that there can be wealth honestly obtained, is often lost sight of. Each year America realizes hundreds of millions from farms, and mines, and forests."

"We should realize that in the last analysis of the personal equation, no man is wholly bad. We can discover the good in the Rockefeller, Harriman and Morgans. It is to teach the just redistribution of wealth that such campaigns as that for the building of Y. M. C. A. buildings are well undertaken. The second lesson for Duluth in this line is reserved for the campaign of the Young Women's association."

Mr. Barnes closed his talk with a tribute to Lincoln, and the lesson of his life in earnestness, thoughtfulness and consideration for others.

"I love to make croquettes," said a young person who was talking to this column. "Do you?" the column inquired. "What kind do you make?" "Oh, chicken!" I always make chicken croquettes."

"How do you ever happen to have chicken enough left over?" we inquired. "Oh, mercy, you don't need chicken! Just take a little cold cabbage and some left over beef or anything," she when Miss Pauline Shellman, daughter of Mrs. W. P. Shellman of Superior, became the bride of Ambrose J. Pellerin of that city. The service was read at the residence of St. Clement's church, the service being read by Father Webber. The bridesmaid was Miss Lydia Shellman, a sister of the bride, of Calumet, Mich., and the groomsmen were J. W. Mason of Midland, Mich. The bride is well known in this city. Mr. and Mrs. Pellerin left for a short wedding trip and will later be at home in Superior.

Dancing Party.

A pleasant dancing party was enjoyed last evening by a few young people, the affair taking place at Steinway hall. The hall was prettily decorated and Di Marco's orchestra played. Those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames—Walter Staudt, Messrs. Brookbank, Kiley, Newstrand, Dugan, Eckerstrand, Becker, McNamara, Messrs. Simons, Schaeffer, Hall, Woodward, Green, Cowling, Priest, Nelson, Campbell, Smith.

Browning Study Class.

The Morning Browning Study class of the Twentieth Century club will meet tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the club room of the library. Mrs. L. W. Kline will be the leader and the study of the poetry of Browning will be undertaken with a reading of the poems of the period.

Piano Recital.

An enjoyable pupil's recital was given last evening at the Twentieth Century club. The work of the pupils reflected credit to their teacher and themselves. The numbers were ambitious for the ages of the participants and were exceptionally well executed.

Etta Barthold played a "Valse" by Lack, which was well rendered. Mabel Sanders played a French composition, "L'Avant de la Concert." It is brilliant movement and the young musician was enthusiastically applauded. For an encore she gave Kuhn's "Will o' the Wisp." Minnie Anderson played Reinhold's "Impromptu." Her execution was good and the tone quality in this number was unsurpassed on the program. The last number was "Berceuse," played by Josephine Sanders. This composition demands much nicety of tone and great delicacy. It was played with good interpretation and understanding.

Thomas Bernhardt played a most enjoyable concert solo and Miss Eva Casimir gave a pleasing reading, responding to a hearty encore. As usual Miss Corn Hilliard sang delightfully and pleased her many friends.

Three hundred guests were entertained and an enjoyable dancing party was held after the musicale.

answered with a surprise. "No, thank you," we made urgent reply. "We can't go to luncheon today. Terribly sorry, but really there is so much work to do. Yes, it's a certainty that the croquettes must be just lovely, but really we can't come today."

Chicken croquettes out of a little cold cabbage and some left over beef! Whenever one eats croquettes one has had a kind of inkling that such were the ingredients, but one never had the courage to take a cross section and examine it under a microscope, but she is mistress of fancy cooking, and its secrets have let this out. No more chicken croquettes without a food inspection label.

PRESIDENT SENDS MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

to the markets of the Mississippi valley, and even to foreign countries. "It may be claimed among the advantages of the leasing system that (1) it will facilitate the working of coal deposits for local markets by miners with local capital; (2) it will facilitate large operations; (3) prevent waste in the extraction and handling of these fuels; (4) the system can be operated so as to prevent the evils of monopolistic control; (5) it will permit the government to reserve from general use, fuels especially suitable for special industries; and (6) it will enable the government to protect the public against unreasonably and discriminating charges for fuel supplies."

The president urges care in the disposal of these mineral land interests, forcing a time when the so-called "interest" failure to prevent fraud of this kind is particularly serious because of the many cases the success of the fraudulent claimants means the prevention of the establishment of a home by some honest homeseeker. The earnest wish of the administration is to discontinue the advertisement of fraud in connection with the public land system; but the only way to accomplish this is by putting a stop to the fraud itself.

has anything been heard from Starr's people. Before deciding whether or not to bid an inquest Deputy Coroner J. H. Crowe will visit the scene of the triple death today and make an investigation. It is probable that no inquest will be held, as it is quite evident that the men came to their deaths by drinking the wood alcohol, mistaking it for the other kind. Fitzgibbons, who bought the poison, could neither read nor write and it is probable that neither of the others went to the trouble of looking at the labels on the bottles. Why Fitzgibbons ordered wood alcohol is a mystery, unless possibly he had learned that it was cheaper than the other and thought it just as good for "Loo making of today." It is evident that the men had consumed the gallon of whiskey before starting in on the alcohol as there was none of the former left in the can.

A small portion of one of the large bottles of wood alcohol had been poured out. A pint flask on the table was about one-third full of the today that had evidently been made just before the men took their last drink.

The bodies were found early Monday morning by a scaler for the railroad company, who went to the camp for the purpose of counting up the ties. He telephoned to Virginia news of the affair, and the undertaker went out and brought the bodies to Mesberg's morgue.

All three of the unfortunate were natives of Canada and have relatives living there. Starr has a brother residing in Ontario, and it is claimed that the dead man owned a large farm located there. Burns recently came from Canada. Burns was sent to his brother and a telegram was soon received from C. Burns, stating that the body be shipped to Annapolis, care of S. N. Burns, probably the father of the dead man. The telegram was dated North Bay, Ont.

It is said that Fitzgibbons has a brother in Stratford, Ont., and another in Wisconsin. Efforts have been made to communicate with them but no response has yet been received. Neither

SPORTS OF THE DAY

ON SCHRECKTrimble Gets Bout With Aspirant for National Honors.Fight Will Be Held in Vicinity of Duluth.

Ben Trimble is hugging himself for joy at the thought of a sweet revenge, one of the overwhelming, with-interest, kind of revenges which he has been laying for with all the persistence of an Indian brave these many moons.

In short, Ben is going to have another try at Mike Schreck, who laid the mighty Benjamin low at the Eagles' convention in St. Paul, two years ago.

At the convention in St. Paul, Trimble was matched to go on with Tim Hurley, and as Tim never was in the same class with Trimble, the fight was postponed. At the last minute Schreck was substituted for Hurley, and Ben's poor shape told heavily in the fight. In the seventh round Ben made the ten-strike which finished the match while Schreck stood smiling calmly down upon him.

Trimble has established his camp on Schreck's tracks ever since and, after one or two matches have been called off by the authorities in the towns where they were scheduled, the big fellow is now planning to more than even up for those seven bitter rounds.

The date has not yet been announced, but it is thought that the fight will be pulled off at some point less than 100 miles from Duluth.

ARE GIVEN
DRUBBINGWest Duluth Basketball Players No Match for Proctor.

Some of the West Duluth basketball players or their friends were evidently "kidding" the sporting editor of the morning paper, as the West Duluth teams were reported to have won both games employed last evening at Proctor.

Manager Mitchell of the Proctor team was rather wrathful about it this morning, and stated that the score was just reversed. The West Duluth teams did not have a look in at any stage of the game, and neither of them succeeded in throwing a basket from the field throughout the evening.

The senior Proctor team won its game by the score of 46 to 1, the West Duluth players getting one foul basket.

The line-up of the senior teams was as follows:

Proctor: Jack Fraser, Nelson Thomas Bell, J. M. C. A. team. The teams from the senior and junior classes will oppose each other. Should the seniors win they will be tied for first place, and will have to play off. Should the juniors be victorious they will have the pennant cinched, as they have not yet been defeated.

Topeka, Kas., Feb. 13.—Frank J. Mr. Grimes returned yesterday from New Mexico, and wrote Senator Smith, who had introduced a reimbursement bill in the senate, to withdraw the measure, which was done.

West Duluth Rink Left.

The A. G. Macaulay rink of West Duluth and the R. J. MacLeod rink of the Duluth Curling club are the only rinks left in the A. H. Smith trophy event, and they will come together in the final this evening.

Three games were played in the event yesterday, one in the afternoon and two in the evening. In the afternoon the Macaulay rink won from the Russell rink of the Superior club in a close and exciting game, by the score of 11 to 8.

The winning rink then met the W. B. Dunlop rink of Duluth in the evening, and was once more victorious after a hard match, by the score of 9 to 8.

The Dunlop and MacLeod rinks of the Duluth club came together last evening, with just enough danger connected with the contest to make it a game worth watching. The MacLeod rink was not entered in the records, but it is reported to have been 9 to 2.

This leaves the MacLeod and Macaulay rinks in the final round of the event. Following were the scores and rinks yesterday:

George Esson, R. Bartholomew, A. K. Smith, H. Russell, Skip-1.
M. F. Jamar, Elmer Whyte, Dr. Staake, W. Dunlop, Skip-3.
W. G. Hogard, H. H. Brewer, E. W. Hargreaves, C. A. Duncan, Skip-2.

Results of Afternoon and Evening Draws in Bonspiel.

Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 13.—(Special to The Herald).—A. H. Smith of Duluth won the afternoon game yesterday in the Blue Ribbon event from Lannigan of Binscarth, by a score of 12 to 10. Smith won on his last stone, which laid two for the Duluthians. Smith is now the last man standing in the event, as he is matched against Anley of Manitoba college for a position in the eighth.

In a splendid showing in the event so far which carried him into the sixteenth, Jamie Myron lost yesterday to a surprise of Indian Head in the Tettey event, 14 to 11.

In the second afternoon draw Smith lost to the surprise of Manitoba, 14 to 3. Smith started off well but flunked in the fifth end when he put Anderson in the lead, and grand rally by the Duluth four in the last two ends could not even up the final score.

Thirty-Year-Old Faro
Plant Dies in Phoenix, Arizona.

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 13.—The night of Jan. 31 was the end of an epoch in Phoenix. Since the birth of the town, it is probable that there has never been a time when a faro game could not have been found in operation within it. It was the boast of the Capitol saloon that it housed the oldest faro game in the territory, a game that had been almost continuous for thirty years. At midnight on Jan. 31, the dealer jerked the two last cards from the box, calmly announced that the queen had won, and then folded up his layout and joined the crowd in accepting the hospitalities of the house, for public gaming in Phoenix was dead.

Practically the same procedure was carried through in a dozen other places where a score of "banking games" closed at the first stroke of midnight. There was no bitterness on the part of the gamblers, most of whom are old residents of the territory, property owners and men of family. There was a pronounced tendency toward the telling of the old story of the four men who sat down to poker one night and arose in the morning all "busted. As one man put it, "I guess we have been working for the bar long enough, and it is time we do something for ourselves."

In this city the loss of revenue from faro and other gambling games will be counterbalanced by the heavy tax of $1,000 per annum lately put upon all drinking saloons. Through the operation of the new territorial law, which will go into effect April 1, the public school funds of the territory will lose the $57,000 per annum which they have come through the collection of licenses on gambling games. This is little more than one-tenth of the amount expended

BURNED CHILDREN'S HANDS
Stepdaughters Drank Canful of Milk and Were Punished With a Poker.

New York, Feb. 13.—Confessing that she had burned the hands of her two little stepdaughters with a hot poker, because they drank all the milk out of a can, Mrs. Kate Groves of 213 East Ninety-fifth street was remanded for sentence in the court of special sessions. She is 21 years of age, and carried in her arms an infant only a few weeks old.

Five-year-old Jennie and Nellie, her sister, two years older, their hands bandaged, were in court to accuse the defendant.

"You can't do a thing with them," said the stepmother. "They are per-darn little devils and whippersnappers do no good."

The woman's husband, a floor polisher, said she had asked when he married her to be a mother to the children, but when her own baby arrived she wanted him to commit them to an institution. The girls now are in the care of the children's society.

and it is expected that the legislature will make some provision for making the deficit good.

To Mayor Coggins has been given much of the credit for the good work that has led to the abolition of gambling in this city, so a delegation of citizens presented him a handsome cane, the presentation address being made by Supt. Stillwell of the Phoenix public schools.

EXPECT PERFECT CHILDREN
The "Architects" Moses is Willing to Bet $30,000 on Unborn.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—Asher Gluck, head of "The Architects," a "simple life" colony in Milwaukee avenue, will bet with any one from $10,000 to $30,000 that the child of any two members of his colony, married under the rules of the colony, will possess at birth all the wisdom desired for it by its parents.

Gluck made this offer after completing the organization of the ruling council of his strange cult. The purpose of "The Architects" is perfection through recreation, he declares. The members of the colony are to make themselves over as nearly perfect as is possible through the conditions they have passed through, but for their children they shall have determined absolute perfection through training.

The twenty-four members of the Gluck colony, fifteen of whom are men and nine women, are engaged in manufacturing the clothing that will distinguish them from the common herd. These garments, which are to be alike for both sexes, will consist of a pair of roomy trousers and a loose double-breasted coat, made from unbleached linen.

The members work in two shifts of eight hours each. The order of the day is eight hours work, eight hours for sleep and eight hours for education and recreation. One day a week is given for rest. This day may be any one the individual desires.

The daily diet of this colony is fruit, cereals, nuts and vegetables, with oil as a beverage. No meat or anything of animal origin is permitted to the members. Hair mattresses are tabooed, the members taking to hay for slumber. Brushes are made from fiber. The men are bearded and no shaving is allowed.

Dr. Gluck, wearing a bathing suit and a huge watchchain, explained: "In order that God may find a worthy tabernacle in our bodies, we wish to make our bodies as perfect as possible. Parents among us have no more than two children—one male and one female. The father and mother study to have a perfect child. We have now a young man and woman studying our philosophy for a year preparatory to marrying each other. Miss Undka Elyffe is to marry Richard Wunder."

"The married couple will not live separately from the other members. This induces slavery, and we do not believe in that. We have the men and women in separate parts of the colony."

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.
John Woolley and wife, Anna Woolley, are in prison in St. Joseph, Mo., charged with the murder of Annie Pearl Smith, the twenty-month-old daughter of Mrs. Woolley, but an extra guard was placed at the jail because of the threatening lynching of the dead child's mother and step-father.

Attacked by a vicious bull dog belonging to his husband, Mrs. Lena Smith was almost chewed to death in Doyers, Pa., Tuesday morning. One of her arms was so mangled by the angry dog that it will have to be amputated.

NEW YORK'S CHINATOWN TO BE TURNED INTO PARK.
New York, Feb. 13.—The darkest, most crime-stained spot in all New York, the heart of Chinatown, is to be turned into a park; a green-swarded spot where the children of the tenements can breathe better air, romp and play and grow healthier in mind and body.

The board of estimates yesterday took the official action that will result in the block bounded by the Bowery, Doyers, and Mott streets, being cleared of its opium dives, its Chinese

WHENEVER AN ATTACK OF RHEUMATISM COMES ON WITH ITS THROBBING MUSCLES, TWITCHING NERVES, AND ACHING, PAINFUL JOINTS, RELIEF MUST BE HAD AT ONCE, AND ANY TREATMENT THAT WILL EASE THE PAIN AND ALLAY THE SUFFERING IS DESIRABLE.

A good liniment or plaster, or some home remedy will usually give temporary relief and comfort, but Rheumatism is more than skin deep and cannot be rubbed away, nor can it be drawn out with a plaster. Such treatment neither prevents nor cures; the excess of acid is still in the blood and at the next exposure to inclement weather, or after an attack of indigestion or constipation or other irregularity, the symptoms will return, and with each succeeding attack the pain becomes more severe because of the constant accumulation of acid in the blood.

All food taken into the body contains, in some form, the elements necessary to nourish and sustain the different parts. One portion is used for the making of blood, another for muscle, another for bone, another for fat, and so on. After these different properties have been extracted there still remains a portion that is useless, or waste matter, which is intended to be carried off by nature; but the sluggish, inactive condition of the different members interferes with the workings of nature, and this refuse is left in the system to sour and form uric and other acids, which are absorbed into the blood. The acid, irritating matter in the circulation settles in the joints, muscles, nerves and bones, and it is this that produces the pain, inflammation, swelling and other disagreeable symptoms of Rheumatism.

Unless the blood is cleansed of the uric acid poison Rheumatism becomes chronic, and a serious and dangerous disease. The pains which at first were wandering or shifting from place to place become sharp and cutting, the muscles lose their elasticity, and as the irritating sediment is deposited in the joints, stiffness of the limbs takes place and sometimes the hands, feet, arms or legs become permanently locked and useless.

To effect a permanent cure the blood must be purified, the acid poison counteracted and all irritating matter removed from the circulation, and nothing does this so quickly or surely as S. S. S. It contains not only purifying and tonic properties, but solvent qualities as well, all these being necessary in the cure of Rheumatism. S. S. S. goes down to the very bottom of the trouble and attacks the disease at its head, and after it has filtered out of the blood all acid and impure matter it adds freshness and vigor to the circulation. Then instead of being a weak, sour stream, distributing uric acid to the different parts of the system, it is strong and healthy, and therefore able to supply the body with nourishment and strength.

NEW YORK'S CHINATOWN TO BE TURNED INTO PARK.
New York, Feb. 13.—The darkest, most crime-stained spot in all New York, the heart of Chinatown, is to be turned into a park; a green-swarded spot where the children of the tenements can breathe better air, romp and play and grow healthier in mind and body.

The board of estimates yesterday took the official action that will result in the block bounded by the Bowery, Doyers, and Mott streets, being cleared of its opium dives, its Chinese

WHENEVER AN ATTACK OF RHEUMATISM COMES ON WITH ITS THROBBING MUSCLES, TWITCHING NERVES, AND ACHING, PAINFUL JOINTS, RELIEF MUST BE HAD AT ONCE, AND ANY TREATMENT THAT WILL EASE THE PAIN AND ALLAY THE SUFFERING IS DESIRABLE.

A good liniment or plaster, or some home remedy will usually give temporary relief and comfort, but Rheumatism is more than skin deep and cannot be rubbed away, nor can it be drawn out with a plaster. Such treatment neither prevents nor cures; the excess of acid is still in the blood and at the next exposure to inclement weather, or after an attack of indigestion or constipation or other irregularity, the symptoms will return, and with each succeeding attack the pain becomes more severe because of the constant accumulation of acid in the blood.

All food taken into the body contains, in some form, the elements necessary to nourish and sustain the different parts. One portion is used for the making of blood, another for muscle, another for bone, another for fat, and so on. After these different properties have been extracted there still remains a portion that is useless, or waste matter, which is intended to be carried off by nature; but the sluggish, inactive condition of the different members interferes with the workings of nature, and this refuse is left in the system to sour and form uric and other acids, which are absorbed into the blood. The acid, irritating matter in the circulation settles in the joints, muscles, nerves and bones, and it is this that produces the pain, inflammation, swelling and other disagreeable symptoms of Rheumatism.

Unless the blood is cleansed of the uric acid poison Rheumatism becomes chronic, and a serious and dangerous disease. The pains which at first were wandering or shifting from place to place become sharp and cutting, the muscles lose their elasticity, and as the irritating sediment is deposited in the joints, stiffness of the limbs takes place and sometimes the hands, feet, arms or legs become permanently locked and useless.

To effect a permanent cure the blood must be purified, the acid poison counteracted and all irritating matter removed from the circulation, and nothing does this so quickly or surely as S. S. S. It contains not only purifying and tonic properties, but solvent qualities as well, all these being necessary in the cure of Rheumatism. S. S. S. goes down to the very bottom of the trouble and attacks the disease at its head, and after it has filtered out of the blood all acid and impure matter it adds freshness and vigor to the circulation. The Evening Herald Is the Home Paper of Duluth.

It is delivered at the home each night when the whole family has plenty of time to read it.

It is carried home by the business man when his day's work is done and it stays there.

The Evening Herald is not read hurriedly, but thoroughly, so that all advertisements receive their share of attention.

It presents the store news when one has time to plan a prospective shopping tour for the next morning.

The Evening Herald presents the news the day it happens, not the day after.

TRY A WANT AD IN THE HERALD

A Few Lines Placed in The Herald Want Columns--Secures You What You Want!

EVERY Herald "Want Ad" is genuine and is paid for by the advertiser. None of them are padded or fictitious. As these advertisements in every case represent a genuine want their value is greatly increased both to the advertiser and reader.

The Herald is the paper for want ads because everybody in Duluth reads The Herald. These advertisements may be left at The Herald office or you can use phone 324 on either line and a courteous clerk will give them the same attention as if you were in the office. If you have no phone, your nearest Grocer or Druggist will be pleased to call up The Herald for you.

If you want a girl; if you desire boarders, or boarding; if you desire to rent rooms or have rooms to rent; to buy or sell Real Estate or to buy or sell Horses, Carriages, Machinery, Store or Office Fixtures. Household Furniture, then insert your wants in the columns of The Herald which is the great directory of those desiring to supply such wants.

Advertisements received before 1 P. M. will be classified in the afternoon editions of same day. Those received after 1 P. M. can not be classified but will appear under "too late to classify".

ATTEMPT TO TAKE THE CONTROL OF THE CAPITOL FROM GOVERNOR FAILS

Bill Introduced by Stokes of Minneapolis is Squelched.

Resolution to Investigate Shippers' and Receivers' Association.

Resolution to Employ Attorney for Members is Killed.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The house this morning squelched another attempt to take the state capital away from the control of the governor. Two years ago, when the Horton bill leaving the new capitol in the hands of the capitol commission was passed over Governor Johnson's veto, it was provided that on April 1 of this year, it should be returned to him. Representative Stokes of Minneapolis introduced a bill, which came up in committee of the whole this morning, putting the new and old capitol in the hands of a commission composed of the governor and four leading state officers. Representative Haddon of St. Paul, Democrat, offered an amendment, cutting out all but the governor. Representative Stokes complained bitterly that this was trying to make a political issue out of it, which he had never intended.

Representative Brady of St. Paul said that the state had always intrusted the governor with the care of the capitol and the legislature agreed two years ago that it should go to him.

It prohibits the publication of suggestive stories and prohibits any account or reference to an execution, burning, lynching or hanging of a criminal, or the details of the commission of any crime, or of any criminal trial, reports of police court proceedings, and prohibits publications of advertisements of medicines to cure certain diseases.

Walker Tried to Sell Bonds in Hartford Last Week.

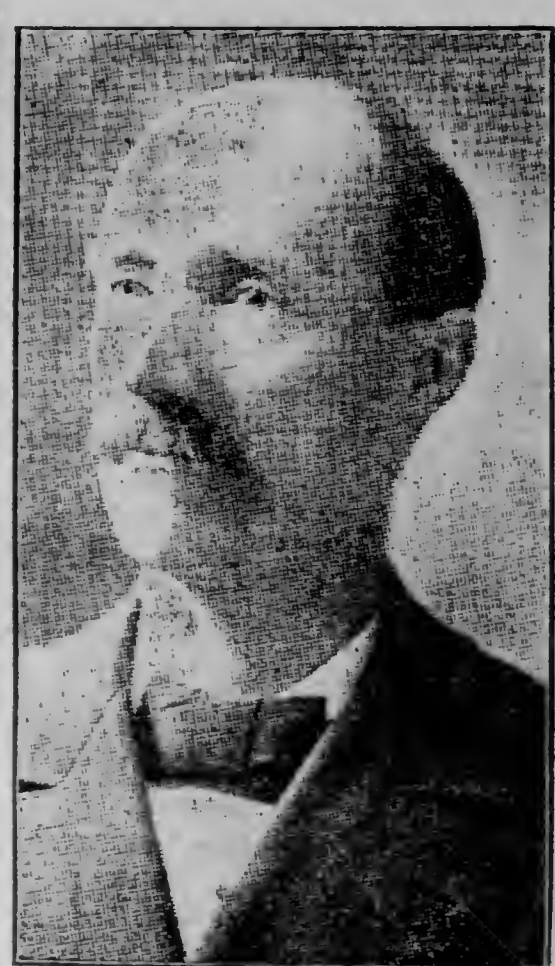

Bridgeport, Conn., Feb. 14.—Judge Edward K. Nicholson of this city, the attorney for the Connecticut Baptist convention, of which William F. Walker, the missing treasurer of the Savings bank of New Britain, is treasurer, returned to his home in this city last night after having been engaged with Charles E. Prior of Hartford, vice president of the convention, in examining Walker's accounts in Hartford. He said:

"We went all over the effects of Mr. Walker and found considerable of the securities entrusted into his care, but none of the railroad bonds, the easiest to be converted without arousing suspicion. As a result of our examination we are certain that there is a very material shortage in the funds, $73,000.18 entrusted to the care of Mr. Walker.

"How much, I would not like to say until we have completed the full examination, which will probably be by tonight.

New Britain, Conn., Feb. 14.—Chief of Police J. G. Rawlings left for New York today with a warrant for the arrest of William F. Walker, the missing treasurer of the Savings bank of New Britain, who is accused of being responsible for a shortage of $66,000 in the bank's securities. The warrant charges Walker with appropriating two bonds, valued at $1,000 each.

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 14.—It was stated here last night that W. F. Walker, the missing treasurer of the Savings bank of New Britain, was in Hartford several times during the past few weeks, calling to dispose of securities, largely bonds. In one instance, it is said, he offered $420,000 worth of bonds.

RECIPROCAL DEMURRAGE

Nolan Bill Referred to Special Committee for Redrafting.

Higher Salaries for St. Louis County Officers Are Requested.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The W. A. Nolan reciprocity demurrage bill is not having quite such smooth sailing as it had when it was first embarked upon the troubled sea of the legislative session.

Yesterday afternoon, instead of considering the bill on special order, which would have meant that it would be taken up, argued, amended, perhaps, and then passed, the house voted to recommit it to a special committee of five to be appointed by the speaker, to receive proposed amendments, to redraft the bill, and to report it back to the house within four legislative days.

In the meantime the special order was continued to next Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock when the bill will again be taken up for consideration. The vote by which the bill was re-

CANNOT DO WITHOUT HIM

The State Commission Appoints Fullerton Superintendent of Fisheries.

St. Paul, Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—S. F. Fullerton is to continue in the employ of the state game and fish commission. He is to be made superintendent of fisheries. Carlos Avery of Hutchinson will assume Mr. Fullerton's former duties as executive agent, this week.

To those who have been seeking Mr. Fullerton's scalp for the past two years, and who thought they had it in the appointment of Carlos Avery as executive agent, the news of his new connection with the department will not be received with any degree of satisfaction. The commission, however, thinks it cannot do without his services.

In the matter of fish culture and its distribution there is not a better posted man in the Northwest than Mr. Fullerton and it is this one thing, some of the commission say, that compels his retention. The new executive agent is also aware of this fact, and he, too, it is said, joined in the request for Mr. Fullerton's retention.

In addition to his duties as superintendent of fisheries, which means the overseeing of the two state hatcheries and the general distribution and collection of fish fry, Mr. Fullerton will assist the new executive agent, Carlos Avery. Though Mr. Avery was appointed agent the first of the year, he insisted that Mr. Fullerton remain until the present time, and the two will now work together.

PRESIDENT MODIFIES SUSPENSION ORDER.

Washington, Feb. 14.—President Roosevelt today told Representative Stevenson of Minnesota, that he had made a modification of his suspension order of Jan. 25, relating to entries on public lands which would exclude from the operation of that order the homesteads on ceded Indian lands, where there are deferred payments.

WOMEN GO TO PRISON

Fifty-Six Suffragists Who Invaded Parliament Are Sentenced.

All Choose Imprisonment Instead of Paying a Small Fine.

London, Feb. 14.—Fifty-six women suffragists, who were arrested within the precincts of parliament last evening, were arraigned in police court today charged with disorderly conduct and resisting the police. Mrs. Desford, a sister of Gen. French, who has taken a prominent part in the suffragist movement, and who was the leader of yesterday's attack on the house of commons, was sentenced to pay a fine of $10 or undergo twenty-one days' imprisonment. Some of the women, who previously had been imprisoned for engaging in suffragist demonstrations, also were fined $10 with the option of a month's imprisonment. The rest of the prisoners were condemned to pay fines of $5 each or undergo two weeks in jail. They all elected to go to prison.

VICTOR EUREN CRUSHED BY LOG

At Logging Camp Near Eveleth and Died Almost Instantly.

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Victor Euren was killed at Harris' logging camp Monday afternoon by being pinned under a log which fell from a car which he and a number of men were loading. Being on the other side of the car, he did not see the dangerous position that the log was in, and it struck him at the head, crushing him so badly that he lived only a few minutes. Deputy Coroner Glason of Eveleth visited the scene of the accident yesterday and brought the remains to the morgue here until a brother near Clouet can be communicated with regarding its disposition.

Stephen Wukmanich, an Austrian miner, who has been in this country only a short time, died at the Moore hospital yesterday from injuries received from falling through a chute at the Adams mine a few days ago. The funeral was held this morning.

CAPTAIN OF ILL-FATED STEAMER SAID TO HAVE BEEN FIRST TO LEAVE

L. R. WILFLEY, Judge of the Court for China, at Shanghai, Against Whom Serious Charges Are Made by Former District Attorney Andrews.

CHARGES MADE AGAINST JUDGE

Former District Attorney to Ask Impeachment of L. R. Wilfley.

San Francisco, Feb. 14.—Lorrin Andrews, formerly United States district attorney for Hawaii, has filed a petition in the United States district court in this city in which he makes serious charges against L. R. Wilfley, judge of the court for China at Shanghai. The petition asks for a writ of habeas corpus on behalf of W. R. Price and accused Judge Wilfley of being "a czar."

Andrews has departed for Washington, for the purpose of engaging the attention of President Roosevelt and to institute proceedings for Wilfley's impeachment.

Price is a lawyer, and according to the deposition was sentenced to six months' imprisonment by Judge Wilfley, who, it is said, refused to give him a jury trial or to accept bail pending an appeal. It is also charged that Judge Wilfley refused to permit competent American attorneys to practice before him until they passed a special examination.

Leaving Terror Stricken Passengers to Shift for Themselves.

Charge is Made by an Eighteen-Year-Old Survivor.

Officer Admits His Boat Was in the Water First.

Providence, R. I., Feb. 14.—A new element was injected into the horror attending the steamer Larchmont in Block Island sound Monday night through a collision with the schooner Harry Knowlton, when Capt. McVey of the steamer today admitted that his life boat was one of the first, if not the first, to leave the sinking ship. This statement was made in reply to charges by Fred Hiersell, an 18-year-old lad of Brooklyn, one of the survivors, that the passengers were left to shift for themselves; that the ship's crew crowded the boats without attempting to provide for the passengers, and that Capt. McVey was the first to desert the ship. The statement of young Hiersell created a sensation in view of the fact that ten of the nineteen survivors were employees on the ship, or in other words that while approximately 20 per cent of the—

TWO LOSE THEIR LIVES IN FIRE

Nearly 1,000 People Are Homeless by Blaze at Pine Bluff.

Pine Bluff, Ark., Feb. 14.—Two people are known to have lost their lives in the fire which last night destroyed ninety cottages and residences, three hotels, the Carr Memorial church and fifty 200 barns, entailing a loss of $200,000. They were John Springer, a foreman in the Cotton-Belt railroad yards, who was run down and killed, and a man named Reed, who is said to have gone into a burning building while intoxicated.

Nearly 1,000 people are homeless.

THE DEATH OF THE WIFE OF JUROR IN THAW TRIAL CAUSES POSTPONEMENT

SENATOR P. S. KNOX, Who Warmly Defends Senator Smoot's Right to His Seat in the Senate.

SMOOT IS DEFENDED

In Most Emphatic Manner by Senator P. S. Knox.

Says Religion Has No Place in Determining Qualifications.

Washington, Feb. 14.—Senator Knox today addressed the senate in opposition to the resolution reported from the committee on privileges and elections "that Reed Smoot is not entitled to a seat as senator of the United States from Utah." He was accorded the closest attention because of his discussion of the legal questions involved on the point of expulsion, which would require two-thirds of the senate, or exclusion, requiring only a majority of the votes. He contended unalterably that nothing less than two-thirds of the entire membership of the senate could unseat the Utah senator.

Mr. Knox insisted that Smoot should not be expelled because of his Mormonism, as the United States had guaranteed religious toleration in Utah. He should not be expelled even if he approved polygamy, as the senate should not go out of its way in defeating Utah's choice.

Mr. Knox argued that there is no federal law against polygamy or polygamous cohabitation applicable to Utah.

DUNN REPORTED LAYING WIRES

For Another Campaign for Republican Nomination for Governor.

St. Paul, Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Robert C. Dunn of Princeton has taken quarters at the Merchants hotel for an indefinite period, and rumor says that it is with a view to beginning his campaign for the Republican nomination for governor in 1908.

It has always been understood that Mr. Dunn is far from satisfied with his first trial for this place, and his friends have intimated that he would not object to being given a second chance.

The fact that he has located himself in St. Paul for perhaps the remainder of the legislative session is taken to mean that he is going to keep in touch with state affairs, and to lay the wires for another governorship campaign.

THE TRANSPORT THOMAS HAS A STORMY PASSAGE.

San Francisco, Feb. 14.—The army transport Thomas, which arrived in this port yesterday from Manila, Nagasaki and Honolulu, encountered extremely rough weather between the latter two points. From Jan. 18 to 31 the troops passed through a westerly hurricane. The seas ran so high that her upper decks were repeatedly awash; the starboard staterooms were flooded, and stateroom doors were torn bodily from their hinges. For four days the 833 passengers were conined below decks by Capt. Lyman's orders.

The Thomas, beside army, navy and civilian passengers, brought twenty-one general prisoners.

Mrs. Joseph B. Bolton Dies From Attack of Pneumonia.

Recess Taken in Morning to Allow Absence of Juror.

Wife Died Just as Husband Reached Her Bedside.

New York, Feb. 14.—Mrs. Joseph B. Bolton, wife of juror No. 11 in the Thaw trial, died of pneumonia today. Mrs. Bolton, who had been unconscious all the forenoon died just as her husband reached her bedside. It was rumored in the courtroom that when the court reconvened at 2 p. m. today, adjournment would be taken until Monday or Tuesday.

New York, Feb. 14.—The trial of Harry K. Thaw was resumed this morning, but the court had been in session less than fifteen minutes when information was received that the wife of Juror No. 11, Joseph B. Bolton, was in a critical condition, and a recess was ordered until 2 p. m., to enable the juror to visit her bedside.

Mrs. Bolton is suffering from double pneumonia, and early today her temperature had risen alarmingly. It had been arranged that the attending physicians should keep the court officers constantly informed as to her condition, and when the trial started it was understood Mr. Bolton might be called away at any minute. MUCH MARRIED MAN CAPTURED

Cheyenne Police Think They Have Hiram Edison Boshow.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Feb. 14.—In the arrest here yesterday of a man giving his name as H. J. Allison, the police claim to have captured Hiram Edison Boshow, charged with having married five different women in as many cities without the formality of a divorce and also to have swindled a number of women out of various sums of money. Identification was made by Mrs. Mary Johnson of Buffalo, N. Y., who was accompanied by a detective, and who claims to be the fourth woman Boshow married. Mrs. Johnson claims that one of Boshow's alleged wives was wedded at Lower Big Rapids, Mich., and still another at Washington, D. C. Mrs. Johnson also charges Boshow with attempting to poison her in Buffalo last November. Falling in his plot she says he stole money from her and fled with another woman. The aggrieved woman then engaged a detective who trailed Boshow through a dozen towns in Pennsylvania and in the West, finally locating him in Denver. Through a decoy letter the hunted man was induced to come to this city and was placed under arrest.

A THOUSAND ADVOCATES

March Through the Corridors of the National Capitol

In Effort to Secure Favorable Action on Prohibition.

Washington, Feb. 14.—Temperance advocates, 1,000 strong, marched through the national capitol in support of the bill introduced by Representative Webber of Ohio to rid the District of Columbia of the liquor traffic. Men, women and children representing a score of total abstinence orders and the leading churches of the district formed the procession, which moved through the capitol for more than two hours, while Representative Webber and other prohibition advocates were speaking before the house committee on the District of Columbia in an effort to secure a favorable report on the bill.

Only fifty of the temperance advocates were able to get into the small committee room, but the army of prohibitionists moved constantly past the open doors of the room and lent

CENTENARIAN DISAPPOINTED

Because She Missed Promised Waltz on Her Birthday.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 14.—Because on her hundredth birthday anniversary she could not waltz with her friend Carl Hummel of Aspinwall, who is older than she by a month, Mrs. Sarah Belzer of 332 Penn avenue, Mount Oliver, was keenly disappointed, and refused for some time to be comforted until she saw the presents that friends and relatives showed her. At the same time and in the same church sixty-seven years ago, when she married Jacob Belzer in Strassburg, Germany, Carl Hummel was wedded and also her brother-in-law, Charles Belzer.

Of the three couples Mrs. Belzer and Carl Hummel only survive, which is one of the reasons that made this disappointment so trying. Musicians were present to play for the unique dance, and a crowd of friends as spectators, but at this age, Carl Hummel realized the weather was too severe and did not venture the journey from Aspinwall.

Among the presents received by Mrs. Belzer were a beautifully decorated cup and saucer which delighted her very much, and she showed her thanks on the donor. Two magnificent birthday cakes were presented, many boxes of candy and a lot of fine linens. The Ladies Aid society of the St. Paul's Lutheran church, South Eighteenth street, of which she was an organizer and member, presented her a purse of money and a bouquet of American beauty roses.

Among the relatives present were Jacob Belzer, Jr., a son of Charles Belzer, an old nephew of the celebrant, with another nephew, Harold of 132 Penn avenue, Mount Oliver, with whom she makes her home. William Bruckmann, who boarded with Mrs. Belzer on the South side thirty-five years ago, was among the guests.

The centenarian arose early, dressed with very little assistance and went to be helped downstairs to the reception room, saying she could walk. Her wit was sharp and she joked merrily with Rev. P. Brand, the pastor of the church of which she is a member, and with others present. Aside from this she asked all to join her in singing "Until Now the Lord Has Me Kept." She dictated the words to the pastor, who read them to those present, and all sang. She also asked that they all join her in singing a prayer which she learned when a girl. It was "Lord I am old, I am old, I am old, I am old, I want to go to sleep." Her maiden name was Sarah Hartfelder. She requested that the visitors call often, and asked that the Lord might keep her well to greet them again.

Many of those present talked of times in their own country, and told war stories. Charles Faulk, of his grandfather, George Rosenfelder, fighting under Napoleon Bonaparte.

The celebrant was born in Alsace, Feb. 10, 1807, and came to America in 1842 with her husband, who died thirty years ago. She resided on the South side until four years ago, when she moved to Mount Oliver township. She

ORE LIKELY ON STATE FARM

Experimental Station Tract Near Grand Rapids to be Explored.

Part of the state experimental farm, near Grand Rapids, in Itasca county, may be turned into a mine if the ore deposits, which are now supposed to exist there, show up as expected. It seems that besides raising all kinds of vegetables and grains, the farm will be able to furnish an iron ore crop as well.

Drill operations are now extensive in the vicinity of Pokegama Lake, and good ore has been found on one-half mile from the state farm, which is 400 acres in size. Two hundred acres are under cultivation now. If the state is willing to lease part of the land, providing a mine is developed, the tract will probably be explored.

TOO RICH; KILLS SELF.

Iowa Man Commits Suicide Because His Money is a Burden.

Fairfield, Iowa, Feb. 14.—J. W. Davenport of Libertyville committed suicide because he had too much money and it worried him. He left the following note: "Dearest Sadie: It makes me crazy to have all this money. You and the boy ought to have it, as you need it worse than I do. I have decided to end all. Although Davenport is well known in his neighborhood, no one seems to know who 'Sadie' is. He was an old bachelor, so far as known. He bore an excellent reputation and was reputed to be worth about $5,000. He had $200 cash on his person when he killed himself.

YANKEE GIRL FETED AS A NATION'S GUEST.

Chicago, Feb. 14.—The heroes of Anthony Hope's novel, who stepped from commonplace existence into the midst of the nobility and then returned without a trace of regret to their old humdrum life, did nothing more wonderful than a young woman telegraph operator in Chicago has just done.

It was Miss Medora Olive Newell, operator for the Postal Telegraph company, who, at one bound, leaped the breach which separated the chair in the telegraph substitution at Market and Adams streets and became the guest of the Hungarian nation. Now that it is over, she has returned to her telegraph instrument and is well satisfied.

Chance and Miss Newell's ingenuity were responsible for the attention she attracted. She happened to be aboard the liner on which were 102 members of The Hague peace commission, bound to Washington to invest the president in another session of that body, two years ago. The Hungarian members, on the occasion of their ruler's birthday, were anxious to send congratulations. The operator on the ship could not operate the wireless successfully. Miss Newell succeeded in getting the message off and so ingratiated herself that last Christmas she received an invitation to become the guest of Hungary. There she was to spend three weeks, the honor guest on several notable occasions. Now she says traveling and meeting great personages are fun, but she is glad to return to her key.

SCORNS ALIMONY.

Wisconsin Woman Refuses to Take a Cent From Divorced Husband.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 14.—Mrs. Halie Scherer, whose home is in Waupun, Wis., surprised Circuit Judge Halsley and many spectators when she firmly refused to accept alimony in addition to her divorce bill from J. S. Scherer, a wealthy New York leather manufacturer and jobber.

When the divorce bill was granted Scherer's lawyers went to the lawyer on the other side to consult in regard to alimony. The husband was willing to make it a large amount if he could avoid a series of payments. The amount offered, while not published, is said to have been in six figures.

"No," cried Mrs. Scherer in the courtroom startling everyone there. "I won't take a cent. Ever since I married him I have been his partner. It is up to me that I married him for his money. Now I am rid of him and his money, I want none of his money."

GAS NOT SATISFACTORY.

Regents of Wisconsin University May Proceed Against Company.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 14.—The board of regents of the University of Wisconsin may take action against the Madison Gas company. As a result of experiments conducted several months ago by the engineering department, it was found that the gas contained about 20 per cent of hydrogen, and while the state law provides for sixteen candle power lights, the company furnishes only 14-candle lights. It should be up to 400 British thermal units, contained but 579 units.

MERCURY TOOK DROP

During Night But Weather Has Warmed Up Again.

Forecaster Richardson Was Not Far Off in Prediction.

As soon as Duluth people, on their way to work this morning, felt the chilling blasts of a brisk northwest wind on their faces, they began to think that the weather man had made a fearful mistake when he predicted yesterday that the weather would continue mild today. But the developments in the conditions during the forenoon show that he was not far off still. Forecaster Richardson told The Herald yesterday afternoon that today would be another mild and sunny day, but said that during last night it would be a little cooler, the thermometers probably registering about 10 above. The only thing wrong with this prediction was that the temperature went several degrees lower than was expected, and there was a strong wind which made it seem colder than it was.

But, since 7 o'clock and shortly after, when the temperature was 1 deg. above zero, the mercury has been steadily rising and at 1 o'clock this afternoon thermometers registered 18 above. The wind has also died down considerably so that the conditions this afternoon make it one of the finest days of the winter.

Yesterday the temperature was very warm it being 35 degs. above about noon. During the afternoon the mercury began to descend in the tube a little and at 7 o'clock last evening it was only 22 above and still falling. A high wind, which reached the speed of fifty-four miles an hour in the night, accompanied the drop in temperature and made the cold atmosphere very uncomfortable.

This morning the wind was blowing at a twenty-six-mile clip, and has since calmed down to a much lower figure. Mr. Richardson says that the weather tomorrow will be about the same as today and that the temperature will probably be about 10 above in the morning. There is a low pressure over Saskatchewan, but this will not have much effect upon this territory. The high pressure now centered over Montana is moving this morning, and should have passed here by tomorrow.

Winnipeg and Port Arthur were about the coldest places in the North-west this morning, the temperature in both cities being several degs. below zero.

His estate amounts to $8,000, and the whole of it will go to the porkers, according to his will. It is stipulated that when the pigs become hogs and multiply their young shall be cured for as well as the offspring, and the fee to the attendant shall be raised 50 cents for every six pigs he raises.

FINISH IS IN SIGHT

Finals in Big Spiel at Winnipeg Are at Hand.

Smith Has Easy Match in Eights in Blue Ribbon.

Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The big bonspiel here is rapidly drawing to a close. With the jewelry class reached in four events, the rinks working overtime to expedite draws, the finals are drawing rapidly nearer. The features of yesterday's games here were the defeat of Braden and the double dose sustained by Flaville, both of them old curlers, and up to yesterday favorites for the Grand Aggregate. The Russell and Dunbar rinks have now won four straight games in the empire to play. Johnny Cress of the Winnipeg Thistles and Pearson of the Granites are sure of jewelry in Dingwall.

The "Kid" rink is now the favorite for the Grand Aggregate, as Braden is the only skip who has a chance to beat them out for premier honor of the bonspiel. The Kids have won twelve games exclusive of a default up to this time, while Braden has won eleven games, but is out of the Empire. This is likely to put the Kids in the lead, as they have the remaining games in the empire to play. Johnny Cress of the Winnipeg Thistles and Pearson of the Granites are sure of jewelry in Dingwall.

Harry C. Withrow Leaves Work for Year in California.

Harry C. Withrow, executive agent for the Duluth Humane society and probation officer for the juvenile court, will start for California within a few days for the benefit of his health. He will probably be gone a year.

Mr. Withrow, who is widely known both in the city and throughout the country, has established an enviable record for himself in the fulfillment of his duties. He has given his whole attention to his work and put his whole soul into it, with the result that he is now almost in a state of nervous prostration. Although advised by friends that he should relax a little, Mr. Withrow has attempted to keep up the strain until he is now compelled to give up his work and seek a change of climate and surroundings for a time.

Mr. Withrow is held in the highest esteem by the judges of the municipal and district courts by all the people who are interested in correction and charity and by the citizens generally. Among those who will miss him most are the boys and girls with whom his work brought him in close association and over whom he watched with all the care and solicitude of a father. PERMITS FOR PLACING POLES

Property Owners Have Plenty of Chance to Register Kicks.

Alderman Moore at the last meeting of the city council introduced a motion requesting the clerk to publish the method of procedure used by the city in granting permits for the placing of poles by electric companies. Mr. Moore said that he had received numerous questions and complaints along this line, after poles had been established, and wished the methods of procedure made public.

The public, and the property owners near where property poles are to be established, have plenty of opportunity to register kicks before the permission for the poles is granted, and all objections are carefully considered.

Whenever an application for permission to set poles is received by the board of public works, notice of the application is sent to the owners of abutting property and they have the privilege of appearing before the board and setting forth their objections in the strongest manner possible. Even if the board decides their objections not sufficient to refuse the permit for the poles, and the board's recommendation has to be submitted to the council, and before this body the property owners have another opportunity to present their grievances.

There are thus two chances for objections to the placing of poles, and any reasonable protest, properly presented, is almost sure of recognition before one of the two bodies.

City Clerk Cheadle's official statement of the method of procedure will be found in another column.

ITASCA COUNTY BOARD

Benidit, Minn., Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Aad A. Tone, county commissioner of Itasca county, came over from Grand Rapids Monday, en route to Northome.

Mr. Tone has been in attendance at a meeting of the board at Grand Rapids for several days. For nearly a month after Jan. 1, there were but four persons who were members of the board. The board was divided as to the selection of a chairman of the board, two against, two, and "abstaining" was the order, with the result that no business whatever was transacted, not even

Citizens of the South Who Have Been Cured of Colds by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

Good Advice. "Last spring, I suffered for over four weeks from the effects of a severe cold. It caused me to feel sick all over, my eyes run, my hearing was affected, and I coughed so that I nearly lost my voice, and could only speak with great effort. A college chum who visited me advised me to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, saying it cured her when nothing else would. Within two weeks I was perfectly well. Mother thinks there is nothing like it and has concluded to always keep it on hand after this."—Agnes Sanghassan, 244 St. Emanuel St., Mobile, Ala.

Colds Quickly Cured. "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is par excellence. I have used it for coughs and colds and have never in my life known such a quick cure for this annoyance." Several of the officers of our police department have used it, and one and all pronounced it superior to anything they had ever tried. Some of them are using it at home in their families."—Clarence Saunders, City Marshal, Key West, Fla.

Better Than The Doctor's Prescription. "Last winter I came home from a party early in the morning, and I was thinly clad, became thoroughly chilled. Next day I felt the effects of this, but paid little attention to it until the cold had gone to my lungs, and my left lung was so sore that it hurt me to breathe. The doctor said my whole system was affected by the cold. His medicine did not cure me, but Chamberlain's Cough Remedy did relieve me within twenty-four hours, and cured me in nine days. It is a grand remedy."—Ethel Mitchell, 810 E. Beaver St., Jacksonville, Fla.

Curse of a Bad Cold. "I had a cold hang on for over two months, which developed into catarrh of the head and stomach. My breath became so offensive that I shunned people, as they did me. The mucus from my head kept dropping into my throat, and I would lack, cough and spit constantly. It was disgusting and caused me intense mortification. My stomach was upset and I had no appetite. I used a dozen remedies before I tried Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. That settled it—it touched the weak spot, and effectually cured me. I used but three bottles of it, and the result was wonderful."—James K. Smith, Treasurer, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, 1104 2d Ave., Birmingham, Ala.

Quickest Cough Cure. "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy relieves a cough quicker than anything I have ever tried, and it is the only cough medicine I ever found that I could take without making me sick at the stomach. It is splendid for children, too—gentle in its action and pleasant to take. It is at once the cheapest, nicest and best, and I have recommended it to a number of my friends, who think as highly of it after using it as I do."—(Miss) Annie Barbara Scheuing, Color Bearer Women's Relief Corps, Birmingham, Ala.

How to Start Off the Day

Right Kind of Breakfast

Students of Hygiene Agree On the Thinking people are giving earnest thought how to start off each new day to put themselves in the best possible physical and mental condition for their work. A host of the world's leading scholars and authors on hygiene have written for our guidance, and all agree that the right kind of a breakfast is essential.

A perfect breakfast is impossible without Malta-Vita. It is a food, crisp, vitalizing whole-wheat food. Malta-Vita is the whole of the wheat, cleaned, thoroughly steamed, then mixed with malt extract, which converts the starch of the wheat into maltose, or malt sugar, then rolled into water-like flakes and baked crisp and brown—the most delicious, most healthful food in the world. Maltose is highly recommended by doctors as extremely nutritious and the weakest stomach digests and assimilates it without effort. Malta-Vita is rich in maltose. All grocers, now 10 cents.

MILK MEN PAY FINES

Four Drivers for Bridgeman & Russell Are Assessed $17.50.

Prosecution Will be Pushed—Inspection Still Going On.

Bridgeman & Russell's delegation of five milkmen arrested on warrants sworn out by Inspectors Sadegard and Bennett appeared in court yesterday afternoon and all paid fines of $17.50 each.
There are two or three other milk firms who were giving their milk to the city without the legal amount of butter fat in it, who will have to pay the same fine and they are expected to be on hand during the day with the coin.
City Attorney McKoon and the inspectors say they are going to push the prosecutions to the limit and make every dairymilk dealer in the city, and the seven warrents already sworn out show how serious was the need of it.
The violation in the samples is remarkable, the best specimen in the lot showing a percentage of 27 per cent, which is credited to N. J. Johnson of 118 South Eighteenth avenue east, and the

BIG RUSH OF VALENTINES

Mail Burdened With Great Quantity of Tender Missives.

St. Valentine's day brought with it another annual rush at the postoffice, and the mails have been almost doubled with the messages and tokens that are sent all over the country. The loads carried by the mail men have been of a size which is not generally seen except during the Christmas holiday season.
The local postal officials state that the number of valentines handled this year has been greater than ever before and the clerks and carriers have been nearly swamped.
The rush began two days ago, and at its worst today. Mr. Grabarkiewicz, superintendent of delivery, expects it to continue until tomorrow.
The packages are of the worst sort to handle, as they are of all sizes and shapes, and are easily damaged. The valentine season is almost as tough on the carrier as the Christmas season, except that it does not last so long.

FORGOT HIS OWN GUNS.

Grocer Sought to Borrow Firearms to Kill Bold Burglars.
Burglars entering his grocery store at Fifth avenue west and First street, at midnight last night, so rattled Daniel Epperson that he completely forgot that he had two guns hanging on the walls of his home, which immediately adjoins the store, and ran wildly into the McKay hotel and other places in the neighborhood, which were open at that time of the night, in an effort to borrow some firearms with which to stand off the robbers.

But by the time that the grocer got back to his place of business, the three burglars had fled. When Epperson made his first appearance on the street, two of the burglars took to their heels, and the other was seen to be taking an inventory of the cracker box. But when the proprietor returned, even the cracker box inspector had escaped. The thieves secured no booty.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 14.—Assemblyman Leedins, Republican, today introduced a joint resolution calling upon congress for immediate revision of the tariff.

His resolution commends the president for activity and zeal in preserving discipline and the good name of the army, but asks complete investigation of the affair by congress.
A bill was introduced in the senate providing that cities of the Fourth class can compel the placing of all wires underground.
The assembly unanimously adopted a resolution praying congress to deepen the Mississippi river, above La Crosse to create a better natural waterway to the Panama canal.

FIND MORE IRON ORE.

Rich Specimens Taken From a Stearns County Farm.
St. Cloud, Minn., Feb. 14.—Marcus J. Maurin and Albert J. Peters of Cold Springs, this country, say that they have discovered iron ore in paying quantities in the old Neid farm, three miles south of their village. They have secured apparently rich specimens and will send them to an assayer to be tested. It is the general belief that iron exists in the hills south and west of Cold Springs, and further explorations are being made.

ACCUSED APATHETIC

Three Men In County Jail Are Held for Murder.

Singular Coincidence in Names of Two of the Accused.

Awaiting the action of the grand jury with seeming apathy or indifference, three men are confined in cells at the county jail, one homicide with murder. The degrees of murder charged vary from first to third, and there is a strong probability that the next grand jury, which will meet early next month, will charge one murder charge to an indictment for manslaughter.

It is a peculiar coincidence that two of the men charged with murder have names very much alike in spelling and in pronunciation.
Dr. Bosovich, a Bulgarian miner of Hibbing, who ran amuck at that place early in January and shot a man who was a stranger to him, is a Bulgarian. Bosovich had, it is said, the reputation among his countrymen and other foreigners in the mining location where he worked, of being a bad man when under the influence of liquor. At the time the killing occurred, it is claimed that Bosovich, drunk and half crazy, shot down a man whom he did not know, and who was perfectly innocent of any action toward Bosovich that might cause his resentment.

Bosovich, since his confinement in the county jail, sits and sleeps well. He has practically nothing to do with the other prisoners and maintains almost absolute silence. It is thought that if there was another prisoner in the same cell that spoke Bosovich's language, he might become more communicative, but as it is he seems apparently indifferent to what happens or what becomes of himself.

John Brosovich, which is the true name of the Austrian that killed his countryman, Mike Rukavina, at Hibbing last Saturday morning, has, through error, been called John Bosovich, the names being pronounced very nearly the same. This resemblance has already caused some confusion in the cases of persons making inquiry at the jail concerning the Hibbing prisoners.
Brosovich is confined to his cell in the jail and it is likely to be several days before he will be able to get around very much. During the encounter in which he was killed, Brosovich was severely, though not dangerously, cut up about the face, head and back, with some sharp instrument, probably a knife. The cuts were of such an extent that he bled a great deal before the wounds were dressed and he is consequently, in a weak condition, hardly able to talk over his case through an interpreter.
The third man held to the grand jury on the charge of murder is Daniel Aho, the 26-year-old boy who recently shot and killed his mother near Tivoli, on the Hovey extension of the Mesaba road.
It is claimed that Aho shot his mother, Mrs. Leander Aho, during a drunken frenzy brought on by drinking alcohol, and that at the time the murder was committed, Aho was in a state of insanity. Mrs. Aho happened to enter the room just in time to receive the fatal blow, the loaded pellet severing the artery and causing almost instant death.
For a day or two following the tragedy, young Aho was nearly crazy with grief and remorse, and it was feared that his mind would give way. Within the past few days, however, he has been in a quieter condition. Although he still grieves over the untimely death of his mother, for whom the boy seems to have had a great deal of affection, he seems to have come to a more full realization what the manner of her death means to him and he is taking more interest in things and expressing hope that the jury can be brought to see the tragedy in the light of a deplorable accident. Young Aho is very reserved with strangers and does not wish to talk over the case, in fact, he prefers to keep out of sight. There are any strangers near him. The authorities claim that his mental and physical condition is much better now than when he was first taken to the county jail. Aho is a Finnlander. All three of the men held for murder are single men and Aho seems to be the only one that has any close relatives in this country. He comes from a family greatly respected in that part of the county where they live.

Boy Discovers Burned Bridge and Flags Engine With Sweater.
Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 14.—Madison Jones, a 12-year-old farmer boy, discovered that a portion of a 600-foot trestle had been burned near Sparks Gap on the Southern railway, twenty miles from Birmingham this morning. Immediately he left his wagon in the road and taking off his red sweater, ran to a curve near the trestle and flagged an approaching train from Birmingham. The train came to a halt and the passengers upon discovering the situation made up a purse for the boy.

BEGINS SUIT FOR DAMAGES

City and Traction Co. Joint Defendants in $5,000 Action.

A suit has been begun against the City of Duluth and the Duluth Street Railway company jointly to recover damages amounting to $5,000 for the death of Charles Baum, the little boy who was killed by a street car in West Duluth last summer, by John G. Ross, administrator of the estate.

The city is brought into the action by a claim on the part of the plaintiff that the street at the place where the accident occurred was defective and had it been properly repaired the accident would not have happened.

The Baum boy at the time of the accident was riding with some friends on a delivery wagon belonging to Murray Brothers in West Duluth and the team had just turned on to Ramsey street car approaching rapidly from behind forced the boy who was driving the rig to turn the horse sharply on to some boards which had been left in the street after gas mains had been laid.

The boards, the prosecution claims, caused the wagon to tip so that the Baum boy was thrown from the seat under the wheels of the car, resulting in his death.

The complaint also alleges that with due care on the part of the motorman the accident could have been avoided.

THE MARKET IS WEAKER

Heavy Selling Causes the Shares to Take a Slump.

The copper stock market had a weaker tone today, caused by heavy selling. Butte Coalition and Greene Consolidated were among the weakest.

There was disappointment in the dividend declared yesterday afternoon by the directors of Butte Coalition. They increased the dividend from 40 cents to 50 cents. The dividend is payable March 19 to all stockholders of record Feb. 21. Butte Coalition opened at $38.50 declined to $36 and closed at $37.25 bid and $37.50 asked.

The directors of Greene Consolidated are in session in New York this afternoon, but at the hour of going to press no dividend had been declared. The announcement of the North Butte dividend may come from New York, as the quarterly meeting has been adjourned to that place, where most of the directors are now.

It is understood that the exchange of the stock of Greene Consolidated and Cananea Central for Cananea is to take place at once. Greene Consolidated opened at $32.50, advanced to $32.82, declined to $32.50 and closed at $31.75 bid and $32.50 asked. Cananea Central opened at $23 and $22.57, advanced to $23.75, declined to $23.50 and closed at $23.75 bid and $24.25 asked. Cananea Central sold at $23.75, declined to $23.50 and closed at $23.25 bid and $23.75 asked. Amalgamated opened at $115, declined to $113.75 and closed at $113.75 bid and $115.50 asked. Anaconda opened at $298.50, declined to $294.25 and closed at $298.50 bid.

Calumet & Arizona opened at $194, declined to $192 and closed at $192.50 bid and $193 asked.

Superior & Butteburg sold at $27.57, declined to $27.12, closing at $27 bid and $27.25 asked. Globe Consolidated sold at $20, declined to $19.75 and closed at $19.75 bid and $20 asked. Denn Mining stock sold at $29 and $19 and closed at $19 bid.

Big Warships Secretly Built.

The three mysterious "armored cruisers" being built for the British navy are now too far advanced to permit the secret any longer. They are not cruisers at all, but battleships of the Dreadnaught type and a great deal faster. The secret of the great success of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters lies in its ability to cure ailments of the stomach, liver and bowels, and when we inform you that it has been thoroughly tested for over 53 years you must admit it to be a superior remedy and one well worthy of a trial. Get a bottle today and see how much good it will do you in cases of colds, headache, insomnia, liver troubles, bloating, dyspepsia, indigestion, constiveness, colds, grippe or female troubles. The pure drug commissioners have freely endorsed it. Insist on having the genuine Hostetter's.

Passenger Train Then Collides With Freight, Injuring Several.

DULUTH'S GROWTH MADE PLAIN.

The Herald, at an early date, will issue a special illustrated edition, covering all phases of Duluth's greatness as a jobbing, industrial, iron mining and lumbering center, voicing the magnitude of the lake and rail commerce, its banking and financial institutions, growth of the Board of Trade, elevator and flouring mill interests, and the wonderful strides made in farming, stock raising and dairying in St. Louis and tributary counties.

Duluth as a home city, its educational and religious institutions, its hospitals, places of amusement and public parks—these are among the topics to be given full space and profuse illustration. At the same time, it is not proposed to make the edition a bulky one—a blanket sheet—but to have it instructive, readable and attractive in a condensed form. The work of preparing this edition has been assigned to John A. Monger, staff correspondent, whose articles on the Northland, appearing weekly in The Herald during 1906, have attracted wide attention.

her of the others present were charged with assault, but Vukadnovitch is claimed to have used a knife with telling effect on Mike Biga, and the result was the more serious charge.

The affair started when Milan Biga received word of the birth of a son in the old country and wanted to celebrate the affair by treating his friends. The whole crowd became intoxicated and the riot followed.

OIL TANK EXPLODES.

Buildings Many Miles Away Are Shaken

Three Men Hurt.

New York, Feb. 14.—With a roar that was plainly heard above the street noise of the city, a huge oil tank in the Standard Oil company's storage at Constable Hook, N. J., exploded today. So great was the concussion that windows more than a mile distant from the scene were shattered and buildings many miles away were shaken so severely that many believed that the disturbance was caused by an earthquake. Fortunately the tank, which exploded was an isolated one and only three workmen were injured and they only slightly. They were heating a fire which had started near the tank.

Bosovich is very weak from the loss of blood on account of his wounds and is confined to his cot in the county jail. His head is bandaged to such an extent that only a small portion of his face is visible.

Bosovich is claimed to have killed Mike Rukavina in a quarrel following a card game Saturday morning in a Hibbing saloon. Bosovich claims that he did the killing in self defense and depends largely on the extent of his injuries to bear out his statements.

THREE KILLED BY GAS EXPLOSION

Score of Others Badly Injured in Los Angeles Restaurant.

Los Angeles, Feb. 14.—An explosion of leaking gas in a restaurant near the corner of Second and Main streets, in the heart of the city, yesterday killed three persons, mangled and seriously injured half a dozen others, slightly injured nearly a score and completely wrecked a two-story brick building in which were located four small business concerns.

The dead: JOHN W. MAIN, aged 56, LAYONNE MEYERS, waitress, ANNE CRAWFORD, waitress.

Of the injured, Charles Blumenthal and J. M. C. Fuentes will probably die. Miss May Anderson, a waitress, was so badly hurt that it was necessary to amputate both legs.

The exact cause of the explosion is unknown, but it is believed that the gas was ignited by an employee of the gas company who was searching in the basement for a leak.

GREAT SPOT ON THE SUN

Electrical Disturbances May be Experienced Throughout Country.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 14.—Prof. John A. Brashear of the Allegheny observatory yesterday announced the discovery of a great sun spot. He says as a result electrical disturbances will be experienced throughout the country about tonight. These disturbances, he further declares, may take the form of a display of the aurora borealis, and telegraph and telephone communication may be seriously affected. The present spot is so large it can be seen through smoked glass, and the scientist adds it is one of the most active of solar spots.

In his statement Prof. Brashear says: "A very large and beautiful sun spot or solar disturbance is now crossing the face of the sun, and is approaching the central meridian. This is the largest spot that has been seen for several years, and its approximate length is 118,000 miles, and 39,600 miles wide, covering an area of about 2,300,000 square miles.

"Besides this great group of spots, there are three other groups to the west of it, and a fourth is just leaving the sun on the eastern side. This great spot can be readily seen by the naked eye with a piece of smoked glass. Indeed, my attention was called to it by a gentleman who saw it through the morning fog.

"We have been observing the spot with great interest all day, measuring it and estimating its size. It comes at a time when it is not usual to expect sun spots, and is of greater interest for that reason. Why it appears now is not explained."

QUESTION RESTS WITH CONGRESS

President and California Delegation Agree on Jap Controversy.

Washington, Feb. 14.—The Japanese school controversy is settled in so far as President Roosevelt, Mayor Schmitz and the members of the San Francisco school board are concerned. An amicable adjustment of the question now rests with congress. If the amendment to the immigration bill, proposed by Secretary Root, excluding foreigners who use their passports to secure admission to the United States "to the detriment of labor conditions in this country," is accepted by the senate and house, and the immigration bill is passed at this session of congress, the San Francisco board of education will receive its order and the Japanese government will agree to a proposition for separate schools which will provide equal facilities for the Japanese children.

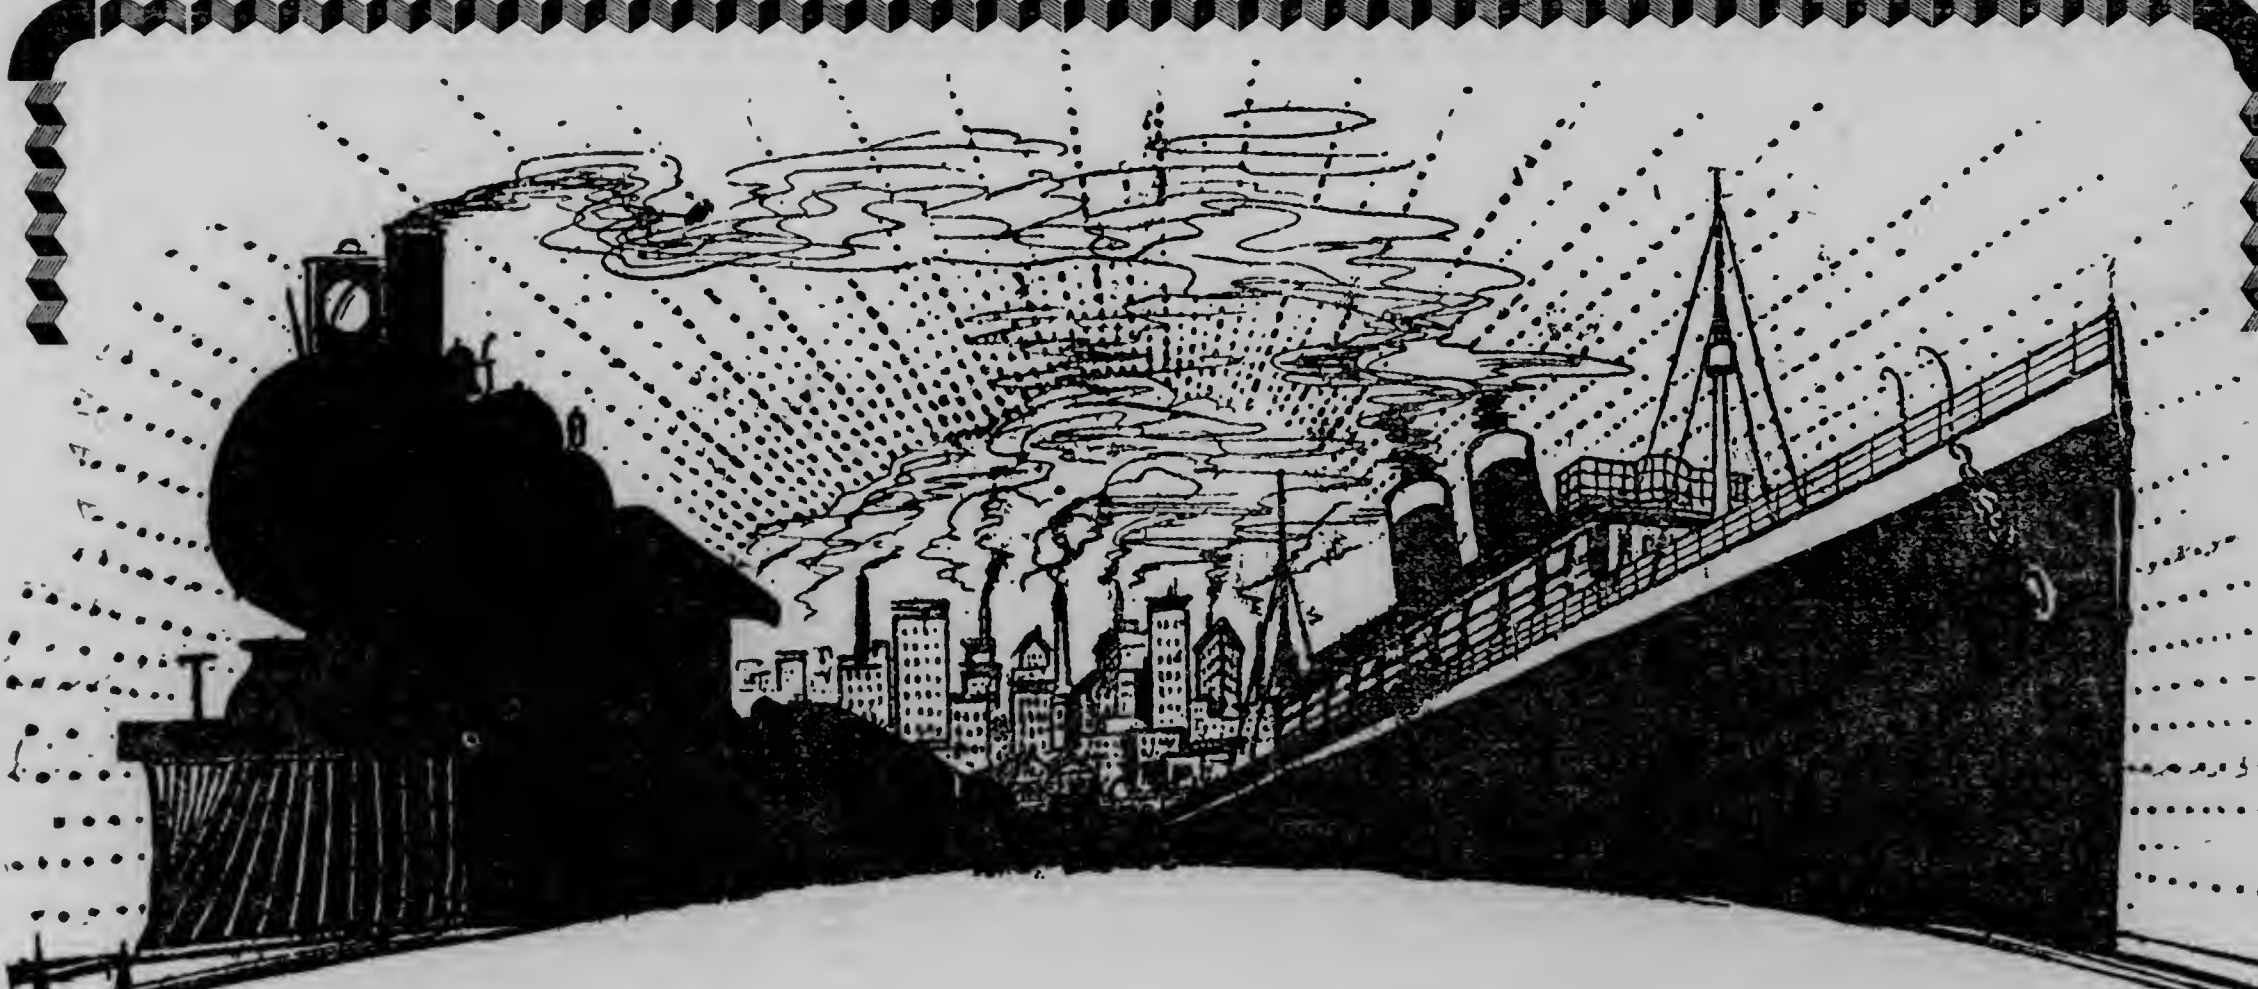

Mayor Schmitz and his associates had a conference with the president yesterday afternoon and assured Mr. Roosevelt that the amendment to the immigration bill is satisfactory to them. Secretary Root reported on his negotiations with the Japanese leaders in congress and the Japanese ambassador. While Mayor

DULUTH IN THE FOREGROUND.

Among the 460 incorporated cities, villages and boroughs in the State of Minnesota, Duluth occupies a most important position. No city in the Union is showing such permanent progress. To the untiring efforts of its aggressive jobbing concerns is due the credit of the great advancement made by the city in the past few years, and each day they are demonstrating more than ever that

FIRE STATION BURNED.

Explosion at Greenbush Overturned Big Tank of Water on Blaze.

Greenbush, Minn., Feb. 14.—Fire completely destroyed the city fire station and left Greenbush without adequate protection. The origin of the fire is not known. It had made some headway when discovered and soon communicated to a quantity of gasoline which was stored in the building for the use of the fire engine.

An explosion followed which overturned the big tank in which the supply of water for fire purposes was stored. This fell upon the blaze and checked it, so that it did not spread to adjacent buildings.

LEAGUE STILL AT WORK.

Second Step in Crusade for Good Government at Washburn.

Washburn, Wis., Feb. 14.—It is up to the common council to decide whether or not the saloons shall be closed Sunday and evenings after 11:30 o'clock, ordinances having been presented to this effect by members of the Civic league.

Since the league was formed, a little over a month ago, all forms of gambling have been stamped out and the movement of the league to have saloons closed at certain hours is the second step. The league is backed by many of the principal business men and any action that is taken is likely to have a good effect.

Hereafter the league will take a hand in all municipal elections and will see to it that men are elected who will carry out its policy of good government.

STRUCK BY TRAIN.

Duluth Van & Storage Co. Team Killed—Drivers Narrowly Escape.

A team of horses belonging to the Duluth Van & Storage company was so badly injured yesterday afternoon by being struck by an Omaha passenger train that the animals had to be shot.

The two drivers, George Brown and William Griggs, narrowly escaped with their lives. The sleigh was smashed to pieces. The value of the horses is set at $500. One had his forward legs cut off, and the other a number of bones broken.

Because of a string of box cars on a side track the men did not see the approaching train until it was upon them. They barely had time to jump.

District Court Judge Severs Marriage Ties for Women.

Mrs. Cecelia Barnes has been granted a divorce from Henry M. Barnes on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. They were married at Ontonagon, Mich., April 22, 1891. Mrs. Barnes claimed that her husband struck her and threatened to take her life.

Amanda Person has been granted a decree of divorce from Magnus Person, on the ground of desertion. They were married at Carlton, Oct. 24, 1903, and the desertion is alleged to have occurred the following year.

Elizabeth McMurphy has petitioned the district court for a divorce from Angus McMurphy on the ground of desertion. They were married at Hibbing, June 28, 1890. Mrs. McMurphy alleges that her husband is a fugitive from justice, and that he is of bad moral character. She asks the custody of their child.

HOUSE HAS A WRANGLE OVER BILL PROVIDING FOR PRISON MANUFACTURES Fight Comes on Motion to Refer to Labor Committee.

Friends of Bill Charge Move Was Merely to Delay.

Bill to Raise the Vessel Tonnage Tax is Introduced.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The house had a long and wordy wrangle this morning over the redrafted Zell bill providing for the manufacture of rakes, mowers and binders at the state prison, and setting aside $20,000 of the prison revolving fund for the purpose. The fight came on a motion to refer the bill to the labor committee, for a hearing by labor interests, made by Representative Lennon of Minnesota, and supported by other Minnesota members. Those favoring the bill charged that the move was to delay, and that it was not the labor interest, but the harvester trust that was back of it, though Lennon denied that he was acquainted with a single trust. Representative Zell said the motion was for delay and that Lennon represented Minnesota's implicit dealers, not the laboring men. Representative Spencer said it was a purely dilatory motion. Mr. Lennon said he stood for free labor, without the profitable employment of which the farmer would have no market. Representative Rottler said that committees had been around watching the bill, but he charged that they were labor committees. He was tired of appearing in the name of labor, when everybody knew that they were in the interest of a trust that is throttling the farmers. Representative Spencer said the forces back of the motion were not those of

WILY CHINESE RAISES DRAFT

Detectives Looking for Woo Ang Who Secured
$8,000.

San Francisco, Feb. 15.—The private detective agencies and the police departments of Oakland and San Francisco are endeavoring to locate in China an American born Mongolian, Woo Ang, by name, who recently raised a draft from $8 to $8,000, secured a bill of exchange for the latter sum from an Oakland bank, sailed across the Pacific, and cashed the draft in Hongkong. The police theory is that the Chinese worked with a confederate in the person of a man named Woods. The job began in the state of Kentucky where Woods bought a draft for $8 on the Hanover National bank of New York. The draft was transferred to Woo Ang, from all appearances. Whether Woods or the Chinese did the raising act is not known. But Woo cashed his bill of exchange in Hongkong before the fraud was discovered and beyond the fact that he is in China, the detectives have no clue to his whereabouts.

INSPECTION OF MINES

Important Changes Proposed in Bill by Representative Saari.

Drastic Anti-Pass Bill Favored by Senate Railroad Committee.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative John Saari of Sparta has prepared, and introduced in the house today, a new mine inspection bill, making important changes in the law as adopted two years ago, as the result of a former bill by the same author. The most striking change is that the mine inspector provided for is made elective, instead of being appointed by the board of county commissioners, as the old law provided. The duties of the mining companies as to safeguarding their works are also increased, and the inspector is given increased power to carry out his work. The bill provides that in any county having five working mines, there

WANTED DEN BROKEN UP

Thaw Consulted Dr.
Josiah Strong Some Years Ago.

The Prisoner's Former Night Keeper Dies in Hospital.

New York, Feb. 15.—Dr. Josiah Strong, president of the American Institute for Social Service, said today that Harry K. Thaw consulted him more than two years ago about breaking up a "den of vice" in this city which was protected by a wealthy and influential man. Thaw did not say where it was located, but Strong said the young man told him such a story that it "made his blood boil." Dr. Strong added that he referred Thaw to Anthony Comstock.

Death has again invaded Harry Thaw's environment. Close on the passing of the wife of Joseph B. Bolton, one of the jurors who have to decide the question of guilt or innocence of the murder of Stanford White, came the announcement today of the death last night in a hospital of Michael D. Downey, who for months had been Thaw's night keeper on the second tier of cells in the Tombs, which is known as "murderers' row."

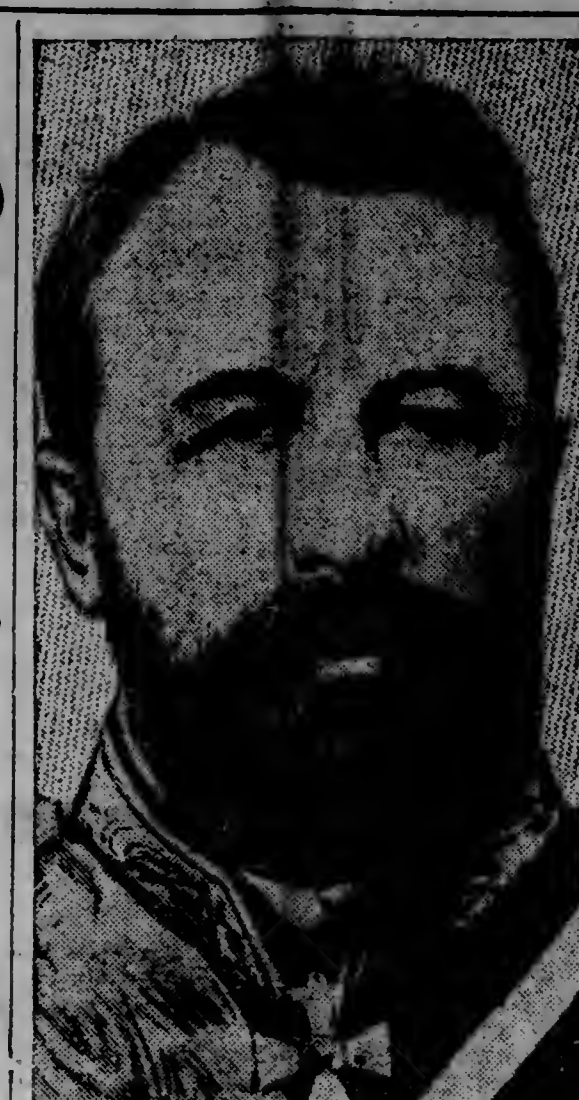

Downey had been a keeper in the Tombs for more than twenty-eight years. When Harry Thaw first came to the Tombs, Downey did not look with favor on the new prisoner. But during the long watches of the night, when Thaw paced up and down the narrow confines of his cell, a warm friendship sprang up between the keeper and the prisoner. When Downey is buried tomorrow a wreath bearing Thaw's card will rest on the casket. Thaw sent the order for the flowers to Warden Flynn soon after he heard of the keeper's death.

BIG STEAMSHIP SMASHES PIER

The Astoria Tears Down Roof, Badly Scaring People.

New York, Feb. 15.—While the steamship Astoria of the Anchor line was being warped into her dock today after a slow and stormy passage across the Atlantic, she crashed into the pier shed tearing away a section of the roof fully 100 feet in length. The steamer itself was not badly damaged. There was a mad scramble among the several hundred persons who were on the dock awaiting the arrival of the steamer when the roof crashed down, but all escaped injury.

The Astoria was five days overdue when it reached her pier owing to the unfavorable weather conditions on the ocean.

GEN. KUROPATKIN.
Whose War History, Just Made Public, Severely Criticizes the Russian Government and Officers of the Army.

KUROPATKIN'S WAR HISTORY

Confiscated by the Government Has at Last Become Public.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 15.—Gen. Kuropatkin's history of the Russo-Japanese war, which was confiscated by the Russian government, has at last become accessible, despite the most extreme precautions to prevent this gallant official indictment from reaching the public. The work is remarkable for its historic value as the closing chapter of the war from the pen of the commander-in-chief, and for the merciless criticism of the men and measures which in Kuropatkin's estimate, swept Russia and its army to inevitable defeat.

The work consists of three bulky volumes, respectively devoted to the three crucial events of the war, the battle of Liao Yang, the battle of the Sha river and the battle of Mukden. The voluminous general orders, statistics, reports and other documentary matters have been collated by Col. Belkhoten of the general staff. These, with the "conclusions" which have been formulated, constitute most amazing revelations of disorganization and ineptitude, and even of disobedience of specific and urgent orders on the part of certain general officers entrusted with high commands in the field, notably Gen. Kaiburn, against whom a formidable indictment is framed, saddling upon his shoulders practically the entire responsibility for the crushing defeat at Mukden.

NO FREE TRADE IN COAL.
Washington, Feb. 15.—The house committee on ways and means decided today to indefinitely postpone consideration of the Williams bill for reciprocal free trade in coal between the United States and Canada.

PROBLEM IS NOT SOLVED

The Agreement to Lease
Churches Does Not Settle Religious Issues.

Beyond Saving Public Worship, Question Has Not Advanced.

Paris, Feb. 15.—The agreement between the archbishop of Paris, Cardinal Richard, and the church authorities here on the form of the contracts for the lease of the churches of Paris to the parish priests will, if reached, only become legally binding on the prefects of the various departments. While it is certain that 95 per cent of the mayors and municipal councils will accept the Paris form of contract, it cannot be legally constrained by the federal government, and the municipal council of Paris, of which ex-Premier Combes is president, already has decided to abide by the terms of the law of Feb. 2, 1907, which places the Catholic churches at the disposition of the Catholic clergy without the necessity of a contract between the mayors and the parish priests.

The members of the household of the archbishop of Paris, Cardinal Richard, take exception to the idea that an agreement relative to the churches will in any sense constitute a solution of the religious issue. In this connection a prelate who is close to the archbishop said:

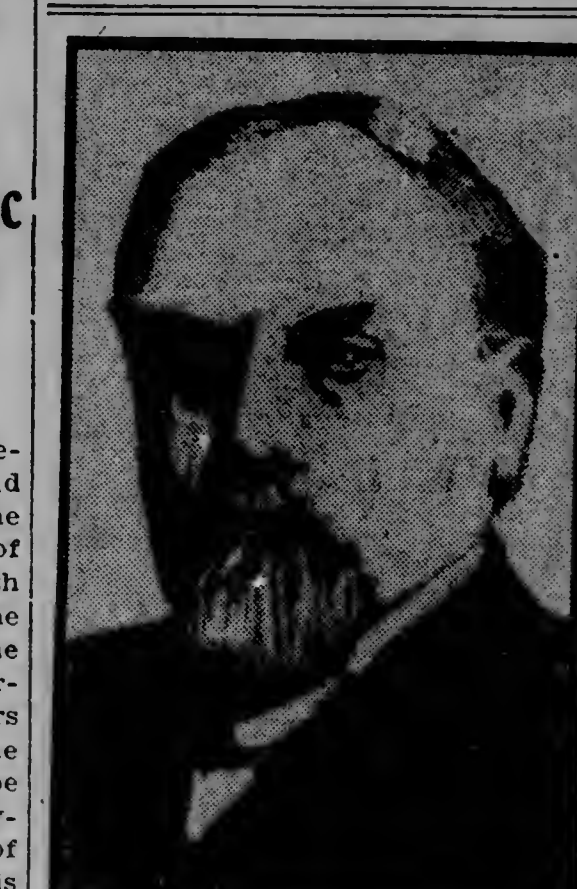

"We wished primarily to save public worship from shipwreck, and upon that point we are succeeding, but beyond the religious question has not advanced a foot."

U. S. MARSHALS BADLY FOOLED

Prisoner They Wanted is Arraigned While They Watch Depots.

Lima, Ohio, Feb. 15.—After a chase through a dozen cities eluding two United States marshals with habeas corpus papers, Deputy Sheriff Earnest of Allen county reached here today from Cincinnati with his prisoner, Julius Bracker, a bankrupt trustee of the Bracker Iron & Bridge company. Bracker was taken into court and arraigned. Bond was given, and Bracker released before the marshals watching the depots knew of his arrival. Bracker had, it is said, evaded a subpoena to appear before the Allen county grand jury here and give testimony regarding his company. Bracker, as bankrupt trustee for the iron company, was notified to appear as a witness in the Allen county courts. Subsequently he was ordered by the federal court, it is said, to disregard the latter summons.

LEADER OF PEASANTS

Arrives in the United

To Deliver a Series of Freedom.

New York, Feb. 15.—Alexis Alladin, leader of the peasant party in the Russian duma, arrived here today on the steamer Majestic. Mr. Alladin purposes making a tour of the country delivering lectures in the cause of freedom in his native land. He already has been invited to speak at Harvard and Yale. Mr. Alladin said upon his arrival today that he would not be at all astonished if the new duma is never organized. "It is now too late to stop the progress of liberty in Russia," he said. "The liberal sentiment is so broad throughout Russia that it will come to the front in spite of all government opposition."

WISCONSIN FIRE LOSS $110,000

Lumber Plant at Eau Claire and Mill at Bloomer Burn.

Eau Claire, Wis., Feb. 15.—The Eau Claire Box & Lumber company's plant burned today. Loss, $50,000; insurance, $19,000.

Bloomer, Wis., Feb. 15.—The flour mill and elevator here burned last night. Loss, $60,000. Seventy thousand bushels of grain was consumed. While the fire was being fought, the water-works station was destroyed. Help was summoned from Chippewa Falls and Eau Claire.

Evansville, Ky., Feb. 15.—A fire of incendiary origin totally destroyed the saw mill of John A. Reitz & Sons. Loss, $50,000.

PUBLICITY IS ADVISED

By Prominent Railroad Man as Best Preventive of Accidents.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 15.—As a preventative for railroad accidents, complete publicity is suggested by Julius Kruttschnitt, director of maintenance and operation of the Harriman lines and vice president of the Southern Pacific. In an interview he said:

"The persons responsible for accidents, whether officers or laborers, should be known to the public in order that they may be made to feel the weight of unpopularity which will be brought about by a closer observance of the rules governing signals than we now get from our employees. This can be done only by the widest publicity of accidents."

With Returning Strength, the Passengers Recall Events More Clearly.

Now Known There Were
159 Souls on Board Ship.

Government Inspectors Begin an Inquiry Into the Collision.

Providence, R. I., Feb. 15.—By the identification late last night of the body of Bernard Hollingsworth of Jamaica, a colored waiter, the number of identified dead fifty-five when the morgue opened today to the throngs of anxious friends and relatives of missing passengers and crew. The death last night of Samuel Lacombe of Manchester, N. H., one of the nineteen persons who reached shore after the Larchmont went down brought the list of survivors down to eighteen. Eighty-seven people who are known to have been on the steamer were still missing or unidentified when the work of cataloging the bodies was resumed today, and is now practically certain that the Larchmont carried out with her on that fatal Monday night 159 souls.

With returning strength, the survivors are able to recall more clearly what happened in the terrible confusion on the conduct of some of the officers and crew are related. Miss Sadie Goble of Boston, one of the two women survivors, and Fred Hergel of Brooklyn, N. Y., have brought direct charges

WHISKY SENT UNDERGROUND

By System of Pipes to Defraud British Inland Revenue.

London, Feb. 15.—A gigantic scheme on the part of a firm of distillers to defraud the revenue is reported to have been unearthed by inland revenue officers. The latter, it is asserted, discovered a system of underground pipes through which whisky was conveyed from the distillery to the duty paid warehouse, where it was distributed to the trade, thus escaping the tax of $2.75 per gallon. The revenue authorities are said to have demanded the payment of $300,000 on the smuggled liquor. The matter will be brought up in parliament.

WILL FIGHT INCOME TAX

Financial Interests of France Will Go to the Limit.

Would Even Bring About Downfall of Present Cabinet.

Paris, Feb. 15.—It is increasingly evident that the financial interests intend to make a last-ditch fight against the proposed income tax measure, and there are suspicions that they are trying to bring about the downfall of the cabinet, in order to accomplish their purpose. The unexpected adverse vote of the senate, last night, following the debate upon the supplementary separation bill, the rapid enactment of which was sought by the government, but which the senators, by a vote of 168 to 138, reported back to the committee for further consideration, was inspired more by opposition to the income tax than disapproval of the government's bill, which provides for the suppression of declarations of intentions to hold public meetings.

The income tax bill, especially its inquisitorial features, continues to be the subject of violent criticism, the press, with the exception of the radical socialist papers and the Reclaire, boldly prints a series of articles, instructing taxpayers how to evade the law. All the newspapers opposing the income tax are making much of the dissensions in the cabinet, but in the principle the income tax seems to have popular support, and the present campaign to undermine the cabinet is considered more likely to strengthen than to weaken the government position in parliament.

COMPULSORY PASS MEASURE. Salem, Or., Feb. 15.—The state legislature has passed a compulsory pass bill, which makes it obligatory on the part of the railroads to furnish free transportation to state and district officers and to county judges and sheriffs. The bill has gone to the governor for signature, but what his action will be is problematical.

WEST DULUTH MAY HAVE SHIPYARD

Rumor Says Well Known Company is Looking Up Location.

Property Owners at Oneota and Other Points Consulted.

The interests, which are making an attempt to find a suitable place to build a shipyard at the Head of the Lakes are said to have been negotiating with owners of property along the lake front at Oneota and there is a possibility that the yard may be located there.

A well known real estate man of West Duluth stated this morning that he had been informed that the agent company, which proposes to build a shipyard in Duluth, has looked over the property at Oneota and seemed well pleased with it.

It is known that a company of lower lake shipbuilders has attempted to buy property first on Park Point and later on Garfield avenue, but without success. Agents for the company have also considered other locations in West Duluth besides that at Oneota for the yard, but decided that they were too far out.

The real estate man who told of the rumor said that he had heard it from reliable persons and that the prospects for a shipyard at Oneota seem very good at present.

The local agents of the firm in question could give no information regarding it.

WILL JUMP ON SUNDAY.

West Duluth Ski Riders Plan Good List of Events.

If the weather is favorable, the West Duluth Ski club will have another good program of events at their hill between Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth avenues west, Sunday afternoon. The hill is in fairly good shape at present although the sun has melted the snow to some extent.

George Jacobson, who is the West Duluth champion skier, will attempt to beat his own record of last Sunday afternoon, when he jumped 88 1/2 feet. The other members of the club will also be out again. The West Duluthians are anxious to have some of the Duluth ski riders meet them at any time, and they think they can make a good showing against the best of them.

In order that the hill may be in good shape Sunday afternoon, a number of club members will be on hand Sunday morning to do some work on it. The next meeting of the club will be held next Tuesday evening at Johnson's store on Central avenue.

JUBILANT.

Western Curlers Greatly Pleased at Victory in Smith Event.

Members of the Western Curling rink were feeling very cheery this morning over the fact that the rink skipped by Macauley won the Smith trophy last evening in the final contest between Macauley and MacLeod, played at the Duluth rink. The members of the victorious rink, Ashley, Scott, Meldahl and Macauley were repeatedly congratulated when seen by West Duluth citizens this morning for their excellent playing.

Macauley's rink won three consecutive games with Superior and Duluth, and the final contest with MacLeod, last evening, gave them the trophy. The other West Duluth rink, skipped by Hewitt, was defeated in the first contest by Duncan of Duluth, and put out of the running.

The trophy will be brought to West Duluth and put on display at the curling rink.

Wins Poultry Prize.

J. P. Weil, a prominent West Duluth poultry fancier, entered thirteen birds at the poultry show which is being held in Duluth this week, and won six prizes. His birds won one first prize, and second place in several others. The fact that his birds were exhibited with some of the best birds in the Northwest is making Mr. Weil feel rather jubilant today. An exhibitor from Winona had won several prizes with her poultry at the St. Louis fair.

Valentine Party.

A pleasant valentine party was given last evening by Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Hamilton at their home, 501 North Fifty-eighth avenue west. Colored paper hearts, valentines and ribbons formed the room decorations, and a very pretty effect was gained. Progressive cinch was played, and refreshments were served. Mrs. J. A. Scott won the head ladies' prize, while James Cochran captured the gentlemen's prize. Those present last evening were: Messrs. and Mesdames J. A. Scott, L. R. Clark, James Cochran, E. J. Zauf, J. Heller, W. G. Boutin and L. J. Hamilton.

ized trades unions in the vicinity of Kazan, for which he was arrested, sentenced to seven years imprisonment to be followed by eight years' exile in North Russia. He escaped to Germany, but returned when the czar's manifesto was issued. He was elected a deputy to the duma and founded the peasant and labor party. He is its present leader.

Mr. Aladdin said that the condition of the poorer classes in Russia is extremely desperate. He believes, he said, that the Russian people are dying in that country during the next few months from starvation.

Unless the constitutional rights demanded by the Russian people are immediately granted, Mr. Aladdin asserted, there will be one of the greatest strikes the world has ever seen. The Russian navy will join in the revolt from the first, he declares, and will be quickly followed by the army.

"The conditions in Russia have not improved during the last year," said peasant leaders. "Thirty millions of people in Russia are today practically on the point of starvation, and during March, April and May it is likely that 1,000,000 people will die. It is my desire to appeal to the American people to help my distressed countrymen, but whatever money may be raised here I don't want it to fall into the hands of the Russian government officials. The strikers and the Russian people should have their own representatives in Russia to distribute the funds."

"If the Russian government does not grant a constitutional form of government the greatest strike in the history of the world will follow. It will be a greater strike than that of 1906. There has been a great change among the people since the previous outbreak. Now they have a central point of organization and a point of concentration. If the government ignores the demands of the Russian people, the strike will follow. It will be in March, or April and will have the support of the navy. The concessions asked from the crown from the last duma have not been granted. The people want personal liberty, freedom of the press and financial control. The government may grant some small concessions, but if there is a strike rebellion will follow. The people will then insist on a republic. The army will, in time, join the navy revolt, which will be followed by a strike of the railroad employees, the government telegraph employees and the working people in all the large mines and factories."

WISCONSIN MAN WANTS THE TARIFF REVISED.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 15.—Assemblyman Miller of La Crosse, a Republican, presented a joint resolution in the legislature today memorializing the president to call a special session of congress for immediate revision of the tariff.

of cowardice against some of the officers and crew.

Block Island, R. I., Feb. 15.—Search for bodies of the victims of the foundering of the Joy liner steamer Larchmont was continued by the night patrol of the New Shoreham and Sandy Point life saving stations all last night, but no more corpses were found.

From the time Young Fred Hergese was pulled ashore through the breakers early Tuesday morning, until the dead and the living were removed from the water, the night patrol of the New Shoreham and Sandy Point stations were on duty continuously for nearly forty-eight hours without sleep.

Washed deep in the water that had chilled the Larchmont victims to death before they could drown, these men labored without intermission, hauling bodies weighted with thick coatings of ice through the surf and up the icy beach to the stations. Their quarters were so crowded by the dead and living that they were literally turned out of doors, but with unflinching devotion they kept up their labors, and duties performed their regular round of duties although each man was so lame and sore from frost bites and over exertion that he scarcely was fit for the task.

The weather after affording some relief yesterday through its rise in temperature today became cold again. The wind was from the north northwest, and the boat covered by each patrol was exposed to the full sweep of the rising gale.

New London, Conn., Feb. 15.—The inquiry into the collision between the Joy liner Larchmont and the schooner Harry Knowlton, off Block Island Monday night, which opened in this city yesterday and at which Capt. Haley and three members of the crew of the schooner made sworn statements, will be continued in New York and Providence. The New London inspectors will make the decision in the case.

The purpose of the hearing is to ascertain if there was an negligence or incapability on the part of the officers of the Larchmont in connection with the collision.

INDIGNATION AT AURORA

Over Proposed Tonnage Tax on Iron Ore is Expressed.

Aurora, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The largest assemblage of people ever seen in the village gathered Wednesday evening to hold an indignation meeting over the proposed tonnage tax on iron ore. Village President R. J. McGhee was chosen as chairman and he made an address explaining the object of the meeting. Speeches were made by several other citizens, all protesting against any plan of taxation that would deprive the range communities of their accustomed revenue from the iron mines.

C. H. Graham, W. H. Guina, P. M. Johnson, B. Christianson and C. E. Nelson were chosen as a committee to draw up resolutions of protest and present them to the members of the legislature.

The following committee was appointed to meet the legislative committee on iron ore taxation when it visits the ranges and enter a protest against the proposed tonnage tax: R. J. McGhee, W. H. Guina, C. H. Graham, Robert Given, C. F. Nelson and M. Levin.

It was also decided to draw up a petition of protest to the legislature and secure the signature of as many people in the village and White township as possible. The following were appointed to do this work: C. R. Hill, C. F. Nelson and W. H. Guina.

LIVELY BOOM ON AT SPARTA

Owing to Opening Up of Gilbert and McKinley Mines.

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The boom which has been predicted for Sparta because of the opening up of the Gilbert and McKinley mines seems to have started as rising and rents are soaring sky high.

Several Eveleth people are becoming interested in Sparta real estate, among others Frank Rabinowitz, who has recently purchased a corner property from Joseph Holub for $200, which is considered a high price. Several people, however, were after the property and Mr. Rabinowitz's offer for it was very little above the offer of a Sparta business man. A saloon will be opened in the building with Herman Marco in charge.

Frank Winchester of this city will also start a saloon in Sparta within a month, having rented the store room next to Stuart & Campbell's for that purpose.

It is reported that Eveleth capital will start a bank in the thriving little town. A bank was started several years ago but died for lack of business, but business conditions are now thought to be enough better to warrant making another attempt.

The town is in need of more boarding houses, as it is almost impossible for some of the new arrivals to get places to live. Sam Yountie has rented the building owned by Andrew Merkel, in which he will open a restaurant.

Rents are much higher than a year ago, and in one instance $80 is now paid for a building that formerly rented at $25. A phenomenally large number of new phones are being installed which is a good indication of increasing business.

There is some talk of a new town-site at the Gilbert mine but so far as is known nothing definite has been done in that direction as yet, although Eveleth men are known to be working on that proposition.

Civic Club Holds Important Meeting at Railroad Office.

Once more the edict has gone forth that the squatters on Park Point must go.

For years the squatters have been the subject of disputes, and frequent attempts have been made by the city officials to dislodge them. Because of the fact, however, that they do nobody in particular any injury, and because there are so many of them, the orders have never been very rigidly enforced.

The squatters on the Point are those who have built cottages on streets and avenues, and are paying no rent to the city for the land.

Last evening the matter was taken up at the meeting of the Park Point Civic club, and a resolution was passed asking that the police department proceed against the squatters if they did not at once move off. The last order was issued last summer by the board of public works, and the squatters all promised to move off in the fall. The civic club now asks that they be forced to keep their word.

The question of fire protection for the Point was also taken up, and a committee was appointed to urge the fire commissioners to take prompt action in the matter of providing the proposed protection of a fire car for the Point.

Superintendent Johnson of the Interstate Traction company notified the club that its request in the matter of school children's fares had been complied with, and that in future 50-cent books of tickets will be sold.

W. L. Jackson was last evening elected vice president of the club and presided in the absence of President Hicks.

J. J. HILL IS EXAMINED

Four hours, and answered the questions put to him patiently. The examination attracted great interest, and Mr. Hill was highly complimented afterwards for the manner in which he conducted it. Mr. Hill said, in response to questions, that he was president of the Great Northern, and had been since January 1, 1906. The Lake Superior company, limited, was organized in the late summer or fall of 1905, and it is composed of himself, J. N. Hill and L. W. Hill, who are its stockholders and directors. All three are stockholders of the Great Northern, and L. W. Hill is a director. In October, 1905, the Great Northern transferred to the Lake Superior company securities of an equivalent value of something like $2,000,000. The amount was not in excess of $2,000,000. In this was stock in the Great Northern of $1,500,000, and stock in a Montana coal company, about $500,000, besides a number of smaller items. This was not all the property of the Great Northern, but the property transferred to the Lake Superior company was all the property of the Great Northern, and the Lake Superior company was all the property of the Great Northern.

The terms and conditions of the transfer were that the property was to be held in trust for the benefit of Great Northern stockholders, so that the Lake Superior company was practically a board of trustees for the stockholders. The company had the power to buy or sell property without the authority of the Great Northern board of directors, but could buy additional lands without specific authority, and could sell or lease lands. Asked if the company bought mining lands in 1901 of Athol Miller, Miller of Duluth, who was a stockholder of the Great Northern, but he did not know whether they had been explored. They were in the mining belt, and the purpose of the company was to secure mining lands.

Asked if the transfer was made by specific authority of the Great Northern directors, witness said he did not think they knew about it, but he thought it was authorized by them, and he did not know if it had been before the stockholders, to his knowledge. The Lake Superior company was formed for the purpose of holding and administering the property bought from Wright & Davis, including their logging roads, part of which had been made into a railroad. With the deal came all the lands, as they wished to sell in a lump. Part of these were known as iron lands, and the Mahoning mine had been opened on them. When the Eastern Minnesota built west to the Iron River valley, it carried ore in connection with the Wright & Davis road. The property was bought because it was necessary in order to get a share of the ore business for the Great Northern. The railroad was turned over to the Eastern Minnesota, and the lands were put in trust for the benefit of the Great Northern stockholders.

Asked where the company got title to these lands, witness said it came from him; he bought them personally. The company also bought other lands, for the benefit of the Great Northern stockholders. It got its funds for these purchases from its income from its own lands. Asked what was the object of transferring the Great Northern securities, witness said it was because the company could run the Buffalo elevator, and there was a question whether the road could or not. Asked if the proceeds of these securities, including the ex-company stock, all went to buy ore lands, witness said that about $2,500,000 went to Great Northern stockholders in dividends. Asked how such a revenue could be raised so quickly on only $2,000,000 in securities, witness said part of it came from iron land royalties.

"Did you pay for the Wright & Davis property out of your own funds?" asked Mr. Miller. "I raised the money on my credit," said Mr. Hill. "Not a dollar of Great Northern securities went to support the loan. The Great Northern had no more to do with it than you did."

"How much did you pay?" "I bought the entire interest for $4,500,000," he said.

"You sold the railroad to the Great Northern?" "Yes, for $1,500,000."

"Didn't the road pay practically $4,000,000?"

"No, sir."

"Witness said the logging road was valued at $300,000, and its business is being carried on in his name, the profits going to reduce the cost of the property, which it will probably wipe out. This went also to the Great Northern, or the Eastern Minnesota, making practically $1,500,000 for the roads. This was done because witness thought there was in that section the nucleus of a great transportation business."

Asked if he had taken the matter up with other Great Northern officers, he said he had talked about it, principally with his oldest son, J. N. Hill, who then lived in Duluth, who was very anxious to see the purchase made, and who finally induced the witness to go over the territory to be acquired.

"Why did you not consult the directors and stockholders?" "The directors knew about it, but I took the responsibility myself."

"Is this customary?" "Sometimes a man has to take the responsibility himself."

Mr. Hill said, as to the stockholders, that they were scattered, and most of them sent him proxies, which he voted himself, and it was usually necessary to equip clerks with stock so they could act as tellers.

POWER COMPANY NAMES MANAGER

Edward P. Coleman of Montpelier, Vt., Will Fill Position.

Edward P. Coleman, of Montpelier, Vt., has been appointed general manager for the Great Northern Power company of this city. Mr. Coleman is secretary-treasurer of the Whitmore Granite company and the general consulting engineer of the Montpelier Power company.

Mr. Coleman was tendered the position a month ago, at which time he came to Duluth and looked the situation over. This week he visited the city again and a few days ago notified the power company of his acceptance of the position tendered. Mr. Coleman left for Vermont today to arrange his business affairs there and will return to assume his duties about March 4.

Mr. Coleman has expressed himself as well pleased and much interested in what he has seen of Duluth. He says it is a thrifty city and apparently has a great future ahead of it.

"I may seem ignorant about this," he said, "but it is a business I haven't attended to at all."

At this point the hearing adjourned to this afternoon.

STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

Mr. Miller explained that he was not taking suggestions from Vennor, the latter asked that the talk about him be taken from the record. Mr. Hill assured Mr. Miller that he did not blame him, and that all that remained was to make out the schedules.

Mr. Hill stated that the lands had not been explored thoroughly. Asked what amount they contained, Mr. Hill said it had been estimated at 500,000,000 tons, and he would be surprised if they did not contain that much. He couldn't say who made that estimate, but Joseph Sellwood, Harry Roberts and A. M. Chisholm had figured on it, and he thought Capt. Sellwood had suggested that figure.

He could not say how much ore had been proved by explorations. He had not had his geologist, Mr. Winchell, make an estimate. Asked if the estimate of 500,000,000 tons was not a mere guess, he said it was not, but he could give nothing more definite about it.

GREAT INTEREST AT CHISHOLM

Relative to Bills Placing Tonnage Tax on Iron Properties.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald).—Another meeting was held Wednesday night in the town hall of Chisholm, relative to the action of the townpeople on the tonnage tax bill now pending before the legislature. The interest that is being created over the threatened invasion of the rights of the range people is becoming intense. Never in the history of this place has a question of so grave a moment agitated the minds of so many. If any one of those bills now pending should become law, the effect, it is claimed, would be disastrous to the range towns. The conditions on the range are vastly different from those of any other part of the state. Large school buildings at an enormous cost have been erected to meet the growing demand in these rapidly advancing towns. The large majority of the people are transient, and consequently have no taxable property. But the children must be educated, and the towns have been obliged to heavily bond themselves to meet these demands. How are these bonds to be met, and where are the general expenses to come from without the mine taxes. The town improvements, too, are enormous, and to meet these expenses, if the present sources of revenue should be cut off, the town, it is claimed, mean a taxation of about 15 per cent. This is evident inasmuch as 8 per cent of all moneys used in meeting these general expenses comes from the iron ore land tax.

At this meeting twelve representative men were chosen to visit St. Paul and present this matter in its serious phase to the members of the house and senate. The names of the men chosen to represent the town are: E. Freeman, Judge of municipal court; E. L. Casey, C. R. Wood, J. D. Manly, Dr. W. R. Schmidt, Dr. J. P. Sheehan, James Downing, H. Hanson, W. G. Shane, Martin Thompson, A. Karon, Mayor R. S. O'Neil. A purse of $800 was raised to defray their expenses.

BANQUET FOR THE GROCERS

Fred G. Mason of New York the Guest of Honor.

While a good many of the outsiders who were present at the eleventh annual convention of the Minnesota Retail Grocers' and General Merchants' associations, which came to a close yesterday afternoon, left for their homes on the afternoon Omaha train, several remained in the city until evening to attend the banquet tendered by Fred G. Mason of New York, Western manager of the Diamond Match company, by Simon Clark of Duluth. Mr. Mason was down for a speech at the convention, but because of a late train did not arrive in the city until after final adjournment. He is a native of Minnesota, and for many years worked this territory as a commercial traveler. For a time he was secretary of the Retail Grocers' National association. E. L. Miller acted as toastmaster at last night's banquet, sustaining his past reputation in all particulars. Simon Clark, Mr. Mason, and several others responded to toasts. The event was a big success, and a glowing tribute to the popularity of the guest of honor.

JOCKEY'S NECK BROKEN.
San Francisco, Feb. 15.—The first fatality of the racing season occurred at Emeryville, yesterday, when Fred Ross, a crack jockey in the early '90s, was thrown from the horse instructor in a runaway and broke his neck. Ross, who came to the coast from the Middle West, was 60 years of age.

GREAT GROWTH IN AMERICAN TRADE

Enormous Increase With Its Non-Contiguous Territories.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The enormous growth in American trade with its non-contiguous territories in the last calendar year as contrasted with the preceding one is shown in figures compiled by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor made public today. In value this commerce aggregates $31,000,000, compared with less than $100,000,000 in 1904. Of this trade $28,000,000 in round numbers, consisted of merchandise shipped to those territories and $2,000,000 worth of merchandise received from them. In addition to this, there was received from the Alaskan territory $18,500,000 worth of gold, being its own production and $6,500,000 of foreign gold, principally from the British territory adjacent. Of the $38,000,000 worth of merchandise sent to the non-contiguous territories, $22,000,000 worth went to Porto Rico; $17,000,000 to Alaska; $12,500,000 to Hawaii and $7,000,000 to the Philippines. The following figures show how American shipments of merchandise have increased in 1906 as compared with 1904: Porto Rico from $12,000,000 to $22,000,000; Alaska from $11,000,000 to $17,500,000; Hawaii from $11,000,000 to $12,500,000, and to the Philippines from $5,000,000 to a little over $7,000,000. Shipments of merchandise from non-contiguous territories to the United States during the same period have increased as follows: Hawaii from $25,500,000 to nearly $30,000,000; Porto Rico from $14,000,000 to $20,750,000; Alaska from $10,500,000 to $12,000,000, while in the case of the Philippines the total or domestic production was in 1904 a little over $9,000,000, and in 1906, $18,500,000.

ELEVEN MEN CHARGED WITH SERIOUS CRIME.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—Eleven men are under arrest at the Maxwell street police station in connection with the murder of a girl known only as "Paulina," who was Wednesday night found dead in a yard at 478 West Fourteenth street. The police claim that they have positive proof that the girl was drugged with ammonia which had been placed in beer, and was then attacked by the men. Four of the men are said to have confessed. Including, bleeding, protruding or blind piles yield to Doan's Ointment. Chronic cases soon relieved, finally cured. Druggists all sell it.

HAPPENINGS IN THE DAKOTAS

Police and Magistrate at Fargo Have Clash Over Authority.

NORTH DAKOTA. Fargo—The executive and judicial departments of the city have clashed over the question of the authority of the police to order persons out of town. The police, headed by Mayor Johnson and Chief Wade, are arrayed on one side and Police Magistrate Ryan is on the other. The first skirmish was fought last night, when the police ordered a woman from one of the resorts to leave town because she refused to comply with their orders to keep away from the business district. Judge Ryan holds that the police in ordering persons to leave town are overstepping their authority. "If a crime has been committed the culprit should be brought into court and tried, and if found guilty sentenced according to the law," he said. "But no one, not even the governor of the state, has the authority to order any one out of town." Following the discovery that a stray dog which recently ran wildly about the streets of the city and bit other dogs was afflicted with rabies, a mad-dog scare has developed and Mayor Johnson has ordered the police to shoot all dogs found on the streets of the city without muzzles after Feb. 15.

Vice President Sweet of the Commercial club has appointed a committee of seven business men to co-operate with a similar committee from the State Fair association in raising $25,000 for state fair purposes.

SOUTH DAKOTA. Vermillion—The excitement caused by students removing 500 chairs from the university chapel and smearing the faculty chairs with honey, prevented President Gault from giving his annual semester address, has subsided. No public investigation will be held, but an effort is being made to obtain the names of the offenders.

The students' action, it is said, was the culmination of an outburst of feeling, having its origin in the removal of President Drovers.

PUPILS OUSTED
From School Cannot Get Back on Own Terms.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Feb. 15.—Judge Vinje has refused to reinstate Hazel Dresser and Mabel Dresser as students in the St. Croix Falls high school, after application having been made to him by their father, L. B. Dresser, a member of the state board of control. The Dresser girls, Rachel, Jeannette, Leonora, Dorothy and Phil Clayton were expelled by the principal for taking part in the publication of a poem, written by Della Jastrom, who was also dismissed from the school. Mr. Dresser has appealed the case to the supreme court.

The poem in question likened the St. Croix Falls high school to a prison, so far as the discipline insisted upon is concerned.

DULUTH GIRL BADLY BURNED

Dora Olson in Critical Condition at Minneapolis Hospital.

Miss Dora Olson, who has been living with her parents at 1421 West Superior street, in this city, was very seriously burned last evening while attempting to light a gasoline stove, according to a long distance telephone message received by the police department here today.

Miss Olson had been in the Twin Cities for some time and was just pre-

NOW THE BIBLE TAKES PLACE OF THE DICE BOX.

Portland, Or., Feb. 15.—When a party of friends in an East side saloon, a few nights ago, used the New Testament to determine who was "stuck for the drinks," the latest gambling game was introduced into Portland.

Chief Grizmachner's last sweeping order, forbidding the use of any of the substitute devices that were put on the market to take the place of slot machines and dice, those who find no pleasure in buying drinks unless they can gamble for them have evolved many novel schemes. But the use of the Bible is the very latest.

The inventor of this scheme happened to be at the bar with several friends, and some one suggested that some sort of game be devised to see who was "stuck."

The young man produced a pocket edition of the New Testament. Each man was instructed Akeley, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fletcher L. Walker, manager of the big Red River Lumber company saw and planing mills at Akeley, has set at rest all fear of Akeley losing the big plant, which employs over 600 men, for at least five years. Mr. Walker says the company has stumps to run the whole plant day and night, summer and winter, for five years. The business men are now getting busy to push Akeley to the forefront of the Northwestern cities.

WOMAN'S COLONY IS NOT AN EDEN

Promoter is Grieved That Enterprise Was Called Spinster's Paradise.

Corpus Christi, Tex., Feb. 15.—Mrs. Mary Hayden, the originator of the "woman's colony" scheme in Texas, has been in the city for several days, and expresses regret that her plan has not been understood, but has received ridicule by the press of Texas. It is not to be an "Adams' Eden" or a retreat for spinsters, as some papers have facetiously reported. Men are not prohibited, and neither are its benefits to be confined exclusively to "old maids" and female "has-beens." It is not a philanthropic measure in the sense of doing out charity, but an economic and business proposition, with an additional idea of bettering the social conditions of these homeless members of the colony. Respectable investors are to be given this opportunity to locate, especially women with capital, she says. "I am sorry the newspapers have seen at to belittle my efforts and my idea."

BIRTHDAY BRIDES IN TRIPLE WEDDINGS.

New York, Feb. 15.—With brides as birthday presents three young men are on their wedding tours today. All were married by the Rev. Henry Marsh Warren in his home in West Ninety-fourth street. In his experience the clergyman never before had such a run of natal celebrations.

Martin W. Love, twenty-six years old, of No. 33 West 17th street, and Miss Celestia D. Randolph, the same age, of No. 42 West 13th street, arrived at the clergyman's home at half-past eleven o'clock at night.

"This is Martin's birthday," the bride told Dr. Warren, and I've decided to give him my heart and hand as his birthday present.

Hardly had the clergyman finished their ceremony and sent them on their way rejoicing ere the doorbell tinkled a second time, and Arthur Gates, twenty-three years old, and Miss Edith Ayrault, both of Bridgeport, Conn., arrived, in the course of filling in their marriage certificate just previous to performing the wedding ceremony. The clergyman asked the bride her age. While he was asking the question the clock was striking the hour of twelve.

"I am just eighteen years old," answered Miss Ayrault. "We planned it so that we would get here directly after midnight, because then I'd be really and truly old enough to marry. This is my birthday."

Just as the clergyman had closed the door on this second couple—it was then nearly half-past twelve o'clock—the bell rang again, and Timothy Falvey, of No. 50 West Forty-eighth street, entered with Miss Susan Kelly of No. 50 West Fifty-first street.

"We are both celebrating our nine-tenth birthday anniversaries today," said young Falvey, "and we are going to give ourselves to each other for life as birthday gifts. We want you to do the presenting and marry us." Five minutes later they were husband and wife.

Dr. Warren then muffled the door bell and went to bed.

HE GAVE HIS COAT TO A SHIVERING HORSE.

New York, Feb. 15.—A middle-aged man walked into the East Twenty-second street police station without an overcoat or undercoat. Although some might have looked upon him as a tramp, he didn't seem one to Capt. McDermott.

"My good fellow," said the captain, "what can I do for you?"

"You will oblige me with a night's lodging," asked the other.

"What's the matter with the Municipal Lodging house around the corner?"

"I was there," said the man, "but they wouldn't admit me. They said I would have to get a coat first. They said that I ought to be ashamed to go there in my shirt sleeves."

"You may not believe me," replied the stranger, "but what I tell you is true. I took off my coat and put it on the horse. Then, as I was looking around for something else to place on the horse and take my coat back, the driver appeared and, jumping on the wagon, drove away with my coat. I've been freezing for the driver, but without success."

The captain gave him accommodations for the night, and in the Yorkville court he was sent to the workhouse for six months. He gave the name of Robert Ryan.

Neighbors Got Fooled.

"I was literally coughing myself to death, and had become too weak to leave my bed, and neighbors predicted that I would never leave it alive; but they got that idea wrong, for I am now as good as dead," writes Mrs. Eva Chesler of Grovetown, Stark county, Ind. This King of cough and cold cure, and healer of throat and lungs, is guaranteed by all druggists. 8c and 15c. Trial bottle free.

CONDITIONS IMPROVING

Railroads Giving Commission Men Better Service This Week.

Liberal Shipments of Poultry, and Demand is Brisk.

The local commission merchants are able to get stocks in a little better this week than they could last, but they are still meeting with annoying delays, and as a result they are short in some lines of goods handled. The snow blockade is rapidly being cleared up in the West, and shipments are moving a little more freely, but a week or two of moderate weather is needed before conditions will be back to the normal again.

The Michigan street market these days looks very much like spring. Green stuff is scattered about promiscuously. The prices asked, however, are sufficient reminder that winter is still a thing of the present. Green products are from the far South, some even coming from Cuba. A part of them, of course, are hot-house products, but most of them sprang from mother earth in a warmer climate than is offered by Minnesota.

Strawberries attracting a good many admiring eyes, but the price is prohibitive for common people, and they rest satisfied with grapes at the fruit and thinking of the days to come, when the red beauties will be obtainable at 10 cents a quart. Oranges are arriving in liberal shipments, although several cars have been hung up at the docks here and California points, because of the congested conditions of the roads.

A choice selection of apples on the local market is finding a ready sale, at prices that are very reasonable for this season of the year. The dealers stocked up pretty well this season, especially with the New York varieties, which come to Duluth via the lakes. A large quantity of the New York fruit is annually distributed to interior points from Duluth.

Potatoes are holding firm in price, but there have been very few advances this week. It was feared for a time that the continued cold weather, working in conjunction with the snow blockade, would tend to boost the price to an unreasonable figure, but it looks now as if the cost would go no higher before new crops begin to move forward in noticeable quantities.

The quiet season of January has been succeeded by considerable activity for winter on commission row. The several houses are enjoying an excellent patronage, both locally and from outside merchants. A brisk spring business is expected.

The market in syrups, molasses and jellies continues strong, the advance of one-half cent a gallon in bulk. The demand is very heavy, and further advances are expected.

Butter continues good price, and no reductions of consequence are looked for in the immediate future. Dealers are finding it hard to keep their houses open to supply the demand. Creamery prices at wholesale amount 33 and 34 cents, and in tubs 28 to 29 cents. Fancy dairy may be had from the wholesale men for 28 and 29 cents.

Eggs are to be had a few cents cheaper this week than they were last. The highest wholesale price quoted is 28 cents a dozen on strictly fresh eggs. Some of the stores carry eggs on still on hand, although in small quantities. They bring 28 and 29 cents at wholesale.

Poultry dealers are well satisfied with conditions on Michigan street. There is a brisk demand for all kinds of poultry. Prices remain about the same as last week. Shipments are liberal, and sufficient to supply the demand. No change is apparent in the fish market.

shall be elected, at the next general election, and every four years thereafter after an inspector of mines, the present inspector to hold his place until the first Monday in January, 1908.

The inspector is to be a resident of the county, to have his residence and his office in the mining district; to have had at least six years' practical experience as a miner, and at least two years' experience in this state. He must not be connected with any mine, and he is to get $2,500 a year and to be allowed traveling expenses, not to exceed $600 a year. He must give a bond of $5,000.

It is made his duty to inspect the mines at least every sixty days, to see that the law is carried out, to condemn dangerous places, to make the men quit work if their surroundings are hazardous, to notify the owners of the need of protection, and to order the necessary changes made.

If five persons working in a mine demand it, he must inspect it immediately. Accidents must be reported to him, and he must investigate them. The district court may remove him from office for cause, and in that case the county board is to fill his place until the next election.

The senate railroad committee, after rather a heated session, yesterday afternoon, decided to recommend for passage the Peterson anti-pass bill. This is one of the most drastic measures of the kind that has been proposed, and absolutely forbids free transportation of any kind to any body except railroad employees. It will even cut out the half-fare privilege now given to clergymen. The vote in the committee was close, but the majority were for it, and it came out.

The house railroad committee finished its public hearings on the 2-cent rate bill yesterday afternoon, and will act upon it within a short time.

William Ellis of Chicago, representing the Milwaukee road, presented figures showing that his road could not stand the cut, and that it would amount to confiscation.

EMPLOYERS BENEFITED THROUGH THE EFFORT TO ERADICATE CONSUMPTION.

A determined effort is being made in Providence, R. I., to stamp out tuberculosis, particularly among the mill hands and factory employees. The Brown & Sharp Mfg. Co., which employs upwards of 4,000 men, is actively co-operating in this movement.

The first step was to post a notice in the works, explaining the nature of the disease, the great danger of neglecting the early symptoms, and advising the most effective treatment. A physician who has made a specialty of tubercular disease was provided, free of expense to the employee, to examine and advise upon each case.

Some employees took advantage of the privilege on their own account, others were given the benefit of suggestion and willingly followed the well meant advice, while still others had to be induced with more effort.

A number of cases were discovered among the men. Some were sent to the State Sanatorium for modern open air treatment. Others were urged to take up open-air work, and wherever possible the company found such work for them. No tubercular person was allowed to remain in the works, for his own sake and for that of his fellow workmen. Sanitary precautions were taken to prevent the spread of the disease. Many of the men have already returned to work robust and generally in fine condition.

Few, if any, large manufacturing establishments are free from consumption among the employees. It is a well known fact that pulmonary tuberculosis is so insidious in its workings that the victim seldom realizes the danger until the disease has taken a strong hold. It is among the apparently superficial colds and coughs that the incipient cases are found, and a suggestion from the employer is the one thing needed to stimulate the desire for treatment. Doubtless the future will see very strict regulations governing tubercular cases, and the progressive men who are doing this work of their own volition are only anticipating what will probably be made compulsory.

Colds often lead to serious consequences, and should not be neglected. There is no more effective remedy for colds and coughs than the simple formula prescribed by an authority on lung trouble, that calls for a half pint of Whiskey, two ounces of Glycerine and a half ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure). These ingredients cost little and can be purchased at any good prescription druggist and mixed at home. Mix well and use in teaspoonful doses every few hours.

Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) is put up for dispensing only, in half-ounce vials, each vial securely sealed in a round wooden case with an engraved wrapper, showing the name—Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure)—guaranteed under Food and Drugs Act, of June 30th, 1906, serial Number 451; prepared only by Leach Chemical Co., Cincinnati, Ohio—plainly printed thereon. The oils sold in bulk and the many cheap imitations of Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) put out under similar name and style of package are not only ineffective, but often dangerous. It is always well to remember that the object of an imitator is to deceive. There is no known substitute for Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure).

are strongly for a 2-cent maximum rate are opposed to any compromise.

The senate committee on grain and warehouse yesterday afternoon heard interested parties on several measures. The elevator men appeared against the bill making the unit of trade in grain, and prohibiting elevators from taking more than the legal number of pounds to the bushel. For instance, it is said that some elevators buy oats in the country at thirty-three pounds to the bushel, and sell it in the cities at thirty-two pounds. The elevator men say they are justified in this because of the shrinkage.

The hearing was continued without action. The elevator companies also appeared against the bill requiring all of them to make annual statistical reports to the railroad and warehouse commission by July 15. Now they make them only when the commission demands them.

A third bill provides that charge for appeals from grain inspection results shall be fixed by the railroad and warehouse commission, instead of remaining at a flat rate of 1c. It was said that this was intended to stop gambling with the appeal business.

The committee voted to recommend for passage a bill prohibiting fraudulent weight certificates on grain, and another finding it hard to keep their houses open to supply the demand. Creamery prices at wholesale amount 33 and 34 cents, and in tubs 28 to 29 cents. Fancy dairy may be had from the wholesale men for 28 and 29 cents.

The house education committee approved the bill by the St. Louis county delegation providing for the organization of schools under the county board in unorganized townships, where there are a few people to organize a school district, yet where there are children who should not go without educational facilities.

B. H. Timberlake's bill for a legislative reference department at the state library was approved by the house committee on libraries, and the several other bills along that line were killed. The committee also approved a bill appropriating $5,000 for state aid to school libraries, and appropriating $5,000 for traveling libraries.

The members of the Duluth delegation have received letters from Secretary H. V. Ewa of the public affairs committee of

New York, Feb. 15.—Police headquarters has a zoological specimen that it is not proud of. It is in the cellar, under a big box, and a heavy weight policeman is sitting on the box.

Sergeant "Billy" Funston was sitting in the detective bureau when a skull on the desk, one of several articles seized in a recent raid upon a den of thieves, began moving toward him.

Funston called at the top of his voice for help, and when Sergeant Mannion arrived pointed to the desk, where another gator, more than a foot long, was rolling the skull about playfully. Mannion's iron rears deserted him and he backed out of the room.

Four other sergeants and nine policemen finally ventured into the detective bureau, but none could be induced to go near the reptile until Detective "Joe" Petrosini came in. The Italian was not afraid of the gator, and placed a box over it. Another box was taken out of the cellar and the animal dumped into it. The cover was nailed on and it was carried to the cellar.

The only explanation for the presence of the alligator that the police can give is that it must have been in one of the boxes containing stolen goods.

ALL SUPPLIES WERE BURNED

And Hudson Bay Extension of Canadian Northern Delayed.

Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 15.—It is stated at the offices of the Canadian Northern railway that, owing to all supply coaches along the line having been destroyed by bush fires, all survey parties at work on the line to Hudson bay have been recalled and will return immediately. This line runs from Edmonton, on the main line of the Canadian Northern, in an almost bee line to Fort Churchill, on Hudson bay. For two years supplies have been taken in by dog sled and canoe, but it was very slow work owing to the roughness of the country.

Last summer some ninety miles of the line was graded and it was hoped construction could be rushed this spring to have the track completed to the bay within eighteen months, as the Hill interests are pushing two lines in that direction, and the first road in gains supremacy over valuable territory. It will be impossible for the Canadian Northern to do anything on the branch until fresh supplies can be taken in, and that means at least a year's delay.

It is expected that when Premier Roblin declares the Conservative policy, in the next few days, it will include a government-financed railway directly north from this city to the bay. The destruction of the Canadian Northern's supplies will add great interest to the announcement, as the immediate construction of a line to Hudson bay is a big thing for Western Canada and the wheat-raising states south of the line. Geological reports show that the bay is open at least five months in each year, and that, by specially constructed icebreakers, this can be extended to seven months.

HARROWING SCENE

At Hanging of Two Negroes for Murder at Farmville, Va.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 15.—There was a harrowing scene at the hanging at a Farmville today of Moses Hill and William Ruffin, negroes, convicted of the murder of Postmaster John Grubb. Hill weighed 275 pounds. The rope broke; he walked calmly back to the scaffold, when it broke a second time, and he died in agony on the ground.

Ignorance may be bliss, but it's not prospectively. To prosper you must read Herald ads.—and then you are no longer ignorant.

Exhibition Will Come to a Close Saturday Evening.

The scoring of the birds shown in the eleventh annual poultry exhibit of the Duluth Poultry association has been completed and the colored ribbons have been hung on the pens. The show has been a most successful one, many hundred visitors attending at the room at 314 West Michigan street, during the five days it has been on. The show will continue until tomorrow evening at 10 o'clock and many are interested in again viewing the birds after the ribbons that tell of the prizes have been tied on.

Three Settlers Kill Seven Out of Pack of Twelve.

Collect Bounty From State and County Aggregating $105.

Seven wolves, all killed out of the same pack is the record established by Charles Sorey, Joseph Tamba and J. Johnson, settlers residing in unorganized county territory adjoining the town of Breitung.

During the past winter months the farmers have been harassed by the wolves which would skulk about their homesteads at night, necessitating extreme care that the stock be safely locked up in the barns and sheds at night. Whenever the settlers would sally out after the animals, they would disappear and, from a distance, would set up howls of defiance, returning to circle and systematic efforts to get the wolves inside again.

Determined to rid themselves of the pests, Sorey, who resides on section 12, 64-14, Tamba who lives on section 12, 64-17, and Johnson, who resides on section 9, 62-14, decided on a united and systematic effort to get the wolves.

For several weeks they have been hunting, trapping and distributing poisoned bait in the localities where the pack has been running and their efforts have been crowned with a considerable degree of success.

Charles Sorey has killed four big timber wolves, two males and two females. Joseph Tamba has killed two large male wolves and J. Johnson has slain one full-grown male wolf.

The three men brought the pelts of the wolves to the county auditor's office this morning and were paid an aggregate bounty of poison which is the largest amount paid out at any one time this winter for the purpose mentioned.

The hunters state that the original pack comprised about a dozen or fifteen wolves, but since their campaign it has been pretty well broken up and a wolf is now rarely heard of in the locality of their homesteads now.

One of the wolf hunters said that the animals became so suspicious that for two weeks they would not go nearer than fifteen feet to a large piece of meat that had been "doped" and thrown in a thicket at the edge of a swamp where the wolves were known to be in hiding. On visiting the bait day after day the hunters found that the animals had circled around the thicket until the snow was packed down hard, but there was not a wolf track close to the meat. Finally a snow storm covered all traces of the hunters' trips to the bait, and the wolves, desperate with hunger, closed in on the bait. The animals managed to get enough of the poisoned meat to cause their death. The hunters tracked for some distance others of the pack that seemed to have been made sick, but they escaped.

THE GRECIAN QUEEN FOUND A MAID THIEF.

Athens, Feb. 15.—Considerable stir has been caused in court and official circles by the discovery that audacious robberies have been taking place in the city since the Greek government authorities according to an authoritative version of the affair, a chambermaid, in whose honesty such implicit reliance was felt that she was placed in charge of Queen Olga's jewelry, removed upon different occasions valuable Russian gold medals struck in honor of certain events in the czar's family and precious stones.

She acted in collusion with a German goldsmith, who substituted gilded lead for the gold of everything stolen, in order to delay discovery of the robberies.

It was her majesty herself who discovered quite by accident what was going on and forthwith ordered the arrest of the chambermaid. The woman, on being examined, confessed that she was the thief and that her dishonest proceedings were due to the compulsion of the German goldsmith, who was her sweetheart. This man disappeared from Athens six months ago. The value of the stolen articles is officially estimated at about $20,000.

The Tuley fours were completed by the addition of Flavell of Lindsay, who beat Rochon, and Whalen of Fort William, who trimmed Forbes of Nipigon.

JARDIN DISMISSED.

Court Instructs Him That He Must Provide for Wife.

In the case of the state against Hans Jardin charged with non-support by his wife, Annie Jardin this morning, Judge Cutting dismissed the defendant with the instruction that in future he must provide for her.

The defense brought out the fact that Mrs. Jardin had refused to live in the home provided for her, but wanted to live in West Duluth, where she has friends. This caused a break in the case, and the state was unable to prove that it was not up to him to provide for her if she would not live with him.

Jardin is employed as head janitor in the Pahlado building.

SELECTING JURY TO TRY ADAMS

Difficult Task Owing to Intense Feeling on Both Sides.

Wallace, Idaho, Feb. 15.—The task of selecting a jury to try Steve Adams, was continued today. The intense interest which the case arouses here is indicated by the crowds that daily fill the court room. Among the merchants and business men there is a well developed sentiment against the Western Federation of Miners, which is defending Adams, while among the working classes there is sympathy with the organization. This complicates the task of choosing a jury.

While all jurors who admit that they are members of the federation and are believed to be sincere in their belief, it is believed among miners even where they are not on its rolls, the men in the jury box when court convened this morning were two or three said to be miners and while none of these admits membership in the union, it is expected that the state may watch for its opportunity to get rid of them.

EVEN PURE MILK FAILS OWNERS NOT SATISFIED

To Stand Minnesota Test Sometimes, Says Henry Bridgeman.

With Methods of Council in Granting Pole Permits.

Corrects Misstatement by Herald—Other Warrants Are Served.

Only Resident Owners Are Notified Under Present System.

"Absolutely pure Holstein milk will not test 3.5 per cent," said Henry Bridgeman of the Bridgeman & Russell company, in speaking of the recent arrest and prosecution of three of the drivers of the firm, for selling milk under grade.

"The Herald stated that two of our samples tested only 2 per cent, but that was a mistake, and the inspector will bear me out. It should have been 2 per cent instead of 3 per cent. Only two of all the samples taken, fell being 2.8. None of our cream was illegal, and in Wisconsin, where 3 per cent is the required grade, all but two of the samples of milk would have been legal. The inspectors camped on our trail for nearly a week, and took samples from all of our drivers.

"In last evening's issue it was stated that five of our men had been arrested. Only three of them were arrested. The John Elmhurst who is mentioned was a local dairyman, has no connection whatever with our firm.

"I have been in business here nineteen years and this is the first time anyone in my employ has been arrested for selling milk under the required grade.

"The truth of the matter is that we have to take just about what milk we can get up in this country. There are times when we are hard up to get enough milk of any kind to supply the demand, and we are not able to pick and choose as we would like to. In order and more settled parts of the state they can select their milk, but here we just have to take up to the standard that is offered us, and the idea of a great many farmers is to get the cows that give the most milk, regardless of the quality. Holsteins give great quantities of milk, but it is a fact that absolutely pure milk from a Holstein cow will not test up to the standard required by Minnesota law, although it passes muster in Wisconsin, where only 3 per cent of butter fat is required."

The inspector bore out the truth of Mr. Bridgeman's statement regarding the two samples of milk which were said to test only 2 per cent, and said that they had contained 3 per cent of butter fat.

The other two warrants were served yesterday on drivers for Rudell & Hedlund, and the inspectors of St. Paul and Duluth. The prisoners appeared in court and furnished bonds for their appearance. Monday, when they will be given a hearing.

NO ORDER TO BE ISSUED

Authorizing Railroads to Pay Rebates for Overcharges.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—No general order will be issued by the interstate commerce commission, authorizing railroads to pay rebates and claims for overcharges previous to Jan. 1, 1907, the date on which the new anti-trust law went into effect.

This announcement was made today by Interstate Commerce Commissioner Clarke, in reply to the request for a general order made by C. A. King, traffic manager of the Chicago & Alton road, and E. B. Boyd, traffic manager of the Chicago Board of Trade.

It was explained by Mr. King that a large number of claims had originated before the present law went into effect, but that the roads hesitated to pay any of the claims without specific authority from the commission.

The complaint of the Wisconsin Bridge company of Milwaukee, charging the Chicago & Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad with imposing unreasonable rates on structural iron was the subject of the hearing presented to represent the complainant.

DULUTH WILL BE WELL TREATED

In Rivers and Harbors Bill Is Now Confidently Believed.

Washington, Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—It was stated in the senate committee on commerce this morning that the probabilities are that the rivers and harbors bill will be reported out tomorrow and that the Nelson amendments to the bill, relating to work in the Duluth-Superior harbor, will be in the bill when reported to the senate.

O. H. Simonds of Duluth is to make some suggestions to the committee regarding the proposed harbor work at Duluth, particularly the proposed new channels, but it does not appear that his presence is necessary, as Senator Nelson, it would appear, has chided matters and it is confidently believed that Duluth-Superior will be generously treated.

WALKER ON THE METAL

Copper Still Showing Remarkable Strength, Says Walker.

Speaks of Weakness of the Copper Share Market.

(Received by Paine, Webber & Co.)

George L. Walker, the Boston writer, says of the copper metal market in his latest letter:

"Copper continues to display the same remarkable strength which has characterized it for many months past. Lake is selling at 25 1/2c and electrolytic at 26c to 26 1/2c per pound, delivery in May and June. Spot copper sells at 26c to 26 1/2c. There has been an advance of about 1c per ton in London quotations this week. Though foreign consumers are buying very sparingly, they are still active in the market. They have been bidding for copper in this country recently for delivery in May and June. The unusually heavy storms and extremely cold weather of the present winter have seriously curtailed production in all of the principal mining districts as to make it quite certain that the present scarcity of copper will continue for at least six months to come. All leading authorities on the metal market are agreed that the price of copper will average at least 26c this year, and predictions are heard that it will reach 30c within three months."

Of the copper share market he says:

"The two factors that are operating to depress copper shares prices are the stringency in the money market and the comparative weakness of railroad and industrial stocks on the New York list. There is little if any basis for hope that money will be easier in the near future, but as many of the copper shares are paying dividends which amount to from 7 to 12 per cent on their present market prices, current interest rates are unlikely to check speculation materially in this department of the market. The paucity of interest in railroad stocks is not large. Consequently the persistent liquidation is unlikely to precipitate anything in the nature of a crash or panic-like decline. Indications are that the rails will steadily grow narrower, and when it gets dull it will be an easy matter to attract speculative interest to the copper shares and repeat in other special stocks what has been recently accomplished in Utah Consolidated, Copper Range, Quincy and Grand."

Utah Consolidated, Butte Coalition, Green, Michigan, Balmkahn, Cumberland, Erie and American are the copper shares that are believed to be worth considerably more than their present selling prices, and if we are to have a continuation of our bull market these stocks are unable to trade in the good things which come along from time to time should improve in value than to have any further advance. I refer to such stocks as Adventure, Arcadian, Franklin, Globe, Isle

RAILROADS SHIPMENTS ARE LARGER

Railroads in Condition to Handle Freight More Rapidly.

Duluth Wholesalers Already Noticing Increase in Business.

Through the kindness of the weather man, the railroads are now hauling more freight in and out of Duluth, and making better time with it, than at any time during the past month or two. From the great variety of freight now arriving in the city from the West, some of which was started on the road several weeks ago, and some only a few days ago, it is evident that the roads through the Dakotas are fast being cleared of snow, and the branch lines being put in condition for operating.

The movement of hay, grain, and all classes of freight from the West is increasing in volume every day, and the railroads hope that another week of warm weather will place them in a condition to handle all shipments given them without serious delay. As yet no perishable goods are accepted by the Great Northern and Northern Pacific at points beyond the western state line of the Dakotas, but it will be a matter of only a few days, with a continuation of the present weather, before perishable freight consigned to any point in the West will be accepted for shipment. Several Dakota merchants are in the city today, and this morning some of them had talks with local railroad men regarding the situation. They say it is greatly relieved through their respective districts, and that the orders in for cars are just about double what is really necessary. The dealers at interior points, they say, are just about double what is really necessary. The dealers at interior points, they say, are just about double what is really necessary.

account of the topography of the country. The village is located in a valley, and the grade to this entrance from the southwest would be very great, on account of a high ridge. The distance of about two miles. This heavy grade will be avoided by using the line chosen, and at the same time the depot can be located at a point across the river and a little below the village. This arrangement has been decided upon by a careful study of the situation by both the townspeople of Littlefork and the railroad officials. By the construction of a wagon bridge, preliminary steps for which have already been taken, at the most convenient point, the business section of the town will be within easy reach of the depot, and there will be no need of moving the town to the place where the railroad crosses the river. The present site of the village is an ideal one, and the arrangements now made for the location of the depot, it is said, are highly gratifying to the townspeople.

SUPPLY CARS BURN.

Canadian Northern, Hudson Bay Line Work is Greatly Delayed.

Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 15.—It is stated today at the offices of the Canadian Northern railway that, owing to all supply coaches along the branches having been destroyed by bush fires, all supply parties at work on the line to Hudson Bay have been recalled and will return immediately. The line runs from Edmonton, on the main line of the Canadian Northern, in an almost direct line to Fort Churchill, on Hudson Bay. For two years supplies have been taken in by dog sled and canoe, but it was very slow work owing to the roughness of the country. Last summer the men simply miles of the line was graded and it was hoped construction could be rushed this spring to have the track completed to the bay within eighteen months, as the hill interests are rushing the line in that direction, and the first road in gains supremacy over valuable territory. It will be impossible for the Canadian Northern to do anything on the branch until fresh supplies can be obtained, and that means at least a year's delay.

ILLNESS DELAYS SPEAKER'S VISIT

Lou J. Beauchamp Will Not Address Men's Meeting Sunday.

Lou J. Beauchamp of Hamilton, Ohio, who was expected to be in Duluth this week and to deliver his famous address, "The Age of the Young Men," Sunday afternoon at the Lyceum, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., has sent a message to Secretary Lippold of the religious department of the association stating that on account of illness he will be unable to be here this week. He hopes to visit Duluth at some later date.

Instead of the big meeting at the Lyceum the meeting for men will be held in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium at 226 Second St. Sunday afternoon, March 2. The next big meeting for the men at the Lyceum theater will be held on Sunday afternoon, March 2, when Dr. Samuel Gray of Amherst, Mass., will be here. All the men of Duluth and the members of the Y. M. C. A. in particular are invited to attend the meeting at the auditorium next Sunday and hear the reports of the delegates to the state convention.

HAD ONLY TWO CENTS.

Insurance Agent Arrested on the Charge of Embezzlement.

St. Louis, Feb. 15.—Acting on instruction telegraphed last night by Chief of Police W. H. Franz of St. Joseph, Mo., detectives arrested J. Wallace Hight at the Southern hotel on the charge of having embezzled from the Missouri State Life Insurance company for which he is an agent. He indignantly denied the charge and asserted that if a shortage had been found in his accounts it was due to an error on the part of the company. Only 2 cents were found in his possession. The hotel took possession of two grips as security for his hotel bill. He will be held awaiting the arrival of an officer from St. Joseph.

LITTLEFORK CROSSING

Of Minnesota & International Road is Definitely Decided Upon.

Benid, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. P. Dougherty, the railroad contractor who is now building the Minnesota & International extension from Big Falls to International Falls, was in the city yesterday on his way to Minneapolis. Relative to the work being done up north, Mr. Dougherty says:

Despite the past cold weather, work on the Minnesota & International extension continues with unrelenting energy. There are now about 80 men employed along the line, about fifty of whom are stationed at Camp No. 16, of the Littlefork, and Camp No. 17, of the Littlefork. The main item of news in connection with the work, however, is the decision conclusively upon the Littlefork crossing. I am informed that the crossing will be at the Knollville place, about a mile and a half below the village of Littlefork. This crossing was not chosen because of a desire on the part of the railroad people to give the village the go-by and establish a new town, but was made necessary on

MAUSER WANTS HIS FREEDOM

Claims Sheriff is Restraining Him in Jail Illegally.

Fred Mauser, who was committed to the county jail from the local municipal court to serve a 90-day term for drunkenness, is attempting to secure his liberty through habeas corpus proceedings. By a writ issued through the district court, Sheriff Bates is directed to produce Mauser before the court this afternoon and show cause why he should be held.

Mauser bases his petition to the court on the claim that he is not detained by virtue of any process or judgment of any competent tribunal of civil or criminal jurisdiction. His attorneys are Ross & McKnight.

Mauser's long-term sentence is said to be due to the fact that it was his third offense.

MILD SPELL CONTINUES

Balminess in the Air Gives Hint of Approaching Spring.
No Cold Wave in Sight, Says the Weather Man.

There was a balminess in the air today that seemed to hint of spring. It was a perfect winter day and it was an unalloyed pleasure just to be out of doors and enjoy the warm sunshine. The ordinary winter wraps were almost too warm for comfort, and it was a strong temptation to shed all of the outer garments. "Will it last?" is the question which most Duluthians are asking today. It seems too good to be true, but the weather man at the Duluth weather station is still forecasting fair and mild weather for tomorrow. He says there is nothing in sight which would indicate that there is a cold wave on the way and from the prospects at present it looks as though the warm spell would hang on for several days. However, the weather man adds that if the high pressure area over Montana, which has remained stationary since yesterday, should move eastward a cold wave might result. This is not always the case, but there is liable to be an end to the warm spell if this high pressure area shifts to the eastward. At 7 o'clock this morning there was a temperature only 2 degrees below the freezing point in Duluth. It steadily grew warmer and at noon the thermometers registered an even 40 above zero with the mercury still going up.

The weather man expects the temperature to go beyond the record made last Saturday, which was the warmest day of the winter.

The weather is mild all over the northwest today. The Twin Cities had a temperature the same as that at Duluth, while other points further north were unusually warm. At Edmonton in Alberta it was not even freezing this morning, the thermometer registering 38 above at 7 o'clock. At Prince Albert it was 23 above, at Winnipeg and Port Arthur it was 22. The Dakota towns all sent in reports of warm weather today also.

NO PRIZES AT THE CARD PARTIES, SAYS NEW LAW.

Princeton, Mo., Feb. 15.—Thirty-two residents of this town, among them some of the most respected citizens of Princeton, have been arrested by an information filed by Prosecuting Attorney B. F. Kesterson of Mercer county as a result of playing cards for prizes.

The information is under section 2212 of the revised statutes of Missouri, which prohibits playing "at any game whatsoever for money, property or gain with cards, dice or any other device." Kesterson has been clearing out gambling places in Princeton, and it is said that the gamblers complained to him against the card parties. All the accused will stand trial. It is declared by the victims that if they are convicted they will cause proceedings to be instituted against their recent hosts for keeping gambling houses and against a number of other social and religious people for playing dominos for prizes.

WHAT FINGERS ARE WORTH.

Thumb Held to Represent Third of Whole Hand's Value.

Philadelphia Record: The different fingers are far from having the same value in the eyes of the law with reference to their functional utilization. Much the most important is the thumb, for without it prehension would be very imperfect. The hand is no longer pinched but merely a claw when deprived of the thumb. It may be estimated that the thumb represents fully a third of the total value of the hand. The French court allows 15 to 35 per cent value for the right hand and 10 to 15 for the left; the Austrian schedule gives from 15 per cent for the left to 25 per cent for the right; in Germany 20 to 25 per cent and even as high as 33.3 per cent has been awarded. The percentage is placed upon 100 as the total industrial value of the hand previous to the accident, a loss of 50 per cent represents half of the value, etc.

The total loss of the index finger causes an incapacity estimated at 10 to 15 per cent in Austria, 10 to 20 per cent in Germany, 15 per cent for the left and 20 per cent for the right by Italian courts; the French allow 15 per cent.

The middle finger is of much more importance than the index, says Dr. Heiguan, whom we are citing, and who is no small authority, for a great loss of force is observed in the hand when the finger is amputated. Yet almost all the authorities ascribe less importance to it than the index. The Italian law allows 5 per cent, the Austrian 5 to 10 per cent.

The ring finger is the least important. Its total loss often does not cause incapacity. The Austrian tariff assimilates this finger to the middle one. The Italian law is liberal with 8 per cent. The French and German tribunals often refuse indemnity, considering the incapacity resulting from the loss as very light.

The little finger may be compared to the ring, except in the profession in which it serves as a point of support for the hand. It may be remarked here that the artist has not been taken into consideration in these cases.

Location

Our property is in the center—the very heart—of the world-famed Butte district.

North Butte Extension adjoins and extends north of the famous North Butte, one of the greatest mines yet developed. North Butte was organized less than two years ago. Capitalized for $9,000,000 on a basis of $15 per share, it is now selling for $115 per share, which represents $69,000,000, or an increase of $60,000,000 in less than two years.

Our property also adjoins on the south the Boston & Montana, on the west Butte & Superior, and on the east Butte & London. The Boston & Montana alone has paid out more than $45,000,000 in dividends.

The Butte mines are producing over $6,000,000 a month. Their output is more than one-third the entire copper production of the world. They have already added over $700,000,000 to the nation's wealth.

Carries Famous Veins

The great "Black Rock" vein runs the entire length of our property. We are sinking a shaft on this vein and have ordered additional heavy machinery for rapid development. "North" vein also passes through another part of our property.

Subscriptions may be sent through the following Brokers: Walter W. Carr, Holman Bros. & Co., N. S. Mitchell, Charles B. Aske, Martin Rosendahl, Crandall, Pierce & Co., M. W. Lee & Co., O. A. Men Behind the Mine.

Of vital importance to any enterprise are the men behind it. The officers and directors of our Company are men of high character and strict integrity. They have high records for ability and success in the business and mining worlds.

Future Outlook

designates North Butte Extension to become a great producer of copper. Prospectus and Map sent on application.

The Company Offers 200,000 Shares

AT $2.50 PER SHARE

Books open Monday, February 18th, at 12 o'clock noon. Books close on or before Saturday, February 23d, at 12 o'clock noon.

This is an exceptional opportunity. Never before has a mining stock equal to this been offered at the low price of $2.50 per share. From all indications this offering will be several times over-subscribed. The company reserves the right to close this subscription at any time and to allot smaller amounts than applied for. Telegraphic orders accepted if followed immediately by remittance.

LATE DOINGS IN UPPER MICHIGAN

Chinaman Makes Several Thousand Dollars in Mining Stocks.

Ontonagon—Even upper peninsula Chinamen are speculating in mining shares. Him Lee, Ontonagon's only Celestial, has returned from a trip to Duluth and Hibbing, Minn. Him has cleared up several thousand in fortunate investments in stocks and he expects to go to Hibbing to live. "More chance to buy and then stock there. No further come here," remarked the Oriental.

Marquette—The Marquette postoffice still holds the distinction of being first in the upper peninsula in point of receipts, as for the calendar year of 1905 it again holds the list, the 800 coming second and Houston third. The volume of business broke all records. During the year the total receipts were $9,849.44. Houghton's postoffice receipts for 1906 were $28,322.07, an increase of $1,300.75 over the preceding year. Postmaster Richard Long of Houghton is the oldest postmaster in point of service in the upper peninsula. He has held his present position for sixteen years.

Sault Ste. Marie—Following the example set by the Commercial club, the Civic Federation at its annual meeting passed a resolution asking for the repeal of the specific tax law under which the Michigan-Lake Superior Power company, a Chicago concern, pays $5,000 tax on $200,000 of property, because of its alleged action in holding up $300,000 of improvements planned at the government ship canal by its right in the courts to drive a rival company out of business. Representative James T. Bennett, and Senator Fuller are urged to push the bill in the legislature.

Grand Marais—Fishing through the ice opposite the harbor entrance, Capt. Benjamin Trudell of the life saving station at Grand Marais came within an ace of being carried out into Lake Superior, the occupant of a life. He did not notice that the field had become detached until the break had widened to forty feet, and then he had a thrilling experience in leaping from one to another of the floating cakes of ice that partly bridged the gap. His dogs would not follow him, and he effected their rescue later on by means of a boat. His fishing shanty and equipment when last seen were headed toward the domain of King Edward.

Culmet—Reaching from her bed for a vial of medicine, Mrs. Lena Leostokha took the wrong bottle and drank carbolie acid, dying yesterday. She was 45 years old and had attended the funeral of her two-day old child the previous day. Falling rock instantly killed Herbert Kowoska, a trapper at the Franklin Junior mine yesterday. His partner standing two feet away escaped uninjured.

Negaunee—A shortage of hay threatens Negaunee. There is very little hay of good quality to be had now and the merchants report that they are having difficulty in procuring hay of any kind. The better quality is selling at $20 per ton, with the poor grade bringing from $14 to any ton.

Everybody's friend—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Cures toothache, earache, sore throat, neuralgia, cuts, bruises, scalds. Stops any pain.

FIREMEN'S TOURNAMENT.

To be held at Ely during Second Week in August.

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. 15.—The second week in August was decided upon for the fourteenth annual tournament of Northern Minnesota firemen at a meeting of the executive committee of the tournament association, held at the Eveleth fire hall Wednesday night. Ely had been previously selected as the place. After the business had been transacted the committee was banqueted by the Eveleth department.

The following members of the executive committee: M. E. Gleson, president, and Harry Chinn, secretary of the tournament association; C. J. Mott and Frank Miller of Ely; C. E. Lehman and H. J. Brooker of Cass Lake; A. E. Hickford and Chris Johnson of Virginia; Peter Cosgrove and Oscar Skogland of Sault Ste. Marie; J. Prindle of Airon, William Murray and George W. Mulligan of Eveleth.

Besides setting the dates, which specifically are Aug. 7, 8, 9 and 10, the committee formulated three rules on eligibility of tournaments, as follows:

Each member must have been a resident of the town whose department he represents six months prior to the tournament.

Each member must be a member of the department ninety days before the tournament.

The names of all members to take part in the tournament must be forwarded to the executive committee by the respective department secretaries at least thirty days before the tournament.

TOOK TWENTY DRINKS

Of Whisky a Day for the Last Twenty Years.

Portland, Or., Feb. 15.—The man really was ill. His face was naturally florid, but an even ruddier flush suffused it. The eyes were sunken and wandering in their gaze. Disposition was written in every feature. The lines of the mouth were loosened so it sagged at the edges, the lips were flabby and feverish. The nose gloved lustily. When City Physician Spencer called at the lodging house at Sixth and Irving, where the sick man was confined, he felt the man's pulse, took his temperature and looked at his tongue.

"What seems to be the trouble, my friend?" asked the man of medicine.

"Haven't the least idea," murmured the patient feebly.

"Do you drink much?"

"Not much."

"How much?"

"About a quart a day, sometimes more, sometimes less."

"A quart a day?"

"Of what, whiskey?"

"Yes, whiskey."

"How long has this been going on?"

"Oh, about twenty years."

"And you don't have any idea what ails you?"

"No, Doc, that's what worries me; and I thought I better get some advice."

Dr. Spencer hustled the man, George Vahon, off to St. Vincent's hospital in a patrol wagon, and then sat down and began figuring.

"A quart a day for twenty years—7,200 days, same number of quarts, 1,800 gallons, 63 barrels. About eighty drinks to the gallon—that's 144,000 drinks, at 15 cents each, is $21,915, not counting interest, nearly one drink an hour, or about one drink a minute."

Dr. Spencer probably did not have this conversation with himself, but he could have had if he wanted to.

WELLS A MODEL JACK TAR

Millionaire Seaman Visited by His Chorus Girl Wife at Norfolk.

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 15.—J. Raynor Wells, the young millionaire of New York and Newport who enlisted in the United States navy several months ago, following his sensational marriage to a show girl, has been victorious over all the early ills of his enlistment, and is now an able seaman.

His wife arrived here a few days ago and met her seaman husband late in the afternoon. Wells is said to be a model seaman. It is understood that he is to stick to his guns and serve his enlistment out.

The cruiser Cleveland, on which Wells is a seaman, returned here several days ago from the West Indies, and until then Wells had not seen his wife for many weeks. He registered at the leading hotel.

LANDS UNDER LAKES

May be Declared the Property of the State.

St. Paul, Feb. 15.—State Auditor Samuel G. Iverson has prepared a bill by which the legislature may declare that lands under any public lakes in the state are property of the state, and he is of the opinion that there may be more ore under these lakes than under much of the school lands in Minnesota. Under the old riparian right proposition, surrounding land holders have rights to the center of the lakes. All that is necessary to make submarine soil state property is a legislative declaration.

DAVIDSON ON STOCK DEAL

Says He Was Not State Official When He Invested.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 15.—Governor Davidson and Nels P. Haugen, former state tax commissioner, deny any irregularity so far as they are concerned, in the charges made in the suit against the defunct Mexican Plantation company, to the effect that they accepted stock in the concern gratuitously and bolstered up the reputation of the institution.

Henry E. Horne, trustee, has sued the original promoters of the Mexican Plantation company to recover $125,000.

LOST ALUMNUS FOUND.

"Meggie" Williams Not Dead, But Victim of Mental Troubles.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 15.—Listed for thirteen years in university catalogues as dead, Charles McGee ("Meggie") Williams, graduate of the law school and the greatest baseball pitcher ever playing at the University of Wisconsin, was found yesterday in Morrisville, Ind., working as a street laborer.

Henry Casson, son of the sergeant-at-arms of the United States senate, and a former university man, recognized him there.

Williams has no recollection of the circumstances which resulted in his transition from a lawyer to street sweeper in 1904. He said he suffered from spells of mental aberration and desired not to burden his relatives. He will not return to his former home at Whitewater, Wis. He is a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

OWNED TO A THEFT BUT WAS RELEASED.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 15.—Because he helped the police to catch the most notorious murderer of the city's books, James E. Walsh has been freed after confessing that he stole $12 from the National Exchange bank here last November.

He was caught after a search for a missing book when Gustav Schmitt, a bank clerk, rented one from him to take Grace Kinn and her young daughter up the river here. Schmitt alone came back alive and the bodies were found floating in the river two weeks later with a big stone attached to each. Walsh's description trapped Schmitt.

Walsh made a pledge in court never to touch a drop of drink again as long as he lives. As he did so, the district attorney, Judge and others wept.

In the complaint it is asserted that the governor and tax commissioner of Wisconsin received stock for nothing, except for the influence their names on the list of stockholders exerted. Governor Davidson yesterday issued the following statement:

"I was approached by C. E. Seller of La Crosse to take stock in the Mexican company and to become vice president and a director. I refused to have anything to do with it. Later Mr. Seller wrote, asking that I accept a contribution of stock which was subscribed for by stockholders who were sorry to see that I did not join. That was six or seven years ago. I had no state office then."

"Later, I requested Seller to take back the stock, but he refused. When the bonding proposition came up I put in a small amount per share."

Governor Davidson said in addition that Seller asked him to merely subscribe for stock, but he would not do it at an advance and the governor would get the "velvet."

Indiana Judge Holds Legislature Has No Right to License Traffic.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 15.—Circuit Court Judge Hartman has handed down a decision calculated to give saloonkeepers nightmare. He holds that the legislature has no more legal right to license the sale of intoxicating liquors than it has to license gambling. If the decision is upheld by the higher courts, it will close every saloon in the state.

Judge Hartman held that the retail liquor business has no legal standing, on the ground that it is not one of the inherent common-law rights of citizenship, since the business is dangerous to public health, public morals and public safety.

HARRIMAN CORNERED.

Federal Officials Plan Criminal Prosecution of Railroad Magnate.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Criminal prosecution of Edward H. Harriman, president of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads, by the federal government for violation of the interstate commerce law in securing control of parallel lines between San Francisco and New York, will, it is believed, be brought by the government.

It has been decided not to request Mr. Harriman to appear before any government official or tribunal to give testimony which would result in giving him an "immunity bath."

The government is in earnest in its fight on the Harriman roads, and it now believes it has enough evidence to secure the indictment and conviction of Harriman for violating the anti-trust law.

MAN WALKS ON THE WATER MORE THAN 1,600 MILES.

New Orleans, Feb. 15.—Capt. Charles W. Oldreive has completed the feat of walking the water from Cincinnati to New Orleans, a distance of 1,600 miles, in forty days, lacking forty-five minutes, thereby winning the world's championship and a bet of $5,000.

Oldreive met with an accident just before reaching the goal at the head of Canal street that nearly cost him his life. His big wooden shoes suddenly slid outward, and the water walker turned turtle. His wife, who accompanied him all the way in a rowboat, rescued him.

Oldreive left Cincinnati Jan. 1 at noon on a vaguer that he could walk to New Orleans in forty days. At the falls above Louisville, he was delayed for twenty-four hours, and this allowance, it was agreed, should be computed in the time.

Oldreive was in motion only during daylight, laying over every night at the various landings. He was equipped with shoes made of cedar wood, four feet five inches long, five inches broad and seven inches deep.

In a gasoline boat preceding the water walker were Capt. J. W. Weathering of Dallas, Tex., who backed Oldreive, and Arthur Jones, who represented Edward Williams of Boston, who laid the wager.

LONG TERM FOR DUFFY.

Decorah Criminal is Sentenced to Forty Years at Anamosa.

Decorah, Iowa, Feb. 15.—Ambrose Duffy, a well-known character in this section, was yesterday sentenced to forty years' imprisonment in the penitentiary at Anamosa by Judge Hobson. He was under indictment on four charges, and was being tried for attempting to commit a criminal assault. He decided to plead guilty, and upon being given an opportunity to plead on the second charge, also, pleaded guilty to that. He was thereupon sentenced to twenty years on each charge. He has been in many crimes, it is believed, in this part of the country, and his sentence meets with general favor.

DIED ON TRAIN

While Returning From Texas to His Home in Paris, Ill.

St. Louis, Feb. 15.—When the Iron Mountain train from Texas pulled into the Union station this morning, the dead body of Charles Henson, 40 years old, was found in the chair car retelling room. He had died from consumption while returning from Texas to his home in Paris, Ill. Among his possessions was a letter from his mother, stating that a baby girl had been born to him, and his wife longing for him to come home. Henson had been in Texas six months endeavoring to regain his health.

SENATE HAS HALF HOUR SESSION AND ADJOURNS UNTIL MONDAY EVENING

But Seven Bills, None of Particular Interest, Presented.

Second Bill Permitting Governor to Remove Mayor, Introduced.

The Resolution on Two-Cent Fare is Not Presented.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
St. Paul, Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The senate had a short and uneventful session this morning, adjourning to Monday evening at 8 o'clock after an hour's routine. Only seven bills came in, none of particular interest. Senator Nelson offered a bill, in line with a previous measure by the same author, which permitted Governor Johnson to discharge mayors in cities for cause. The new bill provides that the communities interested shall pay the cost of the hearing at which testimony against the offending executive is introduced. Both bills are introduced.

WITNESS FORCED TO LEAVE TOWN
By Threats of "Lynchers" to Blow Up His Home.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Feb. 16.—On application of the government a recess was taken in the Shipp contempt case yesterday until some date late in March. Two more alleged lynchers, "Har" Justice and Luther Williams, were named today. The government announcement was made by officials of the government that Stonecipher, the star witness against four of the alleged lynchers, had fled with Dietrich Attorney Penland, a letter signed "lynchers," that he received shortly after the hanging of Edward Johnson, the rapist. This letter warned Stonecipher, so it is claimed, to leave Chattanooga or his home would be blown up. According to the report, the four alleged lynchers later, thinking that they told Stonecipher, but his wife, becoming badly frightened, persuaded her husband to move to Cohutta, Ga., their former home.

CONSPIRACY IS CHARGED

Agent of Alleged Furniture Trust is Placed Under Arrest.

Federal Grand Jury Has Been Inquiring Into Methods.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—Frederick A. Holbrook, a manufacturer's agent, was arrested today by Deputy United States Marshal Griffith, on a federal warrant, charging him with conspiracy to violate the Sherman anti-trust law in dealing in church furniture. Holbrook is chairman of an association of manufacturers, which is alleged by the government officials to act as a trust in controlling prices of school and church furniture. The arrest was made upon the complaint of Harry B. Duncan, special agent of the department of justice, who has for some time been investigating the workings of the alleged commission. For the last two weeks the conduct of the business of making and selling school and church furniture has been the subject of inquiry by the federal grand jury, now in session. Witnesses have been summoned from all parts of the country to testify regarding their experiences with the alleged trust. No indictments have as yet been returned, and the arrest of Holbrook is the first direct act by the government officials promising active prosecution.

Hill Says There is Nothing Mysterious About Ore Deal.

Never Personally Made Price of Postage Stamp Out of It.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
St. Paul, Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—"There is nothing mysterious about the ore lands deal," said James J. Hill of the Great Northern at the continued hearing of the Knutson committee yesterday; "there is nothing to conceal, nothing to be ashamed of. I bought the Wright & Davis lands and railroads in order to give the Great Northern access to the ore-carrying trade. The Great Northern could not handle the ore lands, so they were turned over to the Lake Superior company, to be administered for the benefit of the stockholders of the Great Northern. Except as a stockholder, I never made the price of a postage stamp out of it. I could have kept the lands myself, but I preferred to let them and their profits go to the Great Northern stockholders. I hope

NINE REMAIN UNIDENTIFIED

Bodies From Larchmont Will be Buried at City's Expense.

Providence, R. I., Feb. 16.—Only nine bodies of the seventy-five recovered from the steamer Larchmont, sunk in Block Island Sound last Monday night after a collision with the schooner Harry Knowlton, remained to be identified when the morgue opened today.

Should any more bodies remain unidentified after today the city authorities will bury them at municipal expense. United States Steamboat inspectors will come from New London to take the statements of Capt. McVey of the Larchmont and the few surviving members of his crew, and then an investigation probably will be made into the charges of cowardice brought against the captain and some of his men.

The crew of the Knowlton already have made their depositions to the United States authorities at New London in which they claimed the fault of the collision lay with the steamer.

FIND BONES OF PADILLA?
Rust-Incrusted Crucifix on Skeleton Lends Credence to Claim.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 16.—The unearthing in Western Nebraska of a skeleton with a small metallic crucifix incrusted by rust and resting against the chest, prompts the officers of the Nebraska Historical society to believe that the bones are those of the murdered Spanish friar, Padilla. Padilla wandered among the Indians as a missionary more than two centuries ago, and was slain by those whom he sought to convert. Historical research shows that he converted to Christianity many of the savages in the sixteenth century. He was killed in 1545. The historical society has arranged to transport the skeleton to the museum of Nebraska.

PREVENTION OF CRUELTY

To Land is Latest Measure for Lawmakers to Grapple.

Modeled on Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Law.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—Rockwell Sayre, a farm owner, residing in the suburb of Bryn Mawr, has framed a law for the "prevention of cruelty to land." It is to be modeled after the "prevention of cruelty to animals" measure. Under the proposed bill land may not be planted more than two years at a time with corn, oats, wheat, or other small grains. Provision is made for "resting" the soil every seven years by seeding it with alfalfa for meadow or pasture. Every five years it must be "toned up" with a top dressing of stable manure, or some other fertilizer. A penalty of $20 a year for each violation is provided. Land that is "abused" by "heartless" farmers, who plant the same crops year after year, without any regard for the feelings of the soil, is to be protected under the proposed measure. The failure to plant different grains in rotation, Mr. Sayre explains, destroys the fertility of land. He calls it cruelty. He has had a bill drawn for the Illinois and other state legislatures to pass, forbidding planting the same crop year after year on the same land. Copies of the proposed measure have been sent to Governor Deneen and to the governors of North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin and Nebraska. Mr. Sayre recently visited Governor Elrod of South Dakota and outlined the movement to him. The governor promised to cooperate to bring about the proposed reform. President Wurst of Fargo college, in North Dakota, also took a keen interest in Sayre's plan, and drew the bill which has been sent to the various governors.

TOO LAZY TO GO FOR A DOCTOR

Jury Asks Punishment of Father Who Neglected Child.

Washington, Feb. 16.—"We, the jury, find that Walter Hill, Sr., came to his death Saturday, Feb. 15, 1907, from heart failure, superinduced by droopy and neglect, the latter being through gross negligence and laziness on the part of his parents, and we recommend that the county detective make information against Walter Hill, Sr., for non-support and neglect."

This was the verdict of the coroner's jury after an inquest was held last night into the recent death of Walter Hill, Jr., aged 6, son of Walter Hill, Sr., of Benkenville. Hill is said to have come from the mountains of West Virginia. Witnesses testified that he was so lazy he refused to go for a doctor when his child lay dying.

COURTS IN CONFLICT

Clash in Ohio Has Assumed an Acute Phase.

Federal Judge and State Court at Swords' Points.

Lima, Ohio, Feb. 16.—The clash between the federal court of Judge A. C. Thompson in Cincinnati and the state court here has assumed an acute phase as a result of a telegram forwarded here today by the federal court, demanding that the indictment against Julius A. Beiser, bankrupt trustee of the Bracken Iron & Bridge company, be nolleed, or that Deputy Sheriff A. S. Earnst report before the federal court on the charge of contempt. Earnst has been advised not to go to Cincinnati, and Prosecutor Welty says he will call a special grand jury and subpoena Judge Thompson if Earnst is sent to jail, alleging the federal judge has been guilty of obstructing the due administration of justice. "The indictment will not be nolleed," said County Prosecutor Welty today. Earnst has never been served with a command to appear in Cincinnati more than that contained in the brief telegram. He was never apprehended by the marshals in the cross state chase. Judge Peck, attorney for Beiser, is enroute here from Cincinnati to demand, it is said, the dismissal of the Beiser indictment.

HURRICANE WIPES OUT

The Town of Cooktown on North Australian Coast.

Constant Troubles Are Occurring on the Solomon Islands.

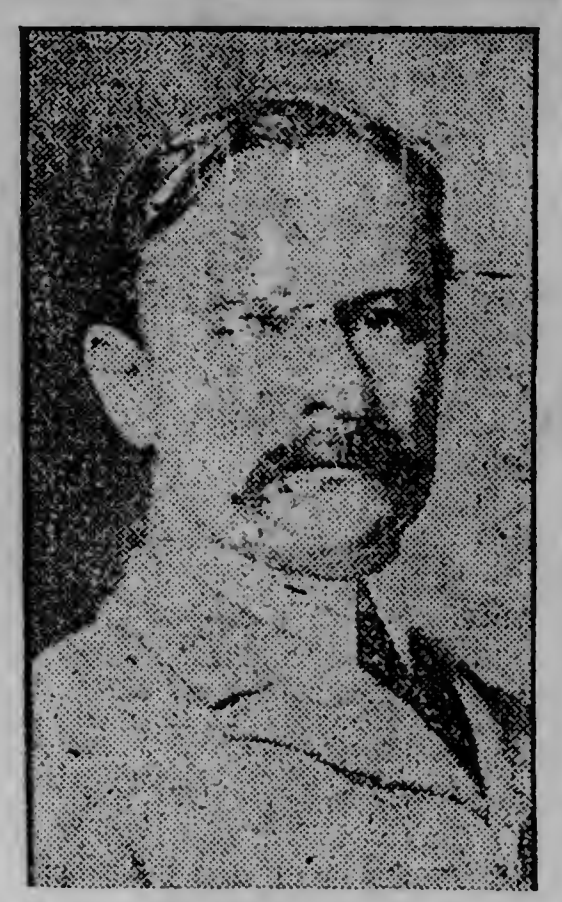

Victoria, B. C., Feb. 16.—News has been received by the steamer Miowra that a hurricane has completely wiped out Cooktown in North Australia. No lives were lost. The monetary loss will amount to $200,000. The Miowra brought news that constant troubles were occurring in the Solomon Islands as a result of the men expelled from Queensland, following the enactment of "white Australia" laws. H. M. S. Prometheus, a British warship, placed in the vicinity of the group to protect the returning blacks, shelled the village of Silewa on Mil-Rita, which so badly frightened the natives that they took to the brush and have not returned. The missionaries fear a massacre by the villagers, who resent the intrusion of the blacks. From Papua news was brought of a punitive expedition following a raid by cannibals on a Cape Cuvola village, two children being murdered and eaten at a cannibal feast.

WOMAN DIES OF EXPOSURE

During Fire Which Causes Great Excitement at Alexandria, Va.

Alexandria, Va., Feb. 16.—One death from excitement and exposure, six firemen overcome by smoke, one badly burned about the face, and another injured by a falling beam, and damage amounting to $10,000 were the result of a fire which, when finally subdued early today, had destroyed Wedderburn, a block of houses on Albert street, between Oronoco and Pendleton streets last night. The fire was caused by the overturning of a lighted lamp. Mrs. Sarah E. Skillman, an aged woman, was ill in bed with pneumonia. When the flames extended to her home, she was carried to the sidewalk, but died while being hurried to the hospital in an ambulance. Six firemen were overcome by smoke; George Walter was burned about the face and John Davis, a volunteer fireman, was struck by a falling beam and rendered unconscious. An explosion occurred in the saloon owned by P. T. Everett in one of the burned buildings, when the fire was in progress, causing great excitement, knocking several firemen and spectators to the ground. It was supposed to have been caused by a barrel of whiskey becoming overheated and exploding.

EXPLOSION OF DONKEY ENGINE BOILER ON SHIP AT SEA KILLS SEVEN MEN

GEORGE J. GOULD, Head of the Gould System of Railroads, Whose Men Have Engaged in a General Movement for a Wage Increase on Western and Southwestern Lines.

TEST COMES ON MONDAY

Strikers on Gould System Will Then Be Dismissed.

Eleven Hundred Men on Iron Mountain Road Are Out.

St. Louis, Feb. 16.—Today marks the end of the first week of a strike of boilermakers, blacksmiths and helpers, on the Gould system of railroads, and 1,100 blacksmiths and helpers and boilermakers have walked out of the shops on the Iron Mountain and Missouri Pacific roads. According to notices posted by order of General Manager A. W. Sullivan, the strikers will be given until next Monday to return to work, and after that date those who have failed to do so will no longer be considered employees. The officials of the union claim they have not lost a member, and insist that they do not know of one who will weaken when the real test of loyalty comes next Monday.

The strike has taken out 375 blacksmiths and helpers and 725 boilermakers and assistants, employed in Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska, Arkansas and Tennessee. The strike is said by the railroad management to be the first step in a general movement for a wage increase on Western and Southwestern lines. General Manager Sullivan of the Missouri Pacific Iron Mountain system, is now in Chicago, attending a conference of Western railroads with conductors and trainmen on the wage and work-day questions.

Accident Occurs on Valdivia in Atlas Line Service.

First Officer of Steamship Seriously Injured by Debris.

The Upper Works Badly Wrecked and Smokestack Falls.

New York, Feb. 16.—Seven men were killed and three injured, and considerable damage was sustained by the vessel by an explosion on board the German steamer Valdivia at sea last Wednesday. The accident was reported when the steamer arrived here today. The donkey engine boiler exploded at 11:15 on Wednesday morning, throwing the steamer's funnel over and tipping open the upper deck. The seven dead were killed instantly. The escaping steam from the burst boiler enveloped the steamer, creating a scene of great confusion. Among the injured is the first officer. The names of the dead are: CAPTAIN ROBERT J. STEINHAGEN of Hoboken, N. J.; FIREMAN A. SELDON, (colored); COAL PASSER W. HANNA; COAL PASSER J. SALESKI; SAILOR P. DYTHO; SAILOR W. DETRICH; STEWARD WILLIAM SIMMONS, (colored). The chief officer, who was on duty on the bridge, was buried in the debris when found. He stated when the explosion occurred everything appeared to fall over the bridge on to the deck, and the superstructure above the smokestack and the decks were torn open. All of the lifeboats were damaged, one so smashed that it was thrown overboard. The smokestack fell down to the deck, but was secured. All of the inner structures afloat of the bridge were completely torn out. When the explosion occurred the steamer stopped and everybody rushed to the rescue of the injured. The dead were so mangled that it was with difficulty that the bodies were secured. After some delay in clearing the wreckage, the funnel was secured to derricks attached to the main mast, and the lifeboats were secured in the chocks for repairs. The dead were buried at sea. The vessel came in under her own steam as the general machinery was not affected, except that the loss of the smokestack interfered with the draught. The Valdivia is a passenger and freight steamer belonging to the Hamburg-American line and plying in the Atlas line service to Havt and other ports in the West Indies. Her schedule on this voyage included ports in Santo Domingo and Havt, her calls being at Jamaica, which she left Feb. 10, and Inagua, in the Bahamas. The vessel was in command of Capt. Kruger.

ALFONSO'S ALLIANCE

With Historical Protestant Family is Liberalizing Spain.

A Growing Element of Protestantism is Apparent.

Boston, Feb. 16.—The ninety-sixth annual report of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions, was made public today. In substance it follows: "As respects broadly the evangelical cause in Spain, it may be said that the various questions which are continually arising in connection with the fifty or more organized congregations in Spain and which gave occasion for interviews with the authorities in Madrid and for interpellations on the part of Liberal members of congress in the parliamentary halls, keep before the public mind the fact of a growing element of Protestantism, which has secured an unquestionable status in the body politic. Unquestionably the general feeling in Spain on the part of the Catholics is that, while the influence of the Catholic Church is still prominent, the influence of the Queen Victoria navy

EMPLOYEES OWN STOCK

Mackay Companies Sell to Their Men on Installment Plan.

Boston, Feb. 15.—At the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Mackay companies, held here yesterday, the present vice president, Clarence H. Mackay, W. Cook, George D. Ward, DuMont Clark and Edward C. Platt, were re-elected, and two new trustees, Philip Fiske of New York and R. A. Smith of Toronto, Can., were added to the board.

The annual report showed the companies to be in a very prosperous condition, having no debts and with an increasing surplus. The Mackay companies own the Commercial Cable company, the Postal Telegraph Cable company, and the Pacific Commercial Cable company. The balance sheet shows assets of $22,077,947. Attention is called to the fact that on Jan. 1, 1907, all free passes were abolished on the telegraph system, and that during the past year there has been inaugurated and put into successful operation a plan which has given an opportunity to purchase preferred shares in the Mackay companies and make payment therefor by installments.

A large number of the employees have availed themselves of this opportunity and the plan has been so successful that arrangements have been made to continue it in order that the relations between the employees and the companies may be the most cordial, cooperative, and mutual benefit and support.

CHECK BABE WITH HATS.

Winnipeg Couple Spring Innovation in Theater That Makes Hit.

New York, Feb. 15.—In the Manhattan opera house hereafter all babies will be cheerfully checked along with umbrellas and overcoats. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis of Winnipeg, Minn., were exceedingly popular last night when they left for home, but had no place in which to carry their baby, who is eighteen months old.

They solved the problem by asking whether the baby might be checked in the cloakroom. The astonished maid referred the question to the manager, who replied that by all means the baby should be cared for.

Resting on a pile of coats, the infant slept through the performance, and was still asleep when the mother left the opera house with the little one in her arms.

CUPID AT JUNIOR HOP.

Minnesota Ensnared at Annual Ball at University of Michigan.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 15.—The first romance to follow the annual "J hop" of the University of Michigan, held a week ago, revolved in the announcement of the engagement of David F. Stevenson of Rochester, Minn., to Miss Jane Ann Bernard. The couple met at the ball. Stevenson proposed and was accepted.

Miss Bernard left Monday for her home in New York city, where she will sail soon for Europe. She will not return until June next year, when Mr. Stevenson shall have graduated from the literary department. She is a tall, beautiful brunette of stately bearing and gracious manner. The fortunate suitor indignantly denies the tale that an Ypsilanti, to whom he appealed for help in selecting a partner to lead the hop, introduced him by mail to Miss Bernard.

STOCK WILL GO ON SALE

Duluthians Have Chance at Picacho Gold Mines Company Shares.

Local Brokers to Commence Sale of Stock Monday.

Stock in the Picacho Gold Mines company, owning valuable property in the Cananea district of Mexico, will be placed on sale at offices of the different brokers at the Head of the Lakes and on the ranges at 8 o'clock Monday morning. Ninety thousand shares will be placed on sale then and, as the advance demand has been great, there is no doubt but that the stock will be oversubscribed. However, not a share will be placed on sale before the time mentioned.

The company has in its treasury 137,500 shares of stock of the par value of $10, and on Monday will offer for sale 90,000 shares at $7.50 per share, full paid. The terms will be $4 cash and the balance of $3.50 subject to call on May 20. Full paid certificates will be issued immediately after the payment of the last $3.50 and temporary certificates in the meantime, for $6.50.

The Picacho Gold Mines company was organized under the laws of the territory of Arizona and the capital stock is $2,500,000 divided into 250,000 shares.

Robert H. Clancy of Cananea, Mex., is president of the company and the other officers are: Treasurer, Robert M. Chamberlain of Detroit, Mich.; secretary, Neil L. Clancy, also of Detroit. The directors are Robert H. Clancy, Russell D. Clancy and Robert M. Chamberlain of Detroit and Willis C. Ward and Charles H. Perkins of Orchard Lake, Mich.

The Ward and Perkins interests are extensive and are heavily invested in this venture. Others connected with the company are persons of great financial responsibility and they are confident they have a property that is worth while.

Don Pedro D. Robles of Cananea is local Mexican attorney for the company and R. M. Chamberlain is general attorney, with headquarters at the general offices of the company in Detroit. A. K. K. of Duluth, mining man with a wealth of experience and knowledge, has been retained as consulting engineer and assistant manager. W. Leonard Holmes of Mexico City is metallurgical engineer.

The Cananea mine, which has already been shown up to be a gold proposition of unlimited resources, is located forty-five miles southeast of Cananea, and is reached by an excellent wagon road. There are five claims, comprising 337 acres.

The development is already extensive, consisting of incline shafts, tunnels, crosscuts, drifts and winzes, and a large number of men are now working there, 100 feet in depth. There are twelve tunnels, containing over 13,000 tons, a total value of $105,000. The mine also contains a sight in the mine amounts to 120,000 tons. There is $2,000,000 worth of ore in sight, and a large number of extensions of the mine are being developed.

There is to be a reduction plant of 100 tons capacity, and the estimated cost of treatment will be 95 cents per ton, and the percentage of gold is estimated at 37 to 40 per cent. Six months will be required to install the reduction plant, and the production will commence immediately thereafter. The facilities for operation are good, and as the timber supply is abundant, and the water supply ample, the mine is well equipped. The estimated cost of the plant is $1,500,000 a month net.

Robert K. Clancy and Russell D. Clancy, who are well known in Duluth, have been in the city for more than a week on business in connection with the disposition of the stock.

GIVEN HIS FREEDOM

Mauser Quits County Jail Under Habeas Corpus Proceedings.

His Case Establishes an Interesting Precedent for Authorities.

It was with no sigh or regret or tears in his eyes that Fred Mauser severed his connection with the county jail yesterday afternoon. Because he had contended a technical point of law as regards the jurisdiction of the municipal court and won out in the district court on habeas corpus proceedings, Mauser bade jailer John Roberg good-bye with a merry laugh and walked away with a triumphant tread.

Mauser was committed to the county jail Feb. 12, from the municipal court, to serve a 60-day term for drunkenness. It was his third offense, and the statutory limit in such cases is ninety days. The court, with the punishment for the third offense in mind, gave Mauser the benefit of thirty days.

Two or three days' reflection in the county jail convinced Mauser that he did not desire to stay there until the ninety days had passed in the spring, so he employed counsel and set about finding a loophole in the law whereby he could regain his freedom.

The loophole, a technicality of law, was soon found, and habeas corpus proceedings were instituted. Mauser claiming that his detention at short jail was against his will was illegal, for the reason that the law whereby he could not have jurisdiction in the matter than a justice of peace court.

The case is of some interest to the authorities, for the reason that it will mean, hereafter, that those persons who have been appearing before the municipal court at regular intervals charged with drunkenness, and who have already been twice sentenced for the offense, will probably be bound over to a grand jury and their cases, in cases of indictment, will be disposed of in the district court.

If a person should be bound over just after one grand jury has been discharged for the term, he will, unless he is able to furnish bonds, be compelled to remain in prison from Saturday morning until the next grand jury, and then the chance of being indicted and sentenced for another 60-day term.

Mauser's case seems quite probable that the county can establish a very effective gag-line.

A BUNDLE OF THAW'S LETTERS

Will be Sent by Pittsburgh Bank to the Court.

Pittsburgh, Feb. 15.—J. Dennison Lyon, vice president of the United National bank, has a bundle of letters written by Harry K. Thaw to the bank, ready to forward to William M. Penny, criminal courts building, New York, which he promised to do at the bank's direction. It is said District Attorney Jerome hopes to be able to prove by these letters that Thaw was sane during the period that he wrote them. The letters, dating back three years, covering correspondence to the present time, were sent to Mr. Penny by mail or express and opened I presume at the direction of the court. They belong to Thaw and he would not let anyone or any one from his office see them if they should so request. I can say that many of the letters sent, but there are a large number.

BACK FROM THE SPIEL

Myron and Smith Bring Their Delegations Home From Winnipeg.

Eloquent in Praises of Entertainment Given by Canadians.

With every member of the two rink in the best of health and spirits and overflowing with praise of the royal entertainment extended to them by the Canadian curlers, the eight stanslagers from Duluth, Cameron Hewitt, Walter Harris, F. A. Currier, A. H. Smith, Walter Hall, Thomas Gibson, D. W. Stocking and J. C. Myron struck Duluth again this morning after an absence of nearly two weeks at the Winnipeg spiel.

Six hundred curlers from all parts of America sat down at the big banquet, and in celebration of the fact that the presidents of the Manitoba branch of the Royal Caledonians, the Ontario Curling association, and the Northwestern Curling association were present, a big banner bearing three hands extended toward each other in greeting and the words "We Shall Meet Again," was hung over the banquet table. President A. H. Smith of the Northwestern association brought the big banner home with him and it will be hung in a place of honor in the local club.

"I never saw anything which could equal the entertainment they gave us. Those fellows outdo themselves every year," said A. H. Smith today. "We from Duluth feel very well satisfied with our showing at the spiel, both Mr. Myron and myself staying in the rink until the eighth in several events."

The country rinks from Canada have the Winnipeg curlers beaten by a long way. Those fellows curl all the time, and they are the best men with the stones in the world. While the spiel was not the largest in point of numbers which has been held, it was in some ways the most successful since the history of Manitoba Caledonians.

Mr. Smith said that the railroad companies did not give the curlers any special conditions, and sent a special train to meet the American curlers on their way to Winnipeg when they were stalled on the road. Some of the rinks from Western Canada were ten days on the way to the spiel, and they were taking work on the part of the management of the bonspiel that their places were held for them.

Winnipeg, Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Finales in five of the competitions of the bonspiel have been played, and the others will be completed today.

One of the open events was wound up yesterday when F. H. Matheson of Russell, Minn., defeated Bon Dunbar of St. Paul in the finals. Dunbar succeeded in capturing one trophy, however, by defeating Bon Dunbar in the Royal Caledonian from McCramor of the Fort William Thistles. Winnipeg again won the championship of the curling bonspiel.

Beating Kitchener and Harrington of Souris in the finals. The Canadian curlers, who were defeated by Napinka, Hicks beating Rice of Toronto in a sensational finish of a 12-end game for the curling trophy.

The international trophy stays in the city. P. A. MacDonald defeating Williams of the Medical college in the final end of the curling bonspiel. The curling trophy was played this afternoon between Braden of the Thistles and Whalen of Fort William. The curling trophy was won by Braden of the Thistles.

PERISHABLE GOODS TAKEN

Railroads Now Accepting Shipments for Pacific Coast Country.

For the first time since winter set in earnest, railroads from Duluth to the Pacific coast are today accepting perishable freight for any point along the line, from Minnesota to Washington and Oregon.

Local offices this morning received orders to accept perishable goods for shipment, subject to any conditions that may come from the car shortage or similar conditions. Hereafter, since goods for such long shipments have not been taken for a long time, the railroads will accept such long shipments have not been taken for a long time.

A time such freight was not taken for points farther west than St. Paul and Minneapolis, but a few days ago local offices were notified that the perishable class would be handled to practically all points in the Dakotas.

THE FASCINATION OF DEATH

By Joseph Keating.

(Copyright, 1907, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

The thought darted upon him suddenly, shot from some unknown quarter into his consciousness; he could feel it piercing its way through into his brain.

"I want to throw myself over!"

The words came out with a gasp. A fear gripped his heart with a sudden grasp, and he looked away his breath.

"I want to throw myself over!"

His legs gave way; he fell upon his knees, then, clutching the railing, and he fell sprawling at full length, for he had lost his nerve.

At the top of a red brick chimney, 300 feet high in the air, he stood, looking down at the city below.

The thought of this steep, black, heaving sides showing the ash on its sides, the thought of this steep, black, heaving sides showing the ash on its sides.

Never before had this unfortunate Lewis looked down from such a height, and he felt a great relief.

heaps at the top actually set fire to the wood of the ladders and staging, but will burn the ropes that hold the boards together," he thought with horror.

He saw the lightning conductor at the other side of the chimney. A delicious cry of joy came from him. He could not reach it from where he lay. The staging did not go completely round the chimney. The ladders came up the edge of the platform. Still he pulled, utterly unable to resist, the demonic impulse within him. A few inches more would decide the balance, and over into the dark void he must go. Then a violent blow struck him back. He became conscious of a form upon the ladder—a human form, but which, to him, in his present condition, seemed supernatural. Following this, he became aware of a loud, drunken voice, using the most astounding language he had ever heard. This went on until at last he recognized a familiar element, and found that the supernatural, blasphemous being who, thus to subvert him, was actually a fellow man, a fellow man in language and person.

RECOVERY from pneumonia is usually a matter of proper nourishment. The weakened, wasted body needs a strengthening food more than anything else in the world.

Scott's Emulsion gets right into the blood of the convalescent and builds up the wasted tissues by nourishing them with cod liver oil, the most strengthening of known foods.

The shattered nerves are braced with hypophosphites. The whole body gains weight and vigor with the very first dose, and continues to gain until complete health is restored.

HAS NOTHING TO CONCEAL

I did what was right, and I think it will meet the approval of honest men. A good many people seem to think it is impossible that a man should turn over such wealth, but I did it.

This was Mr. Hill's concluding statement, after Clarence B. Miller of Duluth had concluded his long and searching cross-examination, extending over two afternoons. The committee is now through with Mr. Hill, but will call other witnesses.

The lid had been put on between the first hearing and the second, and information did not come so freely. Mr. Hill was represented by W. R. Begg, the general counsel of his road, and frequent objections were interposed when the questions seemed to reach into matters outside the ore lands deal. It appeared that while the Lake Superior company was formed to handle the ore lands, the road found it convenient to make it the holding company of numerous other interests, and that Mr. Begg objected to questions. The committee was lenient, and refrained from going into such matters.

The record books of the Lake Superior company, it appeared yesterday, are in Marquette, at the home office of the company. Asked if they would produce them, Mr. Begg said he thought they ought not to be compelled to bring them from Marquette, where they are required to be kept.

However, Mr. Miller, in behalf of the committee, made a formal request that Mr. Hill, as the head of the company, produce them as speedily as possible.

Asked if the company made reports of its earnings to the Great Northern, Mr. Hill said he could not say. When the committee's record books were produced, they showed that such reports had been made, and that the company earned $200,000 in the first two years of its existence. Out of this Mr. Hill thought a dividend of $125,000 had been paid direct to Great Northern stockholders, but the records only disclosed

Charcoal Stops Gas On Your Stomach.

Wonderful Absorbing Power of Charcoal When Taken in the Form of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges.

Trial Package Sent Free.

Charcoal, pure, simple charcoal, absorbs 19 times its own volume of gas. Where does the gas go? It is absorbed by the charcoal—the gas disappears and there is left a pure, fresh, sweet atmosphere, free from all impurities and germs.

That's what happens in your stomach when you take one or two of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges, the most powerful purifiers science has yet discovered.

You bloat gas in company, sometimes, by accident, greatly to your own humiliation. That is because there is a great amount of gas being formed in your stomach by fermenting food. Your stomach is not digesting your food properly. Gas is inevitable. When you take Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges right after eating, and you will be surprised how quickly they will act. No more belching, no more sour risings. Eat all you want and what you want, and then, if there is any gas going to be formed, one of these wonderful little absorbers, a Stuart's Charcoal Lozenge, will take care of it.

And it will do more than that. Every particle of impurity in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away by the charcoal. So one knows to know why it does this, but it does, and does it wonderfully. You notice the difference in your appetite, general good feeling, and in the purity of your blood, right away.

You'll have no more bad taste in your mouth or bad breath, either from drinking, eating or smoking. Other people will notice your bad breath, and you'll notice it yourself. Make your breath pure, fresh and sweet, so when you talk to others you won't disgust them. Just one or two Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges will make your breath sweet, and you feel better all over for it. You can eat all the onions and odorous foods you want, and no one can tell the difference.

Besides, charcoal is the best laxative known. You can take a whole box full and no harm will result. It is a wonderfully easy regulator of the bowels. And then, too, it filters your blood—every particle of poison or impurity in your blood is destroyed, and you begin to notice the difference in your face first thing—your clear complexion. Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are made from purely willow charcoal, and just a little honey is put in to make them palatable, but not too sweet.

They will regulate your bowels, purify your stomach, and make you feel fine and fresh. Your blood and breath will be purified.

We want to prove all this to you, so just send for a free sample today. Then after you get it and use it, you will like them so well that you will go to your druggist and get a 25 cent box of these Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges.

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package free. Address P. A. Stuart Co., 34 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

was $250,000 for stock in a Montana coal company, and asked if that was the value that had been charged for. Mr. Hill said it was. Mr. Miller then showed, from the Great Northern records, that about $200,000 in dividends were received from this property in the next two years.

"Do you mean to say," demanded Mr. Miller, "that property so valuable was turned over at $250,000?" "Why shouldn't it be?" asked Mr. Hill. "The dividends went to the Great Northern stockholders, and the mine was about exhausted."

Representative Miller has made the hit of the session so far by his masterly examination of Mr. Hill. Even the witness himself congratulated the brilliant young attorney for the manner in which he had conducted the inquiry, and his success is the talk of the legislature.

At the first hearing there was present an elderly, distinguished gentleman who persisted in "butting in," greatly to Mr. Miller's discomfort. He made frequent suggestions, both to Mr. Miller and to Mr. Hill, and several times Mr. Miller told him that he had no objection to his information in his own way. When he persisted, Mr. Miller turned upon him and said:

"I will merely trying to shorten matters, and to let you out," said the elderly gentleman.

"Well, when I want help, I shall choose my own lawyer," responded Mr. Miller tartly.

Though few knew it at the time, the man was Vice President Clough of the Great Northern.

The joint committee to investigate the taxation of iron mines may not go to Duluth and the ranges after all.

A meeting was to have been held yesterday afternoon, but as several members were tied up in other important matters, the meeting was postponed until next week.

Members of the committee said yesterday afternoon, however, that the question of expense has come up, and the committee may decide not to make the trip.

Witnesses will be subpoenaed from the iron company to give testimony relative to the amount of ore mined and shipped, and the cost of mining it, with such other information as the committee may deem desirable, and next week an accountant will be set at work tabulating such figures relative to the iron industry as are available here.

One feature of the Peterson anti-pass bill, which the senate passed yesterday, is that it prohibits the committee from reporting to the legislature, but it does not prohibit the committee from reporting to the public.

The senate yesterday afternoon passed the Sullivan bill, providing for a legislative reference department under the state library commission. Senator Works of Mankato, a Democratic member, had a bill in for providing for the appointment of a senatorial committee on the part of the governor, attorney general and chief justice, and both bills are now before the senate.

Senator Works made a fight for his bill, and the senate passed it by a vote of 18 to 12. The bill provides for the appointment of a senatorial committee on the part of the governor, attorney general and chief justice, and both bills are now before the senate.

The senate is the industrious body this week. It sat today, while the house adjourned yesterday to Monday afternoon.

The house committee on commerce and retail trade voted to recommend for passage the bill prohibiting the sale of 18-carat gold rings that cost 30 cents, and similar frauds. It also approved the Brown bill, prohibiting pawnbrokers from buying merchandise from minors.

The house committee on mines and minerals, of which R. H. Jefferson of Bingham Lake is chairman, took up yesterday afternoon. The eminent iron expert from Cottonwood county, who is chairman of the committee, did not like the salary, which is $2,500, because he said it was too small and not come under it, and that was too much for the work there. It was referred to a sub-committee to be re-drafted.

Some members of the committee seemed to think that the place ought to be under the state instead of under the county, either by popular election, as proposed in the Saari bill, or by appointment by the board of county commissioners. These members thought the state should appoint and regulate the inspector, either under the state labor bureau or directly under the governor. This proposal will be considered by the sub-committee.

While the proposition of a state printing plant, included in a bill offered in the senate yesterday by Senator Pauly of Minneapolis, may not go through, it will have a strong support. The state has in the past, whatever it is doing now, paid pretty heavy bills for printing, and in no instance are they heavier than in that done for the legislature. Friends of the measure think the state could save its own printing cheaper.

The bill appropriates $10,000 for the remodeling of the basement of the capitol and $50,000 for the equipment of the plant. Another bill provides for a superintendent to be paid $2,500 a year and other employees as shall be necessary, and appropriates $106,500 for the

THIS COPPER LINE Should Earn Millions In Richest District in the World

SHARES NOW 25c. GOING HIGHER.

Tom Lawson is not the only copper magnate who predicts that great fortunes will be made in the next few years in this metal. Every newspaper in this country which pays any attention to the mining industry predicts that 1907 will witness a copper boom such as the world has never before known.

In a recent issue of the Boston Commercial, Walker, the famous copper expert, in his daily letter, says:

"There is no surplus of copper in this country, and no effort is being made by any interest to maintain prices artificially around 25c per pound. It is improbable that any one could be found who is sufficiently short-sighted to undertake so foolhardy a task. If copper is ever cornered again it will be when the selling price is very much lower than it is at the present time."

"Electrical construction and equipment is increasing steadily in all quarters of the globe. Steam railroads are being converted to electrical traction. Water powers are being harnessed, and local manufacturing plants are converting their power into electricity, for more convenient distribution to the various departments. There is hardly a steam railroad in the country that is not giving more or less attention to the question of electrical equipment."

"One of the leading copper men in the United States is quoted as predicting that copper will go to 25c per pound. It is known that others expect to see the metal sell above 30c. The consensus of opinion, however, is that the average price throughout the present year will be at least 25c, and that several years may elapse before the price goes back for any length of time, to a 15c level. CONSUMPTION OF COPPER SINCE 1870 HAS BEEN AS FOLLOWS: 1870, 10,000,000 LBS.; 1880, 15,000,000 LBS.; 1890, 20,000,000 LBS.; 1900, 25,000,000 LBS.; 1901, 26,000,000 LBS.; 1902, 27,000,000 LBS.; 1903, 28,000,000 LBS.; 1904, 29,000,000 LBS.; 1905, 30,000,000 LBS.; 1906, 31,000,000 LBS.; 1907, 32,000,000 LBS. THIS CONDITION OF THINGS IS LIKELY TO CONTINUE FOR TEN YEARS TO COME."

A COMPARISON OF PERCENTAGES. Many mines in British Columbia and in other sections of this country are paying millions in dividends to their stockholders on low grade copper. The famous Granby, a near neighbor of ours in British Columbia, is paying 24 per cent yearly on a capitalization of $1,000,000. The Granby ore body averages less than 2 per cent copper. We have just had some assays made by the well known firm of Crowell & Peck, of Cleveland, and we reproduce one of these assays here to show the enormous copper values of some of these claims of ours. If the Granby can pay 24 per cent on a capitalization of $1,000,000, or more than 2 per cent, what can our company, the British-American Copper Mines and Smelter Co., pay on a capitalization of $5,000,000 with 2 per cent copper?

By referring to the illustration showing a block of ore worth $10,000,000.00, you will see how we propose to go about the work of running tunnels on these veins. Even in this branch of the work ahead of us there are no serious difficulties to be encountered. The tunnels are short and the upraise about 60 feet. When this work is completed we shall have blocked out ore sufficient to return to the company, in round numbers, $10,000,000.00. We have purposely cut down the percentage of copper in this block to 4 per cent, although much of it will run as high as 15 per cent, and the general average should be in the neighborhood of 8 per cent. Our estimate of $10,000,000.00 is very conservative. THE READY-MADE TUNNELS HAVE BEEN LET FOR THE RUNNING OF THESE TUNNELS, AND WORK ON THEM HAS BEGUN.

IMPROVEMENTS CONTEMPLATED. It is the company's intention to build a smelter just across the river from our properties on an ideal site for a smelter and other buildings owned by the company, and to connect our shafts with this smelter by aerial railways, as well as by wagon roads. In this way we can ship the ore from the mines directly into the smelter, roast it there and reduce it to matte, and ship by rail or boat to market. We shall harness the various water powers that are available on every hand, and furnish light and power for all of our needs.

county seat, would not have jurisdiction over him. He has no love for Hayward, as he feels that all the inhabitants are against him. It is proposed to divide the county in the middle, from east to west, forming the county of Redwood, and this would bring the county seat in the new county within about ten miles of the Dietz homestead.

Sawyer county is famous in the annals of Wisconsin for the intensity of its local politics, and Dietz was one of the leaders in most of the fights. Until three years ago it consisted of but one town, and the entire government of the county was vested in the town board at Hayward, a chairman and two supervisors. Being one of the largest counties in area in the state, the situation was peculiar. Out of it grew one of the most bitter political fights in the history of the state, and innumerable lawsuits have resulted that are not yet settled, and are not likely to be settled for some years to come.

Lead and Zinc Now Proven to Be the Most Profitable of All Mining. Millions of Dollars in Dividends Paid to Stockholders Annually. You Can Share in the Profits of 300 Lead and Zinc Mines. Dividends Guaranteed.

SPLENDID RECORD

Lead and Zinc Mines of the Southwest Lead the World.

Have you ever considered the advantages of investing in a commercial product for which there is a constantly increasing demand—one whose price is steadily advancing year by year?

The great Lead and Zinc industry of the Southwest offers you just such an investment. The Southwest Field is the richest Lead and Zinc mining region in the United States, its annual output of Zinc being 80 per cent of the product of the entire country.

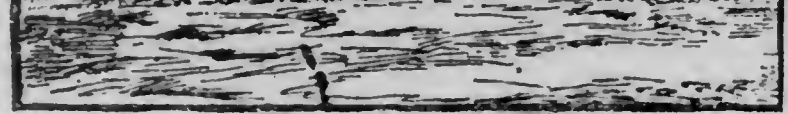

Carthage, Carterville, Webb City, Joplin, Galena and Baxter Springs—these are some of the mining camps that are making fortunes for thousands of investors by their splendid output of Lead and Zinc.

A Lead and Zinc production valued at $74,783,024 from the Southwest Field within the short space of seven years! An average output of nearly ten millions of dollars annually, and that amount added to the world's wealth by this one industry!

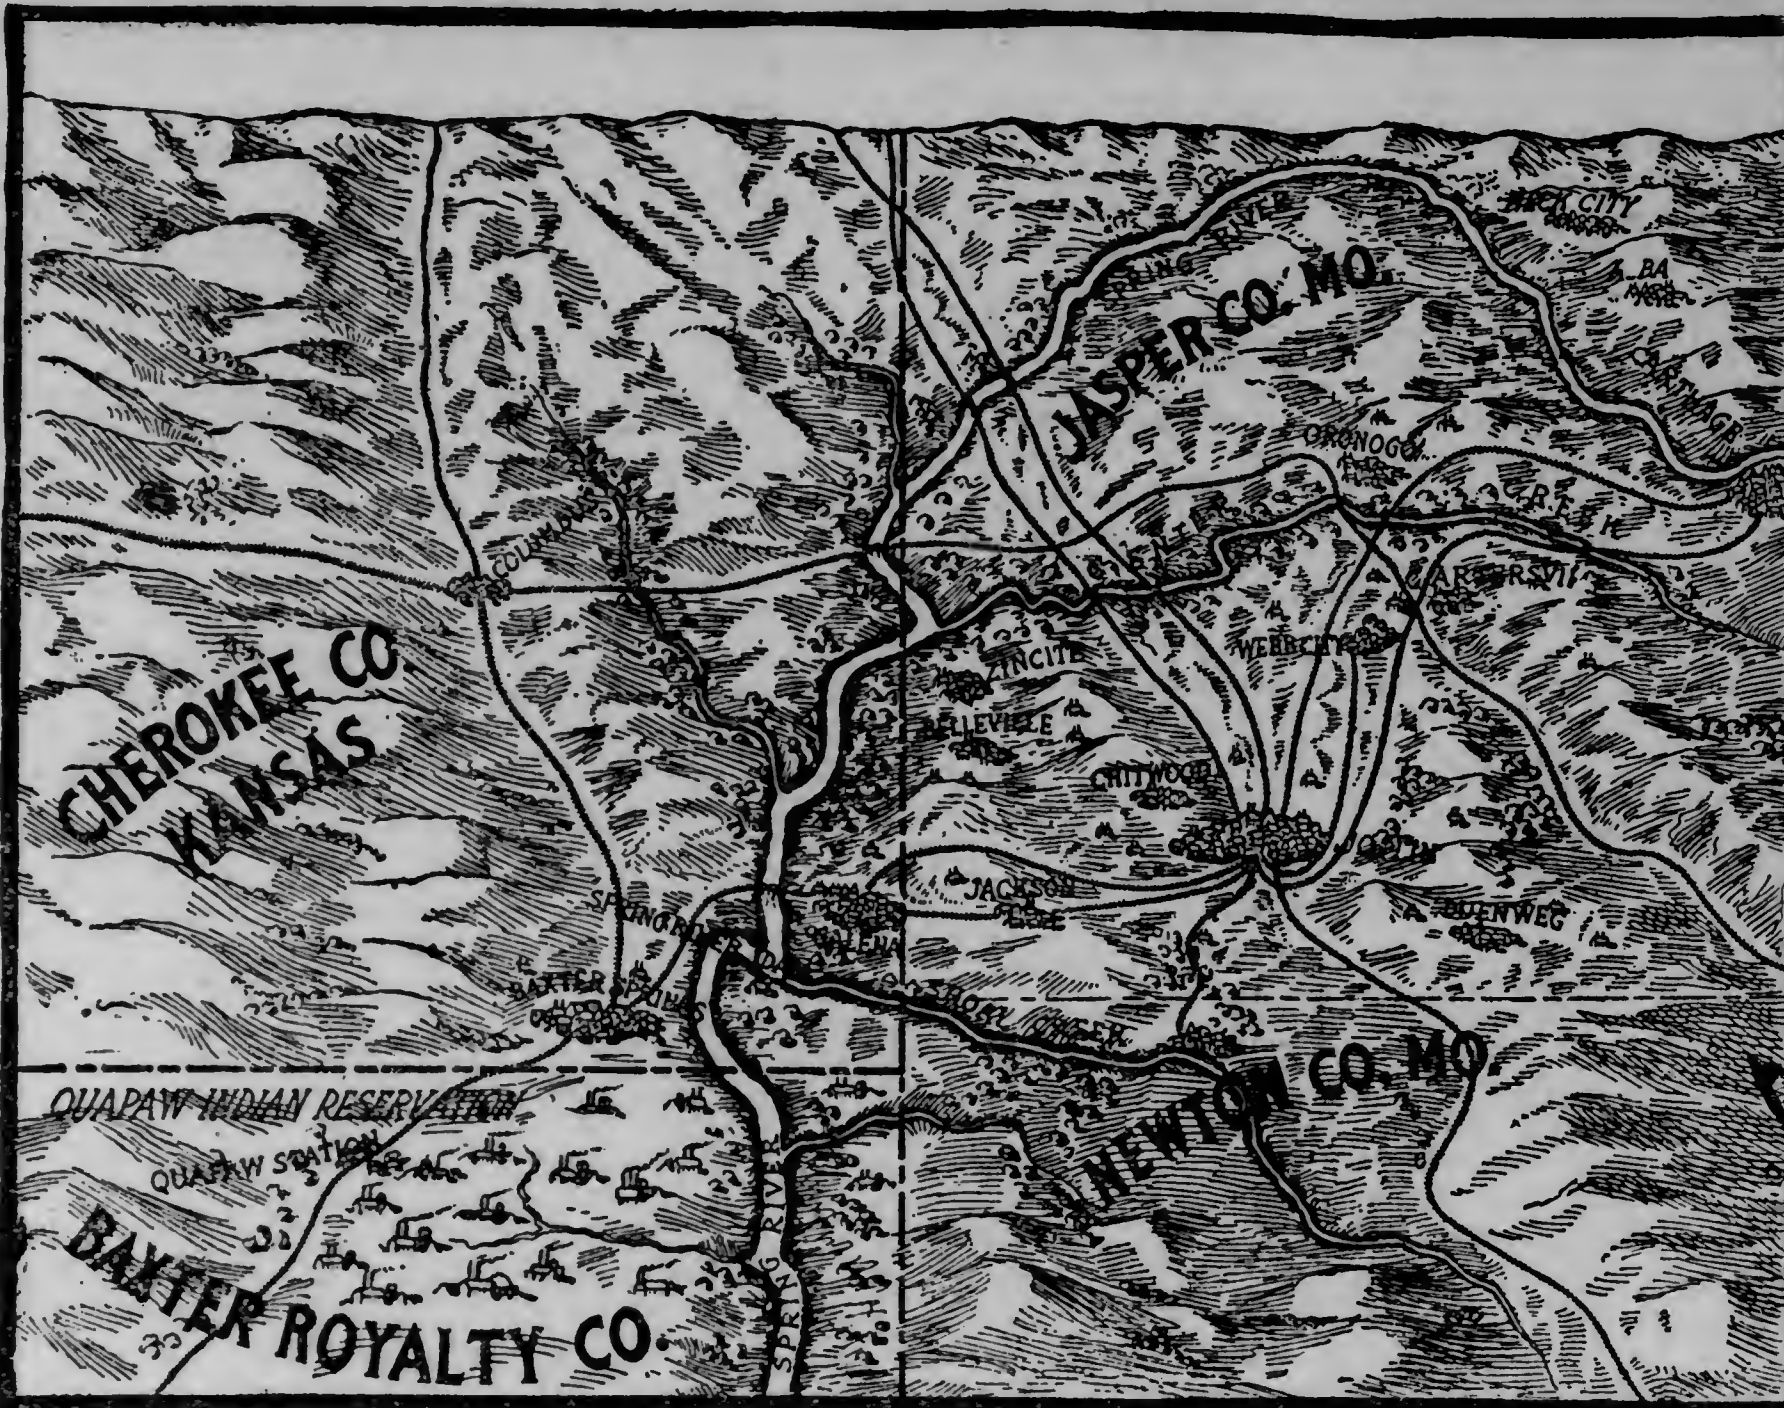

Over fifteen million dollars' worth of Lead and Zinc ore mines sold in the Southwest Field during the year 1906 alone!

Read these figures once more and ask yourself why you are not receiving your share in the magnificent profits of the Lead and Zinc mining industries.

The Baxter Royalty Company offers you the opportunity, by its small payment plan, to secure an interest in 300 Lead and Zinc mines located in the very richest section of the Southwest Field, and dividends are guaranteed each stockholder within the present year.

THE SOUTHWEST LEAD AND ZINC FIELD.
The Territory Shown Above Has Over 700 Paying Lead and Zinc Mines and Produces 80 Per Cent of All Zinc Mined in the United States.

Vast Ore Bodies Underlying Our 3720 Acres.

We have 3,720 acres of valuable Lead and Zinc lands located just south of Baxter Springs, Kansas, in the richest part of the Southwest Field. This section is known as the Joplin district, and has recently startled the commercial world by the amazing productiveness of its formation of rich Lead-Zinc ore. Drillings have been made in various parts of our property and have absolutely demonstrated an immense blanket in the operating expenses of the mines. These vast ore bodies vary from 14 to 74 feet in thickness, and are a comparatively recent discovery. The first mill in the district began operation in 1904. We now have five concentrating mills in successful operation on our property and yielding large profits to our treasury. Three new concentrating plants are now in course of construction and will be ready to begin operation in a short time. These eight mills will easily handle 2,400 tons of ore daily, which at the present prices of ore will mean a yearly profit to us of $173,520. These eight mills are operating on only a small portion of our lands, and have ore enough to keep them busy for generations to come.

We have room on our unleased lands for over 300 operating companies, as an acreage of 10 acres is the usual requirement of one operating company, and we have 3,000 acres of rich Lead-Zinc lands still unleased. The daily capacity of an operating mill is rarely less than 100 tons, and is usually much greater. Each 100-ton millage means a daily profit to us of $24.10, and 300 such mills would mean a net profit of $4,338,000 annually, counting but 300 working days in the year. This estimate is conservative at every point. As the prices of Lead and Zinc are rapidly advancing, these enormous revenues will continue to roll into our treasury in constantly increasing volume year after year.

The ore is there, and the demands of the commercial world will compel it to be mined. We hold the lands, and not a ton of ore can be sold on our property without yielding us our share in the profits. Do you want to share these profits with us?

ENORMOUS PROFITS

Tremendous Earning Power of Lead and Zinc Mines.

The demand for Lead and Zinc is increasing rapidly in almost every branch of industrial activity. These two metals have become indispensable in many manufacturing and commercial processes. They enter largely into the making of paint, oil cloths, rubber goods, plumbers' materials and printers' type.

Zinc is required for electrical installations wherever copper is used, and is indispensable in telegraphy, telephoning and electrical transportation. These uses alone call for enormous quantities of the metal.

The United States Navy has recently investigated the advantages of Zinc as a coating for war vessels to prevent the formation of barnacles. Consider for a moment the immense quantities that will be required in the near future by the combined navies of the world when this new process is generally adopted by all the great powers.

The world's great tin mines are being rapidly exhausted, and Zinc alone of all metals will be able to partially take the place of tin. For building and decorative purposes Zinc finds new uses every year. These and other uses are causing unprecedented demand for Lead and Zinc; and the price is climbing steadily upward.

Since 1902 the average price of Lead has increased from $46.10 to $78.50 per ton; and of Zinc from $30.33 to $44.88 per ton. The present prices are much higher than any of these averages.

Yet Lead and Zinc mining is one of the least expensive kinds of mining. Whereas it requires vast sums to open up a gold or copper mine, a few thousand dollars are sufficient capital to start a Lead and Zinc mine.

You probably have acquaintances who have invested in gold or copper mines and lost money. But can you think of a single instance in Lead and Zinc mining in the Southwest? A case of failure among properly managed mines in the Southwest Lead and Zinc field is practically unheard of. The mine operators there are making money and making it easily.

I want to send you a long list of Lead and Zinc companies operating in the Southwest Field that are paying their stockholders dividends of from 24 per cent up as high as 120 per cent annually.

How are such profits possible? That question is easily answered:—

1. The ore is near the surface.
2. The ore buyers are at the bins paying cash for every ton of ore produced.
3. The climate is favorable for work the year round, the latitude being the same as that of Southern Kentucky.
4. Lead and Zinc are not controlled by a trust, and the mine owners get the full benefit of every advance in the price of ore.

Read these facts once more; and I challenge anyone to show me any other investment which combines all these elements of safety and enormous profit.

100-TON JOANNA MILL.

Why Stock is Only 8 Cents a Share---Par Value $1.00.

The plans of the Baxter Royalty Company have been laid out on a large scale. Unlike the ordinary stock company our profits will not be dependent upon the success or failure of any individual mine. The Baxter Royalty Company's earnings may be gauged to a mathematical certainty by the application of the law of averages—the principle adopted by every successful insurance company. As every mining company cannot be a success, it naturally follows that only a limited amount of treasury stock is majority of the Lead and Zinc mines are wonderfully successful, so that by the law of averages it follows that our interest in several hundred of these mines, all located in the very richest section of the Southwest Field, is bound to yield us exceedingly large returns. We have 3,000 acres of rich ore lands still lying idle. In fact, we find ourselves in precisely the same position as the farmer who has a larger acreage than he can cultivate with the capital in hand. He knows that with additional capital and assistance he could make the land yield abundant crops and enormous profits. He knows that every season that the land lies idle means a loss of those crops and those profits—for time is money. In the same way we intend by the investment of additional capital to bring our enormous acreage of mineral lands to a highly profitable stage of development at the earliest possible moment. For this reason a limited amount of treasury stock is now offered to the public at 8 cents per share. In this way the funds will be available for immediate use, and our lands will not lie idle. But for this consideration our stock would not be offered for sale at any price, but we know that by immediate development our profits will be vastly larger in the end than if we should limit our revenues to the income from the few companies now in operation. When this stock goes to par it means a profit of twelve dollars on every dollar invested now.

$110,000 FOR ZINC LEASE.
Most Ever Paid for Forty Acres in Joplin District.

CARTHAGE, MO., Aug. 14.—(Special.) J. C. Stewart, president of the Center-Creek Mining Company, has received a check for $110,000 from S. T. Ramage, of Oil City, Pa., for a Morgan-forty-acre lease owned by that company and located north of Carterville. This is the largest cash deal ever made in the district for a forty-acre lease of zinc lands on which there is but one mill.

The real value of the land consists in the fact that some forty drill holes covering the tract show a sheet ore face of ten to fourteen feet, all above the 16-foot level.

The Center-Creek Company has also given a sixty-day option on the fee of the property at a price about the same as the lease.

The Pennsylvania company is planning to erect several large mills.

GUARANTEED DIVIDENDS WITHIN THE PRESENT YEAR.

The question has been asked, how the Baxter Royalty Company can guarantee its stockholders dividends within the present year. The answer is easy, when it is remembered that five mills are already in operation and three new mills will soon be ready for work, thus insuring large revenues to our treasury almost from the start. We expect to have at least fifty mills in operation by the end of the coming year. From these revenues dividends will be declared. It is very evident that we are perfectly justified in guaranteeing to begin paying dividends the present year. All officers of the company handling money are under bond. As dividends will be declared upon the par value of the stock, even so small a dividend as 8 per cent would be a return to each stockholder of his entire investment besides making his holdings worth ten dollars for every dollar invested.

SPECIAL PLAN OF SMALL PAYMENTS

In order that no one may be deterred by lack of ready money from joining with us in this enterprise, subscriptions will be accepted for allotments of 125 shares, and upwards, payable 10 per cent with order and 10 per cent monthly for nine months.

Your whole reservation will receive the benefit of every advance in price, even while you are paying for it. Upon completion of your payments, certificate will be issued for stock purchased. If unable to finish payments, you will receive upon request certificate for the amount paid for. Stock now 8 cents per share, par value $1.00.

A few dollars will start you. Read the following table, then act promptly:

$1 a month buys 125 shares, par value $125.	$15 a month buys 1,875 shares, par value $1,875.
$2 a month buys 250 shares, par value $250.	$25 a month buys 3,125 shares, par value $3,125.
$5 a month buys 625 shares, par value $625.	$50 a month buys 6,250 shares, par value $6,250.

MAKE YOUR MONEY WORK FOR YOU

You often hear it said that in these days of trusts and high prices the poor man has no chance to get ahead. This is true as long as the poor man is content to receive 3 or 4 per cent from the wealthy bankers, who take his money and put it to work earning 30, 50 or 100 per cent or more. You can put your money to work the same as the bankers and capitalists do, and Sage and Rockefeller never had a better opportunity than I am offering you today.

MY GUARANTEE TO INVESTORS

Knowing as I do the magnificent money-making opportunity now within the grasp of the Baxter Royalty Company's stockholders, I make you this guarantee:

Send in your order and first remittance at once, subject to withdrawal within 30 days if further investigation fails to convince you as to each and every claim that I have made.

Moreover, if you or a pool of your friends contemplate buying as much as $1,000 worth of stock, send your representative to our property to make a thorough investigation, and the company will pay the entire expense of the trip.

This is a strictly high-class investment appealing to bankers, merchants, professional men, farmers, mechanics and the investing public in general. In all my experience with investment securities I have never seen an investment that I regarded as so absolutely good.

I know that this stock is going up, and that present prices will soon be at least doubled. I therefore personally guarantee to sell all holdings offered me if for any reason at the end of one year you should become dissatisfied with this investment.

I reserve the right to return any subscription not sent in at once, as from present appearance it seems likely that the stock will be very largely over-subscribed in the near future.

HOMES IN MINNESOTA.

In less than a month, the first of the regular annual homeseekers' excursions to the West and Southwest will be initiated and tens of thousands of farmers from the Eastern and Central states will be on their way to look over and, in most cases, to buy what are known as cheap lands in those sections.

At the same time, there will be little increase in the usual passenger traffic of the railroads running into or connecting with lines traversing Northern Minnesota and those roads will do nothing in the way of special rates to induce even a portion of the homeseeker host to make an investigation of the lands of this section that are far less costly than those of West and Southwest, unless the movement being talked of in Duluth shall result in something tangible.

And yet Northern Minnesota lands are as rich as any in all America, are capable of producing practically all of the crops that Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, Utah, Eastern Washington and Colorado produce, do not require expensive irrigation, are never parched by droughts, will make the finest dairy farms in America or the world, and are much less expensive in every way than even the cheapest lands of the states named, while the climate is really not one whit more arduous than that of any of those regions.

The reason for this neglect of Northern Minnesota, as is the Herald has pointed out before, the short-sighted policy of the indifference of the railroads entering that field to broadcast advertising matter setting forth these facts, the lack of means of the people of that section to go into the advertising business for themselves and the past policy of the state itself in not providing adequate facilities for setting forth all over the Eastern and Central states the prominent advantages of Northern Minnesota. It is to be hoped, however, that something will come of the Duluth movement.

The timber on the unoccupied lands of Northern Minnesota is today worth far more than the cost of the tracts and it is growing in value at a remarkable rate. The swamp lands, when drained, as were the great Kanawha marshes of Illinois and Indiana, will produce unequalled crops. The snows of winter protect the fall sown wheat and give ample moisture in the spring. The trouble and cost of clearing a tract are not so great today as they were when the pioneers settled the heavily timbered states of the Middle West and South and the removed trees down to the very roots give income and fuel.

The immigration movement to Northern Minnesota may be little, if any, larger this year than in the past. It is, however, bound to come with a rush some day and, when it does, those fortunate enough to secure farming tracts will be considered the luckiest agriculturists, in all America.

GUARDING PUBLIC LANDS.

President Roosevelt's latest message to congress, reiterating the request made in his annual message for legislation to safeguard the coal and grazing lands still in the possession of the nation, will undoubtedly meet the fate of all of his previous suggestions for statutory enactments by this congress that is fast drawing to its close. It will, however, have the great good effect of again calling the attention of the people to the necessity for early and decisive action.

Secretary Hitchcock, whose official life will close at the same time as that of this congress, first called attention to the bold and unscrupulous absorption of western coal lands by great corporations, and, in his annual reports for some years, he has asked congress to adopt some definite corrective and protective measures. Even, however, after the disclosures of the coal land frauds in Utah, Wyoming and Colorado in which Land Commissioner Richards and at least two United States senators were smirched, congress took no steps looking to reform.

Now the president emphasizes and brings home to the people, with all the weight of the highest executive authority, Mr. Hitchcock's unheeded warning and plea. Mr. Roosevelt demands the conservation of coal and other fuel resources on all lands still held by the government, with leases only of mineral rights, as public utilities and with safeguards against reckless waste. He suggests further the reservation of some of the choicest of these fuel lands to meet possible future emergencies due to the shutting off of the general fuel supplies as the result of lock-outs or strikes. He also advocates the leasing system as the best means of checking monopolies and of permitting the government to meet unreasonable charges by private companies.

Permanent control by the government of the grazing lands of the West is urged by the president as the best means of protecting the small stockman and homesteader from the encroachments of the big cattle companies. The grazing lands of the West have been sources of scandal surpassed only by the timber lands and the president's suggestion of leases of limited quantities of these lands at little above the cost of administration and improvement ought to be of great benefit.

The present expiring congress cannot be expected to take any action because of indifference and lack of time. The president, however, will certainly repeat his suggestions at the opening of the Sixtieth congress and meantime he hopes that his messages and the legal actions under way and to be brought will so arouse the people that that congress will not dare to refuse prompt and specific remedial action.

THE BOOK OF BOOKS.

Over four hundred and one million Bibles have been printed and put into the hands of the people of the world since the records were first kept less than 200 years ago, and today its sales are increasing in all parts of the Christian world at the rate of from five to ten per cent a year. In 1906, the aggregate was fully 12,000,000 copies. This does not include the millions printed for free distribution among the poor and in heathen lands.

This is a thunderous answer to the few agnostics, disciples of "higher criticism" and open and avowed infidels that Christianity has passed its zenith and that a "new religion of reason" will take its place. The figures show, on the contrary, that the Book of Books has not only kept its place but is yearly attracting a vast number of new readers and students. The Bibles have always been so well made that they resist daily usage for years and it is not to be doubted that a great majority of the new sales are to those who have never had the sacred book before.

The general diffusion of education in the last hundred years is undoubtedly responsible for a large share of the demand for the Bible, but those conversant with the real sources of and reason for that demand declare that, never in the history of the world, has so great a proportion of the people been studying the Scriptures as of late years. How much of this study is attributable to the Christian Scientists, who make the Bible their daily comforter and source of strength, it is, of course, impossible to determine positively. That it is large and pronounced is, however, beyond all question.

The whole or part of the Bible has been translated into 467 tongues and of these 443 translations now are in active circulation. Asia leads with 167 different languages, while Africa is second with 121. Over 100,000 copies in foreign languages were issued in the United States last year, Italian leading with 32,000. To the American and British Bible societies are due the glorious credit for the wide diffusion of the sacred book. The American society has expended since its organization in 1816, no less than $31,417,241. It publishes the entire scriptures in English for 13 cents and the new Testament alone for 5 cents.

Surely these facts, that are based on absolutely accurate returns, show that not only is Christianity not retrograding but that it is striding forward to the peaceful conquest of the world at a grander pace than at any time in history. More and more millions are prepared each year to agree with the eminent American who, when asked what book he would take if he were confined to the choice of just one for life, answered unhesitatingly: "The Bible, because it is the Book of Books."

RICHES BURDENS TO THEM.

In these days when all the world is credited with money madness and the rich are declared to be digging and delving, scheming and plotting, going even over the line of criminality, to add to their colossal but useless hoards, it is refreshing, even if it is sadly pathetic in one of the instances, to find a man voluntarily taking himself out of life because he had too much money and a woman when granted a divorce, refusing to accept even one cent of alimony.

The man—an Iowan—whose wealth was so much of a burden to him, was not even comfortably well off, according to the standard of the cities. His entire fortune amounted to only $15,000—not even one one-hundredth part of the yearly income of hundreds of people in New York, or Chicago or Boston or Philadelphia, not nearly so much as Rockefeller or Carnegie receive in one single day, and hardly annual pin money for thousands of American women.

And yet to the Iowan, J. W. Davenport of Libertyville, where life is of pastoral simplicity, it was so much beyond his every need that it crazed him and finally drove him to the despair of suicide. The multi-millionaires of this nation would despise and condemn such a fortune, but to him it meant an oppressive burden. The world, while pitying him, will hope, nevertheless, that the money will prove a blessing to the mysterious "Sadie and the boy" to whom it was bequeathed.

Somewhat similar, but in many respects even more pathetic, was the suicide some months ago of a young New Yorker because he, too, was burdened and oppressed by too much wealth. His yearly income alone was, however, ten times the whole fortune of the Iowan. He had inherited this great estate and, as his tastes were simple and his ways quiet, he could not spend the annual accretion. He dared not work, for work would have increased his already too large income. Finally he ended all with a pistol bullet—literally a victim, as was the Iowan, of too much money.

The woman, Mrs. Hallie Schenker of Waupun, Wis., who furnishes such a shining contrast to her numerous grass-widow sisters who would take the last dollar from their divorced husbands, scorned the offered alimony—said to have been in the hundreds of thousands of dollars—because she was determined to prove to the world and especially her sneering detractors that she did not "marry for money." To her, freedom was held worth more than all wealth.

Hereafter, when any one begins to charge that the whole world is money mad, quote these three instances to the exact contrary and contend that, while there are few whom money would drive from the world, there are thousands who would have no more use for fortunes than these three.

WHY SHE IS SWEETEST.

The secret of why the American girl is always called the sweetest and best bit of femininity in all the world and is nearly always as carefully protected and shielded from the elements as if she might melt away in the first big storm, is out at last. And, in view of the facts, official and therefore irrefutable, it is little wonder that she is so sweet and in such need of sheltering masculine care.

The national bureau of statistics, that prosaic old repository and gathering-up place of dry and dreary facts, made the discovery all unconsciously and never had sense enough to claim any of the credit. It figured it out that the average amount of sugar consumed—that is eaten and imbibed in various ways—by each one of the 85,000,000 people in this country was 76 pounds and, reasoning falsely, it is true, but plausibly, it held that this meant that the average American absorbed half his own weight in sugar in a year.

How false was that reasoning and how much the actual facts redound to the sweetness of the American girl, a little figuring will show. In the first place, the several million babies in America do not consume anywhere near 76 pounds of sugar each per year. In the second place, the average American man does not take in half his weight in saccharine matter. In the third place, 76 pounds is considerably over half the weight of the perfect American girl. Now, taking the unused surpluses of the infants and of the men and adding these to the average allowed to the girls, and it will be found that the latter annex to themselves considerably more than their weights in sugar each year.

And these facts are not so remarkable when one considers the millions on millions of pounds of chocolates and bonbons that go each week to make up a goodly part of our girls. Is it any wonder therefore that American femininity is the sweetest in the world?

RARE FILIAL HEROISM.

A hero of the rarest type whose achievement certainly equals the greatest deed of bravery ever chronicled from a battlefield; a son whose filial love is worthy to be recorded in undying verse; a father whose Spartan resolution was strengthened and intense sorrow softened by that wondrous love in the midst of his own deep distress.

Such a man is F. W. Stevens, an humble homesteader of South Dakota, whose intensely pathetic suffering, courageous fortitude and splendid devotion to his aged father and mother are detailed all too inadequately in a telegram from Norfolk, Neb., of scarcely twenty lines, but whose heroic deeds merit the descriptive powers of the greatest of all writers.

With his two nearly grown sons lost in a blizzard and his wife and 10-year-old daughter victims of the terrible storms of the middle of last month, Hero Stevens, too poor to pay his railroad fare to his old home at Seward, Neb., where dwell his venerable father and mother, started to walk through heavy snowdrifts to Seward. He was helped when he was unable to go further, and he was helped still further at Norfolk, Neb.

All during his fearful trip, the bereaved man bore in secret the details of the loss of his entire family that he might be the first to break the heartrending news to his aged parents and soothe their grief as best he might in the midst of his own overwhelming sorrow over the taking from him of all who were dear to him.

If the records of filial self-sacrifice and heroic fortitude in deepest stress contain the equal to the deed of F. W. Stevens, patient search fails to reveal it. He may not find a mortal chronicler to portray his grand action, but who can doubt but that in the world beyond his name fills a place of high honor?

PAINTED WAR CLOUDS.

The Japanese war clouds have proved, after all, only painted clouds on a paper sky, just as all thinking spectators thought they would. Now, having served their present purpose, they are retired to the stockroom in the national theater. If, however, congress shall not prove speedily compliant, they may be dragged forth again and made a set scene for the entire summer.

The Californians, especially the San Franciscans, made the first set of these war clouds to permit them, with melodramatic intensity, to exclude Japanese children from the public schools because, forsooth, two or three of these "children" were bad, grown youths. They mouthed of the gross evils of this and stirred up the nation. All of their "sides," however, indicated that the Japanese children were being used only as a club to compel the general government to shut the doors in the faces of Japanese coolies.

When Mayor Schmitz and his fellow actors took their war cloud scene to Washington, they threw off their masks of pretended indignation over Japanese youths wanting to go to primary schools. Then they stood before the full parliamentary ranting of the menace to white labor from Japanese coolies. Their stage shouts were effective and the little yellow laborers are to find the doors closed and barred. Fortunately, this meets the nikado's wishes, for he would turn all of his subject laborers to Korea and Manchuria. Thus ends the usefulness of one set of war clouds.

Meantime, the president, having an eye to a greater navy, had a second set of war clouds painted, depicting the imminent danger of immediate conflict with Japan. It made no difference to him that the Japs refused to come on the scene with guns and swords and fierce shouts. He wanted two big battleships, as huge and costly as Great Britain's Dreadnaught. The war clouds were painted blacker and blacker. Now, the house has sweetly granted about $25,000,000 for two vast floating forts. And the painted war clouds have been sent to the stockroom for the present at least.

Such melodramas have never before been seen on the national stage. But they have been clever, that must be confessed. And they have effected their purposes. So let's applaud and ring down the curtain on the war scenes.

THE PASSING SHOW.

President Roosevelt's back-down on his homestead order shows that he is not afraid to acknowledge a mistake and make prompt amends.

President Castro is busy showing the people of Venezuela that he is far from being the dead man recent reports made him. Judging from his present performances, a great many of his foes will pass away a considerable time before he does.

Ald now Pennsylvania has joined the 2-cent fare ranks with Arkansas, Missouri, Ohio, Connecticut and several other states. And still the legislatures of Minnesota and Wisconsin hesitate to heed the demands of their people.

General Kuropatkin's book on the Russo-Japanese war that the czar and the bureaucrats tried to suppress makes good reading but does not add even so much as one fact to the disgraceful history of that shameful conflict. Neither will it bring about a scintilla of reform.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

"Either the newspaper men of Canada are not so enterprising as those of the United States, or else the people most directly interested in the development of the Dominion have some means of curbing them," said G. L. Everett of Winnipeg, Man., at the McKay. "The fact remains that very little news has reached the outside world concerning the snow blockade in the Canadian Northwest, while the papers have been full of conditions in the Northwestern part of the United States, when Canada was really worse off than this country."

"Perhaps the system of correspondence hasn't reached the perfection in the Dominion that it has on this side of the boundary. I don't know that it isn't just as well, however, that sensational reports of this kind be kept out of the papers to a certain extent, unless it is proven absolutely that they contain nothing but facts. Exaggeration and sensational sort work great injury on the sections which they concern, and therefore great care should be taken to see that they are correct."

"Some pretty tall reports could have been sent out of Canada this winter without stretching the truth in the least. The settlers up there were in worse shape than the people through the Dakotas, and the facilities for keeping the railroad tracks clear are hardly as good as they are here. And then the storms in the Canadian Northwest were even more severe than those in the United States, so far as the amount of snow that fell was concerned. The farmers were helped in the amount of snow that fell, but they were suffering from the cold. I even heard of some of the animals dying, either from cold or starvation."

"On both sides of the boundary the stock has suffered severely. Just how severely we will not know until the reports from the more distant interior points are received. The largest ranches are located twenty to eighty miles or more from the railroad and there is practically no communication between them and the outside world in a winter like this. The snow has been so unusually deep that I imagine the cattle and sheep suffered severely. What reports have been received tell of hundreds of the animals dying, either from cold or starvation."

"Both Northern Wisconsin and Northern Minnesota are great regions for grass and stock raising," said C. O. Ekholm of Washington, D.C., at the McKay. "In Washington county the new farmers open their eyes with amazement at the conditions in the line of grass and land. They find the same is true of the country lying to the south, or, at least, at least on the sides where the snow has been so deep. It is probably true of the whole northern half of the United States, as well as the whole northern half of Wisconsin."

The first hint that Northern Wisconsin might some day be an agricultural country was given through grass seeds that were blown from the forests into the woods where the hay was being hauled to the logging camps. Cutting the roads through the forests, the logs in the sunlight, and where, timothy grass grows, the seeds of the forest were not slow in using the hint to grow. The luxuriance of these volunteer grasses was a great surprise to the lumbermen, and they were not slow in using the hint to grow. The luxuriance of these volunteer grasses was a great surprise to the lumbermen, and they were not slow in using the hint to grow.

"The timber growing in the clearings of the woods is abundant. As time went on it was found that lands that were once covered by forest, and which gave large yields of hay for an indefinite period of years. Today, all through the regions where logging long since ceased, may be found the crops of timothy, clover, alfalfa, and in the clearings around the camps. The settlers of the present time make good use of this hay, and every year clear more land for its growth."

"We claim to have the finest climate in the world in Colorado," said J. McCarthy of Denver at the Lenox. "The disagreeable month of March brings us much less a time of rain and snow and slush and bad winds than in the East. It passes without particular notice. We are liable to have snowfalls in March, and even in early April, but the snow disappears very rapidly under the heat of the sun. In a few hours the snow has evaporated. The snow is melting into slush or wet, and often twenty-four hours after a storm in which two or three inches of snow has fallen the dust is blowing on the sunny side of the road."

"There is something peculiar about this rapid disappearance of the snow, without leaving any trace of wetness behind. It is not so incomprehensible to one who has not seen it as it is astonishing to the beholder. June and July are the hottest months with us. Some of the days are pretty warm, but the air is dry, and consequently the heat is easily borne. The nights are always cool and comfortable. Blankets are necessary particularly every night during the summer. The autumn is the finest imaginable, and the winters are short and not at all disagreeable."

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

A Reasonable Creed.

Thomas Huxley and Herbert Spencer were once talking together about the mystery of human life, when one remarked: "Well, I suppose the only thing a man can do is to make his mark and then die." "No," rejoined the other, "a man can give the world a push before he dies." There is a great American by the name of Edward Everett Hale, who has put this idea of the object of life in a motto, which has gone all over the world:

Look out and not down,
Look forward and not backward.
And lend a hand.

No creed is worth the paper on which it is written unless it proceeds swiftly and logically from the earlier articles to an article which reads substantially as follows: "We believe in the life of love." "Show me thy faith by thy works" has been the insistent demand of every age upon the churches and upon professing religious people. It is a just demand. The finest fruitage of religion is the life of love. If that is absent in amount of doctrine counts for anything; if that is present, one can be indulgent toward what one may look upon as vagaries and errors of belief.

Is this life of love an iridescent dream? Ought we to look for it in this hard, cold world? It is the only life which, pieced together, makes a picture of the life of love. In due time everywhere upon this planet. And in what particular places ought we to look for it? In those places where a man's interest and activities come to the surface. We believe in the life of love in the home, that parents and children, husbands and wives, brothers and sisters should not only say, on birthdays and Christmas, that they love one another, but that every day in the year they should seek the other's good and happiness. Each, in the measure of his or her powers, should be a burden bearer and a peace-maker. No amount of religious activity in the outside world, no brave show of faith at prayer meeting can atone for any neglect and failure to exhibit the courtesy and chivalric spirit, within the four walls of the dwelling we call by the sacred name of home.

We believe in the life of love in the place where we do our work. It governs us in our dealings with our comrades and neighbors, our equals, our superiors. It grips us, whether we are capitalists of industry or tenders of manhood. We must love the men and women associated with us in carrying on the work of the world. No matter how unlovely or how unkind they are, our constant attitude toward them must not be one of hate or suspicion or envy, but of love. We must do to them as we would have them do to us. We must seek their highest interests as much as our own.

We believe in the life of love in society. Circumstances place us daily in social relations frequently with the men and women of our club or set, sometimes with the beggars on the street, always with the dwellers in our neighborhood and among communities and love must be expending itself on some of them in forms of service that love can invent and carry on. Would that we could all repeat from the heart, Faber's beautiful wish:

Oh Lord that I could waste myself for others
With no thought of my own,
That I could pour myself into my neighbor,
And live for them alone.

Eager then to enter into the rapture of the life of love, sadly conscious of our shortcomings, yet sure that this is the way God intended His children to live upon the earth, we add to our reasonable creed this noble article:

"We believe in the life of love."

THE PARSON.

PLEASANTLY PUT.

Chicago Record-Herald: "And did you rattle everything from your sleeve? 'Oh, no. I think I got my destination to work from my grandfather on my mother's side.'"

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "What's the smart set?" "Don't you know?" "No. Tell me."

Chicago Tribune: Talkative Boarder—There's one thing certain, an impression once made on the memory is never absolutely lost. It is sure to recur to the mind some day.

Taciturn Boarder—That convinces me that the $2 bill I lent you five years ago didn't make any impression on your memory.

Chicago Record-Herald: Miss Redtop—You are better, are you not, Mr. Feather-top? You were not looking at all well the last time I saw you.

Mr. Feather-top—Why, when did you see me last?

Miss Redtop—At the Swellham reception. You were waiting. I think, with Miss Plunk and some other people.

Washington Star: "Why were you so anxious to send that man to congress?" "We thought it 'ad be a good thing for the country," answered Farmer Corn-pot, "to have him where he could make speeches where folks are paid to listen instead of interrupting people at their work around here."

Chicago News: "Permit me to ask you a question, and the lawyer who is a friend of the family, your real reason for wanting a divorce from your husband?" "My dear madam," rejoined the lawyer, "the applicant of this principle would break up every home in the country."

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: Some bachelors are too stingy to pay storage on their souls. Love in a cottage is all right, only its kind of hard on the cottage. A man feels awfully foolish crossing the street light after he has dodged a cat coming that wasn't there. Every woman says what she doesn't think about men, and every man thinks what he doesn't say about women. Most men would be glad to give out and give the baby away to somebody if they thought their wives wouldn't be mad about it.

WARM WAVE COASTS

Weather Man Says Mild Weather Will Last Several Days.

Friday Was Warmest Day Since Early Last November.

The mild, balmy, springlike weather which Duluthians have enjoyed for the last few days is liable to continue through tomorrow at least and probably several days according to the present prospects. Forecaster Richardson of the local weather bureau says there is nothing in sight at present which will cause a cold wave and he expects the warm spell to continue.

Yesterday was the warmest day since Nov. 5, the temperature getting up 1 deg. higher than it did last Saturday when the thermometer registered 43 deg. above. It is remarkable February weather and the conditions resemble those of a day during the latter part of March. Many Duluth people went about on the streets yesterday without their outer wraps and were still very comfortable.

The temperature today will probably not reach the record mark of yesterday, but it is still unusually warm. Yesterday morning the thermometers registered 30 above while this morning the quicksilver was at the 36 mark at 7 o'clock. At noon it was only 32 by the government instrument, but in the sun the snow was melting very rapidly. It was still rising at noon, but it is not liable to reach the 44 mark of yesterday.

The area of high pressure is still stationary over the Rocky mountains and it is not liable to move in either direction. Over Saskatchewan an area of low pressure has developed which will have a tendency to keep the Duluth weather as it is at present.

The weather today is still warm all over the country and for the first time in several months not one of the government weather stations reported a temperature below zero. At Winnipeg it was 8 above this morning and other towns in the Northwest were about the same as Duluth.

GRAND LODGE TO MEET SOON

Workmen to Hold Thirty-First Meeting Next Week.

The thirty-first session of the grand lodge of Minnesota, A. O. U. W., will convene next Tuesday evening at St. Paul, Feb. 19, and several Duluth delegates will be in attendance. There are several matters of importance which will be presented and the meeting is expected to be an interesting one. The grand lodge will be held at the Hotel Duluth, which will be fully represented.

Advanced tabular reports of the grand officers show that there were 2,532 members of the order in Minnesota at the close of the last year. There are 122 lodges in the different lodges located in St. Louis, St. Paul, Duluth and Duluth lodges. There are 250 deaths in the state membership during last year and $10,000 was paid to the beneficiaries of the deceased members. The average longevity was 74 years and the average age at death was 74 years.

Since the order was organized in Minnesota in 1876 there has been paid to the beneficiaries of the deceased members in the state about $1,000,000. The records of the order show that none of the money collected from the members has ever been misappropriated.

SOVEREIGNTY INSISTED UPON

State Forfeited No Rights in Jap Question, Says Schmitz.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The California committee which came here to confer with the president on the Japanese question, has not conceded any of its rights. State sovereignty was absolutely insisted upon, declared Mayor Schmitz, of San Francisco, today. Yet he said, a complete agreement had been reached on all points of difference, the only thing remaining of the exclusion amendment in the immigration bill. This, it is expected, will be done by the senate today. As matters stand now, he said, all parties will be satisfied.

Mayor Schmitz, however, said that there were some features of the case which had not been touched upon by the press, but these could not be disclosed until it was established that the exclusion amendment had passed. He declared that the discussion with the president took the form of an exchange of views at a middle ground, and this he said had been done. "State rights were strongly adhered to," he said, "but in this connection he reiterated his declaration made yesterday, that he never had been considered any proposition looking to the establishment of separate Japanese schools. There was no intention, he said, to abolish the Oriental schools, which Oriental, Asiatic and Mongolian, had been in the habit of attending for the past twenty years.

Fifty thousand shares of the treasury stock of the Copper Queen Mining & Smelting stock will be sold to the stockholders, in order to permit the company to make some improvements it has in contemplation. The directors decided upon this move and the official announcement comes from the office of the general manager, George H. Crosby.

The stock will be sold to shareholders of record Feb. 25 and will be distributed at $1 a share, payable March 1. This will entitle the present stockholders to one share of treasury stock for every two shares they now hold.

The supposed clue to Walker's movements which came in a message to President Corbin on Thursday evening, is believed to be the information that a man answering to a general description of Walker is a passenger on a steamer bound for Mexico. The directors are confident that the missing Walker will be found in a few days. Within a few weeks Walker has disposed of $500,000 worth of securities of the bank.

Owing to the great moderation of temperature, the mountain districts, which have had this winter had a record-breaking snowfall, there are now wash-outs and derails which threaten to tie up transcontinental service for some time to come.

MARK AND MONARCHY.

Celebrated Humorist Says We Are Bound to Have King Some Day.

North American Review: Mark Twain
In his autobiography discusses Secretary Root's now famous speech on the centralization of the government. He says, as regards the coming American monarchy: "Human nature being what it is,
I suppose we must expect to drift into monarchy by and by. It is a saddening thought, but we cannot change our nature; we are what we are, and we are in our blood and bone, and irreducible, we carry the seeds of which monarchies and aristocracies are grown; worship of gods, titles, distinctions, power. We have to wonder how things will turn out. We are all born so, and we cannot help it. We have to be despised by somebody whom we regard as above us, or we are not happy; we have to have somebody to worship and envy, or we cannot be content. In America we manifest this in all the ancient and customary ways. In public we scoff at titles and hereditary privilege, but privately we hanker after them, and when we get a chance to buy them for cash and a daughter. Sometimes we get a good man and worth the price, but we are ready to take him anyway, whether he be ripe or rotten, whether he be clean and decent, or merely a basket of noble and sacred and long descended old. And when we get him the whole nation publicly chaffs and scoffs—and privately envies; and also is proud of the honor which has been conferred upon us. We run over our list of titled purchases every now and then, in the newspapers, and discuss them and careen them, and are thankful and happy."

"Like all other nations, we worship money and the possessors of it—they being our aristocracy, and we have to have one. We like to read about rich people in the papers; the papers know it, and they do their best to keep this appetite liberally fed. They even leave out a football bulletin now and then to get room for all the particulars of low—according to the display headline—of a millionaire. Merely a school-boy's fall from a tree? No, no, no, no woman is not rich, but no rich woman can fall down cellar and we not yearn to know all about it and wish it was us."

"A monarchy the people willingly and joyfully accept, and take pride in their nobilities, and are not humiliated by the reflection that this humble and hearty homage gets no return, but contentment. Contentment does not shame them; they are used to it, and they recognize that it is their proper due.
We are all made by chance. In Europe we easily and quickly learn to take that attitude toward the sovereigns and the aristocracy. Moreover, it has been observed that when we get the attitude we go on and exaggerate it, presently becoming more servile than the natives, and, value of it.

The next step is to rail and scoff at republics and democracies. All of which it is natural, and we have not yet gradually take away the powers of the states and concentrate them in the central government, and that the people will then repeat history of all time and become a monarchy; but I believe that if we obstruct these encroachments and steadily resist them, monarchy can be postponed for a good while yet."

SOME CLEVER CONUNDRUMS.
Elmira Advertiser: At a conundrum luncheon given in a nearby town the other day the name cards were question marks out from watercolor boxes and at each corner was a little booklet containing a list of riddles. On the booklet's cover was
branch of a tree which resembled a question mark in its form. The conundrums were a large interrogation mark of small flowers, and here are specimens of the questions over which the guests exercised their brains and had a jolly time: When is it easy to read in the woods?
When autumn turns the leaves.
Why are the Western prairies flat?
Because the sun sets on them every night. Which is the largest room in the world? Room for improvement.
When is a cup like a cat? When you teasp it. Why is it dangerous to walk abroad in the springtime? Because the grass is putting forth blades, every flower has a pestil, the trees are shooting and the bullrushes are out. Why is a washerwoman the greatest traveler on record? Because she crosses the line and goes from pole to pole. If you throw a stone that is white into the Red sea what will it become?
Wet. What is the difference between a duck that has one wing and one of a pinto? Why is a difference flogged like your eye? Because he's Swedish send her cattle abroad?
Because she keeps her Stockholm.
What is the difference between a clock and a partnership? When a clock is wound up it goes; when a firm is wound up it stops. What belongs to yourself and is used by your friends more than yourself?
Your name. What is the center of gravity? The letter V.

MINING IN OLD SPAIN

Robert Dowling, Copper Expert, is Visiting in Duluth.

Tells of Mine Which Has Been Worked 3,000
Years.

While the copper mines in Arizona, and Colorado and Alaska have been creating such excitement in Duluth and other cities in this country, not many people realize that there is a mine in Spain which has been turning out copper for more than 3,000 years.
Robert Dowling of London, Eng., has arrived in Duluth to visit his cousin, Henry Nesbitt, and his aunt, Mrs. Louise Nesbitt, after having been superintendent of this mine for seventeen years. He is a mineral expert, but says that he has no copper shares to dispose of. He was compelled to leave the Spanish mining country for the benefit of his health, as the sulphur fumes were affecting his eyes.
He expects to locate in America, but just at present is taking a vacation and resting in Duluth.

"The Rio Tinto mine, which employs about 22,000 miners, has been worked by the Phoenicians, the Romans, the Moors and the Spaniards. Copper was taken from it long before the birth of Christ, and it is still working full blast with mineral enough in sight to last for centuries longer. At present the mine is turning out about 2,000,000 tons of copper ore a year, which averages about 2 1/2 per cent copper. Some veins average as high as 50 per cent, but the general average is about 2 1/2 per cent.

"The miners find many strange things in the old workings. Sometimes they unearth old Roman coins, baskets and lamps, and ropes of Es-partaco grass. The latter crumbles to pieces when touched.
"They also find old graves, with the tombstones containing the names of the miners beside them, and a small sum of money pay Charon his fare across the river Styx."

"The methods of mining there are not greatly different from those in this country, except in regard to the 'stoping.' Very little timber is used there, and the old drifts are filled in with rubbish after the ore is extracted.
"Much of the ore is smelted right at the mine and shipped by railroad to the coast. It is marketed in all parts of the world, some even being shipped to this country.
"There are miles and miles of old galeries in the mine, which were opened centuries ago, and every once in a while we run across old water wheels which the Romans used to pump the water out.

"The lode is about two and a half miles long and 150 meters wide at its widest point. They have drilled down 800 yards and have not yet reached the bottom.
"The ore contains a great deal of sulphur, and I found that it was affecting my eyes and general health, so I had to leave, although I had been with the company as superintendent for seventeen years."

A Mystery Solved.
"Ah, mamma dear, I now can tell.
Why your gems and perfumes taste so well.
They are always light; and baked just right.
When raised with White Loaf Baking Powder.
"But there is one great mystery I should know.
How you make your biscuits, white as snow?
They never will your slumbers spoil
When eaten hot or cooled a while.
"If this one secret you will reveal,
Your pastry cooking to me, would apply.
"Why, laughter, dear, it is no trick.
To make those biscuits white and quick.
"You take some flour and water so,
You mix it to a good stiff dough
Then you put it through the baking
And this good powder does the rest."

"What baking powder," she exclaimed anxiously.
"Why, White Loaf Baking Powder always."

TELEPHONE CO. IS PROSPEROUS Duluth Company Forced to Expend Large Sums on Improvements.

Superintendent French of the Duluth and Mesaba Telephone companies has just completed his annual report, and states that his companies had a net gain of 25 per cent in subscribers added during 1906. This is a remarkable showing, and certainly indicates that the people at the Head of the Lakes are not pessimistic about the
Mr. French says: "The increasing demand for our service, both at exchanges and over the long distance lines, compelled us to increase our facilities in every part of our territory. During the past year we spent over one hundred thousand dollars on improvements, and this year will spend a much larger sum.
The business of a public service corporation like ours is unlike any other; for example, wages, the price of every kind of material used, rents, in fact the cost of everything has advanced, and while merchants and manufacturers do raise their prices, you can imagine how the public would take an advance in the cost of telephone service.
We aim to furnish first-class service, and even though it costs us as much as to install each telephone, as it did a few years ago, we intend to supply the demand and supply it with the best at the same low rates.

During February and March we will be very busy installing what is called 'private branch exchange systems. We have orders for several, ranging from four up to eighty telephones. The telephone is a time-saver, and people appreciate it more and more each year. These buildings, stores and offices will have telephones in every department and on almost every desk, and calls can be sent and received from the city, over the long distance lines, and the departments will be able to talk with each other.
We are also installing these systems in homes; the mistress, in her boudoir can talk to the maid in the kitchen, can call her carriage, order her household supplies, and, best of all, with a telephone in her bedroom, has a sleepless protector in case of burglary, fire or sudden illness."

JAPANESE ARE NOT SATISFIED With Solution of School Problem at San Francisco.

Tokio, Feb. 15.—Public opinion is decidedly opposed to a solution of the San Francisco school problem on the basis of the restriction of the admission of Japanese laborers into the United States.
No official statement has yet been made on this subject, and the correspondent of the Associated Press was unable today, owing to the fact that it is a holiday, to interview the officials most concerned. It is generally admitted, however, that a solution on the basis mentioned will arouse strong opposition throughout the Japanese empire. The relations between the federal government and Washington and the governments of the various states of the Union are not well understood here, and a restriction of the admission of laborers would be looked upon as an unwarranted concession in the face of the treatment of which the Japanese in San Francisco complain.
The United few who are well posted on the actual state of affairs, are not excited and even they do not see why the San Francisco school difficulty could not be solved apart from the labor question. An appeal couched in strong words has been sent from the Japanese in San Francisco, asking for national support in solving the San Francisco controversy by restricting the admission of laborers into the United States. In view of the state of public feeling here it would not be surprising if the Japanese government did not agree to a settlement on the basis of the restriction of the immigration of Japanese to the United States.

EXPLAINING DEAD FLY.

Before sailing for Egypt for the winter, James Hazen Hyde said at a farewell dinner in New York:
"The only drawback to a tropical winter is the flies. In the hot sun of a January day in Egypt, Morocco or Algeria the flies are an incredible pest.
You see them in the corners of the eyes of native children, and men lie asleep in sunny places with flies crawling over their lips.
"The natives don't mind the flies. In fact, they like them. At a boor, or native inn, in the Sahara, a traveler said to the waiter, pointing indignantly at his stew of barley and root flesh:

"How comes this dead fly in my cous-cous?"
"Monsieur," replied the waiter, "I cannot tell you. Perhaps the fly had not eaten for many days, and, throwing itself ravenously on the cous-cous, it died with too great heartiness, thereby contracting an inflammation of the stomach severe enough to cause death.
The poor little thing can never have been strong. When I brought the cous-cous, it was dancing and humming merrily on the surface. Perhaps—this idea has just presented itself to me—it endeavored to swallow too large a piece of meat. The morsel stuck in its windpipe. A terrific coughing fit, in-audible to our gross ears, ensued. Alas!
soon all was over."
"The waiter wiped his eyes and said in a broken voice:
"I can account in no other way for the poor creature's death."

SOME FAMOUS WOMEN DOCTORS.
M. A. P. Undoubtedly the doyenne of lady doctors of today is Miss Elizabeth Blackwell, M.D., who received the first medical degree ever conferred upon a woman in the United States. This clever lady was born in Bristol, but when she was quite a girl her family emigrated to America.
Mrs. Garrett Anderson, at the time where for a time she followed the profession of a teacher. Having become qualified as a doctor, Miss Blackwell went to reside in Paris and later on established a practice in New York, where she founded a hospital and a medical school for women. Since 1858 she has lived in England, and has been an active participator in many sociological and medical reforms. She is the author of numerous works on hygiene and kin-dered subjects, and is devoted to traveling about the study of books.

The story of how Miss Blackwell determined to become a doctor is an extremely interesting one. A great friend of hers, who was suffering from an incurable disease, first put the idea into her head; but for a long time she was strongly opposed to it, as she was far too nervous to go for anything so exacting as the science of medicine. One day, however, some one jokingly brought her Blackwell a cockchafer as a subject for dissection, and after a severe struggle with the faculty, she consented to operate. From that time forward her mind was made up, and although she met with considerable obstacles, she overcame them all, and lived to see herself acclaimed by press and public as a learned light in the profession she had chosen.

Perhaps the lady doctor who is best known to the younger generation is Mrs. Garrett Anderson, at the age of 24, when she was Miss Elizabeth Garrett, she began to study medicine at the Middlesex hospital, and obtained her M.D. degree in Paris in 1870. The same year she was elected a member of the London school board, and shortly afterward married Mr. Anderson of the Orient Line of steamships. She has attended a large number of distinguished patients, and is a clever speaker and a brilliant writer. Mrs. Anderson once made a strange admission to the effect that whenever she appeared to people for funds for any charitable purpose she always favored ladies who were recently widowed, as she found them the readiest listeners and the most willing to subscribe. A man having written her to ask whether or not she was within her province, as he would like her to call upon him to prescribe for his case, Dr. Anderson replied as follows: "Dear Sir—Gout is strictly within my province, but men are not. Yours, etc."

Although she is a fully qualified physician, it is as a writer of fiction that Miss Arabella Kenney prefers to shine. When quite a girl she was greatly interested in the healing art, and it says much for her strength of mind that she was only 16 when she decided to become a doctor. She never wavered in her purpose, and finally reached her longed-for goal. Her most popular book, "Dr. Janet of Harley Street," contains a good many of her own experiences, and the story was so successful that she turned her attention almost solely to literature. Dr. Kenney is a daughter of the late Edward Vaughan Kenney, who figured in the celebrated Richborne case as a defender of Arthur Orton, the bogus claimant to the Richborne estates.

Among distinguished medical women, Dr. Mary Scharlieb, M.D., holds a prominent place. She is a native of Lancashire, and married a barrister, who was elevated to the Indian bench. It was while living in India that Mrs. Scharlieb first met the late Dr. Scharlieb, who was a successful surgeon, and she was one of the first women to receive a medical training in that country. She is an expert surgeon, having obtained her M.S. degree in 1896. Dr. Scharlieb has a large practice, and some years ago performed a serious operation on Miss Marie Correll, the famous novelist.

AVOIDING BAD COLDS.

A Chapter of Interest to Inexperienced Mothers and to Others.

Washington Star: Many mothers are wondering why their babies are having colds at this season, and more than one careful parent declares that she is certain the infant hasn't been exposed to the cold weather, but has been kept carefully indoors. That this is indeed so explains the frequent delicacy and colic of young children, and the sooner you mothers realize this the better for them and you. Let your baby go out in all kinds of weather. If the youngster is all healthy, keep it so with fresh air and sun when the latter shines. Naturally any baby with a tendency to the throat or lung weakness must be kept from damp air, and it would seem superfluous to say that every child should be well wrapped when taken out of doors. But it is quite necessary to assert this positively, for some mother's idea of a baby out when you take a baby out no matter how cold the weather may be, the statement means cold won't hurt the baby. The baby's lungs are very sensitive of the whole thing, it is to have the baby's lungs get plenty of cold and fresh air, but take precious good care that the baby does not get face coloring. For a very young baby it is enough that its nose alone is uncovered; one who is older does not need face coloring, but a thick cap, loose fitting, will be enough for the head.

The fact that during the winter, city children are kept so closely housed, as a rule, explains their pallor and delicacy. It isn't tonic half as much as fresh air that they need. Suppose it is cloudy and cold. That is not likely to hurt them half as much as too much steam heat. The sure thing for them is to turn them out. You don't find children living out of town pale now. To the contrary, they are healthy and frequently even when it rains. Children should live out of doors; they ought to be brought up to do so. Without sun and fresh air, they drop and die, for "life is a sun child," and its beginning cannot thrive deprived of its native element. In childhood, something is laid down for life. Pale, delicate, hot house children, when brought up in the heated atmosphere of the house, become weak, have no stamina for the future.

"But I haven't time to keep my baby outdoors all day," sighs a young mother who does her own work. True; but there are more ways than one of accomplishing the end. If you have a sunny day, take the baby out. If you have a rainy day, take the baby out. If you have a sunny day, take the baby out. If you have a rainy day, take the baby out.

Even if the fire escape scene isn't practical, because of the weather, the shade, there is still another way. Put one room that is sunny. Put on the child's out-of-door things, open the window, close the door, and let that there shall be no draught and let the fresh air stream in. If the child is old enough to walk, let him be put into a carriage, but may have some toys to play with and be turned loose in the yard. The child will need precise clothing as when walking out of doors, warm gloves and all, and it is understood that no heat will be turned on. Watch the child, but it does not get chilled, the same precaution that you would take if you had it out of doors, and if you can let it play every day and all day in the sun, or with the window open even when the sun is hidden, you will have a baby 50 per cent stronger than one who is kept indoors. The door must be kept closed so that there shall be no draught.

A robust, healthy child, secured by plenty of outdoor life, even in cold weather, simple, nourishing food, and regular exercise, meat, cake, pastry or sweets; clothing that permits of perfect freedom in the making of mud pies and other childish delights will be a child to be proud of.

A certain amount of sweets are needed by a child, but it is not necessary to say this. A mother who gives a child most without exception they give too many. A couple of pieces of barley sugar, a little honey, a little fruit, a little honey or some other simple thing after each meal is excellent. But the sweet list should be short.

HOG VALUES OF WOMEN.

Ottawa Citizen: After twenty-three years of service in the new Hebrides, Mr. Amand has returned to Canada for a vacation.

Comparing Canadian conditions with those in the Hebrides, Mr. Amand pointed out some of the things for which the people of Canada should be thankful. In the Hebrides the women are bought and sold like cattle. A 5-year-old girl is worth about 100 shillings, and price increases with age to a certain limit. There is no excuse for a man being a bachelor, provided he can raise the price of the girl. After fifty years of mission work, all the islands are nominally Christian. In the interior of some of the islands, however, idolatry is still a popular institution. Only a short time before he left several instances of cannibalism were reported from the interior.

USES OF SAWDUST.

Many are the uses of sawdust. In the days when the sawdust wagon made its lumbering rounds through the streets of most large cities, two commercial uses of sawdust were to sprinkle floors and to shelter lead pipes from cold and glass bottles from breakage, says the New York Sun.

Near every sawmill was a vat for the use of sawdust and it was carried away free by anyone who had any use for it. In this era of the use of by-products, sawdust has a commercial value. It is no longer given away, but is sold. One of the recent uses of sawdust is distillation, resulting in acetic acid, wood naphtha, wood alcohol and tar. Sawdust may also be burned in special furnaces or mixed with other material for fuel.

Sawdust, when saturated with chemicals, can be effectively used in the manufacture of explosives, but it is more particularly in demand in paper making than for any other purpose. Such a thing as sawdust in paper is a room as a substitute for a rug or carpet is now practically unknown. Sawdust has joined sand in this respect.

Cotton felt has been substituted for sawdust in the manufacture of paper. It is also used for briquettes. I. C. block of compressed sawdust and wood chips burned for fuel. Even in the protection of glassware against breakage, sawdust has been superseded by excelsior, sawdust being regarded as too valuable for such use.

WEST DULUTH

CHURCHES TO CELEBRATE

Several Contests and Banquet Arranged for Next Week.

Commercial Club Holds Biggest Meeting in Its History.

According to the plans which are being made by the members of the Western Curling club, Washington's birthday anniversary is to be made the date of a big celebration at the West Duluth rink, which will include a series of interesting contests between picked teams, and a banquet for the members and their wives.

The matter was talked over by a number of the officers and members at the rink last evening, but was not given out until this morning. It is the plan of those who are furthering the celebration scheme to have a contest between rinks chosen by the secretary and treasurer, the contest to be pulled off in much the same manner as that between the president and vice president of the curling club.

Some of the games will be played during the evening. The banquet will be given at 8 o'clock, and there will be a good program of speeches and toasts by the members. It is likely that the contest will be won this week by the Western club, which will be on exhibition.

The ladies of the club have become greatly interested in the celebration and have promised to do their part in preparing the banquet. An affair of this kind, something of the kind, has been given several weeks ago by the Western club, and was pronounced to be one of the best social affairs of the season.

J. A. Scott, secretary of the club, and Martin Meland, treasurer, will choose six rinks each to play against each other next Friday.

CLUB IS GROWING FAST.

Meeting of Commercial Club Was Largest Ever Held.

Forty-four new members were added to the roll of the West Duluth Commercial Club last evening at one of the largest meetings which has ever been held in the club rooms. Besides these, a large number of old members were re-elected.

The membership campaign has resulted in the increasing of the membership by 101 names, and the list includes some of the most prominent citizens of Duluth.

The members of the club decided last evening that when Washington's birthday comes, the club should have a large enough as they are now, and the club decided to send a resolution to that body stating that it was opposed to the proposed increase of the membership.

The resolution was adopted, and the club decided to employ an industrial agent for the city, and the club decided to give a definite report.

It was decided by the club members to appropriate $400 to be given to the Western Curling club, and to be played for as are other trophies given to the club.

The committee was appointed to investigate the express delivery situation and report at the meeting next week. This matter was considered at the last meeting, but no action was taken at that time. The banquet committee reported the appointment of sub-committee that was given the date for the affair would be decided upon at the meeting to be held next Tuesday.

Valentine Party.

Mrs. Ida Merritt gave a pleasant party last evening for a number of her friends at her home on Fort and Grand.

The room was decorated with valentines and hearts and valentines were given as souvenirs. The party was a success, and the guests enjoyed the evening.

The party was given by Mrs. Merritt, and the guests enjoyed the evening. The party was a success, and the guests enjoyed the evening.

Pleasant Social.

A pleasant valentine social was given last evening by the members of the Christian Endeavor society of the Westminster Presbyterian church at the church parlors and was attended by about 100 people.

A program of recitations and music was given which was much appreciated. Among those who took part were Miss Myrtle Perry and Miss Mabel Melin, who sang solos; Miss Helen Ross sang a ballad, accompanied by her brother Edward on the piano; Fred Sandow and William Wiles sang a duet and Miss Luella Buck recited. Refreshments were served.

Brooklyn Eagle: Many kindred of George Washington dwell on and about the Potomac river in Virginia.

Westmoreland county, Va. John Washington, a descendant of George Washington, died in 1877 and left a large tract of land on the Potomac river.

He bought the land from Col. Pope, a great landholder of that period whose daughter, Anne Pope, John Washington married, John Washington and Anne Pope were the great-grandparents of George Washington. John Washington, through his marriage with Anne Pope, obtained lands outside of those bought by him at the time of his settlement in Virginia.

The farm bought by the Washingtons in 1877 is now owned by John E. Washington, who is a grandchild of William Augustine Washington, a nephew of George Washington. She and her husband, advanced in years, live on the old Washington farm. A score or more of the Washingtons live within rifle shot of the birthplace and childhood home of George Washington, but the place is all simple folk and have the good will and respect of their neighbors. Most of them follow farming, but some are in business. The family have the distinctive Washington features.

The Potomac river landing nearest the spot where George Washington was born is Mr. S. Hart, on Maddox creek. Location

Our property is in the center—the very heart—of the world-famed Butte district.

North Butte Extension adjoins and extends north of the famous North Butte, one of the greatest mines yet developed. North Butte was organized less than two years ago. Capitalized for $9,000,000 on a basis of $15 per share, it is now selling for $115 per share, which represents $69,000,000, or an increase of $60,000,000 in less than two years.

Our property also adjoins on the south the Boston & Montana, on the west Butte & Superior, and on the east Butte & London. The Boston & Montana alone has paid out more than $15,000,000 in dividends.

The Butte mines are producing over $6,000,000 a month. Their output is more than one-third the entire copper production of the world. They have already added over $700,000,000 to the nation's wealth.

Carries Famous Veins

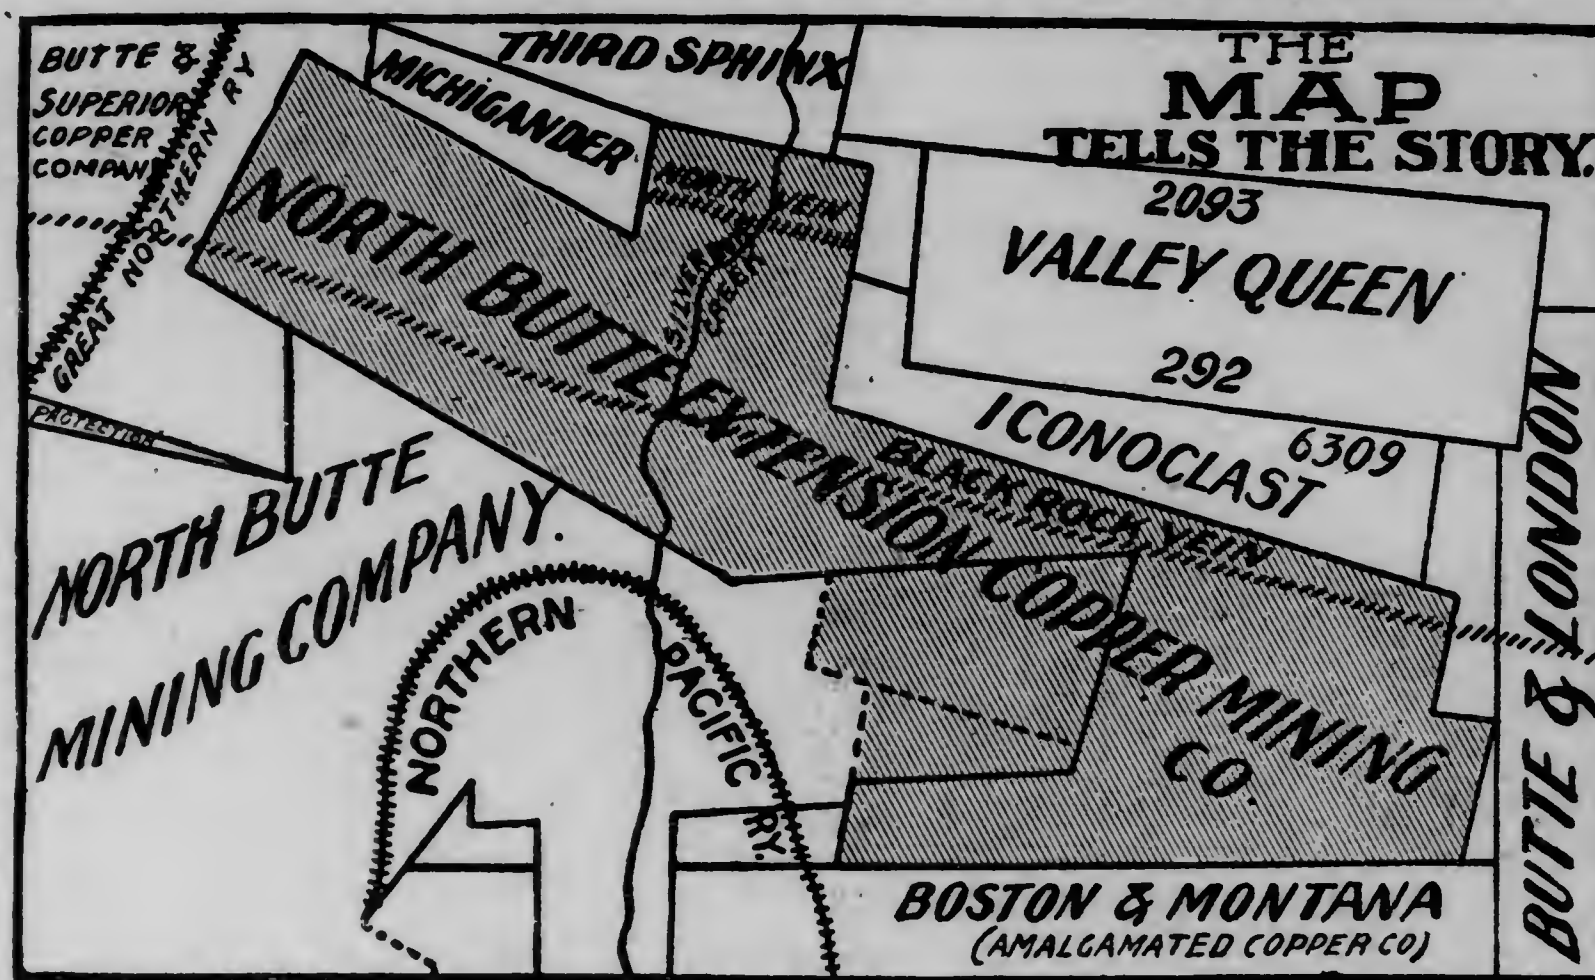

The great "Black Rock" vein runs the entire length of our property. We are sinking a shaft on this vein and have ordered additional heavy machinery for rapid development. "North" vein also passes through another part of our property.

NEWS OF THE WEEK AT CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL

Seniors Select Their Pictures for Use in Zenith.

Mr. Powell's Talk on Lincoln Was Much Appreciated.

The regular monthly meeting of the senior class was held last Wednesday. The treasurer reported that there has been very little doing in the money department during the last month. He paid out $2 for play books for the senior play, and collected $1.50 in dues. This leaves the class with a balance of $21.50 in the treasury.

The most important business transacted at the meeting was the awarding of the contract for the class pictures. The Zenith board at its meeting last Monday gave its vote in favor of the design and the class endorsed the bid for the pictures is $3 for the first dozen and $2 a dozen for any over this amount. The other bids were all $2 straight, so considerably money will be saved by those who wish to get several dozen.

The picture selected is one which will make an excellent half tone for the Zenith, and this is an important consideration in selecting any design. It will be made either on cards or on folders. The picture is unique in having a design of the class pin on the bottom of the card.

While any student can, of course, have his picture taken at any photographer's, it is desired that all should go to the same place in order that the designs may be as much alike as possible. If they are of all shapes and sizes it detracts very much from the appearance of the Zenith.

It was decided to select a class flower. The Zenith board has a novel idea for working in the pictures with the flower for a background. They wish to have some flower that will be both pretty and significant, and a committee will be appointed to make an appropriate selection.

Editor Ely of the Zenith talked of the work which will be accomplished so far. He said that although the board has control of many important parts of the book it must depend largely upon the class for material. Liberal prizes have been offered for stories, drawings, and poems. The editor said that he would like to have any one who has any talent, help the board out. If a contribution is not accepted, no harm is done and no one knows about it. He said that if the book is to be a success, the whole class will have to help.

Keeneham, business manager of the Zenith, is making a vigorous campaign for advertisements for the book, not only from local men, but from outside firms.

The Zenith slips have been on sale for the past few days at 40 cents. The editor explained that the advance in price is owing to the increased size of the book, and several other features which are going to cost money. He said that he was not certain what the books would sell for at the end of the year but that they would probably cost 60 or 75 cents.

McDevitt spoke to the class in regard to the senior play. He said although not all of the class can take an active part in the play, every one can help by boosting it, and when the time comes for selling tickets, as the class will need all the money it can get to pay the expenses of the Zenith, Mr. Cushman has made appointments for rehearsals several times and some of the boys have failed to show up.

As a consequence, it has been necessary to call the rehearsals off and, according to the president, Prof. Cushman is getting pretty well disgusted with the lack of interest in the play. He said that everyone up to the time of the bid for the pictures is $3 for the first dozen and $2 a dozen for any over this amount. The other bids were all $2 straight, so considerably money will be saved by those who wish to get several dozen.

The treasurer announced that he will send away for class pins once more before graduation, and all those who wish to secure the pins will have their last opportunity. The money should be handed in to the treasurer.

Lincoln's Birthday at School. As Tuesday was Lincoln's birthday, Principal Smith desired to celebrate in a fitting manner on Monday. Rev. J. W. Powell was induced to speak to the students, and he delivered a most interesting address to them. The subject which Mr. Powell chose was "Abraham Lincoln," an appropriate one for the occasion.

Mr. Powell divided his subject into three parts, dealing with the great characteristics of Lincoln, his love of truth, his faith in righteousness, and his extreme gentleness and patience.

Mr. Powell lauded Lincoln's love of truth, saying that there are very few people who always tell the whole truth and nothing but the truth. He said that this is owing largely to the fact that we do not always recognize the truth when we see it, and many people do not realize that they are telling falsehoods when they are according to Mr. Powell there are very few deliberate liars in the world.

One of the chief characteristics of Lincoln, he said, was his utter hatred of a lie, and he invariably delved to the truth of a matter, casting aside all the clever sophistries with which it was surrounded.

Mr. Powell then spoke of Lincoln's love of righteousness, and his belief that justice and right would ever triumph in the long run. "This," he said, "is an extremely difficult thing to believe, when the strength is all on the side of the other fellow. But Lincoln believed in it as firmly as he believed in the law of gravitation."

Mr. Powell spoke optimistically of the present trend toward honesty in public life, citing, as an example, the fact that the diplomats of a century ago were almost invariably tricksters and liars, while it is a generally recognized fact in the present day that honesty is the best policy, even in politics.

Mr. Powell then passed on to another trait in the character of Lincoln—his gentleness and meekness. According to Mr. Powell this word meekness is greatly misunderstood by nearly everyone. In their minds it means weakness. This he classes as a mistaken impression. He compared it to the complacency of a St. Bernard dog, who is not moved by all the petty barkings and yappings of all the terriers in the world. Lincoln could not bear to hurt anyone, or cause them sorrow. He could not refuse a plea for pardon, and Mr. Powell said that he could not let a man who had signed a death warrant. Some men called him weak on this account, but Mr. Powell argued that it was his nature, and he had to do it. Furthermore, he says, history has justified his actions.

Mr. Powell spoke of Lincoln's forbearance and patience, saying that he endured many insults in order that the country might not lose the services of many men of genius. He also told of the sense of humor which Lincoln possessed. It enabled him to see the incongruity of things, and added to his sanity and clearness of vision.

"Some people think," he said, "that there should never be a joke in the pulpit. But if a preacher can make a good joke, there are times when it is more pious than to call for prayer, for it brings people face to face with reality, and reality is God."

"Lincoln's sense of humor enabled him to pacify all the snarling elements of life, and to gather up and straighten its tangled threads. "It is only as we shall believe in righteousness, patience and gentleness," concluded Mr. Powell, "that we shall be able to carry on the work that has been handed down to us."

Principal Smith spoke to the students Wednesday morning in regard to the great educational gift of $2,000,000 which was recently presented to the general education board by John D. Rockefeller.

He explained that this was given not for any one institution, but for general educational purposes throughout the country, and that it was the largest gift that has ever been made by any one individual for this use. Several small colleges have already received their share from the education fund.

Money is used largely to help young men and women who cannot support themselves, to get an education. Mr. Smith said that the fact that Rockefeller and so many other hard enormous men are making such gifts that has ever been made by any one individual for this use. Several small colleges have already received their share from the education fund.

Several small colleges have already received their share from the education fund.

that their money is where it will do the most good.

Mr. Smith said that it is within the power of every young man to get a college education if he will only work hard enough, for there are hundreds of people who are willing and even desirous of helping hard working young men and women, and they will provide some way in which the students can earn enough money to pay their expenses. Many of the young men from the Duluth high school have worked their way, at least partially, through college and have made excellent records, he said.

"Education," said Mr. Smith, "will help you immensely to build up character and will strengthen you in a thousand ways. Many young people who have failed in their studies come to me and say that they think the best thing for them to do is to quit. That is a very foolish way to look at the matter. If you think that you are going to get along any easier in the working world you are greatly mistaken. If you have an education you will be infinitely better fitted to cope with these difficulties. If you have failed here it is because you have not worked to the best of your ability. You owe it to your parents who are paying your expenses to do the best that is in you. Some of the parents come to me discouraged at the marks which their children are getting. It is up to you to work harder and not let down and quit. You expect us to treat you like men and women, and we expect you to act as such, and not let little difficulties stagger you."

"Some boys want to get out and earn money right away. It is very laudable to want to earn money, but it is much better to get an education if you can. It will not only enable you to earn much more money than you could otherwise, but it will also bring to you many things which money cannot buy."

High School Notes. The debaters will debate and the orators orate at the meeting of the public speaking club which will be held next Monday. A fine program is promised and many new members are expected to turn up.

As the gas was turned off in the high school building last Monday, the lunch room was put out of business, and many students were feeling decidedly empty when school was at last dismissed at 1:45.

All those who wish to consult Prof. Lambert before school can find him in the music room from 8:30 till 9 in the morning.

Rev. Mr. Powell who spoke in chapel on "Lincoln" last Monday, is one of the few speakers who can hold the interest and attention of all students, freshmen included, through a long speech, and the students would like to hear him often.

REVERSING THE SITUATION. Indianapolis News: Here is a new story of W. S. Gilbert. It appears that he once at a hotel fell in with a religious gathering and found himself only layman in a crowd of clergymen. One of these latter, wishing to put Gilbert at his ease, remarked playfully: "You must feel greatly honored at being in such reverent company."

"Yes," replied Gilbert, "I feel like a lion in a den of Danieles."

NEWS FROM THE NORMAL

The State Board Makes Changes in Courses of Study.

Monday Mr. Bohannon left to attend the quarterly meeting of the state normal board, also the meeting of the normal presidents of the state, which were held Tuesday and Wednesday.

Many changes were made in the present courses of study. These changes have been contemplated for a long time. The five presidents of the normal schools submitted the changes to the normal board and they were accepted.

In the advanced courses, psychology, history of education and teaching work the time has been reduced from eight and one-half to seven terms. A term has been added to geography and also to history and civics. Literature and thesis writing have been combined into one term's work. In all courses, school management has been reduced to one-third of a term.

In the Latin and English five year courses, besides the changes in psychology and teaching work, one term has been added to geography, two terms of methods in arithmetic and United States history have been added.

In the elementary graduate course, the reading has been changed from a one-half term to one term subject. In the elementary course, elementary civics has been added, this is required in the elementary graduate course also.

Senator Sunberg from the northwestern part of the state has introduced a bill which is now before the house, that money be appropriated for the five normal schools of the state, to provide for giving special instruction in domestic science and elementary agriculture. In the Duluth normal, a domestic science class has already been established.

A second bill, before the house at the present time, provides for continuous sessions in the summer months. Many feel that the schools ought to be used during the summer months. If the school is continued through the summer in Duluth, there will be a fourth term added to the present three terms.

Ten years ago the Mankato and Winona normal schools were successful enough to receive from the legislature appropriations sufficient to continue summer sessions of the schools. After two years the state appropriated no more money.

There are many advantages for outside teachers and for those who are busy during the three regular terms, offered in a summer session. In Duluth it would be of twelve instead of six weeks' length. Many outside teachers would avail themselves of the opportunity to come to Duluth and do school work.

The senior domestic science classes have completed their house planning work. Miss Carney of the Duluth high school art department will talk to the senior classes, Thursday, Feb. 21, on "Art in the Home, House Furnishings."

Miss Bainbridge of the art department in the normal will give a talk Feb. 23 on "Architecture and Furniture." The Monday class will be omitted for the next two weeks and the classes will combine on Thursdays.

Monday Miss Taylor, president of the senior class, called a meeting of the seniors to read an invitation from the juniors to a military heart party, the date being set for Feb. 15. Other business followed the reading of the invitation. A committee of seniors, appointed by the president, met with the faculty on Monday to discuss the class play subject.

The freshmen and junior classes have been holding class meetings preparatory to the entertainments which were given on Friday. The freshmen gave a valentine party Friday afternoon. The members made fudge in the domestic science rooms and served refreshments in Miss Post's room. A large valentine box was opened and a pleasant time was spent in looking over the valentines. During President Bohannon's absence Tuesday and Wednesday, Dr. Kline conducted chapel exercises. Tuesday Mr. Strong of the history department spoke to the students about Abraham Lincoln and read a letter from Abraham Lincoln to Horace Greeley. The letter was written on the question of saving the Union. Wednesday Dr. Kline spoke to the students. He gave a short book review of "Masters of Fate" by Mrs. Nathaniel Sholer.

Conferences were omitted Tuesday on account of Lincoln's birthday.

Wednesday Miss Horne met with the senior geography class. Friday the glee club was omitted on account of the junior-senior party.

The seniors had a class meeting Thursday. On Friday the play committee met with the committee appointed from the faculty to discuss plans for commencement.

ANOTHER BISBEE COMPANY

Property Lies Over the Divide West of the City--- Cochise Looking Well---Rich Strike in the Paradise District.

Twinn Buttes people will build a smelter near the mines. It has been learned that the company has had this matter under consideration for a long time, but no definite action has been taken thus far.

It is very likely also that the Twinn Buttes will extend their railroad to reach the Calumet & Arizona properties in the district. The entire district owned by Twinn Buttes is coming rapidly to the front and the properties have now reached sufficient size to justify the extension of the railroad to some of them.

News of a rich strike in the Bernoudy group of mines near Paradise was received in the city this week, the informant being George A. Walker, one of the leading men of that place and the owner of the greater portion of the Paradise townsite.

"Paradise is enjoying a boom never before equaled there," said Mr. Walker. "The whole surrounding district is prosperous and sympathy there is not without reason, however, as we have lately received much encouragement from the showing made by the surrounding properties."

age I was informed by a reliable person who had been through the Bernoudy mine that a rich strike had been made in the main tunnel, where a full face of fine ore had been worked into for a distance of ten feet without showing any signs of giving out. This looks very encouraging for the section as well as being especially so for the owners of the mine."

The property consists of fourteen claims in the Warren district about seven or eight miles northwest of Bisbee on the Tombstone road.

The Modern Copper company, under the same management, recently at 200 feet found copper, silver and gold. The Modern is in close proximity to the Bisbee-Arizona.

velopments on the Sullivan. And it is to be hoped that litigation will be short, so that those whom the court shall adjudge the rightful owners may then proceed with extensive operations and make a mine. The case will come up in the district court in April. The Sullivan was purchased from John Sullivan by the Duluth-Chisholm Development company, which owns property also on Horace mountain. Last spring the final payment was made, the

IN THE CANANEA DISTRICT

Greene-Cananea Pushing Matters With Great Rapidity--Copper Struck in the Company's Concession Camps---Progress of Development.

Cananea, Mex., Feb. 16.—Cananea presents to the view of a disinterested observer the impression of a very busy, bustling camp, and a very prosperous one. Further inspection discloses that the company that operates the Greene-Cananea is pushing matters with astonishing rapidity. Buildings and construction and general improvement of the gold and silver departments, surging towards the greater developments of the mines and the reduction of the cost of producing the metal. The same company are developing their mines as rapidly as possible and are opening up ore bodies that look exceedingly rich. The Phelps Dodge district. In the big concession camps of the Greene-Cananea and Phelps-Dodge which cover the "extensions of the district," the Phelps-Dodge and the Western Mining company, copper has been struck, and both claims are scenes of much activity. The Phelps-Dodge is still in ore and looking good.

PUSHING WORK IN NEVADA

Veteran Shaft of Cumberland Ely in Splendid Ore-- Over 100,000 Tons of Ore Blocked Out at Nevada Consolidated.

Ely, Nev., Feb. 16.—The gold mines are pushing development work as rapidly as possible. The Adna shaft of the Cumberland Ely, which has now reached the 366-foot level, is in splendid ore all the way. Over 500 feet of drifting has been done from this level in four directions, and in none of these drifts has the wall rock been encountered. The drifts are much thicker than that of any of the going properties in the district and averages over 5 per cent copper. The Manhattan shaft of the Enterprise has a splendid showing of bonnite for over thirty feet, and assays taken here run over 7 per cent copper. The Erie shaft of the Cumberland Ely developments would indicate that this is one of the best showings in the district. The drifts here are 100 feet thick and has been encountered in the last thirty feet of the Manhattan drift, is remarkably rich in copper values and will assay considerably above 12 per cent. In the 366-foot level of the Cumberland Ely shaft a very large drift has been encountered. The drifts have been run in three directions from this station, and all of them are in a solid ore. The work on the Adna shaft of the Cumberland Ely is disclosing a very rich ore body. The dump on this shaft is 100 feet high and is all copper, and contains at present over 75,000 tons. Several winzes have been put out on this drift which are all in solid ore. The drift on the Jupiter shaft discloses a very good body of ore which shows an assay of over 10 per cent copper. The Cumberland Ely holdings are on the leached zone and it is considered probable that further developments will disclose large ore bodies.

the Robinson district. Its present workings are blocked out for 30,000,000 tons in less than 2 per cent of its property.

The Ely Mines company is doing some excellent present work and has a considerable force of men employed. The Butcher Boy group of workings has been blocked out on surface outcroppings in the camp.

The Butte and Ely development districts are excellent ore in the bottom of the Butte. The Butte is working on level. From this point drifting is being done on the ore chute east and west. The face of both drifts are in excellent sulphide ore. The independent Willoughby is sinking a shaft on the Westphalia group, which has been blocked out for 100,000 tons. It is in ore for the last thirty feet. This shaft is within 20 yards of the Cumberland Ely and would seem to be in the same ore.

Capt. Toms, who is in charge of the work at the Ruth, the Eureka, the Butte and the Westphalia, and of the Nevada Consolidated, states that there is over 100,000 tons of ore blocked out in the properties. The Westphalia has been in ore for 30 feet. This shaft assays close to 3 per cent copper. Over one hundred men are working on developing the Ruth and Ada properties.

Work at the Steptoe smelter plant is progressing rapidly. A very large amount of ore has been shipped and work has been accomplished, and several of the buildings are practically completed. The cost of the development of the work may be gained by the estimate that more than $200,000 worth of copper has been shipped, and it is said to correct the concentration plant with the smelter proper. Elaborate Lingerie Blouses Will Be Worn This Spring

A most enticing array of waists is shown in the shops now for spring wear, and already women who adopt the newest styles are buying these lingerie garments and are predicting for them a greater season than ever before. This forecast of the popularity of sheer shirt waists is the result of the great variety of styles that have been created for use during the coming season, for the models are decidedly artistic and quite elaborate.

As to the materials of which these blouses are made, any of the real laces will be in favor. Irish crochet is to be much used, and on the simpler waists eyelet embroidery will be worn as trimming with sheer batiste.

There will be a fair showing of blouses in the filet net, but even for dress occasions the so called lingerie waist has promise of the greatest favor.

Of the particularly fashionable styles, like the picture above, one blouse is in panels of eyelet embroidery and Valenciennes lace. The yoke is hand embroidered and is sewn by hand to the body of the waist to give a jumper effect. The second illustration is of an extremely sheer batiste and is elaborately decorated with Irish lace. The sleeves in the newest form are especially fancy and are appliqued with lace to match that used on the body of the blouse.

No. 3 must be worn over ribbon decorated underclothes, for it is made entirely of Valenciennes lace medallions, with dainty touches of hand embroidery between. The last model is of sheer lawn, with an Irish lace yoke; the lower portion of the blouse is also trimmed with lace, as are the sleeves.

next summer, but the material is trimmed with lace and embroidery, and the frock gives little or nothing to suggest a shirt waist. Many of these morning gowns are made princess and a few empire, but the majority are comparatively simple, made in two pieces, with a narrow embroidered or stitched belt or a wide ribbon girdle. There is nearly always a transparent lace collar and wide cuffs, for the majority of morning dresses now have long sleeves, full at the shoulder, with a deep lace or transparent lingerie cuff.

For embroidery, taffeta, batiste is even more satisfactory than linen, and this year it is seen trimmed with soutache braid instead of embroidery or has the braid working in with the pattern of the embroidery. It is effective to have such hand work upon the skirt and makes a handsomer dress, but at the same time an elaborate skirt is not really necessary and is bound to add much to the expense. White linen gowns are always most serviceable and, of course, do not fade, but with a moderately large outfit there should always be a certain number of colored morning dresses.

Suspender and guimpe models, although not exactly new, are still in favor. They are made on much the same lines as formerly, except that a wide embroidered girle is generally seen on all the skirt, or else a low corselet skirt is chosen. Fine lingerie and lace gumpes are still the favorites, and are, of course, made up in some way to be in keeping with the dress. Short plaited or panel skirts are most popular, because the most sensible style for general wear.

Linen coat and skirt costumes are every bit as smart and as necessary for a complete outfit as they were last year. There must be one or two white suits in a wardrobe, and certainly as many more colored ones, for while white looks coolest, the colored suits are most attractive at this time of year, and all white has been popular now for so long a time that all colors are receiving undue welcome this season. Both long and short jackets are worn and one style seems about as popular as the other. The short coats are rather elaborately trimmed, either embroidered or braided all over, or at any rate have lace collar and cuffs, while the long ones are plain and short, or three-quarter in length, with a fitted or semi-fitted back. Many of the gumpes and suspender gowns have jackets to complete the suit, making a most attractive costume.

Lace and embroidered linen coats are as fashionable as the first day they were introduced. Embroidered boleros in all linen can be worn with any white skirt, and of course the lace jackets are also most serviceable. Long lace coats, in both black and white, are too handsome to ever go entirely out of fashion.

Bracelets to Hold Long Gloves in Place Are Smart and Useful

JEWEL GLOVE BRACELETS.

Glove bracelets have come to be that the wearers frequently put them on since the long styles are where they will show beneath the so popular, for without some support sleeve. Though for long twelve and six to hold the upper portion in place the bracelet varieties many women use armlets wrinkle and make the arms look large and bulky. These bracelets, though essentially practical, are incidentally ornamental, for, while they are for use as supporters, only, some of them in jet and imitation turquoise, garnets, opals, etc., are so attractive in place.

Linen Costumes Will Be Popular Again This Spring

By A. T. ASHMORE.

For some years now linen dresses have been extremely fashionable for warm weather, whether for a winter resort or for midsummer, and their popularity will probably continue this year, for they are now in vogue in the South, so are almost sure to remain smart throughout the ensuing summer. There are many different qualities of linen, some fine, others decidedly heavy, and there are numberless materials, as, for example, taffeta batiste, which come under the head of linen, and these, one and all, are very much in demand for both afternoon and morning wear.

There is the so-called shirtwaist dress in linen that will be much worn

An Odd Shaped Hat for the Spring

THE NEW ENVELOPE HAT.

This odd shaped spring hat is called the "envelope" model because it so resembles one with the two edges folded and meeting in the back. That it will be fashionable this spring is a safe prediction, for it is so entirely different from styles worn last year, and then, too, it is becoming to the woman who has a round full face and to one with long pointed features.

Aside from the unusual shape of this pattern it is an attractive bit of millinery, made of white jesshorn, with a brim that is about five inches wide, and a crown between three and four

Plain Cloth Two-Piece Frocks

Plain cloth two piece frocks are smart for street wear now, and will be much used during the early spring in stripes, checks and plain materials. The models on which these garments are patterned are stunning yet simple enough for a young girl's use, or equally appropriate for a matron. The skirt, made on long, graceful lines, is gored and absolutely without trimming, except at the bottom, where there are several rows of stitching, or a narrow flounce such as is seen on the figure in the illustration taken from Le Moniteur de la Mode.

The waist may be either plain, the cloth laid in graduated folds over the shoulders, coming to a point at the waist line in back and front, or braided or lace may be used on the edges to give variety and add decoration to the costume. Worn with a fichu of lace such a suit is quite dressy enough for afternoons. The sleeves are puffs that end in cuffs, which fit close around the elbow.

TITULAR RESPONSIBILITIES.

As a rule Canadians have shown some fondness for being knights, but "the pinchbeck title" has no attractions for William S. Fielding, minister of finance for the Dominion, who has refused it more than once. "Fact is," says Mr. Fielding quaintly, "when I receive a bill from my tailor now I can take a little delay in paying it, but if it came addressed to 'Sir William Fielding' I should feel that I could not allow any delay under the altered circumstances."

PLAYS and PLAYERS of the LYCEUM

AT THE LYCEUM

Engagement of E. S. Willard, the Famous English Actor, for Three Nights and Matinee is Announced--Sultan of Sulu Returns--Ellen Beach Yaw Monday.

The visit of E. S. Willard, the great English actor, to Duluth will be one of the genuine treats of an exceptionally good theatrical season.

Mr. Willard and his company will be in Duluth for half a week, beginning next Thursday evening, and playing three nights and a matinee.

On Thursday evening he will present the famous double bill "David Garrick" and "The Man Who Was." Friday he will be seen in "The Middleman." On Saturday afternoon the beautiful little drama "The Professor's Love Story" will be the bill, and on Saturday night he will appear in "Tom Pinch."

New interest is given the engagement by the announcement that the of the "Sultan of Sulu" to meet this demand and how well they have succeeded is shown by the generous support the amusement lovers have accorded this excellent attraction during the five years it has been continuously before the public.

George Ade, the author, is distinctly American in his humor and for this reason has a large following both in his literary and dramatic writings. "The Sultan of Sulu" occupies a field peculiarly its own for the pictorial features that cover the weakness of many so-called lyric entertainments are tastefully subordinated and the gist of the play is offered in a well written, clearly conceived, and whimsical comedy, embellished with a tuncful and popular score.

The company numbers sixty people forthcoming will be Mr. Willard's last appearance in Duluth. Mr. Willard is making his farewell tour of the United States. Personal reasons have inspired his determination to devote the remainder of his time to his home in England. The retirement of Mr. Willard from America, records the loss of an artistic and popular actor, the value of whose work cannot be readily computed.

RETURNS AGAIN.

Ever Popular Sultan of Sulu is Coming Back.

George Ade's perennial success "The Sultan of Sulu" comes to the Lyceum Tuesday and Wednesday, this being its fourth visit to Duluth.

The amusement public is constantly growing more particular and discriminating. Theatrical patrons are perpetually making greater claims upon the skill and facilities of the theatrical managers. More and yet more must be furnished and the quality must always show marked improvement. It has been the chief aim of the management and is said to be the best ever engaged to interpret the opera.

ELLEN BEECH YAW.

Famous California Singer Will be Heard in Duluth.

The visit of Ellen Beach Yaw and her concert company will mark an important epoch in the musical events of the season. Since her return from Europe, where she studied under the best masters, and appeared in opera and concert with the world's greatest artists, she has been acknowledged by all the critics from Boston to the Golden Gate as the greatest of American coloratura sopranos.

Miss Yaw will appear at the Lyceum under the direction of Henry A. Bray, and will be assisted by Maximilian Dick, violinist, and Georgiella Lay, pianist.

Following is the program:

LYCEUM NOTES.

News and Gossip of Attractions Coming to Duluth.

Under a special arrangement made with Managers Wagner and Kromer, Miss Walsh will be seen here before long in Clyde Fitch's latest play "The Straight Road," coming direct from the Astor theater, with her special company, and with the Broadway production. Concerning the play and Miss Walsh, the New York critics grew enthusiastic.

The Duluth dates are March 4 and 5, and in Superior, March 6.

"The Little Duchess" will be at the Lyceum Feb. 26 and 27, with Countess Olga von Hatzfeldt in the title role. She is surrounded by a cast of comedians of the highest repute, headed by the original and eccentric laugh-producer, Bobb. Left, while the big draw is said to be a splendid selection of feminine beauty and fine voices.

"The Millionaire Detective" has the reputation of being one of the highest class of the highest repute, and popular prices. A company of exceptional merit, which includes the favorite actor, Howard Earl, Miss Anna Holmberg, Miss Van Derhoof, William Stuart, Barbara Douglas and other well known actors at the Lyceum soon.

Manager Joseph M. Gaites was fortunate in securing Miss Charidiah Simpson to head the singing organization which will present the notable comic opera success "Red Feather" this season. For the past three years Miss Simpson has been singing the principal roles in "The Little Duchess," "The Millionaire Detective," "Sultan of Sulu" and "Prince of Pilsen" companies.

AT THE METROPOLITAN

The New Century Girls, Fresh From Triumphs in the East, Will Entertain Patrons of Metropolitan During the Coming Week.

Fresh from triumphs in the East, the New Century Girls come to the Metropolitan for a week's engagement tomorrow, when they will give a national tour of the country.

Many favorable things have been heard in the office of the local theater about this company and it is expected that it will play to one of the largest houses in the history of burlesque at the "Met."

The company will give matinee on Tuesday, Thursday (ladies' day), and Saturday.

For the past year the owners have agents touring the country for novelties, and it is claimed that they have succeeded in securing more features than any two similar organizations.

The wardrobe and scenery alone cost a small fortune, to say nothing of the other expenses.

Foremost among the features are the Great Bartoli troupe of French acrobats, Miss Nellie Sylvester, Hays and Winchell, in a comedy sketch, first appearance in this country; Tom Barrett and May Beel, whom everybody knows, Mitchell and Van, two singers, two dancers, two comedians, in their laughing sketch, entitled "Dutchman and the Tad"; the little sunbeam, Miss Millie Valmore; the funny Irishman, "Jack" McCabe, who was seen with this show last year. Twenty-five beautiful girls sing the popular music of the day and dressed in costumes that beggar description, are two collecting burlesque dringal of fun, "The French Ball" and "Scandal in the Buggy Family."

AT THE BIJOU

Vaudeville Theater Presents Costliest Bill in History of House, Headed by Great Company of Gymnasts and Archie Boyd, in New Rural Sketch.

The demand today is novelty, and that demand will be filled to the letter next week at the Bijou, when Manager Macdonald will offer the public one of the best vaudeville shows ever seen in Duluth, going to an expense of $1,200 for the week's attractions, which are headed by the head line class, as such clever artists as Peter and Polly are looked to present an act of singing and talking that is hard to beat.

Both are well known vaudeville performers. Lovers of sweet singing will enjoy Kathleen Martin, who has been booked to sing several selections at each performance during the week. Miss Martin is one of Chicago's most noted singers, and a student of several of Europe's best instructors. Many other pleasing features will be on hand.

"Where Art Thou Going?" a new song hit, which is beautifully illustrated. The moving pictures will be a feature in themselves, showing three different subjects, entitled "The Venetian Tragedy," "The Huntsman and the Lion," and the comedy picture, called "Stealing Tomatoes." Matinees are given daily at 2:45, and evening performances at 8 and 9:30. A special school children's matinee is given on Saturday afternoon at 2:30, and performances Sunday afternoon and evening. Seats for evening performances may be reserved by either telephone, three days in advance, for this big feature vaudeville program.

In addition to this feature, one of the best known comedians in America will be seen with his clever company, Archie Boyd, who has played in Duluth many times, having been started for many seasons in such well-known places as "The Old Homestead," "The County Fair," as Otto Tucker in "The County Squire," as Uncle Ed in "Shore Acres," as Uncle Nat three seasons in "Way Down East" company, and two seasons starred as the postmaster in "The Village Postmaster." Mr. Boyd will present with his company his most successful sketch of rural life, entitled "After Many Years."

It is welcomed by both press and public as a valuable addition to the vaudeville world, and the theatergoers will await with delight the coming of this well-known artist next week.

It could hardly be called fair to not place the balance of the acts of the week in the head line class, as such clever artists as Peter and Polly are looked to present an act of singing and talking that is hard to beat.

But the what-that is the affair between poet and public. The thing that keeps the versunkene Glucke alive is the breath of beauty blowing through it, the shadowed mountain glades and over its gleaming, snow-dusted mountains, the joyous animality of its trolis and satyrs and the rank, earthly lugs of its stomes and goblins, the striles and aspirations of its humans, their sins, sufferings and despairs--strong poetic imagination in short, and deep human sympathy.

Though the symbol is lacking, however, there is a basic idea of life and human nature, and this is what gives the play its character--a character almost unique in the modern poetic drama. Albert Pulvermichler, friend of Hauptmann in Berlin in the days of "Vor Sonnenaufgang" and now dramatic critic of the Staats-Zeitung here, has this to say of the play: "It is the same as that of Hauptmann's earlier prose play, 'Einsame Menschen,' in which, as another.

VAST FORTUNES WHICH HAVE DISAPPEARED

How the Millions Controlled By Governor William Sprague of Rhode Island Were Frittered Away—The Governor's Younger Brother, Amasa, Was a Man of Quite a Different Mold—Asa Packard's Vast Fortune Gone—The Lawrences, Merchant Princes.

By DEXTER MARSHALL.

(Copyright, 1907, by Dexter Marshall.)
Men who accumulate great fortunes are generally and justly credited with working much harder than the average of their fellows. They also do a lot of practical hard thinking in the course of their fortune building. But the fortune builder has only begun his task when he has got his money together. He must then plan and work to keep it together, not only during his lifetime, but after death, since he knows from the bitter experiences of others that the heirs to great fortunes are often quite uncalled "coal railroads," is another which has disappeared completely. Yet in the sixties and seventies he was the richest man in all Pennsylvania, and at his death his wealth was estimated at $40,000,000.

The Vanished Sprague Millions.
The disappearance of the millions inherited by William and Amasa Sprague of Rhode Island attracted more attention probably than the dissipation of any other great contemporary fortune. It was effected in a very few years, after nearly a century of careful and laborious upbuilding, and it was attended by no end of startling and picturesque incidents.
As William Sprague, the man who lost it had been governor of his state, and was a United States senator when the crash came, and his wife was Kate second time and sneaked into the office, where he asked for his "time." From his desk in the back room Sprague saw him at the counter.

"What do you want now?" called out Sprague. "Aren't you satisfied?"
The man stammered out that he supposed he'd be discharged anyway and he wasn't waiting to be kicked out.
"Go back to the ditch," roared Sprague. "You're the kind of man I want to keep around here."
The Sprague family's town house was in Providence, near Brown university. Amasa's own home was at Lead's Watering Through, six miles below Cranston. "Lead's Watering Through" is not a fancy name; there is there a great circular stone springfed through, built so high that horses may drink from it without being uncheeked. Amasa Sprague's daughter still lives in the house.
Amasa Sprague seemed to grieve more over the loss of his horses than the loss of his fortune. William had bought the famous place Cranston, half a mile north of Narragansett Pier, two or three years before the smash came, and Mrs. Sprague, Kate Chase, was devoting all her energies to the beautification of the house. It was understood in the neighborhood that she had contracted to expand $300,000 or more in that way. At all events a large number of artisans imported from her only support being the small estate left by her father, who died chief justice of the United States Supreme court.

Kate Chase bore William Sprague one child, a daughter, Ethel, who, it was announced some years ago, was going on the stage, but she has never made a reputation as an actress.
The fortune which the Belfast boy, Alexander Turner Stewart, began to build up in 1825, and to which he added notably every year for a twelvemonth more than a half century when he died in 1878, was much larger than the Sprague fortune. And while it was built up more rapidly than the Sprague fortune its dissipation was much slower. It is not many months since the latest act in the Stewart-Hilton drama was played, when Sylvia Gerish Hilton, the actress who became the wife of George Hilton, one of the judge's sons, was having her own troubles with the Hilton creditors. They were trying to eject her from a house in the northern part of Manhattan, one of the last vestiges of the once vast fortune.
A. T. Stewart did not begin piling up his millions until John Jacob Astor had been in the country more than forty years, but all through the middle of the last century he was famous for his wealth as the furrier. When he died, the year before the Centennial exhibition, his accumulation amounted to $40,000,000. Although born in Ireland, he was of Scottish stock, as his name indicates, and he had all the constructive qualities of that other Scot, James Gordon Bennett, who started his newspaper ten years after Stewart set up in the dry goods business.
Stewart brought a little money with him to New York. He began by buying up at a ridiculously low price a lot of linen, napkins, etc., so soon that it could not be easily sold. He had it carefully washed and ironed so that it looked better than new. He advertised it in the most judicious way with much better taste than was then often shown in New York, and the result was prompt sales at a big profit. In the early years of his mercantile career he worked harder than any of his employees, and his wife helped him personally. The linen pieces which he bought on his first venture were laundered by her own hands.
It wasn't long, comparatively speaking, before Stewart was able to build a store at the corner of Broadway and Chambers street, broadside on to City Hall park. This building was the wonder of its time; it was the largest structure then given over to the sale of dry goods at retail in the whole country, if not in the world, and its fame was certainly worldwide.
After a few years the tide of retail trade rolled northward, and Stewart moved his retail store "away up town" to Eighth street, housing it in a specially constructed building and devoting the downtown structure to the wholesale business. It is now largely occupied by departments of the city government which can find no place in existing buildings belonging to the city.
It is still an impressive building because of the large ground space it occupies, but rather squatly compared with various nearby skyscrapers. The Eighth street establishment is now "away down town," but it is still a great retail store, though many other things besides "dry goods" are now sold over its counters.

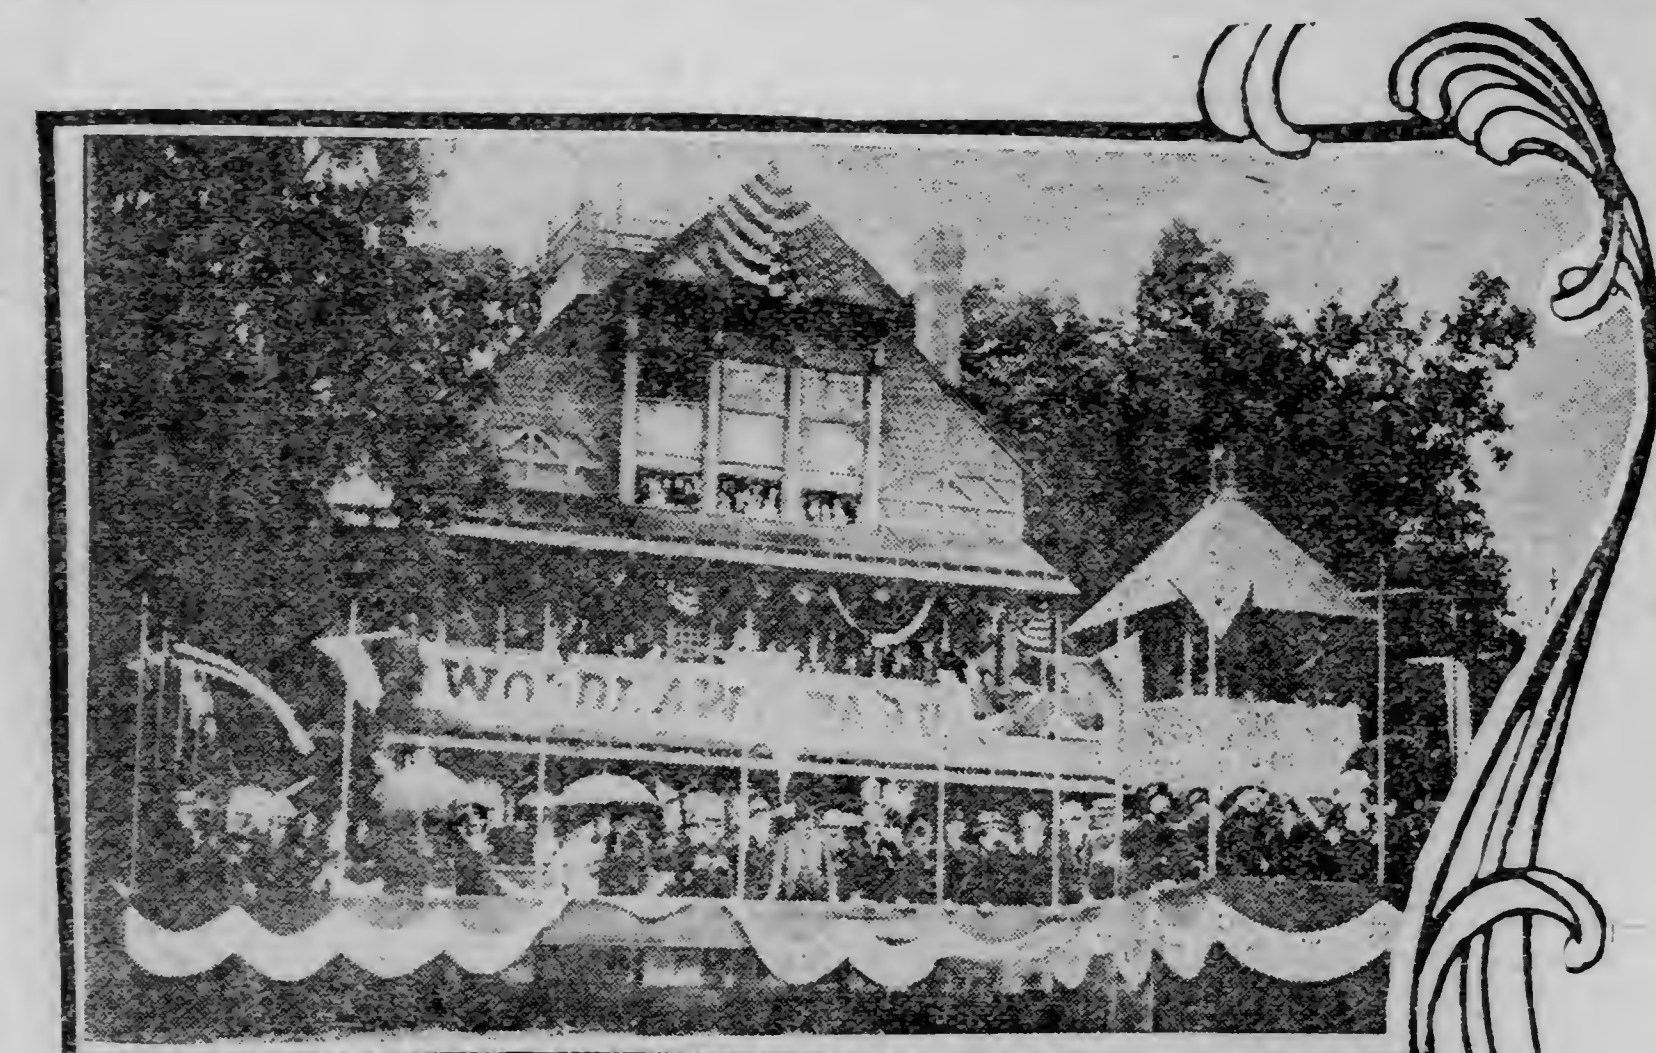

The Dissipation of the Wealth Amassed By A. T. Stewart, Great Merchandiser and Mid-Century Multi-Millionaire, Has Been Complete, But Garden City With Its Cathedral Serves as His Monument—The Vanished Moses Taylor Fortune.

Stewart was one of the shrewdest and oddest men of his times. He looked like either a preacher or an old fashioned gambler; he not only dressed in black, but the expression of his face and his air were always studiously sanctimonious. These characteristics have come from the fact that when young he studied for the ministry. He was able to speak his mind unconventionally on occasion, however, and there are still plenty of stories concerning him aloft in New York's dry goods district.
He added immensely to his fortunes in Civil war times from the abnormal rise in values incident to the conflict. Once, however, he failed to profit by an advance and lost nearly $50,000 in prospective profits. This was just before the war, and was brought about by the shrewdness and nerve of a farmer named Jeroloman, who lived in Hilton, N. J. This man forsook the practice of breaking out of the war and fifth avenue, at thirty-fourth street, that war meant a great rise in cotton, which still later was occupied by the Arguing, therefore, that cotton would be a "good buy." Jeroloman went looking after some of it.

It didn't take him long to find out that A. T. Stewart & Co. had the bulk of the visible supply of manufactured cotton in their store. Stewart himself was not present when Jeroloman called, but his partners sold practically all their muslin to the farmer at 12 to 15 cents a yard. The aggregate cost was $25,000, and Jeroloman had some trouble in raising enough money to blind the bargain, but he did it, and gave his note for the balance. He asked that the muslin be allowed to stay in the store until he called for it.
Within a few days Sumter was fired upon and the price of muslin began to jump. A. T. Stewart & Co. found, when they attempted to restock, that it had gone up 100 per cent. They sent for the farmer, and Stewart himself tried to get him to give up his bargain, but in vain.
"Well," said Stewart, after Jeroloman had offered to sell at $1 a yard, "no less," "you'll have to get you goods as he had when building up. He was able to conserve them. But the more famous of the multi-millionaires of today believe they have found a better way to perpetuate their wealth than the country's plouster millionaires knew about, and this is probably true.

The mere fact that the great fortunes of today are so much larger than were those of yesterday is one thing that will make for their permanency, but the linking of the great transportation and productive properties together, through the device of interlocking ownership, is expected to prove the greatest factor in their stability.

The impatient, unbusiness-like or pleasure-loving heir to a fortune of $100,000,000 even, might easily dissipate it through bad management or personal extravagance. If it were all invested in one enterprise, of which he were the sole owner. But if his $100,000,000 are distributed among a half dozen, or perhaps a score, of great corporations, each managed by experts who have risen to high executive place through successive stages, and by dint of the hardest sort of work, his fortune can hardly be dissipated through his own bad management.

"The buying of stock in a rival's railroad, and selling him a part of the stock in your own road, not only lessens the necessity of competition between the two roads, but also helps to insure the property of both after you are gone," said a railroad "magnate" to the writer the other day.

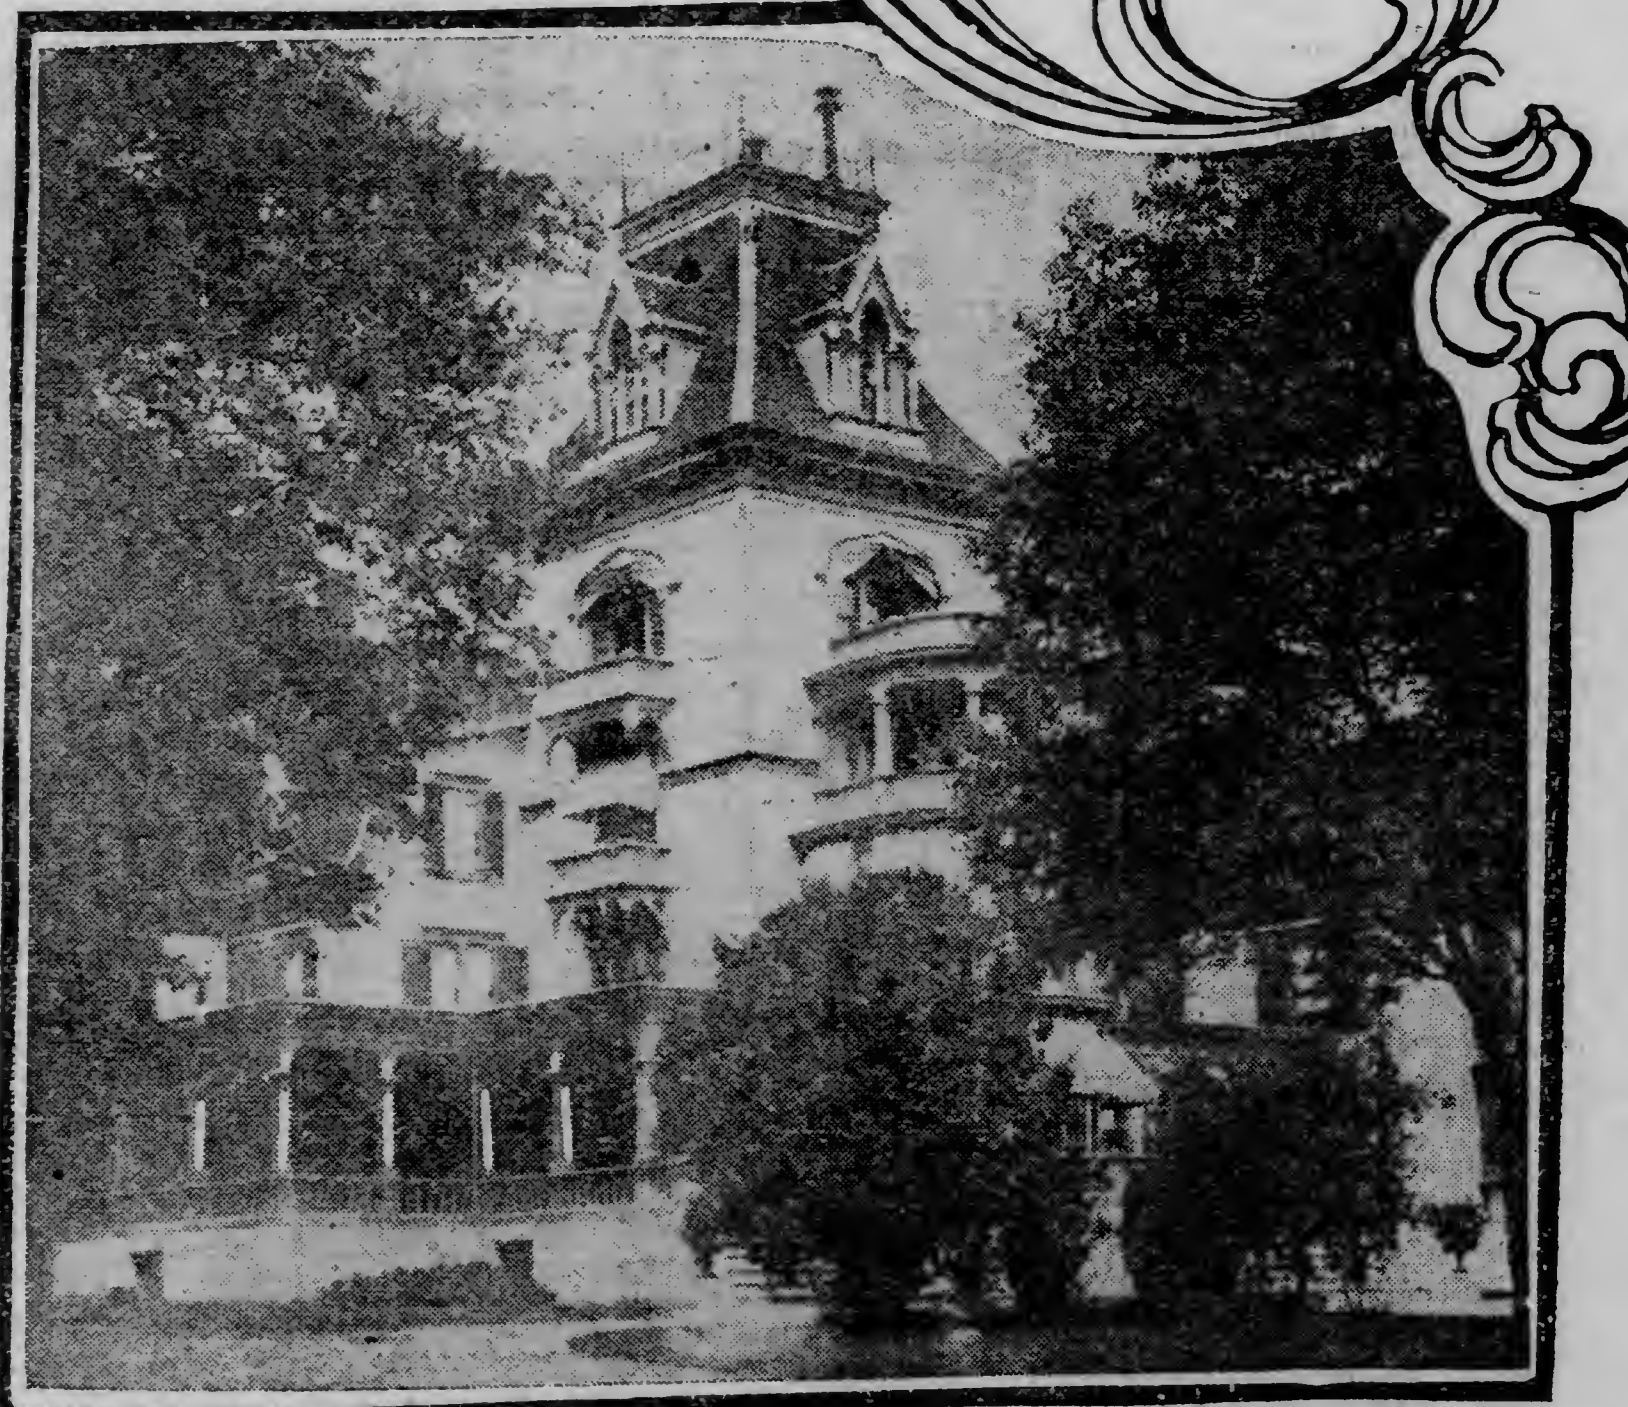

Undoubtedly the conviction that this view is correct has had its influence in bringing about the great combinations which we call trusts. If these combinations are allowed to remain intact there is little danger to the permanence of the most famous fortune of the century.
Jay Gould, it will be remembered, made a sort of family trust for the preservation of the family millions, and it was effective even against the assaults of the Count de Castellane upon the portion of them inherited by the younger daughter of the family.

Many of the pioneer fortune builders were not nearly so wise in their day and generation as those of today hope they are. It is doubtful whether there are now a score of millionaire families in the whole country which were in millionairesdom fifty years ago; it would be hard to make an offhand list of more than half a dozen. Barely one of them can say its fortune ran into the millions 100 years ago.

The fortunes of Abbott and Amos Lawrence, the founders of Lawrence, Mass., were possibly the most famous in the whole country in the middle of the last century. There may be here and there among my readers a gray head who will remember the paragraph devoted to Abbott Lawrence in the old geography books. He was described as a "merchant king," his fortune was estimated at $20,000,000, which was enormous in the before-the-war days, when he flourished.

He was as much of a phenomenon as Astor or Vanderbilt, his millionaire contemporaries, whose fortunes are still conspicuous in the annals of the nineteenth century which is never heard of any more. It was much larger than the fortune of Charles J. Osborn, whose son, Howell, got away with his patrimony in a surprisingly short time with the help of certain associates in theatrical circles.

The fortune of Asa Packard, builder of one of the most famous of the so-

CANOCHET, THE FAMOUS HOME OF THE SPRAGUES WHEN WILLIAM A. WAS SENATOR.

Chase, famous for her beauty, her cleverness and her power in politics, the whole country watched the dissolution of the fortune with the greatest interest.
At the time of his collapse in the '70s, William Sprague was the head of the firm of W. & A. Sprague, cotton manufacturers of Providence. The firm's mill employed 15,000 men and women. The capital invested in the business ran well into the millions, and, while the world of cotton manufacturers knew of the firm's embarrassment, it was unguessed by the general public.

The concern was established in the early days of the republic by William Sprague's grandfather. His two sons, William and Amasa, carried it on after his death, and Amasa's sons, also William and Amasa, took it over in their turn, so that its style was W. & A. Sprague for two generations. Both the William Spragues, uncle and nephew, went into public life and each became first governor and then senator; the first was only two years in the upper house, from 1842 to 1844; the second an even dozen years, from 1862 to 1875. He is still living at Narragansett Pier, across the bay from Newport; the last I heard of him he was chief of police there, and with hardly a trace of his former magnificence and power.

His father and uncle had left their great business so buttressed that one dreamed of its possible failure. Men who knew both William and Amasa declare today that had Amasa been in control of the business it would not be running, along with other great cotton milling establishments founded contemporarily with the Spragues, and still being operated by the founders' descendants.
Amasa and William were opposites.

Amasa was fond of horses and a thoroughgoing business man. William was a politician, no horseman, and essentially a poor business man. At one time Amasa had thirty horses in his private stables at Cranston, 100 brood mares on his stock farm there and 100 more on another stock farm near Leavenworth, Kan. He spent $100,000 breeding trotting stock, in the hope of producing a world beater on the track, in which he failed. His three stallions, Narragansett, Rhode Island and Sprague's Abdallah, were famous all over the country. He never rode horse back but he was a master hand at the reins; William drove only when he had to go about, and always bad.

When Amasa Sprague Was Licked.
Amasa was a fighter, but a fair man, and they still tell of a fist fight which he had with a laboring man in front of the firm's office at Cranston. The man was one of a gang engaged in digging a ditch in which water pipes were to be laid. Amasa looked into the ditch and told the man that he wasn't doing the work as he should.
"You're a liar," shouted back the man; "besides, it's none of yer business. I kin lick yer for 2 cents any way."

Out came the man and a lively set-to followed, in which Sprague got the worst of it. He wasn't badly damaged, but he was well whipped. He retired to his office to wash up, but court plaster on his cuts and nurse his black eyes. The workman went back to his digging, remarked to his mates that he had taught one meddlesome chap a good lesson.

"Yes," was the reply, "but do you know who it was you licked? It was Amasa Sprague!"
This put a new face on the matter. The man climbed out of the ditch a France were at work on the decoration at the moment the news of the failure reached her.

Old timers remember very well the complications that followed the Sprague bankruptcy; the differences that arose between husband and wife, who had been married only eight years; the divorce, after which the wife was legally known as Mrs. Kate Chase, and her later career in Washington, which had been the scene of so many triumphs both political and social, during her father's life.

He was Salmon P. Chase, secretary of the treasury under Lincoln in Civil war times, although a Democrat, and he aspired unsuccessfully to the presidency in 1868. Kate Chase herself declined the nomination for her father, in his absence when emissaries went to his house to tender it, on the ground that the platform agreed upon for the convention's adoption would not be satisfactory to him. Later he confirmed the declination.

Kate Chase first met William Sprague, then governor of Rhode Island, at Cleveland in 1861, upon the anniversary of the Battle of Lake Erie. After their divorce, following the failure, he took for his second wife a Mrs. Wheatley, who had a considerable fortune of her own, part of which was devoted to the retention of Canochet, which Kate Chase had taken so much delight in beautifying. There the second Mrs. Sprague and her two daughters are still living with William Sprague, now away past 70, who in his day had been millionaire, soldier, he was in the Civil war—governor of his state, senator of the United States and chief of a police force numbering little more than a dozen officers.

Kate Chase died a few years ago in comparatively straitened circumstances, erabbed at the start; at the finish he was impossible. I have heard of a boy that was discharged by him for the sole reason that he was so bright and interesting that the old merchant simply couldn't resist the impulse to stop and talk to him whenever seeing him, thus "wasting both his time and mine," as Stewart told the superintendent of the store when ordering the boy laid off.

Stewart did have some political acquaintanceship, however. President Grant was unusually fond of him, and nominated him to the treasury portfolio, but the senate failed to confirm.

Death Brought Disintegration.
Stewart died about thirty-two years ago and disintegration attacked the Stewart fortune at once. The late Judge Henry Hilton, who had been the merchant's legal adviser, was made executor of his estate and bequeathed $100,000. For years the newspapers gave much space to accounts of his gradual decay. But prior to the first rumors that the estate was going by the board came the news that Stewart's body had been stolen from the cemetery at Fourth street and second avenue. This caused a greater sensation than had been caused by anything Stewart ever did in his lifetime. Also it gave Supt. Walling of the New York police a chance to make himself famous, which he did by the alleged finding of the remains.

The story of the Stewart millions' disappearance and the many side dramas which accompanied it would fill a volume as thrilling as the most thrilling romance ever written. The will was contested vigorously, and as late as 1900, twenty-seven years after Stewart's death, a court order was issued for its photographing, in order that the photograph might be used as evidence.

Albert Hilton, one of Judge Hilton's sons, who was placed in charge of the dry goods store, run under the style of Hilton, Hughes & Co., became a devoted to stamp collecting that he neglected the business, thus letting it run down still further. The Judge himself set up in great style near Saratoga, where he entertained at Woodlawn Park at big expense for years. In those days he kept horses and dogs and fancy dairy stock, and while he never would allow his own picture or an interview with him to be published, he was rather fond of seeing page stories in the newspapers about his estates and pictures of his homes and his live stock.

During all the latter part of Mrs. Stewart's life—she died several years ago—she lived a lonely, secluded life in the Thirty-fourth street house. It was charged and admitted in certain court proceedings that she transferred practically all the Stewart property to the Judge in consideration of $1,000,000 in cash. Judge Hilton himself died a few years later than Mrs. Stewart.

But although the Stewart millions have gone and the famous mansion on Fifth avenue has disappeared, there remain three or four monuments to his memory, one of which least will last many years. This is the cathedral at Garden City, L. I., built with its contributory schools, after his death—on a plot of land, part of the famous Hempstead Plains—which he bought as the site of a model city. It is supposed, but not proved, that he remains now in a beautiful sepulchre in the cathedral. The Park Avenue hotel in New York, built as a hotel for women, but found to be unprofitable, is another, and the buildings of his two stores, one of which is now the home of a great department store, are also still in use, and likely long to remain so.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart were childless. Had he founded a family it is possible that the Stewart fortune would still be a potent factor in the finance and business of the country.

LAKE SUPERIOR IRON MINES

as the flow was too great for the pumps to handle, and access to the drift has been impossible with 100 feet of water in the mine. The skips have been used as bolters in connection with the pumping, but little or no progress has been made in reducing the volume of water. At Corrigan, McKinney, recently acquired property at Crystal Falls, Menominee range, operations have now descended to the mine of exploration. The ore body has grown so small that it does not compensate for the expense of mining, but the operators are determined to follow the leads to the end. They are finding some changes in the condition of the ground that are hopeful, but that is all. The ore body seems to be breaking and breaking. Supt. Richards states that it is the intention to give the property a thorough test.

The Loretto Iron company, operator of the Loretto mine five miles west of Soudan, Menominee range, has purchased from the Northern Iron company the lease of the Loretto property, formerly known as the Appleton, and has also secured a transfer of all there mining options on land east of the Loretto, described as the northeast quarter of section 7-30-28. The Loretto mine is a very modern mine, capable of handling a much greater tonnage than has been required of it heretofore, so that at present the new workings will be handled through the old shaft, though in the future other shafts and machinery may be found advantageous. The Appleton has a shaft down 200 feet. The property was first opened fifteen years ago, and since that time it has shipped only 1250 tons of ore, the various concerns which have at times held possession of the tract having failed to locate ore deposits of any particular importance. The fee is owned by the Keweenaw association.

The Steel Corporation's hydraulic plant at Quinnesec Falls, which serves the big Chapin mine at Iron Mountain, three miles distant, has been out of commission for an additional period of one week, the big air compressing plant at the mine has been placed in commission and this has enabled the company to furnish nearly all the men with work. However, the closing of the hydraulic works has greatly handicapped mining operations at the Menominee range giant, Albert District, New Contractor, of Manistique, Mich., was given the contract by the Ashland Iron & Steel company to construct twenty chisel-kiln plants at Ashland. He expects to commence work about March 1st and intends to have at least ten of the kilns ready for operation April 15th. The furnace of the Michigan Iron company at Newberry, Luce county, Mich., has been out of blast this week because of a shortage of charcoal. What is claimed to be a very good body of high grade ore has been discovered near Desbarats, a few miles distant from Bruce Mines, Ont. The location of the deposit is adjacent to water quantities of powder can be used in blasting. It is expected, however, that another week or ten days will see their work completed, when the shaft will be turned over to the mining company.

The big pit at the Bangor is now about completed so that the company can begin sinking the steel-concrete shafting. As there is no steel piling to interfere here it is expected to make rapid progress.

H. L. Bartlett, for some time past mining engineer at the Franklin group, has accepted the position of superintendent of the Menominee mine, near McKinley, recently acquired by the Republic Iron & Steel company. The property is a new one and the work of development has just begun. It will be an underground proposition and preparations are now under way to install the required machinery and sink a shaft. Every effort possible will be made to make the property shipper the present season. Mr. Bartlett is a young man who has had much valuable experience in mining circles. He is a graduate of the Michigan College of Mines and previous to coming to Virginia he was employed at the Stevenson of the Corrigan & McKinney group.

Ralph Mackenzie, a brother of C. M. Mackenzie of the Williams mine, Biwabik, has returned to this country from China, where he had charge of the drilling operations for an English syndicate. Shortly after arriving in San Francisco he was married to a prominent young lady of that city. Mr. Mackenzie is now in the Lake Superior district and before returning West will visit the Mesaba range.

DUN'S WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW

Excellent Reports of Business in All Parts of Country.

New York, Feb. 15.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, says: Despite holiday and weather interruptions the volume of business is well maintained. In most sections of the country, the movement of merchandise has resumed normal proportions, snow blockades being removed, but tardy deliveries still cause much complaint, especially in regard to grain. Retail stocks of winter goods were more satisfactorily depleted during the period of low temperatures, and the new season's goods are being received in large quantities. Wholesale and jobbing houses report a liberal spring demand, particularly in the case of the interior there is a vigorous movement of agricultural implements and other farm goods. A gratifying feature of many reports is the greater promptness of mercantile houses in making payments. Several important concerns and there are no serious labor controversies. Iron and steel receivers are unable to make business, contracts covering deliveries still further into the future, many lines being sold up to the last quarter of the year. Orders are most pressing for which the manufacturers are unable to deliver, and the situation is not yet well defined. Raw wool is finally held at Eastern markets, although in limited demand, most manufacturers awaiting something definite before taking raw material freely.

Footwear factories in New England have contracts on hand assuring activity until new business comes forward, although there is a notable scarcity of orders for fall delivery, and the only current activity is the supplementary spring purchasing by Eastern jobbers and some inquiry for early summer shipments. Questions are fully maintained on all descriptions.

Sole leather is firm and although trade is brisk, it is impossible to obtain any concessions.

WASHBURN HALL AT DULUTH NORMAL SCHOOL

Has Changed the Institution Into a Girls' College.

It Can Accommodate Thirty-Two Resident Students.

Few people in Duluth realize that there is in the city a girls' boarding school, or what amounts almost to a college for women.

The life of the girls in Washburn hall at the Duluth Normal school, is much similar to the life of the students at the large Eastern colleges for women, and the Duluth Normal is rapidly developing a school spirit, and a distinct college atmosphere which will make it one of the leading educational institutions of the state.

The erection of Washburn hall has done more than provide a convenient boardinghouse for the girls. It has changed the institution from an ordinary public school teaching a higher grade of studies than the grade schools, into a girls' college, with all the attractions.

Since the establishment of the normal school at Duluth, there have been few outside students in comparison with the enrollment from the city. The school, it was felt, should draw largely from the outside towns for its student list. It has been hampered until recently, in that there has been no place near at hand where the outside girls could be given a home at reasonable rates for room and board. Among the boarding places obtainable in the city, most of the number were at a great distance from the school, necessitating a long ride and a great loss of time on the cars.

It was felt that a great part of the problem was solved when, during the winter of 1905, the state legislature appropriated the sum of $40,000 for the erection and equipment of a building to be used as a dormitory in connection with the Duluth normal. The foundation was laid in the fall of 1905. The work continued during the year and although not complete, the hall was ready for occupancy Sept. 4, 1906. The name of Washburn hall was given to the dormitory in honor to J. L. Washburn, the resident regent and the loyal friend and supporter of the normal since its establishment.

Miss Dora Eaton, head of the domestic science department in the normal has supervision over the hall and is preceptress of the girls.

The building is beautifully situated in the finest residence of the city and overlooks one of the finest views in the country, that of the Duluth harbor. It is in the block adjoining that on which the normal is situated, at Twenty-third avenue east and Fifth street. The hall is built of sand colored brick in fire proof throughout, and is supplied with iron stairways. The floors on the first floor are tiled, and on the second and third floors, of hardwood. The building is steam heated, with as perfect sanitary conditions as possible, and all the modern conveniences.

Washburn hall can accommodate thirty-two resident students. At present there are twenty-eight at the hall. The Normal board is anxious to secure an appropriation from the state legislature for the purpose of finishing and furnishing the third floor for next year, as Mr. Behan has received many inquiries from prospective students.

The first floor includes the large dining room, kitchen, serving rooms and laundry. The main floor includes the large hall, spacious reception room, room of preceptress, Miss Eaton, sick room and students' rooms. The second floor is entirely given over to the students' rooms.

The reception room is furnished with the mission furniture and a green color scheme is noted throughout the room in the hangings and rugs. A piano is supplied by the students and here is the scene of many a merry time.

The students' rooms are furnished with two single beds, bureau, study table, chairs, rockers and rugs. All of the linen and its laundrying are furnished to the students, this provision is made in few dormitories. The girls furnish curtains, hang pictures, banners and photographs from home and give them the individuality that is noted in each room. The sick room is well supplied with all necessary medicines and is connected with the room of the preceptress.

The work is so systematized that there are certain hours reserved for study. The students are free during the other hours outside of school sessions. The girls have the benefit of a warm luncheon every day at the close of the morning sessions. Outside students are able to get luncheon at the hall, also.

The outside students have social intercourse which they would not have in a boarding place. Before this year many of the students have come from outside towns, enrolled and settled in their boarding places, and have become so homesick that they left for home. When the girls entered school this fall and entered Washburn hall, they soon made friends. Washburn hall was in its last stages of completion as school this fall. The rooms are the scenes of many spreads and informal gatherings, such as fudge parties. Many of the students possess chafing dishes and are adepts in their use.

During this first year of Washburn hall's existence there has been no great attempt at formal entertaining, but Washburn hall promises to be the center of the social life of the school. This year the mid-winter meeting of the Alumni will be held at the hall, March 2. The Alumni banquet, which is always given in June, and previous to this year has been given at the Y. W. C. A. rooms, will be served at Washburn hall.

HARRY LEHR EXONERATED.

Those Awful Berlin Stories About Him Are Now Denied.

Berlin, Feb. 15.—Various newspapers of Berlin have been publishing unpleasant articles about Harry Lehr of New York, and what is said to have been his misbehavior at the court ball given a fortnight ago.

What began as pleasantries over his having worn a cutaway coat and black and white check shirt at an afternoon reception given by Princess Etel Fredrick's ladies of honor, became a regular campaign, so that every day for a week brought fresh stories concerning him—that he had made a scene over a question of precedence of his wife; that he wore trousers turned up at the bottom in the presence of the emperor and other ridiculous things. From these the discussion passed to general criticisms of Americans and of the emperor, cutting his nose and filling his eyes with tobacco.

Investigation revealed a piece of copper in the pipe, while across the street a bullet had pierced a window. It then occurred to Hartman that while in Tamara, recently, he picked up a small cartridge, which he placed in his pocket, and in filling his pipe, the cartridge was mixed with his tobacco.

HIS PIPE EXPLODED WHILE HE SMOKED.

Freeland, Pa., Feb. 16.—While Burgess George Hartman was smoking his pipe the other day, an explosion occurred, cutting his nose and filling his eyes with tobacco.

Investigation revealed a piece of copper in the pipe, while across the street a bullet had pierced a window. It then occurred to Hartman that while in Tamara, recently, he picked up a small cartridge, which he placed in his pocket, and in filling his pipe, the cartridge was mixed with his tobacco.

A patriotic entertainment will be given at the Congregational church Friday evening, Feb. 23.

The hearing in the matter of creating the new town of Hughes from territory now embraced in the town of Grand Rapids came up last Monday before Judge Parish at Ashland. The court found that the allegations made by the petitioners for the new town were true and ordered that a settlement be made between the old and the detached portion of the town. An adjournment was made for a few weeks to allow time to make the settlement, where a further hearing in the matter will be held and the matter will be formally gone through with to make the town of Hughes an assured fact.

SPORTS OF THE WEEK

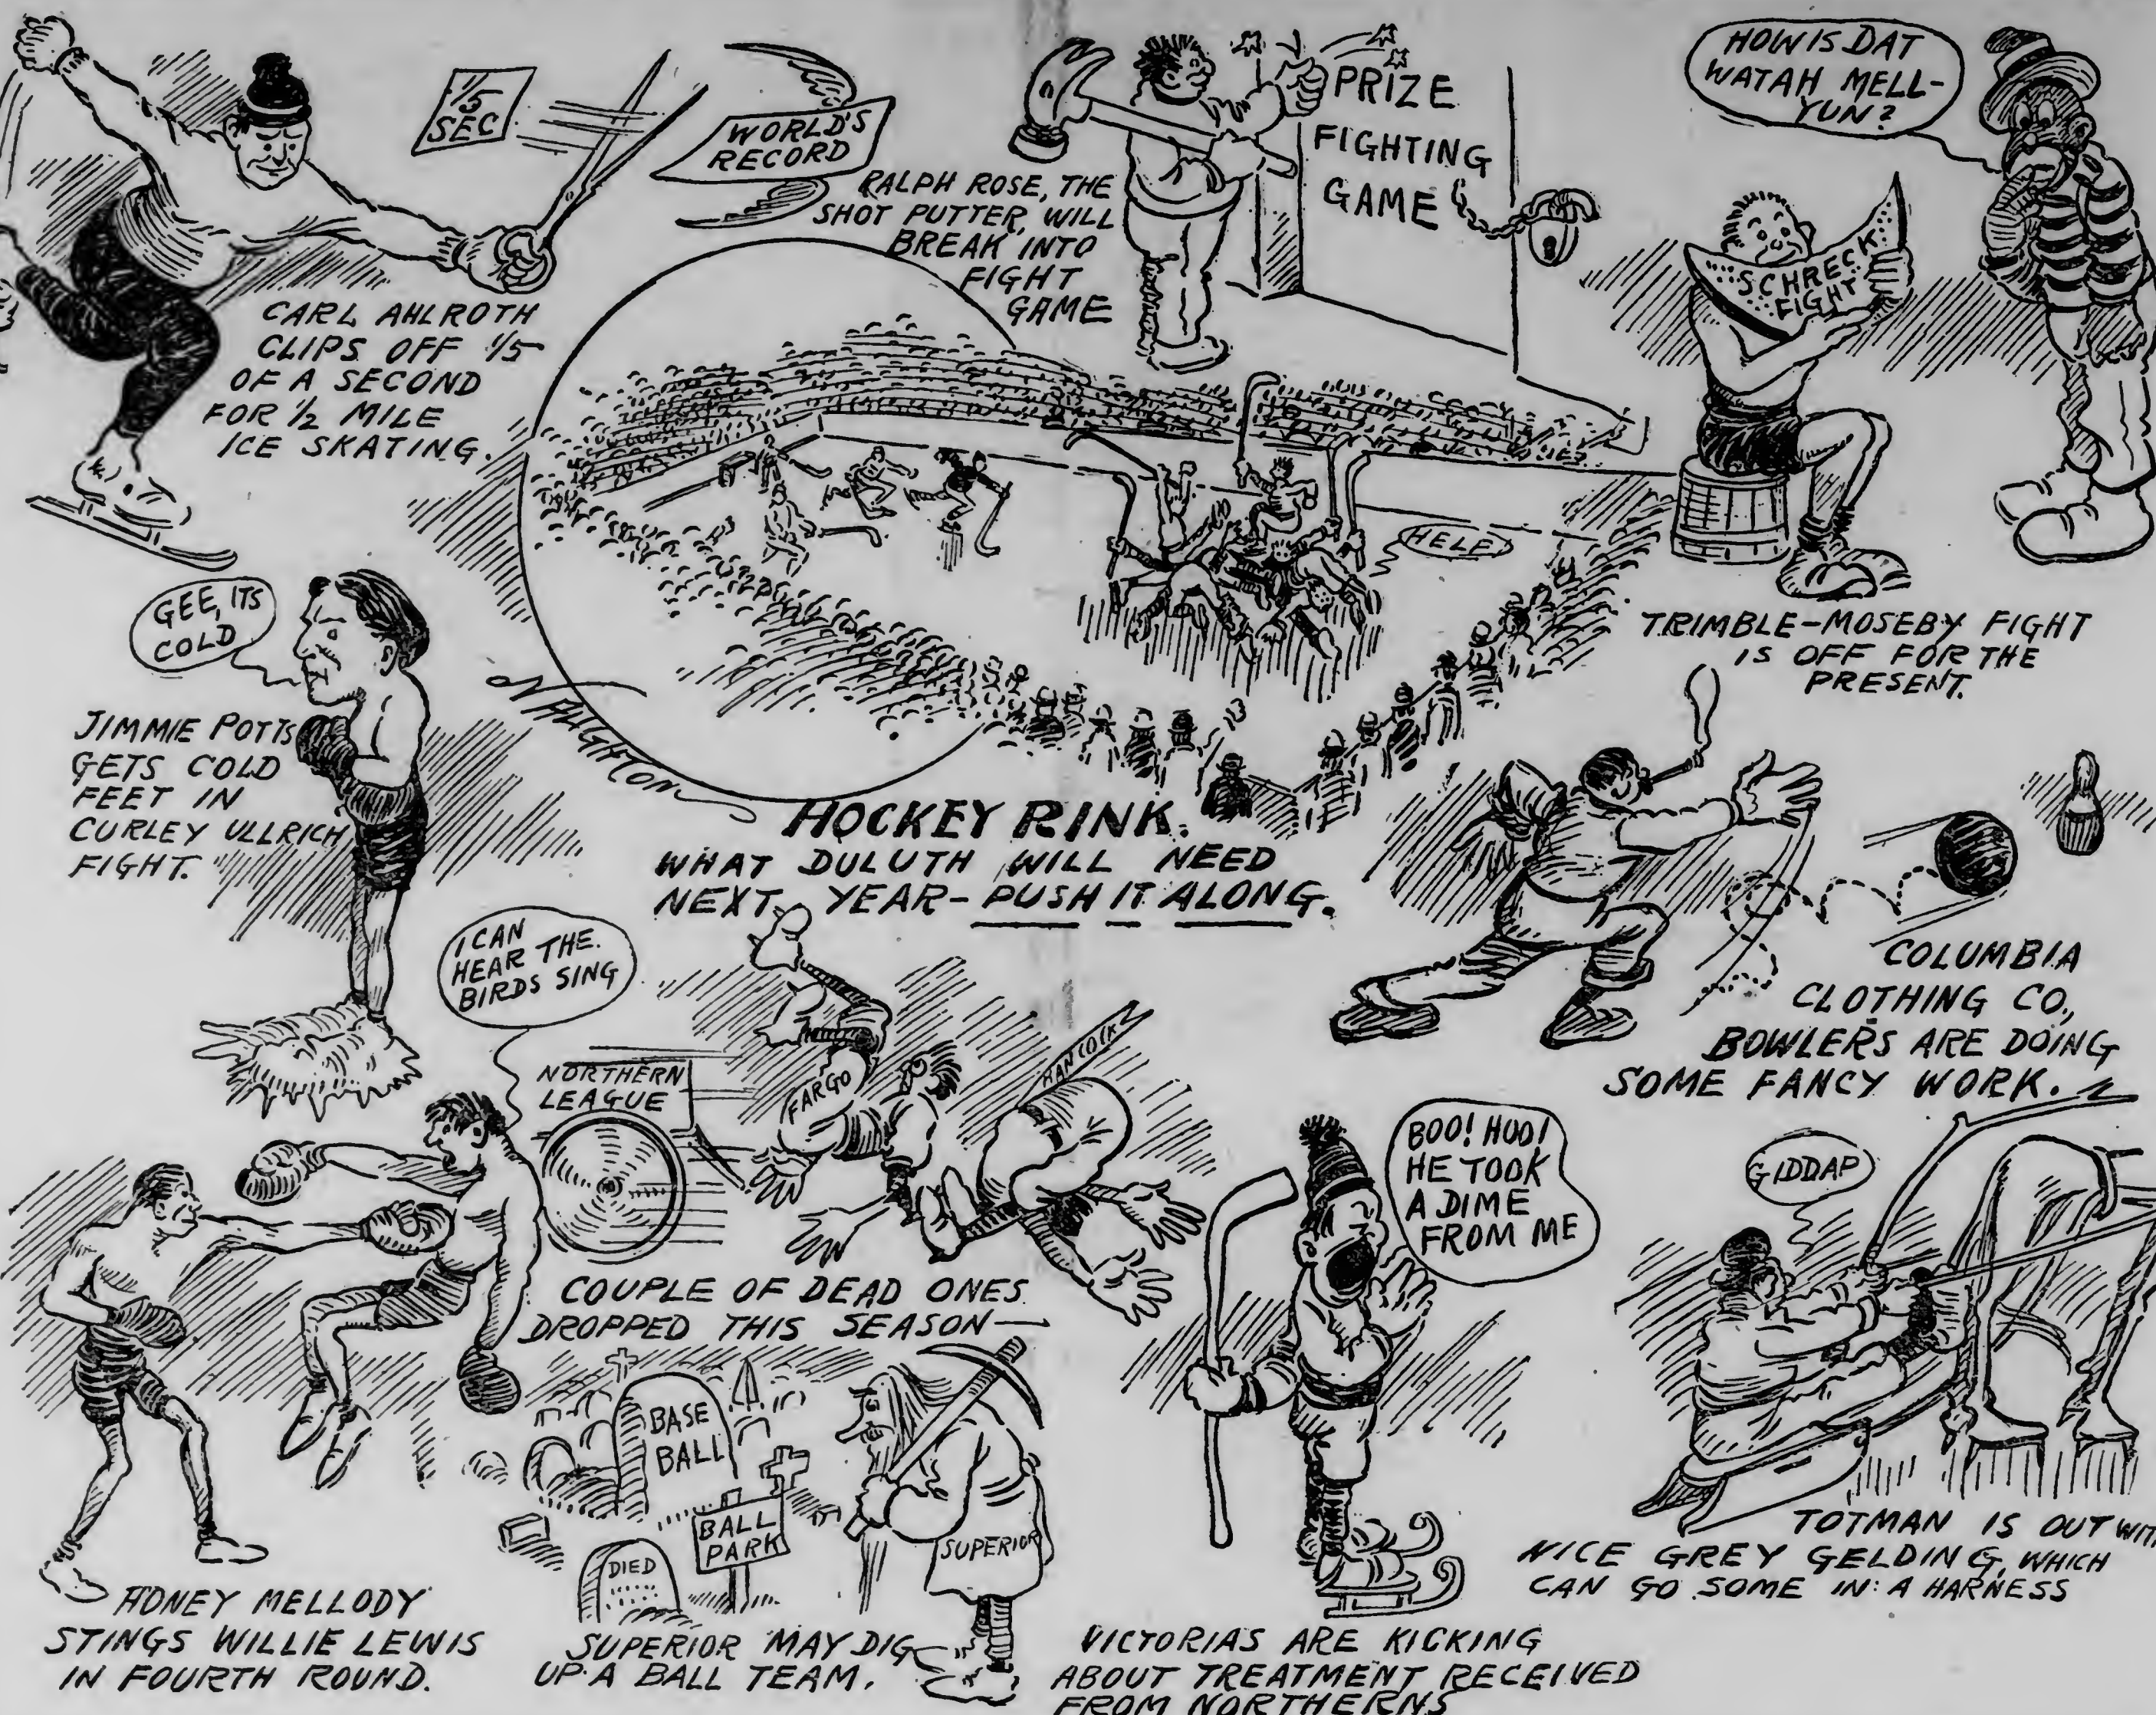

THE LEAGUE MAGNATES

Will Meet Tomorrow Morning at the Commercial Club.

Baseball Outlook in the Copper Country is Very Bright.

With representatives from all six towns on the circuit and possibly one or two others which are trying to break into the game from the outside, on hand, the meeting of the magnates of the Northern-Copper-Country league will be held tomorrow morning in the Commercial club. The election of officers and the selection of a schedule committee will make up the principal work of the morning, though the circuit may be reconsidered at this meeting.

It is generally understood that Duluth will now have plain sailing for the presidency, Mr. Sutton being about the only candidate for the position. As to the secretaryship, the proposition which the local club will try to introduce is that of a person who is president of the league to appoint his own secretary. This, the course which had been pursued in the league up to last year, when both offices were made elective, with the result that the president was chosen at one end of the circuit while the secretary was located at the other, and the result was that the league treasury was reduced some $500 for telephone and telegraphic communication. The amendment to the bylaws, which will provide for the president appointing his secretary, will be warmly supported by Duluth. Secretary Glass is said to be looking for the office again, on the same terms as last year, but at there is some talk of cutting the salary of the position so as to make it practically

CHANGE IN THE RULES

Football Code Modified But Little by Rules Committee.

All Changes Appear to Be for the Better.

SUMMARY OF CHANGES.
Offenses to be penalized fifteen yards for forward pass touch ground instead of losing possession of ball.
Defense to be given the ball when out of bounds from a kick or forward pass.
Forward pass from punt to be penalized fifteen yards, but distance to be gained will still be in ten yards. Same penalty for hurdling or tripping.
Halves to be increased to thirty-five minutes each.
Linebackers may carry ball from position of from five yards back.
Coachman from side lines to be penalized fifteen yards from point where ball was snapped.
Ball to go to opposing side on the thirty-five-yard line when kicked out of the bounds twice.
No player who has not signalled may attempt fair catch on signal of another player.
No player may signal for fair catch unless he has a chance to make the catch.
All players to be allowed to pass ball back at any time.
Two nupties to be compulsory. Field umpire to have a part of the referee's duties, yet to be defined.
Head linesman to mark spot where ball goes out of bounds. Referee to report holding to umpire and judge hurdling.

Football for 1907 will not differ materially from football in 1906. The changes are very slight, as will be seen above, and the character of the play will remain practically the same.

The fifteen-yard penalty, inflicted instead of the loss of the ball if a forward pass touches the ground, is evidently meant to induce the use of the pass to a greater extent. Under the old ruling, where a miss meant sure loss of the ball, a forward pass anywhere within the offensive team's 40-yard line was very poor generalship, but with a fifteen-yard penalty, instead of losing the ball, it will be a fairly good play when forced into a corner.

The senseless scrambling for the pigskin along the edge of the field, and among the spectators, will be done away with by the rule giving the ball to the defense whenever it goes out of bounds, except when held by one of the offensive eleven.
Slight tendency to return to the old mass play is observed in the ruling giving all the linemen, including the guards, the right to carry the ball, either from their regular position, or from five yards back of the line. The rule was probably introduced by the need for more creative ground gaining devices, to make the ten yards in three downs, as required. It also opens a field for trick plays, which has been closed for the past few seasons.

Coch Yost of Michigan contested for four downs in which to make the ten yards, claiming that a team does not have a chance to use the new rules to advantage inside its own 40-yard line, when the forward pass is a very risky proposition, even under the new ruling. Yost contended that the spectators like to see scoring, and that the four downs should be granted in order to aid the offense in their work, and thus facilitate scoring. He says that the game could be made more satisfactory to both player and spectator.
Little more is being heard of the talk of tours of the big Canadian teams, the Kenora Thistles, the Ottawas, and the Wanderers, through the international circuit, and it is likely that the plans for these big games will fall through. The Portage Lakes, however, will certainly make a tour through the dominion, if the ice holds out in the spring.

It must be said that the defeat of the Houghton Juniors in Duluth last week by the Northern Hardwares occasioned surprise here, as it was generally thought that the Duluth people didn't know nearly so much about the Canadian game as do the Copper country boys. For this reason it was a good thing that the Houghton team met defeat and also for the encouragement of the boys at the Head of the Lakes in the great Canadian game. It is hoped that the Duluth team will be able to come to the Copper country this month, or early in March at the latest, while the ice in the Copper country remains at its best.

The Houghton people sincerely hope that next season Duluth will have a big rink, a big team and everything else that will get into the professional game with a bunch of good players from across the border.
The Houghton Juniors are still in the lead for the championship of the junior series of Michigan and will probably take the beautiful silver cup put up by the Amphidrome company.

W. J. PRICE,
President of N. C. C. League, Who Will Retire This Year.

It is desirable to only one who would do the work for the league of the game, Mr. Glass will withdraw.
From across the bay comes the report that several enthusiastic fans will be on hand at the meeting with a petition to let Superior enter a team in the league. Sufficient financial backing is said to be already assured and things look good for a team from the Wisconsin town again. Just what town would want to make the eighth club, which would be necessary should Superior be entered, is not definitely known, but it is understood that something is clamoring for admittance.

It is this proposition which may open the circuit discussion again tomorrow in the meeting, though it was thought that this question was practically settled at the meeting in January a week ago, with a six-club league in prospect.
The schedule committee is nominally appointed by the president of the league, but the meeting tomorrow will decide who shall prepare the schedule and the dates for all games shall be fixed, and a copy of the schedule filed with each club in the league before the schedule committee will meet and rule on any objections to the schedule as drawn up may be submitted to the committee at its meeting.

This will delay the announcement of the schedule until some time in March, but it has been decided that the first game will be played throughout the circuit on May 25. Duluth will start the season away from home as usual.
Manager Koolich will start the season with his bunch of twenty-two candidates which will report for duty at Michigan for their two weeks' try out on April 15, and he does not further signing of men. It certainly is a pretty big bunch of men that will not be far from the rear when it comes to getting a handful of the pennant at the end of the season.

Houghton, Mich., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald).—In the Copper country district, the interest in the coming season is hardly warm, a hockey is still the all engaging topic of sport, but as soon as the hockey season is over, which will be about the middle of March, there will be something going.

Jack Morrison, captain and manager of the champion Aristocrats of Calumet last season, has engaged to be captain of the Lehighville team of the new Western Canada league for the coming season, and has lured a particularly soft bunch, as the Canadians are great baseball sports. Morrison is after Bill Mutter, one of the best catchers in the league last season, who helped Calumet take the pennant. Locally, another Calumet catcher, and Ned Rogers, who twirled for the Hancock and Calumet teams last year.
Howard Cassibone, manager of the Houghton Giants last season, who came so near landing the pennant for his aggregation that Calumet had to take the very last game of the season to get the championship, is gathering all the good men for a team, to be played at some point in the West, the name of his town not being made public. He wants Dolan, the crack all-around first baseman, who started with Fargo and finished with Calumet last season.

Mike Votell, who was one of the particular stars of the league, and who was sold by the Giants to the Chicago Cubs in the Eastern league during the season last year, seems to be afraid that he is not going to make good with the Canadian team this season, as he will have to try out against a bunch of hardier good men, and he may be back with the Lakers.
Bobbie Vorpaegel, at third with Calumet last season, will be back with the Aristocrats again and seeks the management of the team.
Houghton expects to have Jerry Utley,

Ira Hastings, Kid Taylor and several other good ones again for the coming season. Hastings pitched one of the three no-hit games of last season, was strong with the stick, and played a good all-around game. Utley did well, but not quite so well as was expected. The Houghton team also has strings on Kid Ware, who went to Columbus, and Howell, who went to Minneapolis from the Giants, and they may be back again. Sundheim, the Houghton third baseman, who was the best in the league last season, may also be back. Big Eddie Berry, who got the Houghton team in all sorts of trouble because he belonged to the Boston Americans, has been sold to the Providence team in the Eastern league of the Beantown management.

DATE IS YET UNSETTLED
Final Arrangements for Trimble-Schreck Fight Are Uncompleted.

Trimble Wants Two Weeks More to Get Into Shape.

The date for the Trimble-Schreck fight is as yet unsettled, though Ben is daily expecting to hear from Schreck as to when he can go on, and in the meantime is hammering himself rapidly into shape at Loughney's gymnasium.

"It will take me two weeks anyway to get ready," said Trimble yesterday.

"And I would rather have three. I am going to be in shape for Mike this time and no mistake. No more trips to dreamland by the no-training route for mine."

If Trimble can arrange it so, the boxers will enter the ring at catch weights, which means Ben at about 170 and Schreck at 200 for that is what Mike weighs in at now though no is working steadily in Chicago.
It will be the biggest thing in the right line which has been pulled off in this neck of the woods for many a long day and promise to draw a crowd as no fight ever has in this vicinity.
Trimble is in better shape right now than he has been for many a day, but has nearly ten pounds of extra baggage to dispose of if he goes in at 170 as he intends. He is exceptionally quick and clever for so big a man and he has a nice, straight-from-the-shoulder, quick-cutting, punch that is mighty likely to catch Mike on that dainty little chin of his and send him to the scrap, and no better ambition for a fighter could be desired.

Draw at Milwaukee.
Milwaukee, Feb. 16.—(Kid) Murphy of New York and Young Fitzgerald of Milwaukee fought ten lively rounds to a draw before the Milwaukee Boxing club, last night. Murphy floored Fitzgerald in the first round with a stiff right to the ear. The honors in the remainder of the rounds appeared to be very evenly divided. The boys weighed in at 155 pounds.

FORM LEAGUE OF HIGH SCHOOL BALL TEAMS

NORTHERN HARDWARE CUP.
Offered for Competition Among High School Baseball Teams.

The cup offered by the Northern Hardware company to the High School Baseball league last year will again be put up by the hardware company this spring for competition by the students.

Last year Duluth, Blaine and Nelson-Dewey of Superior made up a three-cornered circuit which started to play a series of games, in which each team was to meet each other twice, and which was to decide the possession of the cup. Duluth had defeated Nelson-Dewey and lost to Blaine, when a dispute arose as to eligibility of players on the same grounds, which so nearly caused a break in athletic relations between Duluth and Superior last fall, and before it was satisfactorily settled school had closed and everything was declared off, the hardware company withdrawing the cup until this year. This year not only the Superior games home but teams from range institutions are to be invited to enter the league and play down for the cup, and articles are to be drawn up before the beginning of the season which will be satisfactory to all concerned.

The range schools are said to have unofficially signified that they would be perfectly willing to get into the contest, and some good, fast amateur games home ought to prove a good enough drawing card to make the attendance at the games at least pay the traveling expenses of the teams.
Will Hickien, last fall's football manager, is running the baseball organization.

Houghton, Mich., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald).—The Portage Lake hockey team still holds the lead in the fast and interesting race for the pennant and championship of the International Hockey league and will most likely hold it to the end of the season and win out by a good margin, as the team seems to be playing much better and faster hockey than any other team of the league. The Canadian Soo team is hopelessly out of the race, the defeat on its own ice by the Portage Lakes Tuesday night of this week settling the question.

The result of Tuesday night's game was great surprise to the entire circuit as it was thought that the Canadian team was practically invincible on its home ice and it is probable that this would be so in regard to any other team in the league. Thursday night the Portage Lake team was defeated by an overwhelming score at the Michigan Soo by the American team. This occasioned the fans much surprise and set the team back forty-one points, but this was made up for by the setback given the Pittsburgh team on the same evening by Calumet—another surprise.

The Houghton team still has the lead over Pittsburgh by 99 points, which places it pretty safe, as Pittsburgh must win all four of the remaining games, one with Calumet and three with the Houghton outfit, to get a smell of the buntings. It is certain that Houghton will at least win this number of its eight remaining games, three of which are to be played on home ice and can't possibly be kept from winning out. Probably the defeat of Thursday night was due in part to the absence of Lake from the lineup, he being out of the game with a bad leg and a cracked head, which he received in the last game at Calumet at the hands of McDonald.

Fred Taylor, the cleverest and fastest skater in the league, and the sensation of the hockey season, who, since being placed back at point from his position at rover, has proven that an aggressive man can sometimes do better work on defense than he can on the forward line, is also out of condition from injuries inflicted by Calumet's McDonald.

The man who, in the last game at Calumet, last season, attempted to jam his stick crosswise down Barney Holden's throat, knocking out half a dozen teeth, and the fans are mighty sore against him. They confidently remark that he will "rest" before the close of the season this year.

As has been stated previously, the Pittsburgh team has been preparing for a hard rub by importing new men. Two new and clever players have been secured—Ross, the former Rat Portage Thistles, to get the Stanley cup from Montreal's big Wanderers, and Bowley, Young, one of the Toronto professionals, who is an exceptionally good skater and stick handler. It is expected that Ross is to be played on the defense for the balance of the season, and that Young will be kept on the forward line. The latter has certainly made good with Pittsburgh in the two games he has played, and the fans like him.

Capt. Lorne Campbell of the Pittsburgh team continues to star in every game played, and does everything possible to lead his team to victory. His efforts are deserving of landing close to the top, anyway, whether he gets the ring or not, and he will probably finish second with his aggregation. The end of the season fight between the two teams of the country, Portage Lake and Calumet, will be a frizzled affair, as it is generally conceded that Calumet will stand up about all with the Houghton team in the remaining two games between these seven. The fight will, therefore, be a close one, and the Pittsburgh ice when the Houghton team goes there for its series of three games the first of next week.

Little more is being heard of the talk of tours of the big Canadian teams, the Kenora Thistles, the Ottawas, and the Wanderers, through the international circuit, and it is likely that the plans for these big games will fall through. The Portage Lakes, however, will certainly make a tour through the dominion, if the ice holds out in the spring.

It must be said that the defeat of the Houghton Juniors in Duluth last week by the Northern Hardwares occasioned surprise here, as it was generally thought that the Duluth people didn't know nearly so much about the Canadian game as do the Copper country boys. For this reason it was a good thing that the Houghton team met defeat and also for the encouragement of the boys at the Head of the Lakes in the great Canadian game. It is hoped that the Duluth team will be able to come to the Copper country this month, or early in March at the latest, while the ice in the Copper country remains at its best.

The Houghton boys were very much pleased with the treatment given them while at the Head of the Lakes and speak highly of the kind of hockey played there. They are confident, however, that they can defeat the Minnesota lads in the Copper country rink, and it is more than likely that they will easily do so, as the Duluth team will be lost on the big sheet of ice down here after playing for so long a time in the little curling rink in their town. They will certainly be treated right when they come, however.

The Houghton Juniors are still in the lead for the championship of the junior series of Michigan and will probably take the beautiful silver cup put up by the Amphidrome company.

WHEN HER FROCKS REACH HER SHOULDER

Smartly Simple Effects for the Younger Generation—Fine Materials Developed Upon Simple Lines—Long Waisted Blouses and Short Waisted Bertha Effects—The Girl of Fourteen and Her Dancing School Toilette.

How to keep the small girl's party possessions down to the extreme of simplicity demanded by good taste and still express the required degree of dressiness and formality in the juvenile toilette is the task that many mothers and still more dressmakers find confronting them. It is a recognized fact that the American juvenile is far and away the best-dressed youngster in the world. The Englishwoman, even of title and nobility keeps her nursery brood in unbleached holland for everyday wear and stiff black velvet or velvet with a gayly colored sash for festive occasions. Anything less festive than black velvet upon a dainty little tot can hardly be imagined, but such is the custom established and observed from one generation to another.

The Parisienne, on the other hand, errs to the extreme of dressiness, and the result is that the small French girl is merely an absurd replica of her mamma's taste in grown-up gowns. Silks, satins, gauzes and everything that is displayed upon fashionable counters are employed for the small girl's party appearances; and the result is anything but pleasing to those who advocate a wholesome but dainty simplicity in the wardrobe of the coming belle. Of course, her manners are as artificial as her frock, and there is little of the delightful unconsciousness of childhood about her, but rather the self-consciousness of her clothes, her walk and the impression that her due garments are making on everybody.

Delightfully different is the method employed by the best society in our own land. Mothers who hold prominent positions begin to train their small daughters to social life and occasions when they are still very young. They have their little tea parties, their birthday frolics, their dancing classes, and their duties both as hostess and guest on those festive occasions are drilled into them early in life. Consequently when they are grown up and presented formally to society there is but little left for them to learn; they have absorbed it all unconsciously in the years that they have been growing up.

Several specialists in children's clothing have established themselves profitably in New York; and to one of these scribbles here the other day to find out what it is that the millionaire mothers of society order for their children.

"Nothing that will not wash, please," was the request of one mother whose wee daughter will one day inherit millions.

"And won't you kindly allow my little daughter to pick out a dozen frocks for herself from those models that you have already made up?" she continued. "She is six years old now, and I think that it is time she began to take some interest in her clothes. You know, you can form their tastes so quickly when they are allowed their own choice."

The little tot at once announced that she wanted a red frock for every day and a blue one for church, and that she wanted a hairy cap just like Charlie's—Charlie was their chauffeur, the mother explained—and big hairy gloves. With a smile the mother left for the dressmaker and asked to be shown some embroidered for the little one's better frocks, some simple and others more elaborate. Her little Russian blouse frock that would be the everyday attire, and a pretty coat or two for carrying her in the afternoon. This far the effort to form little Miss's tastes had failed.

But none the less it is important that their clothes should be chosen carefully. Children are extremely sensitive on the subject of their clothing, and their small vanities and pride in their appearance can be turned to good account in teaching them the value of the selection of their own garments.

The so-called finger frock is what the best makers advocate for party appearances. It may be as simple or as elaborate as the style of child—and incidentally, the mother's purse—can stand. Some exquisitely hand-embroidered examples from France are displayed, wherein every stitch is almost a work of art, and which deserves to be handed down with the family lace and jewelry to generations yet unborn.

But no matter what the style chosen may be, they are all and have a slightly low neck, a short sleeve and a sash and ribbon trimmings to correspond with the ribbon that ties up their curly locks. Sashes are really unobtrusive this season, the wider widths being but rarely worn, and preference is accorded to the six or nine inch width of soft quality material, likely to be the fastening than a large bow and many ends. Shoulder knots, too, are pretty for the little maid, and here a rosette serves to fasten several floating ends that fall to the waistline or thereabouts.

Since we keep our houses at summer heat all through the winter, there are many who advocate the English fashion of short socks and the patent-leather strap slippers for the dear little maid's indoor use. Chubby legs that are bare are quite within the traditions of childhood; and both the small boy and his sister take wonderfully to this style, although the long white or black stockings is really preferred by many.

Another English fashion that is fast gaining ground here is the taking of the little girls for the afternoon drive through the park with their mother. The Queen of England set this fashion some years ago during the absence of the Prince and Princess of Wales on a tour around the world. Every day Her Majesty took her afternoon drive with her little grandchildren in an open carriage, and very quickly all society followed suit, bringing their nurseries out for the afternoon drive without regard to wind or weather.

The girl of 14 or thereabouts offers perhaps the most puzzling problem to the dressmaker has to contend with. More often than not she considers herself entirely grown up, and scorns the childish fashions which her younger sisters display. How to keep her frocks within the limits of simplicity, and yet avoid the appearance of childishness is oftentimes difficult. For her dancing class and party frocks there are some extremely pretty cotton nets and tulle, the flit meshes and the point d'esprit, which, with a goodly quantity of Valenciennes lace, can be made to assume quite a festive appearance and still remain commendably simple.

Blouse designs are far and away the most becoming to the immature figure of the schoolgirl, although the long and unbroken lines of the empire mode are wonderfully graceful in concealing her angles and lending her an air of style that is not at all incompatible with her years.

Description of Illustrations.

The Blouse and Bertha Style.

Those demure lengths of embroidery will make up charming little frocks for the wee denizens of the nursery, and the fact that the best shops carry plain materials that match the embroideries exactly as to texture makes the task of the seamstress much easier. Never was there a mother yet who did not prefer the frilly and duffy style of party frock for her small daughter, and the illustration will afford a practical suggestion for the making of one of the most effective of these. There is a shaped lining beneath, and on this the little bodice is bloused all around, the waistline occurring at the natural point. The skirt is shirred on in full folds, the fullness being distributed about equally all around. The full blouse makes the bertha has a pleated Valenciennes lace whipped to the lower edge, adding much to the dressy effect, while the short, puffed sleeve is of the plain nainsook, with just a lace whipped on the lower edge, for the deep and full bertha entirely covers the sleeve.

Where a Robe Pattern Is Used.

So great is the vogue of robe patterns abroad that some charming ones are imported in what are termed juvenile sizes, to be made up into dressy little frocks for the younger section of society. Such a one is that illustrated, in which the skirt is fashioned in what used to be known as convent embroidery, although now it is far better known as English eyelot work. The pattern is one that is very familiar to our grandmothers, who used it for petticoat flounces, which they made all by hand themselves. The blouse top is made from the familiar rosette pattern, while a little fine Mechlin lace is shirred to a heading around the square neck and on the edge of the puffy elbow sleeves. The white thread socks and patent leather slippers are quite in the English style, which approves of bare legs in the nursery up to 14 or 15 years.

When Her Frocks Reach the Shoulder.

The girl who, while technically yet in the nursery, is nevertheless sufficiently grown to wear her frocks to about the shoulders, offers one of the most puzzling problems that the dressmaker has to deal with. To keep her clothes simple and yet avoid the effect of childishness is what is desired. For this there is nothing more fetching than are the cotton nets that are in such vogue just now, and some Valenciennes lace for trimming will bring

A COMMENDABLE SIMPLICITY

Interest Centres in Trimmings

Bold Designs and Intricate Patterns - Braids and Ribbons Intermingle - Spangles for Daytime Wear—Embroidered Chiffon and Cloth.

The trimming counter holds the center of interest just now, both for the woman who is fastidious about gowns and the dressmaker's shopping girl alike.

And, incidentally, it is oftentimes to the taste and selection of this same little shopping girl or shopper, as they are termed professionally, that the success of many a gown is due. In numberless establishments when her errands are given out for the day she is told that Mrs. Millions is having a rose-pink chiffon, Miss Millions a pale blue, Mrs. Leader a pale-yellow brocade and Madame Elite a gray chiffon velvet; to bring back samples of each and trimmings for each, and to waste no time about it, either.

The saleswomen—pardon, salesladies—all know her and the class of goods that she is likely to purchase, and immediately the boxes of late arrivals in stock are opened little Miss Shopper loses not a moment. Her eagle eye has scanned the possibilities of each card ere it is unrolled, and ere she has left the shop she has decided just how she would have that gown trimmed if it was ordered for her. And not once in 20 times is her taste at fault.

The fascinating trimmings that are imported from France are positively ravishing in their charm this season, and the way that everything is to be trimmed this year is enough to give the women of moderate means a chill. Not only must the gown be of perfect cut, since it is intended to defuse the figure more than has been the mode for the past five years, but the trimming scheme must be lavish in its scope and application if there is to be any tudes of success attaching to it at all. Beauty unadorned, where gowns are concerned, will most assuredly not cut any figure at all in the fashions that are current and to come.

While the smart tailor who scorns any order under a hundred-dollar bill can and does have all of the braiding done by hand right on the gown, the woman who has a visiting tailor to turn out her morning and walking frocks will be glad to find braids and passementeries all ready to apply, and in all of the modish designs that the artist braider is using, too. All sorts of set and intricate patterns are on the counters, anywhere from an inch to a half-yard in depth. Three widths and kinds of braid, at least, are necessary to the development of the average width, say some five inches, while as for the deeper ones, it is a no uncommon thing to have as many as half a dozen different kinds of braid, some velvet ribbon and a discreet use of spangles as well.

The buyer for a big department shop was just back the other day from a trip to the foreign markets, and she discussed volubly and amiably on her business with the scribbles.

"Oh, yes," she exclaimed, "spangles are all the go on the Continent wherever the new trimmings are concerned. We are just coming to an era of the most elaborate trimmings that the dressmaker has known for a long time. You know that for some little time there has not been much trimming used on frocks—that is, the applied trimmings, I mean. It was all hand-run tucks and a modicum of hand embroideries. Occasionally there would be a little ruffled ribbon laid on, or perhaps a few rows of velvet ribbon applied plain and flat, but that has been about the utmost decoration attempted."

"Now, however, in the new scheme of things there are to be trimmings and trimmings galore, and they are all going to be of the kind that can be applied by hand, and even by a clever apprentice."

"Is this going to make the price of a pretty frock any less when the dressmaker can no longer flash at one the immense amount of handwork she has put on, and wait what it costs her to have it done?" queried the scribbles, hopefully.

"Well, I hardly guess that it will," smiled back the buyer. "The dressmakers, when once they have achieved a high price for a frock, are not going to lower it any, even though the cost of production is not as much as it has been. You see, it would lower their reputation, they think, to lower their prices. And, besides," she added, with a roguish twinkle in her eye, "did you ever know anybody rejecting a little extra profit when they can make it just as well as not?"

"Now, take the new coat sets, for example. They are all the rage abroad, and do you know that I have not seen one yet here since I came back. But once they are launched here they will go with a rush. The sets consist of a very fanciful set of cords and tassels that go, busar fashion, across the front of a fitted tailor-made from shoulder to shoulder. There are the epaulettes, the dart braids and the two curved pieces for the back, that are set from shoulder to waistline, or so near it. Then there are the cuffs as well, and when these are all applied on velvet to match the color of the cloth—and, by the way, do you know that all of the new broadcloths are quite a little bit heavier?—a stunning effect is achieved with very little trouble."

"Sometimes there come shirtdowns and panels to match, and the way that the French people are using gold and silver threads with which to connect the strands of braid is very pretty, indeed. Those show up delightfully on the mohair gowns that make such excellent between-season costumes, and all of the delicate tints are copied in braids, so that a match is readily obtained. However, since some of the best makers are using black braids upon almost everything, and posing them upon colored silk, satin or velvet, according to the character of the gown, the question of color and color match is not so very bewildering, after all."

"But how are we going to trim the frilly and duffy frocks?" anxiously queried the scribbles. "I am going to have a very pretty pale pink lainswool made up, and any hint as to how to trim it would be, oh, so gratefully received."

"Well, if 'tis for dinner wear you can't do better than have some of the new, more spangled lace for the bodice, and have the skirt flounces—oh, of course, you'll have flounces on the skirt—trimmed with some of the new ribbon embroideries, having a little of these, too, on the bodice to carry out the effect. Or you might have some of the ribbon latices that come in all sorts of shades and widths, and studded with metal cabochons—nailheads, you know—and mock jewels. They are wearing all of those abroad on gowns for afternoon and even street wear, and I saw some very smart tailor-mades at Monte Carlo that had sleeves of the same color, but contrasting material, and liberally studded with those same nailheads."

"And, if you want to be in the very first flight of fashion, have sleeves of white tulle in your pink frock. No, don't have a sleeve cap of the lainswool over it; that would spoil the effect. A little tucker of white tulle, too, will be quite in the picture, and if you want to use it for daylight wear just have a little guimpe of yellowish all-over lace and undersides of the same. Then you'll have a frock that will spell Paris in its look, even though your dressmaker may never have been nearer Europe than the steamship dock."

them up to the requisite degree of formality. A charming design is given here, in which an inexpensive cotton net is combined with a Valenciennes lace of marguerite design. The bodice is made with a transparent yoke, and waist and skirt are joined at the waistline by shirring and entre deux, giving the effect of a princess robe.

For the Afternoon Drive With Mother.

It is quite the accepted thing that the little folks are included in the afternoon drive through the park or along the boulevards, especially when no calls are to be made, and one is out only to take the air, to use the old-fashioned phrase. For this the dressiest possessions of the wardrobe are donned. The large chapeau is in a fancy white silk braid, with duffy ostrich plumes draped artistically over the left side, a shallow bandeau in front holding the shape off the face. The smart little coat is in an almond green color poplin—the Queen of England's favorite material—upon which shirrings of Valenciennes lace headed with tiny black velvet bebe ribbons are a charming impression. The coat is pleated to a shirred shoulder yoke, this entirely concealed by the shirred cape effect, while the sleeve follows the modish model of top puff and deep cuff, the latter reaching almost to the elbow.

When Bricktop and The Twins Crossed the Delaware.

A Washington's Birthday Story, by Helena Davis.

As George Washington's birthday came on a Friday this year, Bricktop and The Twins could not celebrate it in their own way till the following day—Saturday. Of course, the anniversary of the Father of Our Country was observed at school in a most fitting manner, half of the afternoon being devoted to essays, poems and character sketches written about the great and illustrious man who did so much to free the colonies from the foreign yoke that bore so wrongfully upon them.

As Bricktop and The Twins went home from school that afternoon the former said: "Say, kiddies, how we have a genuine Washington day of it tomorrow, Eh?"

"Yes, it doesn't matter if it is the day after his birthday; we can celebrate it just the same," said Bettie, enthusiastically; George would easily understand how we could not do so on a school day—we're living now," she went on. "So I'm one for having a Washington day of it tomorrow."

"Them's my sentiments, too," agreed Lettie. "I'm in for doing all honor to our illustrious Washington."

"We'll live Washington's life all over again," suggested Bricktop. "We'll put ourselves in his place and feel as he felt. You'll have to impersonate him, and sister and I can play at being his mother and father," said Bettie.

"Oh, Indians," suggested Lettie. "You know, George had many fights with the Indians." "Oh, that would be very exciting," exclaimed Lettie.

"Yes, we could have the barn for the forest and the Indians could lie in ambush behind it," said Bricktop.

"Yes, just the thing!" cried The Twins in a breath.

On the following morning Bricktop and The Twins were up early—even before the dawn, for they said George Washington never let the day get the start of him. They were out, riding the old family horse about the barnyard, playing at breaking him for the saddle. Then came a wrestling bout, Bettie and Lettie taking turns with Bricktop, and playing they were George's comrades of the old colonial days in Virginia. Of course, "George" defeated his comrades in the wrestling ring, but the "comrades" did not mind being defeated by one destined to become so great. Indeed, Bettie declared it would be worth while to have it said in future that one was thrown by George Washington in a wrestling bout.

After breakfast "George" went into the garden with the ax over his shoulder. He could not find the hatchet, so the ax had to suffice. He searched about for the "cherry tree" of long-ago fame. An old dead rosebush answered the purpose. With an ax lifted in air Bricktop (George Washington as a boy, us then) bent above the rosebush and with one blow and it severed from its roots. Then he stooped and examined what he had done, a cloud coming over his face as he viewed the bleeding wounds lying on the ground. Behind the barn (which was now answering for the house of the Washingtons) Bettie and Lettie waited for Bricktop. Pretty soon he came, head hanging guiltily on his breast and a piece of the rose bush in one hand, while in the other he carried the ax.

"What is this I see, my son?" asked Bettie in stern tones, representing the father of George. "Do I not behold a hint of my favorite cherry tree?"

Bricktop faltered just a moment; then lifting his head proudly, and looking toward the face, said in trembling tones: "Father, I cannot lie; I did it with my little hatchet."

As Bricktop made this brave confession Bettie (the father) rose to her feet and clasped him to her breast, saying: "This day you have given me cause to feel justly proud of you, my son. A boy who cannot lie will walk the road to success."

With the corner of her apron to her face, Lettie (impersonating George's mother) came to him and laid her hand lovingly on his shoulder.

"Honesty is the dearest possession, my boy. May you ever find it impossible to tell a lie."

Although "Bricktop and The Twins could scarcely refrain from smiling at their own play, they, nevertheless, entered into the spirit of it and to a degree felt the thrill of their own words as they supposed, the young George felt the thrill of his father's words of commendation in the long ago on that memorable day when he cut down the cherry tree.

Then it was breakfast time and the three little Perkinses went to the house to fortify themselves against the cold with a good breakfast, which they ate with great relish, for rising at such an early hour, with an hour spent out of doors in exercise and play, had sharpened their appetites wonderfully, and their mother decided that if they played "George Washington" every day in the week she would be obliged to double the amount of food for each meal.

After breakfast Bricktop said to The Twins: "Now for the Delaware. Are you ready, my men, for the pull across that frozen river to attack the Hessians?"

"No better time than this—Christmas night—sir," said Bettie, touching her hand to her brow in salute. "When you say the word we are ready."

"Ready to die in the cause of our country, sir," declared Lettie in an impressive voice. "But may it be victory and life instead of defeat and death, sir."

"It shall never be defeat," said Bricktop, feeling at the moment very much as though he were the real George Washington of so many years ago.

Mrs. Perkins laughed at the enthusiasm of her "three treasures," and cautioned them against the "Delaware"—a little stream a quarter of a mile away and which was now thawing and breaking up.

"Soldiers cannot always choose their paths when on march," explained Bricktop, earnestly. "They must go towards the enemy—even though it lead them through the waters and over the crags."

Then, warmly wrapped, "George Washington" and his "men" set out about toward the little river near the outskirts of town, "the Delaware," as they called it. As soon as they reached the banks Bricktop untied a little rowboat, which he made use of much in summer, but which he had not taken this winter from its safely sheltered cove in the stream. High and dry it was, under a thick hedge that grew to the water's edge. With the help of The Twins he soon had the boat in the water, which was quite full of broken cakes of floating ice. But Bricktop was a cautious general, and knew well how to take his men through danger without coming into harm's way.

The three stepped into the boat, and as they did so they heard a low, heaving whine coming from the bank. Looking round, they beheld their dear old dog, Protector, standing there and begging to be allowed to accompany them.

"The reinforcements!" exclaimed Lettie, pointing toward old Protector.

"Camp where you are, Captain," said Bricktop, addressing the old doggie. "If we need you, we'll send a messenger to hasten for you."

But just as he said this a great block of ice floating toward them was caught fall in a mass of driftwood which was held loosely against the bank. The force of the huge ice cake broke the drift pile from its hold on the bank, and both were swung round furiously, catching the little boat under one side and tipping it over before its occupants could say "Jack Robinson" or realize that danger threatened them. In another instant the three children were foundering in the water, Bricktop grasping hold of Bettie, who was near him, and making his way toward the bank. But it was no easy task to swim against all those ice cakes, which bore him down more than once. And all the time his heart was beating with fear for Lettie, whom he could not see. She had caught hold of the drift pile and was mounted on it, safe for the moment, but almost freezing.

Just as Bricktop was on the point of losing his hold on Bettie he felt a quick jerk, and there was old Protector, taking the little girl out of his arms. To the bank the brave dog went, dragging Bettie upon the bank. Then he returned to Lettie, who, knowing she could trust herself to him, took hold round his neck and was soon beside her sister, Bricktop also having just gained the shore.

Before Bricktop could speak a word to Protector he was off like the wind toward the Perkins home. Bricktop, his heart chattering and his hands numb, turned to the almost frozen twins to tell them to huddle together in the shelter of the hedge while he would go home for traps. But before the words had formed themselves on his tongue voices and footsteps were heard just behind them. Then emerged from the opposite side of the hedge three men who were out rabbit-hunting. They at once saw the children's predicament, and while Bricktop told the story of the accident three great warm coats were taken off and wrapped around the shivering children. And before one could count 10 one of the men had a fire started near the hedge where the wind did not come. Although Brick-top insisted on helping gather wood, the hunters would not permit him to stir from the fire. Taking Bricktop's name and the address of his home, one of the men started on the run to get blankets and the horse and carriage. He hadn't gone far when he met a woman and a big dog—both carrying blankets and wraps—coming at a run across the field. On inquiry, the man found the woman was the children's mother. She hurried on to her little ones while the man continued his way to her home with full instructions about where he'd find the carriage and horse.

When Bricktop and The Twins beheld their mother and old Protector they could not restrain themselves. Jumping up from the fire—which was roaring with heat—they ran to them, bugging the dog first and their mother afterward. "Dear, dear old fellow! He saved our lives and then went for mamma!" cried Bettie, tears streaming down her cheeks.

Half an hour later the three little Perkinses were at home and tucked away in their warm beds, while their mother gave them hot tea to drink. So well were they cared for that they did not suffer any bad results from the icy bath while they celebrated George Washington's Birthday by crossing—or attempting to cross—the "Delaware."

"We'll never try crossing the river through the ice again," declared Bettie. "After all, we're not made of the metal that our great George Washington was. We are of the tender twentieth century sort."

"That's because we lack the opportunity to harden and toughen," said Bricktop from his pillow, between gulps of hot tea. "Had I lived in the time of George Washington a little wetting such as I got today would have amounted to nothing."

"And, thanks to Protector, those three kind hunters and dearest mamma, it amounted to very little today," said Lettie, smiling knowingly. "But I tremble to think what might have been the result hadn't it been for the timely reinforcements."

Washington Rebus.

In another instant the three children were foundering in the water.

Artie and His Teddy Bear.

BY MAUD WALKER.

Artie got a great, fine "Teddy Bear" for a birthday present, a bear that looked so real that sometimes Artie had half a mind to run away from him, fearing the bear had come to life and that he might take it into his bear paws to hug his young master to death. But Artie was a brave little chap for his seven years and he determined one day to never let Fear conquer him again. So, taking his Teddy bear out for a walk, he said to him as they ambled along on the outskirts of a great park:

"Ted, I'm not going to be afraid of you, nor of anything human nor animal again. I'm going to be brave, and if it comes to the pinch I'll fight before I'll run."

Ted made no response, but from the expression in his eyes Artie knew he was not only surprised at his young master's words, but highly pleased that he had become so courageous. A bear, you know, is always brave, and Ted—while he was but a toy fellow—had the real bear instinct in his makeup. At the factory where he was made a workman declared he had tried to bite him while he was putting in his teeth. And again, while Ted was lying on a big packing table, waiting to be boxed for shipment, he was on the point of lunging at a pretty little girl who happened to come just him. Indeed, all who were acquainted with this particular "Teddy Bear" declared that he was a most ferocious fellow, not really safe to be at large.

Artie and Ted went along a path leading into the edge of the big park. Many children were out there playing, for the day was fine for the last of February, the sun shining and the wind still. Artie and Ted had not gone very far when they came to a bench that stood on the warm, sunny side of a long park building. Here it was almost like summer, and Artie, being a bit tired, suggested to his companion that they take a bit of rest before proceeding further. Ted was not averse to sitting down in the warm sunshine, for all bears, young and old, real and toy, love the sunshine. In that they were like children.

So, down they sat on the bench close to a clump of leafless shrubs that shielded them from the view of the casual passers-by. Artie, being a companionable little fellow, began to talk to his new friend and possession, Teddy Bear.

"How would you have liked being a real, pe-a-l live bear? What can eat people up?" he asked of the silent fellow beside him. Ted did not reply in words, but Artie vowed he saw him move one of his ears and wink an eye, showing his relish of the idea that he might be "real and eat people up." Artie felt a little shiver run through him at this unexpected demonstration from Ted. But he remembered a good resolve not to feel afraid any more, and taking hold of Ted's offending ear he said:

"Now, Ted, don't try to get funny with me, you know, I'm your master, I am. My papa bought you for my birthday present, and you mustn't do anything what will—ahem!—frighten—me. Do you hear, sir?"

"I hear, friend," answered Ted. For a second Artie thought he must be dreaming, but looking at Ted he decided that he was very wide awake. Then he almost fell off the bench in his mingled astonishment and—still I tell it—PEAK! Yes, the expression in Ted's eyes and the movement of his ears and jaws were quite enough to make Artie tremble and feel afraid. AFRID!

"Stop!" he commanded in a voice he tried to make firm, but which had a decided quaver in it. "Stop trying to be have as though you were alive. Don't you know I don't want you to be real? I want you just as you were when papa bought you at the toy shop. So don't, don't do that again, or I'll take you right home. Do you understand?"

"I understand, Master Artie, but I don't know that I'm in the mood for obeying. Fact is, I'm no sissy bear; I'm a fellow with nerve and fight in me. Do you remember, young chap, the person—I'm named for? Ah, don't you give me any orders! I know what I'm about. Now, get on your paws and come into the woods with me. I'm going to show you the meat I'm made of. We'll likely have many strange and blood-curdling encounters before we are ready to return to the confines of the town."

As Teddy Bear made this long and threatening speech Artie felt his heart pounding inside his warm little jacket, and his poor knees knocked together till they ached from the severe contact with each other. Oh, to be at home again in his mother's arms, the safest place on the earth, Artie thought now.

"Come, get a move on you, fellow," said Teddy Bear, leaping from the bench to the ground and turning his gleaming eyes on Artie. Then he opened his mouth, showing two rows of white, sharp teeth, tipped one ear forward and winked an eye boldly. "Come, no lagging back, friend. Be game, or withdraw to the nursery again."

Artie felt a blush creep up over his round cheeks. To thus be made sport of and for a manly-looking bear—was too much. It hurt his pride.

"I'm not in the nursery now. If you please, sir," he remonstrated, trying to put on a brave face. "I haven't been there for two years. I'm seven years old, I am. SEVEN! Do you hear that, Teddy Bear?"

"Well, you are as afraid of adventure as a little girl of five," grunted Ted, again winking that awful eye. "If you weren't, you'd get a move on you and come along with me. No, you're a sort of girl-boy; the kind that likes to sit in mamma's lap and hear fairy stories. Ah, I know your kind. Scared, afraid!"

"I'm not a coward," declared Artie, almost beginning to cry. "I am a brave boy—mamma says so. I'm not for one."

"Prove it to me," said Ted dryly. "Come into the woods with me and learn to be NOT AFRAID!"

"But—but I'm hungry," faltered Artie, striving to find some excuse for going

TAXING OF IRON MINES A PROBLEM THAT SOLONS FIND VERY PERPLEXING

Several Plans Proposed Are Declared to be Unconstitutional.

Tonnage Tax Talk Based on Ignorance of Conditions.

Instances of the Injustice
That Would be the Result.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—While the vexed question of taxing the iron mines of Northern Minnesota is supposed to be delegated by the legislature to the joint committee appointed to investigate the subject, discussion is by no means awaiting the action of that committee, and authors of the several pending measures are working hard for their respective schemes of taxation.

R. H. Jefferson of Bingham Lake, who has in a bill taxing each ton of ore put out from the mines of this state at 25 cents a ton, with a provision relating 20 cents on each ton smelted within the state, is working hard for his bill, and the other evening he addressed the organization of new members on the subject.

His bill does not meet with general approval, however, even among the most anxious to arrange some system of tonnage taxation. The lawyers in the legislature pretty nearly unanimously declare it to be confiscatory and unconstitutional, and there is small danger that it will be seriously considered.

Representative H. O. Bjorge of Lake Park, who introduced a bill early in the session providing for a 5-cent tonnage tax to go to the state, has become convinced that his first bill is not

QUIT THE "LEGITIMATE."

Miss Fola La Follette, daughter of Senator, on Vaudeville Stage.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 18.—Madison society has been shocked and surprised to learn that Miss Fola La Follette, daughter of Senator Robert M. La Follette, has abandoned the legitimate for the vaudeville stage.

Miss La Follette is now appearing at the Grand Opera House, with the Edwin Allen company in a one-act "stunt" entitled "Behind Closed Doors." She plays the part of Rosewood Webb.

Following her graduation from the University of Wisconsin, Miss La Follette joined the Allen Bohan company. She was a member of the University Dramatic club and considered an unusually clever amateur in her college days.

THE "AUTO" INDUSTRY

Has Shown Remarkable Growth in Past Few Years.

Manufacture of Bicycles and Tricycles Greatly Reduced.

Washington, Feb. 18.—The remarkable growth in the automobile industry and the decline of bicycle products are strikingly indicated in a statement issued today by the census bureau on the manufacture of automobiles, bicycles and tricycles for 1905.

The total production of automobiles in 1905 was 22,830, valued at $20,646,664, as against only 3,723 in 1900, with a value of $4,748,011, thus showing an increase in value of 461 per cent.

Of the 21,852 "autos" turned out by automobile factories, 18,699 or 85.6 per cent, were propelled by gasoline; 1,658 or 7.6 per cent by steam and 1,495 or 6.8 per cent by electricity.

The figures concerning the manufacture of automobiles, represent the output of the 12 establishments representing the complete automobile. In addition to these there were 47 establishments primarily in other lines of manufacture, such as carriages and wagons, bicycles, sewing machines, etc., which during the year covered by the census, turned out 1,128 autos, valued at $29,250 and 57 establishments, which manufactured automobiles, bodies and parts to the value of $3,228,472.

In the period between the two censuses, the number of establishments turning out the finished automobile as their principal product increased from 27 to 121; the amount of capital invested in these establishments from $5,748,857 to $20,655,271, and the average number of wage earners employed from 2,341 to 10,229. The average capital per establishment increased from $10,168 to $168,878 or 67.5 per cent.

Of the total number of automobiles manufactured in automobile factories 22,830 or 99.9 per cent were runabout; and 1,229 or 5.3 per cent touring cars. Bicycles stood third in number turned out.

DEATH OF STUDENT

At Macalester College May be Due to Ptomaine Poisoning.

Others Were Taken Sick
But All Recovered But Stearns.

St. Paul, Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Warren G. Stearns died early today at St. Joseph's hospital. A few days ago Mr. Stearns, with several others taken ill at Macalester college, it was thought at the time their illness was due to ptomaine poisoning, and the milk used at the club where they boarded, was sent to the state chemical laboratory for examination.

Nothing was found in the milk to indicate the presence of any poison. The condition of Mr. Stearns continued to grow worse, but the others all recovered in a short time. It is believed that the food which they had eaten was the cause of the epidemic.

The remains will be taken to Jasper, Minn., for burial.

ABSTAIN FROM INTERFERENCE

With Affairs in Persia is Desire of Great Britain.

London, Feb. 18.—Replying to a question in the house of commons today regarding the situation in Persia, Lord Curzon, financial secretary of the treasury, in behalf of Foreign Secretary Sir Edward Grey, said the government understood that the shah has acceded to the demands of the Persian national assembly for a formal recognition of the monarch as being limited, and had granted the demands for ministerial responsibility to the assembly. The British government, Mr. Curzon added, desired to abstain from any interference in the internal affairs of Persia. No danger to foreigners was anticipated, but should any special measures be necessary, they would be confined to safeguarding British subjects. The best way of averting any interference with foreigners was to let the Persians early understand that there was no intention on the part of foreign nations to interfere in their domestic affairs.

NOVEL PLAN

For Care of Babies and Little Children at a Church.

Springfield, Ohio, Feb. 18.—A novel plan for the care of babies and little children during the morning service at the Second Presbyterian church has been adopted by the Ladies' Aid society.

A committee will be stationed in the Sunday school room to look after the little ones, so that the mother can hear the sermon.

The plan will be started the first Sunday in March. It is expected that all things needed in a nursery will be provided by the committee, including milk, rattles and teething rings for the amusement of the little ones.

A new committee will be named for each Sabbath.

FALLIERES INTERVENES

President of France Takes a Hand in Church Question.

Result of Important Conference is Not Made Public.

Paris, Feb. 18.—President Fallieres personally intervened today in the ministerial situation in the hope of composing the differences in the cabinet. He had long conferences with Premier Clemenceau, Education Minister Briand and other members of the cabinet, but the exact result is not known. There are some reports, however, to the effect that an agreement has been reached on a final formula for the contracts for the lease on the churches, satisfactory to both M. Clemenceau and Briand, but confirmation of the rumors is lacking and the prevailing opinion in political circles is that if M. Clemenceau does not fall from power a reorganization of the ministry is practically certain. The followers of ex-Premier Combes already are lined up against any new concession. Their position is defined by the action, as follows:

"According to the action of parliament, in giving or refusing its assent to the contract negotiated by M. Briand, the republic will be bound to Rome for eighteen years or free from it forever."

The bitter hostility to the government's proposed income tax law continues to be an important feature of the ministerial crisis. The moderate papers believe that some of the Socialist leaders are glad of a possibility of another struggle with the Vatican because the Socialists have become frightened at their own fiscal and social programs.

TWO BARGES GO ASHORE

Several Lives Lost Off Highland Light in Heavy Wind.

Highland Light, Mass., Feb. 18.—The barge Gerard, coal-laden, went ashore today near the Highland Light life saving station and two of her crew were drowned. Capt. Larsen and another member of the crew were saved by the life-savers. The barge will be a total loss.

The barge was in tow of the tug Valley Forge bound from Philadelphia for Boston. In the heavy northeast gale which prevailed early today with a thick snowstorm, the barge broke apart and was driven ashore. She was sighted from the Highland Light and Highland life saving stations, and as the four men aboard the barge could not launch boats, on account of the rough seas, the life savers shot a line aboard the stranded vessel and Capt. Larsen and Seaman Morton Burke were brought ashore in the breeches buoy. Seaman Joseph Johnson and Joseph Johansen were caught in the cabin when that part of the barge tilted and they were drowned.

Shortly before 1 o'clock one of the barges, believed to be the Alaska, was thrown upon the breakers and in a few moments went to the bottom with all hands on board. It is not positively known how many hands were on the barge, but it is believed that there were at least three or four men in the crew.

Lakeside and Hillside
Extensions Can Now

Deal is Closed at Special Meeting of Water Board.

Welcome News for Many Who Are Waiting for Water.

The water and light bonds of $346,000 which have been held up for the past year, owing to the strained conditions of the money market, were sold this morning, subject to the approval of the city council, to Hodeppl, Walbridge & Co., of New York city, the sale being negotiated by Waldo E. Knapp, former general manager of the Lakeside Land company.

The sale of the bonds means that the water and light department will be enabled to go ahead this spring and make water and gas extensions to Lakeside and in the hill district this season, a condition that will be hailed with delight by the people residing in those districts, and who have been patiently awaiting the time when the department would have the funds necessary for the improvement.

Negotiations for the sale of the bonds have been under way for some weeks past but the affairs did not shape themselves so that different interests after them could submit their offers until this morning, when the water and light board held a special meeting, opened four bids for the bonds, and awarded them to the New York city concern.

Mr. Knapp, who sold the bonds, and who made the city the most advantageous offer for the same, was led to interest himself in their sale some time

Trial Now Likely to

New York, Feb. 18.—The trial of Harry K. Thaw was resumed today before Justice Fitzgerald. Jury Dolan, whose wife died last Thursday, was again in his place, and the indications now are that the trial will go ahead as rapidly as both defense and prosecution can push it. The jury will not again be kept together until it begins the consideration of a verdict.

Doctors B. D. Evans and Charles E. Wagner, two of the alienists representing the defense, were on the witness stand today and continued to give the reasons on which they based their conclusions that Thaw at the time he killed Stanford White and for several months subsequent to the homicide was of unsound mind.

It was testified that Thaw told the doctors he had not intended to kill Stanford White, but had sought to have him brought to justice in a court of law. He accused White of seeking to destroy the virtue of every woman with whom he came in contact, declared he had poisoned and drugged many innocent young girls.

"If you had no desire or thought of killing White why did you do it?" Dr. Evans said in this question to Thaw in the Tombs, and the prisoner replied:

"Providence stepped in and took charge; it was an act of Providence."

Dr. Wagner said Thaw had told him that it was his (Thaw's) province to protect young girls and lead them in moral paths.

Delphine M. Delmas was again today in command for the defense and all the six lawyers who have appeared in the case since the beginning of the trial were in their accustomed places at the defendant's counsel table.

It is said District Attorney Jerome will no longer oppose the introduction of Harry Thaw's will in evidence.

The defendant today seemed to be in the best of spirits and the let up in the Railroad Commission Establishes Fares on

Madison, Wis., Feb. 18.—The state railway commission today handed down a decision in the 2-cent railroad fare question. It is ordered by the commission that the railways in the state give a flat 2½-cent passenger fare and it is recommended that family mileage books of 500 miles be issued for $10.

The last legislature enacted a law creating the state railway commission with power to fix rates and regulate service. The decision just handed down is the result of an extended hearing before the state railway commission during which time representatives of the various railways operating in Wisconsin have appeared before the commission when the questions of rates and services were thoroughly reviewed.

MONUMENT TO CHIEF BEMIDJI

Has Been Erected in Greenwood Cemetery
at Bemidji.

Bemidji, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The last resting place of "Good Old Chief Bemidji," after whom the city of Bemidji was named, is now marked by a handsome monument, a fitting testimonial to the noble traits of an Indian whose life was marked with kindness, and whose counsels were ever for peace and good will towards the whites.

About a year ago, A. A. Carter, mayor of Bemidji, took up the matter of securing a suitable mark for the spot where Chief Bemidji was buried and succeeded in arousing interest in the matter.

It was decided to raise funds for the purchase of a monument with the result that contributions were solicited. The school children donated some money, and a small amount was secured from other sources. A committee, consisting of Mayor Carter, E. A. Schneider, E. H. Jerrard and E. H. Winter, took the matter in charge.

The monument arrived from St. Paul on Thursday in charge of J. S. Boylan, who took the stone to Greenwood cemetery and placed it in position, where it now stands and will for years to come perpetuate the memory of the good old chief who was so attached to this part of the state.

The monument is a spire design of Bedford gray stone, and is about fourteen feet high, being four feet square at the base and standing on a substantial stone foundation. On the side of the spire is carved a very excellent likeness of Chief Bemidji, his strongly marked features standing out very prominently. The only inscription on the monument is the words "Chief Bemidji."

Minister Says Evidence in the Thaw Trial is Good Reading.

Wichita, Kan., Feb. 18.—In a sermon on morality entitled "Women's Rights," Dr. Henry Cudlippe, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, declared last night that all the evidence in the Thaw trial should be printed.

"I want to see every line of the Thaw evidence printed," said Dr. Cudlippe, "and I want to read it. I think the public should read it."

CASTRO'S END NEAR AT HAND

Physicians Have No
Hope of President's Recovery.

Macutoa, Venezuela, Feb. 17, via Willemstad, Island of Curacao, Feb. 18.—In spite of the daily bulletins issued by the government, announcing an improvement in President Castro's health, he has gradually weakened since he underwent the recent operation, and his condition is now more serious than ever before. It is even affirmed that his physicians entertain no hope of his recovery. His temperature is reported to be 103, gangrene is said to have set in and the end is alleged to be expected soon. The Venezuelan boat, Restorador, is lying at La Guira, and it is semi-officially asserted that after the death, she will carry the body of Castro to Puerto Cabello, whence it will be transported to Valencia for interment.

INK WELLS ARE THROWN IN CONVENTION CLASH.

Guthrie, Okla., Feb. 18.—Delegate C. N. Haskell of Muskogee made a murderous assault upon Judge J. A. Baker of Wewoka upon the floor of the constitutional convention Saturday, in the discussion of the report of the railroad committee. Haskell used an ink bottle as his weapon, and narrowly missed striking his own wife in the head, as she sat immediately behind Baker, who dodged when the missile came his way.

Haskell is a comparatively young man, and an Ohio Democrat, while Baker is an Ohio Democrat, while Haskell took exception to a statement by Baker that it was unwise for members of the convention who have railroad affiliations to show their hand at this time.

"I want to say that you are a contemptible liar," he shouted at Baker.

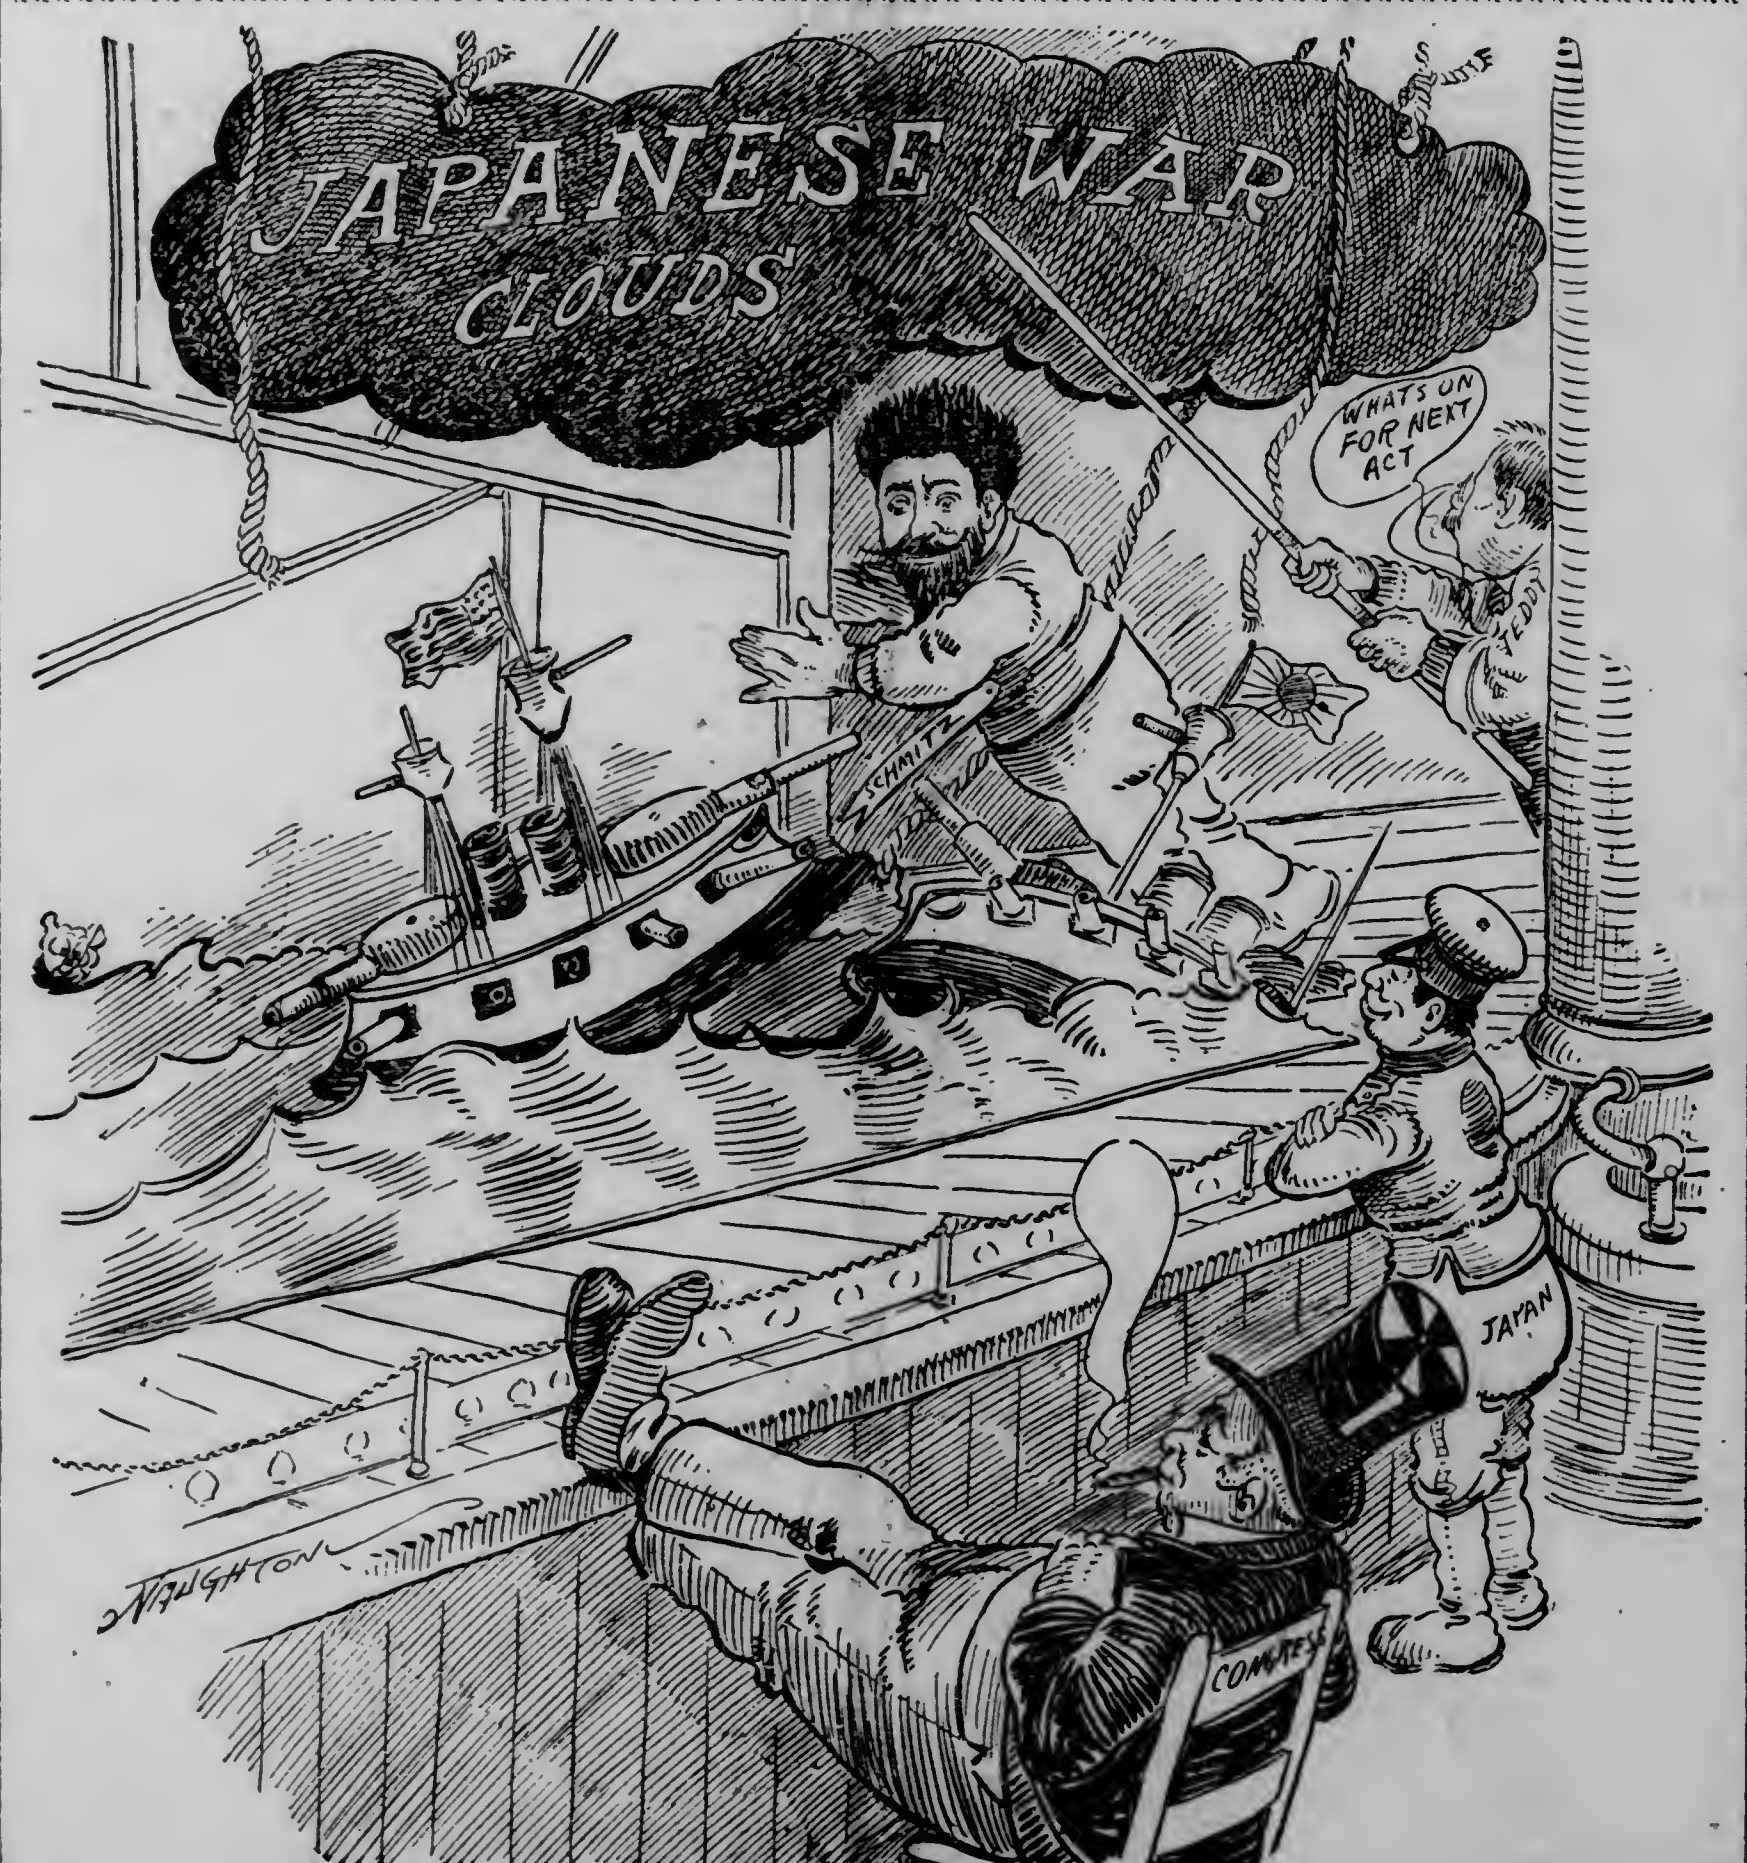

"I hurt the epithet back at you, you're a liar," replied Baker.

Then Haskell picked up an ink bottle and hurled it with all his strength at Baker. The latter dodged and the bottle flew over his head, crashing into a desk and splintering the furniture.

Baker immediately picked up another bottle and hurled it at Haskell, whereupon the sergeant-at-arms got between the men and kept them apart. The room was in an uproar instantly, and it was some time before order could be restored.

THE TRIP IS DANGEROUS

Considered Unsafe to Walk on Ice at Interstate Bridge.

Has Been Weakened by Warm Weather and the Current.

A person who is good at handling the Kodak would be able to secure a choice selection of photographs for the comic weeklies by stationing himself at the interstate bridge during the hours of heavy travel between Duluth and Superior.

The team and prairie schooner used in transporting passengers across the channel has been put out of commission, owing to the unsafe condition of the ice, and such people as are bold enough to undertake the journey between the two cities are compelled to walk from Rice's Point to Connor's Point.

The walk is an unpleasant one. In the first place, the path leads across a glare of ice. The ice is so slippery as the law allows, and more so, in fact, than the law should allow. But that isn't the worst of it. On top of the ice is a layer of water, ranging from two to six and eight inches in depth. It is easy to slip and fall, and hard not to. Lying at full length in the icy water, in addition to getting an agonizing jolt on the part of the anatomy that hits first, is an experience that is very likely to lead to a breaking of any resolutions that one may have made not to use profane language.

In the night time the trip is particularly hazardous. There are no lights to show one where to step. If a hole should appear in the ice during the day, a person would have no warning at night, and there would be nothing to prevent him stepping into it. In the darkness ice and water look alike, and a man is lucky indeed these nights if he gets across the channel without nothing more serious than wet feet.

A large number of people are afraid to walk across the ice. There is constant danger of breaking through. For the past week the weather has been warm, and the ice and snow has been constantly softening. Added to this is the fact that there is a strong current past the bridge, constantly working under the ice from the under side, and one can readily see how he is literally taking his life in his hands when he undertakes to make the trip on foot.

The trains operating over tracks connecting Duluth and Superior were liberally patronized as a result of these conditions yesterday and today. The twilight, over the Omaha, due in Duluth at 9:45 p. m., brought in the neighborhood of 150 people to Duluth last night. The several other trains during the day were also heavily patronized. On the twilight there was scarcely standing room left when the train pulled out of Superior. The present state of affairs will probably continue until someone breaks through the ice and disappears, when the people will take warning and either stay at home or ride on the trains.

Piles of people have piles. Why suffer from piles when you can use DeWitt's Carbolized Witch Hazel Salve and get relief. See that the name is stamped on each box. Sold by all druggists.

WEST DULUTH

WILL FORM A COMPANY.

E. G. Pake to Interest Friends in Western Lumber Business.

E. G. Pake, formerly superintendent of the Mitchell & McClure mill at West Duluth, but who has been in Washington and British Columbia for the past year and a half, is so enthusiastic over the great lumber prospects out there that he will soon return to Duluth and form a company to go into the business in the West on an extensive scale.

In a letter L. A. Barnes, received today, Mr. Pake says that the large lumber business is beginning to open up there on a greater scale than ever before, as the timber forests of Minnesota and Wisconsin have begun to become exhausted. Formerly the lumber dealers of the West had to depend largely upon the foreign trade, but they are now shipping to the East a good deal.

Mr. Pake says that there are large tracts of cedar and pine timber in Washington and British Columbia, and that there are great opportunities for making money there. He says that he is about to return to Duluth from Seattle and will form a company of West Duluth and Duluth business men as soon as possible.

Mr. Pake was a resident of West Duluth for a number of years and is well known here.

PAYS TWENTY DOLLAR FINE.

Mark Goodell Gets in Trouble by Passing Bad Bill.

Mark Goodell, arrested in West Duluth last evening charged with passing a worthless bill for $10 issued by the Merchants and Planters' Bank of Georgia, which was outlawed years ago, on John M. Foster of the Phillips hotel, this morning pleaded guilty of the charge and paid a fine of $22.50 for the offense.

Goodell at first stated that he didn't know the money was bad, and when first arrested returned to the hotel and made good Mr. Foster's loss by returning the money. He entered a plea of guilty before Judge Cutting this morning, but said that he did not know that the bill was bad. The judge told him that he would not consider that a plea of guilty and gave him an hour to think it over. Goodell pleaded guilty an hour later with no extenuating circumstances, and paid his fine.

YOUNG BOYS GET DRUNK.

Three West Duluth Lads Steal Whisky and Go on Spree.

After securing about two quarts of whisky from the basement of Spencer's drug store, three West Duluth boys became badly intoxicated yesterday morning. After drinking the liquor it took them the remainder of the day to recover from its effects so that they could tell the story.

John Clinch, one of the boys, was found lying in a helpless condition near the residence of Dr. Keyes. After he had been placed under the doctor's care, he was able to tell some things about the story last evening, about 5 o'clock. His two companions were Henry Anderson, 17 and Frank Kory, 15 years old.

Young Clinch told Lieutenant Briggs of the police department last evening that one of the boys had a key to the basement of Spencer's drug store and that they had all gone down there and found the liquor. Afterwards they locked themselves in a room upstairs and drank the stuff.

To Sell Bank Property.

Announcement was made by L. A. Barnes, trustee for the Merchants' Bank of West Duluth and Hansen & Smith, who were declared bankrupt about three years ago, that there will be a sale of certain property in order to declare another dividend. The property consists of real estate in the city and on the ranges, notes and various other papers of value. It is said the range property includes much iron ore land. Two dividends have already been declared upon the property. The sale

HAPPENINGS IN THE DAKOTAS

The Manslaughter Case Against Moore for Endlerin Wreck Begins.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Lisbon—The trial of John J. Moore, engineer, charged with manslaughter in the second degree in connection with the 800 line wreck at Endlerin on Dec. 23, came before an adjourned term of the district court today. T. A. Curtis of this city will defend, assisted by Frank Larabee of Minneapolis. State's Attorney Kyrie will be assisted in the prosecution by B. D. Townsend. The trial of James E. Walsh, fugitive, will be taken up at the end of the Moore case.

Valley City—Dr. B. F. Pray seems to have solved the problem of securing electric power at small expense for household purposes, and now has his own lighting plant.

An artisan well furnished the power for the generation of the current. The water comes from the well with a pressure of about ninety pounds to the square inch, which is sufficient to run a three-horse-power water motor. This in turn operates a small dynamo which supplies electricity for fifteen incandescent lamps which the doctor uses to light his house.

Fargo—Threatening to sue the city unless the city authorities, John Hauser of the firm of Hauser Bros., butchers, has presented a bill to the auditor for $10,000, which he says is due him on account of having contracted to slaughter the city's stock.

As Hauser has been one of the leaders in the hard fight which butchers have waged against the ordinance requiring them to do their killing in the city slaughterhouse, the authorities are not inclined to regard his action seriously, though ready to admit he has made a clever move.

According to the decision of the joint committee on arrangements, which met here Saturday, the annual conventions of the undertakers, furniture, hardware and implement dealers, associations, which were to have been held in Minot the first of February, will be postponed on account of the snow blockade, will be held at Minot the second week in March.

Bismarck—Senator Stude of Devils Lake, has introduced a bill which causes much comment among the members of the legislature and newspaper editors. It is a bill to amend the laws relating to the newspapers of the state to the extent of making it unlawful for any newspaper to publish during the session of the legislature the name of any senator or representative who has introduced a bill to either house, or to either editorially or otherwise to the person by whom such bill or bills may have been introduced. He takes the position that many of the editors are pleased with the newspaper's position that come to them through the introduction of bills, and believes there would be many less bills to clutter the work of the legislature if this incentive were eliminated.

Mrs. C. R. Meredith of Fargo died Friday evening of valvular heart trouble, after a brief illness. She was the wife of C. R. Meredith, a wholesale druggist of Fargo, and sister of Mrs. C. W. Volstead of this city. The funeral will be held at Veranda, Minn., her old home.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Yankton—Friends of United States Senator Gamble are smiling over the fact that he is still in the land of the living. The miners had been lowered into the underground workings only a short time when the steel cable attached to the cage snapped at the second level and the cage and its contents plunged downward with fearful velocity to the bottom of the shaft on the eighth level. The cage was so badly broken and bent that it was impossible to get it apart. Had the cable given way when the miners were being lowered, the consequences probably would have been appalling.

Escanaba—There was almost a panic at the Peterson opera house, while the play "We Are King" was being presented. While the second act was in progress someone down in the parquet cried "mad dog" and there was a scrambling to get away. The excitement was intense and the players on the stage were unable to continue their parts. Just as the audience was about ready to leave the building Fire Chief Tolian rushed down to the orchestra and located a dog frothing at the mouth under one of the seats. Covering his hands with his handkerchief, he clutched the animal by the throat and amid the plaudits of the audience conveyed the dog from the building. It has since been learned that the dog was only sick, but that does not detract from the cool-headed bravery of Chief Tolian.

CONCERNING WOMEN.

"I am grateful for having a high note," declared Ellen Beach Yaw this morning in an interview, "but the American public must not lose sight of the fact as they did in my early appearances, that I have a middle register as well. When I first began to sing they came to hear the high notes as something out of the ordinary, rather freaky you know, but my years of study have proved that high notes are desirable things when combined with a well trained and pure middle register and the other things that go to make a pleasing and delightful voice."

Miss Yaw is wistful-looking, and slender and of the right degree of tallness. Her speaking voice is of flute-like quality and one can very easily believe that this young woman is the great coloratura singer of the country. She looks as if she could trill and run with musical color and beauty. She has none of that bound down and locked in appearance that is the thing which the world has come to look upon as the grand opera physique. She is a willowy slip of a thing, who has made her debut in grand opera in Italy and who will probably be heard in grand opera within a year in this country in addition to her concert engagements. Miss Yaw's repertoire is in Italian and French opera, she having steered clear of the entanglements of the Wagner and heavy German operas with their strong dramatic demands. A coloratura singer she is and a coloratura singer she plans to remain. "It is not easy to keep one's voice in the quality especially if one feels intensely the opera which one is singing. I thought at one time of entering the dramatic field, but Mrs. Marchesi, with whom I studied, advised against it. 'You have the field of coloratura singing to yourself' she said in advising me, 'and why leave it to enter the dramatic field which is the only one that other sopranos can enter,' and so I have stuck to the lyric."

Miss Yaw heard Rena Vivienne sing in Chicago, the title role of "The Butterfly" and was much taken with the singing and acting of the Duluth girl. "She has temperament," said Miss Yaw this morning in speaking of Miss Vivienne, "and that, after all, is the thing that counts. In the early acts of the opera there was a little lack of sureness that is perfectly excusable in a girl that is singing her first opera, but with each act she has become more enter into the climax of the last act and interpret the tragedy of the opera. She will arrive."

Miss Yaw has toured the state in concert from coast to coast and from the Gulf of Mexico to the shores of the Great Lakes. Climate is a matter of indifference to her. "I love the sunshine of Duluth," she quietly admitted, "and the fir trees, but rather hoped to have some 40 below weather here. I have heard so much about it."

Her appearance in concert this evening is one of the important musical engagements of the month and much interest has been shown in the young American singer.

This is the season of the year that hundreds of the citizens in the Northern states, with their families, have themselves southward to enjoy the festivities of the Mardi Gras at New Orleans. It is a celebration time honored by the people of New Orleans and vicinity, and its popularity with the Northerners has been growing from year to year until there is now, at this season of the year, a heavy passenger traffic toward New Orleans from every part of the North.

Epistle to the Philippians." A Bible class for women was held during Lent last year when Mr. Farley as leader and proved a most instructive and much appreciated series of meetings. The class this year was organized to meet a very evident demand. Any woman interested is invited to attend.

TO THE STOCK-HOLDERS
Of the Copper Queen Mining & Smelting Company.

Feb. 18, 1907.
At a meeting of the directors which was held on the 14th day of February, 1907, at the offices of the company, 415-419 Providence Bldgs., several important matters were considered and acted upon, which to my mind have greatly increased the value of the property. The company took an option on and has decided to purchase about 300 acres of land which adjoins the present holdings of our company. It gives us a large area and also includes several important outcroppings of the vein which show good values on the surface and undoubtedly will improve, as the Copper Queen has, with depth. The company has decided to place upon the property at the earliest possible date a concentrating mill which will treat 150 tons of ore per day. This mill is to be built in 50 ton units. The company has been making experiments on the ore in order to decide the best form of treatment and has an engineer on the ground at the present time laying out the site for the new mill. The property is developing in a very satisfactory manner. We have now reached a depth of 250 feet from the collar of the shaft. We find that the ore extends to more than 2,000 feet of drift and tunnel work which has shown very satisfactory results, a large amount of ore having been blocked out, which will insure a good production as soon as the mill is completed.

Now as to shipping facilities: The mine is located thirty-eight miles from the railroad, on the main freight line between Redrock, Montana, and Salmon City, Idaho. Large freight trains pass the mine every day in the year. Nineteen million pounds of freight was hauled in from Redrock to Salmon City last year. These freighters go back to Redrock practically empty. On this account we can ship a large amount of ore at a minimum cost without a railroad. It costs $7.50 a ton to ship the ore from the mine to the smelter. The ore that we are shipping at the present time has a minimum value of $125 per ton. The last car of ore shipped ran 83.3 per cent copper, $25 of gold and $1.5 of silver per ton. This is natural picked ore, just as it came from the mine, without treatment.

I might say that at the present time two railroad surveys are being made to this property and we are practically assured of a railroad this year. The Copper Queen mine is fortunately located there. There is a farming community the whole way from Redrock to Salmon City. It is one of the best cattle raising valleys in all Montana. A large amount of hay is raised and fed to the cattle, which are driven to Redrock for shipment. There are many new mines opening in this vicinity. The Salmon City country is one of great promise from a mining point of view.

In order to take care of the improvements the company contemplates making and to complete the purchase of the property above described, the directors have decided to dispose of 50,000 shares of its treasury stock to the stockholders of record Feb. 25th, 1907 at $1 per share payable March 1st, 1907. This will enable the stockholders to one share of the treasury stock for every two shares they now hold. See that your stock is transferred at once, or before Feb. 25th, to entitle you to your proportionate amount of the stock to be issued. I am yours very truly,

GEORGE H. CROSBY,
General Manager.

PEARY STUCK IN THE SNOW.

New England Weather More Severe Than That of Arctic Circle.

Winston, Conn., Feb. 18.—Commander Robert E. Peary, who reached a point within 200 miles of the pole over snow and ice last spring, was stalled by snow and ice last Wednesday night when he tried to get into Norfolk to lecture about his experiences in the cold North.

"If I had had my dogs and sleds," he said, "I would have made it," he said, "but with such things as locomotives, never."

Commander Peary left Maine in the morning, but snowdrifts and extreme cold prevented the making of steam and held back the train so that he was five hours late in reaching Hartford, and the last train for Norfolk had gone.

TO IMPROVE ITS SERVICE

Street Railway Recognizes Need for More and Better Cars.

Will Be Ready When Water Power is Turned on.

It is announced by the Duluth Street Railway company that material changes will be made in their service, a few weeks hence, when the Great Northern power company will begin active operations. The supplying of additional power which the company has been in need of and for which it has waited a long time, will cause the making of a number of important alterations which will greatly better the service. When the power is furnished the company expects to run a five minute service on both the West Third and East Fourth street lines throughout most of the day. At present the West Third street line has a ten minute service, while the East Fourth street line, including the Woodland street branch, has a ten minute service, including the morning and the evening rush hours.

While a few extra cars are being run on the main line to West Duluth during the rush hours, the shortage of power has made it impossible to fill all of the gaps. The company intends to establish on this line a straight five minute service, with every other car a single truck car for the present. An additional car will also be placed on the Lake avenue line. The changes are said by the company to be only of a temporary nature and while it will be an improvement over present conditions, still it is only the first move that the street car people are making to give the patrons of their lines what they claim will be one of the best regulated street railway systems in the world. The company has now building fifteen of the new type of double truck cars, and as soon as the new equipment can be delivered here, make an entirely new change in their service. It is expected that the new cars will be ready for use in May and in the event that the power company should be unable to start its wheels before that time, the temporary change in service as planned will not need to be put into effect.

Besides the changes in service there will be made a number of important improvements in the tracks, such as the building of a new line up Twenty-fourth avenue east from Superior street to Fourth street and the putting in of additional switches and Ys at several places which will make possible a change in the routing of the lines. When it is considered that the street car line will cost $100,000, some idea can be readily gained of the importance of the changes. The new cars, which they are made as promised, it will show the intention of the company to give the people of Duluth the best possible service obtainable, and keep pace with the growing expansion of the city.

The new cars are in a class by themselves, the Duluth and Twin City lines being the only ones that will have them. Nothing like them has ever been seen at the West of the Lakes. The bodies of the cars are now under construction in the shops of the Twin City Rapid Transit company at Minneapolis, together with a number of a similar type of car that will be used on St. Paul and Minneapolis. Both will place them in service simultaneously. In appearance these cars resemble the three new double truck cars which were added to the equipment of the Duluth company this season. They will, however, be six inches wider on the inside and the back vestibule will be about a foot longer. The extra space on the inside will give additional aisle capacity, permitting two people to pass each other.

The construction of these cars is of very recent date and shows the wonderful strides that have been made in science of car building. Instead of the solid metal body which have been featured in other cars, hollow steel tubes are used and painted and steel castings. One of the chief beauties of this change is the fact that the cars are lighter and a wider field is afforded for design. No sacrifice in strength is made by the change. The motors, which are being built by the Schenectady works of the General Electric company, will be shipped direct to Duluth and be installed here along with the trucks which are being constructed by the Baldwin Locomotive works.

A year ago last summer, agitation was started for a number of improvements in the street railway service, and at the time Mayor Cullum opened negotiations with the officials of the company, which lasted for several weeks, the present better service means of which the council authorized him to enter into a treaty with the company.

According to the terms of this agreement the company was to extend the West Third street line to Seventy-first avenue west at once, to build the extension of the Lake avenue line to run large cars to the end of the Woodland street branch, to bear the expense of sprinkling Garfield avenue, to submit without contest to a material raise in tax valuation, and to invest all extra trips (above fixed charges, in improvements of the road, equipment and quality of the service. The city on its part agreed to bury the hatches and ask for no more extensions or other concessions for the time being. The company would not at that time have dared to substitute double truck cars for the single truck cars on all lines at any stated date, but gave assurance that it would gradually replace the single truck equipment with double truck cars, and in any case would order no more single truck cars. The company claims that it has not only complied with all of its part of the agreement but has since that time added three double truck cars to its equipment and without further pressure from the city has now contracted for fifteen more such cars to be delivered early next spring. While the street railway service is not at present as good as it might be, the company claims that it has kept faith with the city and carried out all its agreements to the letter, and that the present inadequacy of the service is due almost entirely to the shortage of power. It is hoped that with the early completion of the power plant and the arrival of the new equipment that the service will be greatly improved.

UNDER NOSE OF POLICE

New Building Opposite Central Station Raided by Officers.

Lizzie Davis Poked Her Fist Through Restaurant Window.

The new building just occupied by Gust Panta for his saloon, located just across from the police headquarters is developing an unsavory reputation early in its career. A raid of the upstairs rooms by the police last evening resulted in the arrest of eight young men and women on statutory charges. At the station they gave their names as Lou Ellis, Marie Thomas, Olive Culver, Bessie Bates, John P. Henley, Alvin C. Sprague, John B. Wilson and Edward C. Rodgers. Mr. Panta told the police that while he had leased the whole building he had sub-let a part of it to a woman named Meyers from Minneapolis and she was responsible for whatever happened on the second floor.

The prisoners were released on $10 bail, which they forfeited.

Sporting an eye that looked as if she had been playing football with a locomotive, Lizzie Davis this morning pleaded guilty to a charge of drunk and disorderly and paid a fine of $20.

According to the story of the police, she went to a restaurant on Lower Lake avenue last night and demanded a ham sandwich. For some reason the proprietor decided that Lizzie wasn't the proper type of person who ought to patronize his establishment and he refused to hand over the "ham and required.

Lizzie's dignity was insulted. She would not stand for anything like that. She went outside and there was a crash of breaking glass and Lizzie's hand was sticking through the window.

moment later, Revenge was sweet but brief. She was taken in hand by an officer and led meekly to the station.

Lizzie has quite an extensive police record, having been up for vagrancy for the first time a number of years ago. She was ordered out of town at that time and has been doing the towns along the north shore and Superior since then.

Camille Shambo, the drunk arrested by Officer Noren in the West end Saturday and held, after a fierce struggle for half an hour, until the patrol wagon arrived from the central station, was arraigned this morning on two charges, one of drunkenness and the other of resisting an officer. Shambo pleaded not guilty to both and his hearing was set for Wednesday at 2 p. m. He was released on bail.

THE WEST END POLICE STATION

Will be Chief Topic of Discussion at Council Meeting.

As far as can be seen at present the most important subject to be discussed at this evening's council meeting will be the West end police station, its advi-ability, and its location.

The committee on the subject will hold a meeting this afternoon to discuss the different phases of the situation, and they will report their findings to the city fathers this evening. The committee consists of the committees on police and license, city property, and of the aldermen from the Sixth and Seventh wards.

The police department as requested by the council at its last meeting has prepared statistics as to the number of arrests made in the West end during 1906 and they amount to 22 in all, an average of four a week. Some definite action will probably be taken by the council tonight.

Joseph Sheehy last week stated his intention of attending the council meeting this week and again introducing the McCabe license proposition. This may arouse another pyrotechnic display such as was given last week when this question came up, though this is unlikely.

From present indications, the council's trip to Superior for a visit with the Superior aldermen at their meeting tomorrow night will have to be dropped, as transportation facilities are poor, and the ice at the crossing at the Interstate bridge is rapidly growing thin.

HUNDREDS HOMELESS

As Result of an Ice Gorge in the Missouri River.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 15.—An ice gorge in the Missouri river, near Ver-million, S. D., has caused the river to leave its banks. One hundred families have been made homeless and farmers along the river are greatly alarmed. Not since the great flood of 1884 has the water been so high, as today.

Temperature Will be Somewhat Cooler, Says Weather Man.

After over a week of unusually warm February weather, during which the temperature has remained above the freezing point a good share of the time, the weather man forecasts today that there will be a slight drop of the mercury before tomorrow. He does not, however, predict any of the severe cold weather which Duluth experienced several weeks ago. The temperature tomorrow morning will probably be about 15 degs. above.

All day Sunday the weather resembled that of April. The temperature rose to 32 degs. and a little over at 3 o'clock and the sun was warm and bright. At 7 o'clock last evening the mercury had gone down a little and registered 29 degs., but early this morning it was back at the freezing point and by noon had gone several degrees above it.

There is a brisk wind from the northwest blowing over the city today at the rate of about forty miles an hour, and this will tend to cool the atmosphere somewhat. A high pressure area over Washington and Oregon will probably come eastward tonight and a slight drop in the temperature will be the result.

ARE LOADING UP WITH FIGURES

County Commissioners Are Getting Ready for A. E. McManus.

Although the county board will hold a meeting Feb. 26 ostensibly to dispose of a number of tax matters that have been accumulating, it is quite probable from the present indications that the session will be saved from monotony by reason of the action of the commissioners at the last meeting of the board, when they passed a resolution inviting A. E. McManus of this city to appear before them and explain certain remarks he is accredited with before a recent meeting of the good roads association, concerning the amount of road work that has been accomplished by the county commissioners of this county in the expenditure of the road fund.

As the commissioners understand it, Mr. McManus took occasion to criticize them about the amount of road work that has been done with the money expended, and the county legislators have resented the criticism in a decided way. They insist that Mr. McManus shall make good his statements, or else stand convicted before the taxpayers of the county.

of having uttered false statements with the intent to injure the county board in the eyes of the people.

Whether Mr. McManus will accept the challenge thrown down to him by the commissioners remains to be seen. It is understood, however, that he has been gathering some statistics and figures concerning the county road work and expenditures on the same, but it is not definitely known whether or not he intends to make use of the same in justification of his alleged statements, should he appear before the board.

Since the last meeting of the board it is understood that the several commissioners who have road districts have been collecting data concerning the amount of road work they have done in the past year, the cost, and the quantity and value of the road tools that they have on hand, with a view of answering Mr. McManus should he insist that they have not done this past year by contract, and to the best advantage. The commissioners express confidence in their ability to refute any charges by anybody that they have wasted the road funds, and they expect to show that a great deal of road work has been done this past year by contract, and to the best advantage. The commissioners express confidence in their ability to refute any charges by anybody that they have wasted the road funds, and they expect to show that a great deal of road work has been done this past year by contract, and to the best advantage.

HE WAS "THE LIMIT;" GOT THE LIMIT FINE.

Denver, Feb. 18.—"I don't live nowhere, don't do nothing, wouldn't work if I had a job, and was drunk when the officer picked me up. I drink when I want, eat when I can get anything to eat, and don't bother for it. I don't owe nobody nothing, and nobody don't owe me nothing. And that's all I've got to say."

This statement made by a square-headed, disolute-looking individual in police court so surprised Police Magistrate Stapleton that it was a full half minute before he could recover himself to announce a limit fine.

The defendant appeared as "John Doe" and said he didn't want any other name and wouldn't have any.

NEW EVIDENCE OF SWINDLING

Against Alleged Looter of Church Funds at Bloomington.

Bloomington, Ill., Feb. 18.—Is Helen Dixon the Casse Chadwick of Bloomington? The McLean county grand jury adjourned last Saturday afternoon after an exhaustive investigation of her actions, and returned six true bills of indictment, charging embezzlement, larceny as bailed and forgery. The action furnished a sensational climax to the first announcement that the girl had been unable to produce $1,500 of the funds of the Gleason society of the Second Christian church, of which she was treasurer.

The forgery indictment is a new feature. The Corn Belt bank made the complaint. Some time ago she appeared at the bank with the announcement that she wished to deposit a draft for $7,000, which she stated she had just received as the beneficiary of a life insurance policy.

As she furnished in her purse for the paper she suddenly exclaimed that she had lost it. She returned a few days later stating that the draft could not be found, and asked for a loan of $125. The bank complied.

A few weeks later she reappeared, stating that the draft had not been received, but that she needed another $125. To cover both loans she tendered a note for $350, which she said had been given to her by a friend, Minnie Lemm. It has developed that the signatures, according to the bank, are forgeries.

Another sensational development was the reported discovery that Miss Dixon's bank book, with which she kept the accounts of the Gleason society, had been subjected to forged records of deposits. She maintains her policy of saying nothing regarding her case.

There is still no clue to any of her relatives and even her friends are beginning to wonder if they are not mistaken in her.

CAPT. WARING RETURNED. LONDON, Feb. 18.—The bye-elections on Feb. 16 in Banffshire, for a successor to William Alexander Black, advanced Liberal, who died from injuries sustained in a railroad wreck near Aberdeen in December last, resulted in the return of Capt. Waring, Liberal, who received a majority of 2,509 votes.

ONLY FIVE FALL DOWN

Big Improvement Shown in Milk Supply This Week.

Practically All Samples Taken Up to Required Grade.

The second inspection of the Duluth milk supply by the state dairy and food inspectors, shown a big improvement, and out of fifty-three samples taken, only five fell below the required grade.

All five of these samples would easily have passed muster in Wisconsin, where but 3 per cent of butter fat is required. The lowest of the samples had 3.2 per cent, and the one sample of cream which fell below grade had 13 per cent, which is considered very fair cream in other states, although the Minnesota laws require 20 per cent.

Judging from these statistics, Duluth is now receiving a first class supply of milk, and when it is considered that the samples are taken from the drivers at random, the showing is a very creditable one this week.

Following is the report of the inspectors, H. T. Sondergaard and Harris Bennett:

Governor Hughes declined to indicate what would be his next step in the matter.

That Governor Hughes will send to the senate, probably on Tuesday morning, a special message recommending the removal from office of Kelsey is now expected.

The attitude of the senate toward the governor's expected recommendation is the subject of much conjecture and is wholly problematical. The feature of uncertainty lies in the question of the attitude of the nineteen Democratic senators. A conflict between the senate and the executive would be fraught with far-reaching legislative and political consequences.

Hitting From the Grave. A prominent manufacturer, William A. Fennell of Duluth, has a most remarkable experience. He says: "After being less than a week in the electric bitters, I feel like a new rising from the grave. My trouble is Bright's disease, the Diabetes state. I believe the Electric Bitters will cure me permanently, for I have had agents scouring the country in vain for workers. They have made inquiries in Great Britain and on the continent, and have found that a certain amount of labor can be secured from Italy, France, Switzerland and Scandinavia.

The leaders of the trades unions contend that these workers will come under the operation of the alien labor law, and that their immigration into Canada should be prevented. The same argument applies to workers from the United States.

Use a little Kodol after meals and it will afford a rapid and efficient relief to the indigestion what you eat. It is sold on a guaranteed relief plan by all druggists.

ROSEBUD BILL IS PASSED. Burke Gets His Measure Through the House, Despite Opposition.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Representative Burke has secured passage in the house of his bill for the opening of the Rosebud Indian lands in Tripp county, South Dakota. There was opposition on the part of some members, notably John Sharp Williams, the Democratic leader, and Mr. Payne, the Republican leader, to the provision of the bill granting the state of South Dakota the 100 school sections in the townships to be opened and providing $150,000 in cash to pay the Indians for homes. Their objections were finally overcome, however, and the bill passed without amendment.

Senator Gamble has been authorized to report a similar bill to the senate.

IRON ORE STRIKE. Senator P. R. Vail and Associates Find Ore Near Chisholm.

It is understood that Senator P. R. Vail and several of his associates have made a valuable strike of iron ore in 5-20, near the village of Chisholm. It is said the interested parties have been offered $1,000,000 for their option, although the extent of the strike is not yet known. The men interested have an option on six forties owned by the Niles land company, in the town described. They are said to have found the ore in several drill holes. P. W. Freeman, Dr. Shaw, Nels Anderson and Dr. Lemont are associated with Mr. Vail in the deal.

MINERS DISCHARGED. Bisbee, Ariz., Feb. 18.—Since last Tuesday 1,100 miners have been discharged by the big mining companies of the Warren district. Although no official announcement has been made as to the cause, it is generally understood that the discharge of the men is due directly to the advent of organizers of the Western Federation of Miners in the district and their announcement that they are here for the purpose of unionizing the camp. It is the general expectation that before the close of the week all the ore in the district will be closed down. Warren district has always been an open union and non-union miners alike finding employment here. The mining companies are determined to continue these conditions instead of having the camp unionized by the Western Federation.

SAVES THE DOG, BUT LOSES HIS OWN LIFE. Kalamazoo, Mich., Feb. 18.—Affection for his faithful old dog caused the death of Mathias Van Tasell, aged 60 years, near here Wednesday afternoon. The aged man had gone

Prescription for Kidneys Is Valued by Elderly People.

Relieves All Forms of Bladder Troubles and Rheumatism.

The great majority of men and women at the age of 50 years begin to feel the first signs of advancing age in some form of kidney trouble and bladder weakness. Few are entirely free from that tortuous disease, rheumatism, which is not a disease in itself, but a symptom of deranged function of the kidneys which have become clogged and sluggish, falling in their duty of sifting and straining the poisonous waste matter, uric acid, etc., from the blood, permitting it to remain and decompose, settling about the joints and muscles, causing intense pain and suffering.

The bladder, however, causes the old folks the most annoyance, especially at night and early morning.

A noted authority in a recent article stated that he has wonderful success with the old-time "vegetable treatment". He states: "Of sixteen cases of bladder troubles and rheumatism which have been treated with this treatment only one very complicated case failed to fully yield to its remarkable influence. It is the most harmless treatment I have ever found to clean the system of rheumatic poison, remove irritation of the bladder and relieve urinary difficulties of the old people. It is a true vitalizing tonic to the entire kidney and urinary structure, reinvigorating the entire system."

What he terms "old vegetable treatment" consists of the following simple prescription: The ingredients in which can be obtained from any good pharmacy at small cost: Compound Kargon, one ounce; Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and upon going to bed, also drink plenty of water. This prescription, though simple, is always effective in the diseases and affliction of the kidney and bladder.

to a patch of woods to cut down trees. Just as he had one ready to topple over he noticed his dog lying directly in the path of the falling tree, asleep in the sun. Van Tasell jumped and kicked, saving the dog, but was caught and crushed. A widow and six children survive him.

NEEDS, BUT BARS HELP.

Canada's Alien Labor Law May Prove Stumbling Block.

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 18.—The labor situation, with respect to railway construction in this country, is rapidly becoming acute. It is estimated that 60,000 men will be required next spring on railway building operations the majority of whom must be obtained from other countries.

The various contractors on railway works throughout Canada are greatly exercised over the outlook. They have had agents scouring the country in vain for workers. They have made inquiries in Great Britain and on the continent, and have found that a certain amount of labor can be secured from Italy, France, Switzerland and Scandinavia.

The leaders of the trades unions contend that these workers will come under the operation of the alien labor law, and that their immigration into Canada should be prevented. The same argument applies to workers from the United States.

Use a little Kodol after meals and it will afford a rapid and efficient relief to the indigestion what you eat. It is sold on a guaranteed relief plan by all druggists.

ROSEBUD BILL IS PASSED. Burke Gets His Measure Through the House, Despite Opposition.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Representative Burke has secured passage in the house of his bill for the opening of the Rosebud Indian lands in Tripp county, South Dakota. There was opposition on the part of some members, notably John Sharp Williams, the Democratic leader, and Mr. Payne, the Republican leader, to the provision of the bill granting the state of South Dakota the 100 school sections in the townships to be opened and providing $150,000 in cash to pay the Indians for homes. Their objections were finally overcome, however, and the bill passed without amendment.

Senator Gamble has been authorized to report a similar bill to the senate.

IRON ORE STRIKE. Senator P. R. Vail and Associates Find Ore Near Chisholm.

It is understood that Senator P. R. Vail and several of his associates have made a valuable strike of iron ore in 5-20, near the village of Chisholm. It is said the interested parties have been offered $1,000,000 for their option, although the extent of the strike is not yet known. The men interested have an option on six forties owned by the Niles land company, in the town described. They are said to have found the ore in several drill holes. P. W. Freeman, Dr. Shaw, Nels Anderson and Dr. Lemont are associated with Mr. Vail in the deal.

HEALTH OF WOMEN

In this nineteenth century to keep up with the march of progress every power of woman is strained to its utmost, and the tax upon her physical system is far greater than ever.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers few drugs were used in medicines. They relied upon roots and herbs to cure weaknesses and disease, and their knowledge of roots and herbs was far greater than that of women today.

It was in this study of roots and herbs that Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., discovered and gave to the women of the world a remedy more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

This medicine made from native roots and herbs contains no narcotics or other harmful drugs and today holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases of any medicine the world has ever known, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the laboratory at Lynn, Mass., which testify to its wonderful value.

Mrs. C. E. Fink, of Carnegie, Pa., writes:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"I wish every suffering woman would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and write to you for advice. It has done me a world of good and what it has accomplished for me I know it will do for others."

When women are troubled with Irregularities, Displacements, Ulceration, Inflammation, Backache, Nervous Prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Out of her vast volume of experience she probably has the very knowledge that will help your case.

Hockey Team Postpones Its Trip—Ski Tourna- ments Failures.

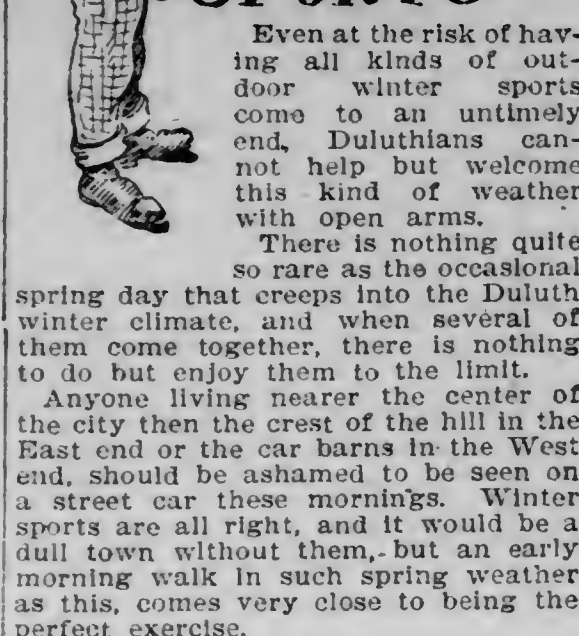

While a number of daring navigators ventured out on the lake yesterday on ice boats, the warm spell is rapidly rotting the ice and the big sheet may go out at any time and is decidedly unsafe even at present. Skating at all the rinks has been poor, and while all of them have opened up on their regular music nights, the ice has been so soft as to give little pleasure to the skaters.

The most optimistic of the weather prophets, however, do not predict a very long continuance of this warm spell.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 18.—The chess game between Dr. Emanuel Lasker and Frank Marshall, which adjourned Saturday on the forty-ninth move after six hours' play, ended in a draw when the game was resumed at 2 o'clock yesterday at the rooms of the Franklin Hotel. Marshall's play on Saturday had been sealed that he would not have the advantage of time in which to study his next move. When Marshall's move was unsealed, Lasker immediately asked for a draw and Marshall assented. The champions will play again at the Franklin Club on Tuesday. Lasker will take the white pieces which means he will make the opening move.

Thus reads the uneventful and evidently hoodooed history of the Northern-Copper-Country league so far this season. The middle of February has passed, and nothing, not even the circuit of competing clubs, has been decided upon. A salary limit has been

This is a decidedly serious state for a league to be in at this time of year, and a great deal of disappointment was expressed yesterday when word was received that President Price was still confined to his home by a quarantine for diphtheria. No attempt was made to set a date for the meeting yesterday and President Price will call the magnates together here as soon as possible.

turning her skull with the butt end of a revolver, William J. Rush, aged 42 years, committed suicide by horribly mutilating his body in an unmentionable manner, and cutting his throat with a razor. He also attempted to shoot himself, but failed. The cause of the tragedy was the action of his wife in informing him that she intended to secure a divorce. There is little hope for the recovery of the woman.

"Suffered day and night the torment of itching piles. Nothing helped me until I used Doan's Ointment. It cured me permanently." John R. Garrett, MAYNARD, GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.

That is the difficulty. Many members of the legislature, protesting their kindly feelings toward the mining localities, and their intention to let them have plenty of taxes, are strongly set upon a tonnage tax. If that God send a check.

The impression appears to have been created that the million provided in this bill is an appropriation. It is not, but it is
